Consecrated Christians do not need salaries for their service. This has only reference to our laity. To follow Christ in profession, without forsaking all is the state of some Christians to-day. But to follow Christ and forsake all is the perfection of a Christian. There are several sorts of consecration.

First—There may be great consecration on the wrong side of religion. The prophets of Baal were truly "consecrated"; they leaped upon the altar and cut themselves with lancets after their manner, till the blood gushed out upon them. The Scribes and Pharisees were "consecrated"; they moved heaven and earth to make one proselyte. Saul of Tarsus was just as consecrated as Paul the Apostle, but he was on the wrong side of the matter.

Second.—There is a kind of consecration so-called, which is only a matter of sentiment. This sort, after the first essay, is commonly called "reconsecration"; a continual re-doing of what has really not been done at all. This is generally done occasionally at a "consecration service" or regularly on "consecration night". It is only a matter of the mind—the idea of genuine devotion to God is not in it—an hour's pain or a day's self denial finds it wanting. It sings:—"'Tis done, the great transaction's done", and this the last of it—till the next "consecration meeting". It melts away before duty like a snail before the sun.

Third.—There is another spurious article called consecration which says:—

"Here, Lord, I give myself away,
'Tis all that I can do."

but like Ananias and Sapphira it "keeps back a part of the price". This sort is mighty in Sunday School work, providing there can be a religious expense account for the service. This consecration is very pious on Sunday, it sings a solo or makes a little entertainment or passes an hour in Bible study at a teachers' meeting and thinks it should be recompensed by a little golden image for its valuable service.

A fourth kind is more specious, but none the less spurious. It sings so sweetly with its dear blue eyes rolled up, "Take my life, and let it be, consecrated, Lord to Thee", and shakes its head to emphasize the fact and perhaps a hundred dollar diamond glitters in each ear! But you know, they are "the Lord's ears" and the "Lord's diamonds", and so they are just kept dangling there with the understanding that they are to "shine for Jesus"; and so it dresses finely "for Jesus" and lives in style "for Jesus", rolls round in a splendid carriage "for Jesus", etc. All the money and all the blood horses and the elegant palace and the splendor and pomp are "for Jesus" you know—only "consecration" just keep on holding them as a trustee and using them for all they are worth to minister to the flesh and the world. All of which is a farce, a delusion and a snare!

A Fifth kind is the genuine. It not only says, but does. It gives not part, but all. The gift is "bound to the horns of the altar". It sticks. It makes no provision for the lusts of the flesh. But counts all things loss to gain Jesus.

Cartwright Hymenials Celebrated

Miss Minnie Ferguson Becomes Mrs. Simeon Sanderson.

Happy Couple Have Many Friends in Peterborough, Where They Have Visited.

A very pretty event occurred in Cartwright, on Wednesday, October 4, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ferguson, the occasion being the marriage of their eldest daughter, Minnie M., and Mr. Simeon Sanderson, of Blackstock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. M. Phalen, in the presence of some thirty guests at 1.30 p.m., amid the pretty strains of "the wedding bells." The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the drawing-room, and took her place under an arch of evergreens and flowers, where the nuptial knot was tied. She was most becomingly attired in cream lustre, with silk chiffon trimmings, and was attended by her sister, Miss Maggie, who was also dressed in cream lustre. The groom was assisted by his cousin, Mr. Bert Sanderson, who performed his duties nobly. After the ceremony was over and congratulations were received, the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding lunch of excellent merit. The presents were numerous and costly, the groom's gift to the bride being a pair of fur gauntlets.

They left for a trip to Peterborough, where they visited friends. The bride's travelling suit was of blue ladies' cloth with hat to match. After their return they will reside on the farm with his father, and their many friends join in heartiest congratulations.—Com.

Did Not Send Young Son To School

A Citizen Was Charged With Violation of the Health By-Law.

H. Taylor Sent Back to the St. John's Industrial School.

A Peterborough citizen was charged with neglecting to send his boy to school. The man said that he had always done his best to have the lad attend school, and that he was going there now. The Magistrate enlarged the case for a week.

Mr. T. Cavanagh did not appear this morning. The charge preferred against him was that of dumping manure into a nearby stream. As the accused was out of town when Officer Adams served the papers, the case was enlarged until Monday.

Herbert Taylor, the young boy who ran away from the St. John's Industrial School, was sent back by the Magistrate. An officer from Toronto will arrive on the noon train and return with the prisoner this afternoon.

Debating Club Met Last Night

The first meeting this season of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club, since the election of officers, was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. Building.

As no programme had been arranged, suitable subjects were put upon tickets, and, after being shaken up, were drawn by the different members present. Mr. C. E. Coleman, president of the Society, drew, "La Marriage a Failure?" He dealt very humorously with this time-honoured question. The other members also gave short addresses on the subjects drawn by them.

On Thursday, November 23nd Mr. Charles Reid and Mr. J. J. Hardwicke, affirmative; and Mr. M. G. Skinner and Mr. W. Y. Downie, negative, will debate on "Resolved, — That Peterborough Fire Protection is not adequate." Mr. Reg Orr will also deliver a ten minute address on the life of Nelson.

Skin Troubles Of Children

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is so clean and pure, so fine and creamy, so delightfully soothing and healing, that it is especially useful in the nursery for the skin troubles of childhood.

For sunburn, prickly heat and chafing it brings quick relief, and by affording a cure for the simpler irritation of the skin, it positively prevents eczema and scald head, the itching of which means keen torture for the unfortunate victim.

Every mother should know about Dr. Chase's Ointment, for by its use she can save her children much suffering and discomfort.

Mosquito bites, hives and insect bites, poison ivy and every form of skin irritation and eruption, yield readily to the healing, soothing influence of this great ointment, and you can use it with positive assurance that it will not injure the most delicate skin or hurt the growth of the hair.

Unlike the pore-clogging and unsanitary powders, Dr. Chase's Ointment beautifies and benefits the skin by making it soft and velvety.

Mr. C. Wiley, who is employed as a cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., says: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for eczema on my little girl some years ago, and soon brought about a thorough and permanent cure. She suffered for considerable time, and though we tried a great many remedies, Dr. Chase's Ointment was the only preparation to prove effective. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Ointment as it certainly effected a prompt and permanent cure in this case."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous recipe book author, are on every box of the remedies.

THE PROVINCIAL HEALTH BOARD AUTHORITIES INFORMED OF SMALL-POX

Toronto Office of Provincial Board of Health Acquainted With the Fact of Seven Cases in Chandos--Do Not Fear a General Outbreak--The Officials Felt Confident That Local Authorities Are Competent to Deal With the Situation.

A local morning paper to-day has a lengthy article in reference to the alleged outbreak of smallpox in Chandos. This paper says that it was yesterday in receipt of a letter from the back country, near Burleigh Falls, conveying the startling and decidedly unwelcome news that that dread scourge, smallpox, is rampant within a very few miles of this city. The letter says that "Dr. Bell, of Apsley, last Friday received notification that there was a suspected case of smallpox in or near the Post settlement in Chandos. The doctor at once drove out to the scene of the alleged disease and found that his intelligence was but too true. At the residence of Andrew Post, the first place in the designated locality at which he called, Dr. Bell found seven cases of smallpox, varying in intensity and malignity from recently developed cases to those where the inevitable scales were peeling off the victims.

This house is the postoffice! Letters from Glenelda have been passing through this postoffice for the past month. This in itself is sufficient to arouse public demand for a thorough investigation, and prompt measures for an immediate change in the postoffice headquarters.

Milk from the infected house has been going to the nearby factory.

Some twenty to thirty cases have already developed in the neighbourhood, and the infection is stated to have spread throughout the Township of Methuen, down as far as Oak Lake Settlement. Active measures have been taken by Dr. Bell and the local Board of Health and the Township Council to check the spread of this fatal disease. It was said in the Times' correspondent's letter that an officer of the Provincial Board of Health is on his way to assist the local authorities.

Our correspondent claims that "the quick spread of the disease is due to criminal neglect." He further says in corroboration of the last mentioned charge, that the first case which developed and was recognized as smallpox, was attended and treated by "a Coe Hill quack," who diagnosed the disease as a result of "poison ivy." Our correspondent has evidently heard of a case recently tried in this city's police court, as he ends his letter, when referring to the Coe Hill quack, by saying, "Where is the Medical College detective?"

That such a horribly dangerous state of affairs should be allowed to exist, and the particulars heretofore suppressed for obvious reasons, is almost beyond belief. To save the petty business transactions and exigent trade of a handful of people in Chandos, are His Majesty's mails to be turned into a mode of transit for one of the most infectious and loathsome diseases known?

Is a city containing 15,000 people to be thrown into the grip of a terrible epidemic of smallpox by means mail and produce-conveying agents simply because a few people in the back country are so densely ignorant or so cunningly secretive as seems to be the case? Our city and county officials should act, and act both promptly and aggressively in this matter. The district affected should be at once patrolled and quarantined."

The Examiner this morning telephoned the Provincial Board of Health at Toronto in reference to the above story, and was informed that the Board of Health had only been notified of the existence of seven cases in Chandos, all in one family. The local medical authorities were, it was learned, dealing with the matter satisfactorily, and no member of the Provincial Board was being sent to investigate.

Dr. R. W. Bell, the Provincial inspector, is at present in the Northwest, and the information is given from Toronto that the "outbreak" of smallpox is not considered serious enough to warrant any extreme measures being taken in reference to the matter, feeling, as they do, quite confident that the medical authorities in Chandos and Apsley are quite capable of dealing with it without any outside help.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY DELEGATES LISTEN TO INTERESTING ADDRESSES

Celebration of 25th Anniversary at Charlotte Street Church Last Night--Entertaining Addresses by Three Workers in the Orient--Federation of Mission Homes Was Discussed.

The Board of Managers of the Woman's Missionary Society met again in the afternoon at half past two o'clock, the opening exercises being conducted by Mrs. Watson, of the British Columbia branch, and Mrs. Chowen, of Belleville. The vice-president, Mrs. Carman, took the chair, and memorials and notices of motion occupied the attention of the Board. On motion, the Constitution was amended to the effect that each auxiliary annually appoint a leader for the Mission Band. The question of programmes for the auxiliary meeting was thoroughly discussed, and on motion of Mrs. Clarke, seconded by Mrs. Ogden, it was decided to admit of an optional programme in addition to the suggested programme for auxiliary meetings.

On motion of Mrs. Wright, seconded by Mrs. Young, it was resolved that the Board of Managers of the Woman's Missionary Society in convention assembled, desire to place on record our high sense of appreciation we as a society owned and are now reaping through the recent visit of our esteemed president and corresponding secretary to our mission fields in Japan and British Columbia. We believe no one factor can more greatly help to intensify zeal in the work and deepen the interest in those fields than this recent visit, nor are we unmindful of the fact that it was taken at the expense of much physical and mental outlay, often in much weariness of spirit, but we profoundly hope that the increased interest of our workers in the next year will in a measure serve to compensate them for their successful efforts in the interest of the work.

The president, Mrs. Ross, then took the chair; the corresponding secretary continued the reports from the fields. Letters were read from the Crosby Girl's Home, the Home at Kitamaat, and from Miss Buehler at Norway, indicating satisfactory state of work in these fields.

On motion of Mrs. Strachan, seconded by Mrs. McKay, the general secretary was requested to use the church seal on all documents requiring its use.

The session then closed with prayer by Mrs. Watson.

EVENING MEETING.

The 25th anniversary meeting held last night at the Charlotte street church was attended by a congregation larger than that at any of the previous meetings. A feature of the evening service was the greatly increased percentage of men in attendance, all of whom appeared to take a deep interest in the matters under discussion. The chair was taken at 8 o'clock by Mrs. Ross, President of the Society. After the opening devotional exercises by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., pastor of the church, a summary of the reports previously presented, was given by Mrs. T. S. Strachan, Field Corresponding Secretary of Hamilton.

An anthem, "He That Dwelleth" was then rendered with charming effect by the choir. A vocal solo was also contributed by Miss Clara Belleghem, with beautiful expression and interpretation.

Miss Howie's Address.

Miss Howie, of Shizuoka, Japan, was then introduced, and followed with a comprehensive and interesting address upon her work in the Girls School, in Tokio, with which she is identified.

Miss Howie in her opening remarks referred to her appointment and entrance upon Mission work in Japan five years ago. Shortly after her arrival in that country she entered upon her work in the Girls School of the capital city. Commenting upon the old idea that education unfits women for their home-life, the speaker stated that this view was now held to a very small extent in Japan, as was evidenced by the statistics of the blue books, which show the large number of Mission Schools established there.

In the schools a Bible lesson is given three times each week, and the widespread knowledge of the Scriptures displayed by the children was surprising. The children, who remain at the schools for a period of 6 to 10 years, spend as much time in Bible Study as in any other course. A feature of the training was the memorization of portions of Scripture daily. The majority of the girls came without any knowledge of God. The manifold difficulties experienced by the girls after leaving the school were described. While in the school they were taught to pray, while at their homes upon their return, there was no place for prayer. "It is so easy to be good in the home, and so difficult outside," was what they complained.

It is very easy for the Japanese to worship God as a Spirit as they were taught. This was partially accounted for by the fact that their ancestor worship was of a spiritual character. Several pathetic incidents connected with the image worship in some sections of the country were narrated by the speaker.

When war was declared many had wondered as to what effect it would have upon Christian life in the country. The war, it was discovered, was, instead of a hindrance, a decided benefit. Many noble efforts were made including those by the Red Cross Society. The sending of literature to the wounded, and hospital work were carried on enthusiastically. The war had proven a terrible struggle, but the dark cloud had had it's silver lining. Men, in being brought face to face with death, had thought more seriously of the adoption of a Christian life. Another effect of the struggle was to show how much real love and sympathy exist in the hearts of men; an enormous lot of devotion and charity had been called forth.

Japan still needs our help, the speaker concluded. She has culture, and refinement, and though she needs no assistance from us in this respect, there still comes the cry of necessity, "Come to Japan and preach the gospel." And through Japan largely may we look to reach China, the latter country depending so largely upon her educative and other influences.

Dr. Henry, of Chentu, China, was the next speaker and gave a most interesting address on the medical work in western China. It was a revelation to the majority of her hearers, and her remarks were listened to with close attention. Many of those present had no idea that the condition of the greater part of the Chinese women was as bad as Dr. Henry's address showed it to be.

In beginning, Dr. Henry stated that it was in 1895 that the first medical work for women began in Chentu, in a province with a population

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1905.

NELSON.

Saturday, October 21st, 1905, completes the century that has elapsed since the glorious sea-fight of Trafalgar, and that event, of so great importance to the Empire, naturally takes the form of the Nelson centenary, in tribute to the great Admiral who laid down his life in winning the greatest naval victory in the annals of history. No doubt this day will be observed in every land where the triple cross of the Union Jack symbolises and insures liberty, and the exercise of right. As a fitting tribute to the work of Nelson, and a proper appreciation of the great things his crowning victory of "Trafalgar Bay" represents, nothing better can, perhaps, be said, than is contained in Southey's reference to Nelson, which is here reproduced:

"The death of Nelson," wrote Southey, "was felt in England as something more than a public calamity. Men stared at the intelligence, and turned pale, as if they had heard of the loss of a dear friend. An object of our admiration, of our pride and of our hopes, was suddenly taken from us; and it seemed as if we had never, till then, known how deeply we loved and reverenced him. What the country had lost in its great naval hero — the greatest of our own, and of all former times — was scarcely taken into the account of grief. So perfectly, indeed, had he performed his part that the maritime war, after the battle of Trafalgar, was considered at an end. The enemy's fleets were not merely defeated, but destroyed. New navies must be built, and a new race of seamen built for them, before the possibility of their invading our shores could again be contemplated. It was not, therefore, from any selfish reflection upon the magnitude of our loss that we mourned for him. The general sorrow was of a higher character. The people of England grieved that funeral ceremonies, and public monuments and posthumous rewards, were all which they now could bestow upon him whom the King, the legislature, and the nation, would have alike delighted to honour; whom every tongue would have blessed; whose presence in every village through which he might have passed would have awakened the church bells, have given school boys a holiday, have drawn children from their sports, and old men from their chimney corner, to look upon Nelson ere he died. The victory of Trafalgar was celebrated indeed with the usual forms of rejoicing, but they were without joy; for such already was the glory of the British navy, through Nelson's surpassing genius, that it scarcely seemed to receive any addition from the most signal victory that ever was achieved upon the seas. And the destruction of this mighty fleet, by which all the maritime schemes of France were totally frustrated, hardly appeared to add to our security or strength; for, while Nelson was living to watch the combined squadrons of the enemy, we felt ourselves as secure as now, when they are no longer in existence."

Not only will all British subjects on Saturday be celebrating Nelson Day, but it is a striking coincidence that another Nelson has been celebrating, in anticipation, of a few months, this great centenary. A hundred years after Nelson's remarkable series of victories had consolidated British naval power, and established anew British naval prestige, Admiral Togo, that great Britisher — made so by adoption through the Anglo-Japanese alliance —is smashing, to the same rallying cry, which Nelson has made immortal, the Russian fleet, in the Sea of Japan, achieved a victory, as great in its way, as that of Nelson, and opened the way to an alliance which has helped to establish anew the power and prestige of the British Empire in the East. British naval supremacy means the British Empire one and undividable. The old Romans had a saying that when the Coliseum fell, Rome would fall. When British naval supremacy ceases, then will the British Empire, as a dominating world-power, also cease to be.

Though Nelson may not have been at all times a model in morals, yet the great work he did, entitles his services to the keenest recognition, and himself to our liveliest gratitude. His—"England expects every man to do his duty," has been an inspiration for a hundred years, and represents a stronger incentive to faithful service than thousands of the sermons that have been preached in the lapsed century since those noble words were blazoned. If every Canadian boy and girl, every Canadian of any age, should adopt the spirit of these words — take them to their hearts, and live them in their lives —they would do more to honour the memory of Nelson, than any songs of praise they could sing, or words of commendation they could say — and do more to promote Imperial interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Our "Amurrican" cousins delight to claim the lead in everything. Now, on behalf of that great country, Governor Folk, of Missouri, is making the claim that the United States leads the world in corrupt politics. This is, perhaps, better founded than many other claims to superiority.

The importance of the fruit industry in Ontario, is accentuated by the fact that there are 200,000 barrels —nearly a million bushels — of Ontario apples waiting shipment to the seaboard, for transportation to the old country. A shortage of cars is liable to produce serious loss, if, especially, movement of fall fruits is delayed.

The Conservative journals are striving to make it appear that Sir William Mulock retired from the Government on account of Cabinet dissensions. This is not surprising —according to the proverbial theory that misery loves company. There is a desire to show that the same dove-like harmony that prevails in the ranks of the Conservative party, prevails amongst Liberals — illustrated by several prominent Conservatives on strike, and the Opposition leader being cold-shouldered from one end of the country to the other.

USEFUL DISCOVERIES

It is not always the greatest, most astonishing discoveries of science that are most useful to the human race.

Comparatively few people were directly interested in Herschel's finding of the new planet Uranus, but many thousands have been benefited by Prof. Unna's experiments, which proved beyond a question that Dandruff and Baldness are the results of the inroads of a parasitic germ which invades the roots of the hair.

The discovery of the true cause of baldness made Newbro's Herpicide possible. Herpicide effectually kills this germ. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect.

The Inspector Addresses The Association

Mr. J. Coyle Brown Spoke on "The Ideal Trustee."

The Half-Day System Was Also Discussed by Him.

Mr. J Coyle Brown, Inspector of Public Schools for this county, was in Lindsay attending a meeting of the Teachers' Association, and delivered two addresses, one on "The Ideal Trustee," and the other on "The Half Day System."

The Lindsay Post in referring to these addresses says:—

Inspector Brown, of Peterborough, discussed the "Ideal Trustee.' The father of a family generally made a good trustee, but there were exceptions when even a bachelor made a good trustee. Some trustees tried to carry on the school as cheaply as possible, and the result was inferior equipment for the school and inferior education for the children.

Inspector Brown advocated a half-day system to be adopted in some rural schools during the summer months in which the pupils of the 3rd and 4th classes would be taught from 8 to 11 a.m., and the pupils of the 1st and 2nd classes from 1 to 4 p.m. This would enable the elder pupils to have three hours at school and do a large amount of work on the farm. The younger pupils would have sufficient teaching and the teacher would have less trouble with discipline and seat work, as the number of pupils present at one time would be just one half. As it is, many pupils leave as soon as summer work begins and do not return till fall. These pupils could continue their studies and be of great use on the farm.

GREATEST PROGRESS IN NEXT FIVE YEARS OF ANY CANADIAN CITY

This is the Opinion Which Professor D'Arville Holds of Peterborough—Says Next Year Will See Commencement of the Great Industrial Expansion—A Look Into the Future—What Peterborough Residents May Expect in the Next Half Decade.

That Peterborough is destined to become a great city and that this greatness is to come within the next few years is the opinion of Prof. J. E. D'Arville, the clairvoyant and palmist, who during the past four weeks has been in the city revealing the mysteries of the past and future to those who consulted him as reference to their lives, and what was to happen to them in the years that are yet to dawn.

Prof. D'Arville is a pronounced enthusiast, that is the predominating characteristic of the man, and his enthusiasm reaches its height when he talks of the future of this city, which he declares is the best, and has the best prospects of any place he has visited in many years, and he has been travelling all the time.

During the next five years Peterborough will boom as it has never boomed before, and the growth of the past few years will be completely overshadowed by that which is yet in store. In fact, in comparison with the growth which she will make in the next half decade, Peterborough has been standing still during the last three years, and those who have lived here during that time were of the opinion this city had experienced a most satisfactory business expansion. It will, however, be gratifying to them to learn that if the professor's prophecy is realized, the future has even greater surprises in store.

Next year, he says, will see the thin edge of the wedge of prosperity inserted, and from that time on for five years, it will be a continual material progress. In his opinion, and there are many persons in the city who have great faith in his ability [illegible] to be correct, there is at the present time a large industrial concern seriously contemplating the erection there of an immense plant, and he believes that this city will be selected as the site of the works, the construction of which will be commenced next year, and these will be followed in rapid succession during the next three years by several others, and inside of five years the population of Peterborough will be practically doubled.

All this will be good news to the people of this city, the majority of whom, while they have had confidence in its future have hardly been prepared to make such claims as those made by the professor.

He offers some advice to young men in this connection too, and doubtless the majority of them will follow his advice, since it will be along the line of their own inclination. He stated that a number of young men, since he had been in Peterborough, had come to him to ask his advice about their future, and whether they should seek other fields in which to make their fortune, but to nearly all of these his advice was to stay here. Of course there were some exceptions to this when circumstances warranted him offering other advice but his view with respect to the great future which this city promises to have was such as to warrant him giving them strong advice to make their home here, and share in the prosperity which is bound to come in the near future.

The power question is the one which is going to be a big factor in the future prosperity of this city, says Prof. D'Arville, and he also believes that new railway projects are under way, which will mean a great deal for Peterborough. In this estimation this will be made an important divisional point on one of the railways, and this fact in itself will have a good effect on the business expansion of the city.

The title which he would advise the city to adopt is "Progressive Peterborough," and he believes that the citizens would be fully warranted in adopting this motto, for it is, he states, the most progressive city of its size he has ever seen, and he prophesies that during the coming five years it will make greater proportionate progress than any place in Canada.

The stores of Peterborough are, he believes, the peer of those in any city, and Mrs. D'Arville, who was present at the interview, interjected the remark that the Peterborough ladies were fully up to the so-called leaders in fashion, the American women.

The trolley system of Peterborough also came in for some praise, the professor venturing the assertion that it compared favourably with that in any city he had ever visited.

Speaking of the impressions a stranger gains by walking down Peterborough's streets, he says that the feature which attracts the attention of the pedestrian is the charmingly decorated windows. The taste and adroitness displayed is far in advance of cities of greater size. But the windows are not all that is to be considered in fascinating the stranger with the city; it is the smiling face, the alertness, attentiveness and obliging graciousness of the [illegible] stores.

After having spent four profitable and pleasant weeks in Peterborough, Prof. D'Arville and his wife left this morning for Lindsay, where they will remain for a few weeks. It is almost a pity for the peace of mind of the professor that he should have arranged to go to Lindsay from Peterborough. The contrast will be so great that even his abounding enthusiasm will hardly prevent him from a feeling of depression at the changed atmosphere into which he has been translated.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN, — For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the Glasses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Bridgeporth Refuses To Play

As noted a few days ago the Quakers and Bridgeporth teams were ordered to play off the tie existing since the exhibition for the E. R. Hall Cup. But now Nobie Kelly's "Pets," from the pretty summer resort, have "crabbed." They claim a right to hold the cup on a one game. True they won the cup last year, by default, but the other team opposed them, themselves played the Quakers a tie game at the Exhibition this year and here are their grounds for claiming the cup. Mr. Hall left the matter in the hands of the directors of the Peterborough Exhibition and they decided that another game was necessary. The Quakers were anxious to meet Bridgenorth and no doubt it would have resulted in a good game. The action of the Bridgenorth team in this matter is described as entirely unsportsmanlike.

This Man Needs The Currency

"Dialect" Wrestler Writes to Mr. Chris. Graham.

Mr C. G. Graham received the following letter last night:—

Montreal, October 16, 1905,

Mr. Chris. Graham.

Dear Sir,—We just got here from Liverpool two weeks ago, and we like to have a wrestling match. We also got to see the wrestlers here, but no want give me match cause me no have money to bet for a side. One man board same house mit me tell it to me to write to you for wrestling match. He tell it to me be one time live in Peterborough. Me weigh 155 pounds. Me win championship in Liverpool. Me sure me can beat any wrestler. Me come from Germany. Me vos 8 months in Liverpool. You make match for me, me tank you and me much obliged to you. Me no care you get man for me dat way 208 pounds. Me want to make $200.00 to go for New York and wrestle George Bohler. Me very glad you give me a answer.

LAYKO HEINRMAN.
General Delivery, Montreal.

If this man wants a bout and has the money he can be accommodated right here in Peterborough. But if he wants to beg he had better go to Italy and solicit alms from the wealthy tourists that visit Rome. And here's another thing. He doesn't need to pretend he's a German, a Jew or any other member of a strange nationality. He may as well come right out in his true colours. There's a wrestler in Peterborough who works out with a young buffalo every night and he's just looking for something like this. However, the writer of the above epistle, before he strikes Peterboough, would do well to learn that once popular neon song, "If you ain't got no money, why you needn't come around".

RUGBY.

The Charlotte street Guild and T. A. S. teams will play a practice match on Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, immediately following the Peterborough-Argo game. No scamper will be allowed to play on either team and a good game is assured. The line-up of the teams will appear in to-morrow's issue.

• • • •

The return game with the Toronto Argonauts on Thanksgiving Day, should be a big attraction to the supporters of the local team. This will be a good opportunity for a trip to Toronto. Everybody should go and encourage the boys to win.

• • • •

In writing to his brother, Jimmy, the diminutive all-round athlete, Mr. Dick. O'Brien, of the Transcontinental Railway survey party, states that when the party struck a clearing in the woods the other day an impromptu football was immediately made out of sundry sweaters, socks and other articles, and the boys had a good warm practice of wearing apparel.

Dick was prominent in athletic circles when in Peterborough and formerly played snap back on the Rough Rider city league team. His numerous Peterborough friends would doubtless like to see the form he displayed among the tall timbers. They must be a husky bunch, those Rough Riders of the Woods.

• • • •

A practice of the Charlotte street rugby team is called for to-night at 8 o'clock at Boswell's field in preparations for the game with the T. A. S. on Saturday.

• • • •

A Gilmour street leather pounder is doing away with the necessity of the C. G. E. six o'clock whistle these mornings.

• • • •

Quinlan, the T.A.S. baseball pitcher, may be tried at full back in the game with the Toronto Argonauts next Saturday. He should be a specialist in handling the grounders.

• • • •

Professional fighting has been put under the ban at Chicago. They will soon have to take the ocean for it.

• • • •

The following players attended the practice held in the Brock street rink, last night:—Quinlan, Gillespie, Crawley, Mulhern, Crough, Fitzpatrick, Dillon, Gilbert, and Dixon. The signals and running and passing were practised. The workout towards the conclusion became a bit too strenuous. Tackling, wrestling and other tactics of questionable value, considering the hard ground floor, were pursued. Nobody was hurt, however. If the locals can stand that rock bottom gridiron the sod on Saturday will be like a regular feather bed.

• • • •

When it comes to "rough house", Furtubise has got it on pretty nearly any of them.

• • • •

The Toronto Argos had a splendid practice last night, seniors and intermediates, and the prospects for Hamilton and Peterborough are considered very bright. Another practice will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and to-morrow night at 8 o'clock there will be the final electric light workout.—Toronto Star.

• • • •

The Toronto Argonaut team should be in pretty good shape for their game here if practices count for anything.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

There is no entry fee for the tournament in Toronto next week. A deposit of $2 is necessary but this is simply as a guarantee of good faith and will be returned after the final bouts.

• • • •

Sam McGovern defeated Tommy Murphy in one round at their fight in Philadelphia last night. He must have fully recovered from his recent attack of nervous prostration.

• • • •

The Peterborough Baseball Club are going to hold the first smoker of this season in the near future. If they secure good talent and run off the programme as advertised they will confer a great favour upon the sporting public of this city. Outside men who have had charge of these affairs before, have repeatedly fooled their audiences. A number of great bouts would be billed but Mr. So and So could not be present for this bout or that bout. The people naturally got sick of this kind of thing and the last crowd that put on their shows went about $40 in the hole. The champion wrestler of America" would figure in the bag punching exhibition, spar a few rounds, execute a step dance and do several other things he wasn't billed for. The people got "wise" after a while and the shows consequently became failures. But the baseball club is a local organization and they will undoubtedly live up to all their claims. Mr. Ed. Barrow, who will referee is a good sporting man and knows boxing and wrestling thoroughly.

• • • •

Some sporting audience will present Capt. Duncan Rose and Monte Wilson with a "brick bouquet" one of these fine evenings.

BASKET-BALL.

• • • •

The officers and members of the Brownie basketball club will be the guests of Mr. Gordon Miller next Tuesday night.

• • • •

The Brownies had a good turnout last night at their practice in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and they should should be represented by a good fast bunch this season. Mr. Gordon Miller, the captain, handed in his resignation, but was asked to reconsider his action.

The Cement Roofing Co. Loses By Fire

Their Works Were Damaged This Afternoon.

Fire Originated in Dry Kilns, Which Were Destroyed.

A fire occurred this afternoon at the shed occupied by the Peterborough Cement Roofing Manufacturing Company, beside the railway track, south of Messrs. Scott & Hogg's warehouse.

The blaze evidently originated at the drying kilns inside, and owing to the nature of the materials, fortunately did not spread with much rapidity. As soon as discovered, a number of employees from Scott & Hogg's formed a bucket brigade and kept the fire under control until the arrival of the firemen.

The blaze was confined principally to the woodwork of the kilns, and the fire though still in progress at the time of going to press, the damage, it is estimated, will be slight.

Valuable Farm Changes Hands

Mr. George A. Reid Disposes of Farm in Smith Township.

An important transfer in real estate in Smith Township was concluded to-day, when Mr. George A. Reid disposed of his valuable farm properly situated about four miles from the city, to Mr. McIvor, of Ops Township, near Lindsay.

The price paid was, it is understood, in the neighbourhood of $11,000. The farm, which is noted as one of the best in the township, consists in all of about 186 acres, and the price paid is considered to be a very moderate one in view of the value.

Mr. McIver will take possession of his new property during the early part of the year at which time Mr. Reid will dispose of his stock, and remove to Peterborough, where he will engage in the insurance business.

Mr. Nicholls Out Of Dominion Steel

The annual meeting of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was held in Montreal yesterday. It brought together an unusually large number of shareholders, and was marked by some interesting announcements. The most important of the latter was made by Mr. J. H. Plummer, the president, when he stated that Mr. Frederic Nicholls, the vice-president of the company, had decided to retire from the executive and Board of the company. On the occasion of his withdrawal, Mr. Nicholls was offered a very handsome remuneration by the directors, but this he absolutely refused to accept. The directors then presented him with a very valuable piece of silver, as a slight token of all that he had done for the company. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to him by the shareholders.

Estelle Darrow Wants Damages

Stratford, Oct. 18.—Estelle Dellow, a married woman, residing in Harrington, sued John Baker, who keeps a general store in the same village. On April 4th, last the plaintiff says she was hanging out some clothes, and ran short of clothespins. She called across the road for decadant, asking if he had any. He said yes, and threw one over to his store. After plaintiff bought the clothespins, according to her story, defendant grabbed her by the arm and pulled her into the hallway. She got away, however, and when she got to the door defendant called to her and told her to come back when no one was about, and he would give her some money. On cross-examination plaintiff admitted that she had been in the habit of joking with Baker, whom she described as an old bachelor. She called him Jack he called her Estelle. Plaintiff stated that she did not want damages, but simply desired to have Baker punished. Defendant admitted joking with plaintiff, but swore that he never took hold of her. The jury awarded plaintiff $1 damages. Mr. Watkins for plaintiff; Mr. Macpherson for defendant.

Missionary Society

greater than the whole of Japan. Since that time varied and trying have been the experiences of the missionaries. As a breaker-down of prejudices, the work eclipses all others. The physician opens closed doors and walks through them herself into that most inaccessible stronghold of heathenism, the home. The women physician can enter where other women have to seek or make opportunities. The homes of the poor are usually open to any women, but the doors of the higher classes are closed to everyone except the woman physician.

As an educator, the medical work is most important. No work brings such results as the battles with the microbes, and the introduction of sanitary measures. The woman physician is teaching the Chinese women that fresh air will not kill them; that they must not feed the baby on chewed walnuts, and that a little girl should be thought as much of as a boy.

The medical work is an adjunctor along another line. To the Chinese the woman physician is a revelation. She reads books, talks Chinese, and tells wonderful stories of distant lands.

The speaker remarked it was not as a maker of friends or as an educator, but as an evangelist, that the woman physician was most important. There was no one who had such opportunities. By the sick bed or welcomed as a guest because of benefits received, she had opportunities that no one else could have of preaching Christ. The reaping might be far off, but the seed-sowing had been committed to their trust. She was glad to say that some of the seed had fallen upon good ground.

In connection with the hospital work, Dr. Henry said that they tried to establish a Christian atmosphere. She told of the coming of the three native women helpers, and gave a most interesting account of the way in which they had been converted. Services were held regularly, and the patients were taught to read the gospel. As may came from distant cities in various parts of China, they thus became centres of light when they left the hospital and returned to their homes.

Dr. Henry closed with a reference to the awful suffering that existed in China owing to the terrible diseases. She remarked that the woman missionary would wear her heart out were it not for the hope of changing the sorrow to joy.

Miss Brimstim's Address.

Miss Brimstim, of Chentu, China, gave a most interesting talk upon the Jennie Ford Children's Home, with which she is connected. Her discourse was largely confined to a description of incidents in connection with the home, which, in her official capacity, had come under her observation. Her remarks proved highly entertaining, and contained much information which was graphically presented.

Each girl in the Home, the speaker explained, has a sad, sad history. In all there are thirteen children ranging in age from two and a half to sixteen years. The speaker then gave an interesting history of four of the children in the institution. The children in the orphanage, learning of Jesus from their infancy, have no knowledge of idolatry whatever. They are bright and interesting and learn to love each other as sisters.

We are very hopeful of our children, concluded the speaker, earnestly, and hope that in learning of Christ from infancy they may become workers for him in that dark land where work was needed so much.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The Board of Managers of the Women's Missionary Society met in the George street church this morning at half past nine. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Wilmot, president of the Toronto branch, and Mrs. Chowen, treasurer of the same.

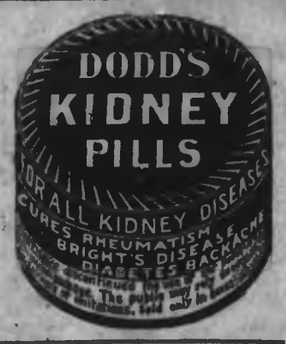
Miss Addison, B.A., Dean of Annesley Hall, Toronto, was present, and gave a very instructive Bible reading which was greatly appreciated by all in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Ross, then took the chair, and the balance of the morning's filed with the secretary were disposed of. The matter of converting life membership fees into an endowment fund was left over for further discussion. At the suggestion of Mrs. Carman it was thought that something along this line might be done to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the society. The memorial of Broadway Tabernacle for more workers in the West, to meet the needs of the increasing settlers in that field, was left with the Board to meet this need in the best way possible. The memorial of Fred Victor Mission re a worker among the four thousand Italians in the district in Toronto known as St. John's ward, then came up for action, and on motion of Mrs. McKay, seconded by Mrs. Phelps, it was decided to support a worker there for one year. On motion of Mrs. Young, seconded by Mrs. Ferrier, the Board consented to accede to the request of the Manitoba branch that the salary of the Deaconess in Winnipeg be raised to $400.00.

The president then called upon Strachan, Field Secretary, of the Board, to continue the reports of the work in the various fields, China being the next for consideration.

The Joint Council in the China field, presented a request for workers for the cities of Yuin Hsien and Ren Shou, in which the General Society were about to open work; also for workers to be sent north to itinerate and open the way for work in that district. A letter from Miss Brackbill at Chentu, pointed out the need of a grant for the Home there, and also reported the receipt of a gift of $650 for the boarding school, from the Chinese officials at Chentu, through the efforts of the British consul at that place. The request of an organ for the Home at Jardien was passed on to the Finance Committee. On motion of Mrs. Carman, seconded by Mrs. Chowen, the quest of Dr. Henry to take a post graduate course during her furlough, was granted on condition that her physical strength and health should not be taxed too much. On motion of Mrs. Strachan it was decided that the number of children to be taken into the orphanage at Chentu should not be limited. The board also decided that in the proposed new buildings some provisions should be made whereby the children of the orphanage might have a playground. The presence of Dr. Henry and Miss Bilnster, returned missionaries from China, was of great assistance to the Board in the discussion of the various matters pertaining to work in that field.

The morning session was then brought to a close by prayer by Mrs. Reid.



Laid To Rest This Afternoon

Remains of the Late W. J. Doughty Were Interred.

The funeral of the late W. J. Doughty took place this afternoon from the deceased's residence to the Little Lake Cemetery. The Woodmen of the World, of which Order the deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body, and the pall bearers were members of the local Camp. They were Messrs. E. W. Wasson, F. Hughes, C. Gunsolus, W. Wareham, Ed. Moore.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church.

Mr. Thomas Doughty, of Toronto, and other relatives from outside the city were in attendance.

The City Council Takes Needed Rest

There is a deathlike stillness around the city hall these days, the busiest man around the place being the city clerk, who is engaged in preparing the voters' lists from the assessors' books, and this job is almost completed.

It is some weeks now since the aldermen have held a committee meeting, but the suggestion is made that it is the lull before the last grand finale of the year's work, and the annual eleventh-hour aldermanic activity prior to the municipal elections. There are really only two matters of any importance claiming the attention of the Council at the present time, the box by-law and the question of the proposed fixed assessment for the Central Milling Company, to which at the last meeting of the Council, Ald. Hall objected, and it was referred to the Committee of the Whole for further consideration.

Of course, there is the fire engine question, but nothing will be done in this matter except to ask the people to vote on the by-law to raise the money.

The Water street sewer, which was ordered by the Board of Health seems to have been effectually shelved by those opposed to it, and it will probably be left over for a new Council to wrestle with.

A phenomenal yield of wheat is reported from Bear Creek, south of Gladstone. One field went forty-eight bushels to the acre, and another yielded the astonishing amount of fifty-two.

In Paris a former cashier of a Nantes refinery, named Guyot, who was accused of having misappropriated $96,000, has been acquitted to the assizes on the ground that he had not retained the money. It was swallowed up in risky speculation, and the jury considered that the man's employers had not examined the books often enough, a course which might have prevented the cashier's fall, which was brought about by his desire to cover his original misappropriation.

BOOZE OR MEDICINE?

Which will you have? If a woman suffering from one of the delicate ailments peculiar to your sex it will be well for you to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only remedy advertised for such maladies which is absolutely free from intoxicating liquors and all other harmful agents. The good you feel from its use is not the delusive exhilaration from a tippling beverage, from which the system reacts into a worse condition than before. It may be a little slower in manifesting its bracing and invigorating action, but its benefits are none the less positive and, best of all, they are lasting. It's an honest medicine—not a beverage.

"I have been taking your medicine for the last three weeks and can say I am gaining strength," writes Mrs. Beneth Kinny, of 68 East Madison Street, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. "I have been having very poor health all winter. I despaired with our family doctor but was relieved only while taking the medicine. I took Dr. Pierce's medicine several years ago. I know it was good for any one suffering with female trouble. Have taken only one bottle and am gaining strength very fast. I could not eat nor sleep when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription.' Heart troubled me and I had cold and numb spells till my heart would almost stop beating. Have had one child since first taking your medicine. If I continue with your treatment am positive I will be cured."

Every suffering woman in this land should write to Dr. Pierce and learn how certainly he can help her to health and strength. It costs nothing to write and receive entirely free the advice of one of the most experienced physicians in this country. His great thousand-page book the Common Sense Medical Adviser, in stiff paper covers, will be sent free for 21 one-cent stamps the bare cost of mailing, or, send 50 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering his own remedy to you instead of this well-known preparation of Dr. Pierce.

Eight Persons Are Discovered In The Ruins

Thirty-Five Injured, Three Probably Fatally, in Tornado.

STRUCK SORENTO, ILLINOIS

Forty Houses Blown to Atoms or Carried Far From Their Foundations—Searched Debris by Lantern Light—At Grafton, Ill., the Main Street Was Three Feet Under Water—Freight Train Wrecked.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—A tornado struck the Village of Sorento, Ill., 32 miles northeast of St. Louis, Tuesday night, killing eight persons, injuring 35 others, of whom three will probably die, and doing a great amount of damage to property. Forty houses were blown to atoms, or carried far from their foundations. A complete swath was cut through the town.

The dead: Mrs. Thomas File, Mrs. William Stewart, William Mann, Harrison Mann.

Telegraph communication with Sorento is cut off, and details were obtained over the long-distance telephone. The four killed were in their homes in different parts of Sorento. All were badly crushed. The storm approached from the southwest and swept through the main residence portion of the town. The work of the wind was quickly done, and then followed a heavy downpour of rain, accompanied by vivid lightning.

Four Taken From Debris.

So violent was the tornado that some residences were swept away completely. Houses that remained standing were converted into temporary hospitals, and the people, by lantern light, in the pouring rain, seached through the debris for the injured. The population of Sorento numbers 1,100 persons.

Mrs. William Kirkland, William Stewart and Thomas File will probably die from injuries.

During the day the dead bodies of four unidentified persons were taken from the debris, making a total of eight. The total property loss is estimated between $80,000 and $100,000.

The storm that wrecked Sorento deluged Alton, Ill., where it converted the streets into temporary rivers. At Grafton, 14 miles distant, the main street was three feet under water.

Train Crew Swims For Life.

Ten miles north of Alton, a Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis freight train struck a wash-out and plunged down an embankment. Two of the cars contained cattle and horses and only a few of the animals escaped. Several tramps who were seen on the train previously are believed to have perished. The freight crew had to swim for their lives.

In St. Louis the lowlands of the River Desperes were flooded and the police were busy yesterday rescuing people from the housetops. One-third of Forest Park, outside the World's Fair enclosure, was submerged by water from three to fifteen feet deep.

Two Killed In Oklahoma.

Tulsa, I. T., Oct. 19.—In a tornado, which passed near Manford, Okla., late Tuesday night, two children of E. R. Anderson were killed, and Mrs. Anderson and Miss Maude Root were seriously injured. Several other persons are reported hurt.

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

Transformation Of Chrysalis INTO BUTTERFLY, AS Represented By Postoffice

Handsome Interior, With Modern and Up-to-Date Fittings Now Replaces the Inadequate Equipment of the Past --Alterations Now Almost Completed With Little Interruption to the Business of the Office--Improvements Were Result of Efforts of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.

Probably every person in the city was acquainted with the fact that for some months preliminary work in connection with the improvements to the postoffice have been quietly prosecuted, but it may be said that there were few indeed prepared for the transformation from the quiet grub into the beautiful butterfly represented by the reconstructed interior.

That the wizard-like transformation was effected so expeditiously, and without the accompaniment of the periods of vexation and protest, upon the part of business and professional men of the city, which might have been expected as incidental to the change is a matter of congratulation.

Not a hitch appears to have occurred during the course of the alterations, and the manifold intricacies and difficulties incident to the work were each in turn overcome as they arose.

But even if such had been the case, the improved service and added facilities would repay many days or even weeks of vexation or annoyance. The new arrangements appear to meet in every respect a general public approbation, and is evidenced in the expressions of appreciation invariably heard from each new visitor.

Little mention need be made of the general character of the change which is most extensive in it's scope. What is probably the most prominent alteration is that upon the eastern side of the office, in which much additional space has been secured through the construction in the rear of the postmaster's office. Along this side the large additional section of new boxes is situated. The new section will number in all 198 new boxes. In place of the small drawers of the old system have been installed 126 large boxes, 7 large and 33 medium-sized drawers have also been installed.

The boxes were purchased from the Office Specialty Company, of Toronto, by whom they were manufactured. They are of steel fronts nickled, with perforated bottoms to prevent the accumulation of dust.

On the eastern side is also situated the new money order and registered letter wickets. At the corner is a door leading to the interior of the office, in which is a parcel wicket. Two general delivery wickets now replace the wholly inadequate one of the past. These will be presided over by two clerks, instead of one, as formerly, and will remain open from 7.30 a.m. until 8 p.m. Brass semi-circular rails have been placed in front. The wickets are divided into sections, from A to L and from M to Z. Miss Marion Watt and Miss Rena Cameron will have charge of this important part of the work. Directly in front of them is the stamp vendor's office. This is handsome in design and workmanship, and has many increased facilities over the former one. The interior woodwork is of quarter-cut oak. The doors are fitted with British bevel-plate glass. This will be presided over, as heretofore, by Miss Mowry, and will remain open daily from 8 a.m. until 6.30 p.m.

Four new doors have been added at the entrance, while at the new eastern entrance, which leads to the interior of the office, have also been added two.

Many changes have been made to the interior of the office. These include five new stamping and sorting tables and a distributing table.

Peterborough Post Office, the Interior of Which Has Recently Been Remodelled.

The postmaster's new private office at the rear, is 10 x 16 feet in size. A tile floor has been spoken of, and will be installed shortly.

An interesting feature of the alterations is that in the handling of the numerous box keys, which formerly were kept upon a large key-board, 8 x 3 feet in size, consisting of six drawers, which occupy a minimum of space.

The contractor for the work was Mr. D. Beneghem, who is to be congratulated upon the entirely satisfactory outcome of his work. The painting and kalsomining of the interior was the work of Mr. Duncan. The lighting fixtures will be immediately installed by Messrs. Alexander & Miller. The brick work involved in the construction of the postmaster's office at the rear was done by Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Altogether the citizens may now congratulate themselves upon the increased accommodation and modern facilities afforded by the alterations, which are so largely due to the progressiveness and enterprise of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., who upon this session, as usual, spared no effort in looking after the interests of his constituents.

Watson Was A Former Peterborough Man

One of the Two Young Men Who Were Arrested in Bed With Burglars' Tools--Watson Given Twelve Months in the Central--Had Escaped From Policeman.

A former Peterborough man, going now by the name of Watson, though this is not believed to be his name, has been in trouble in Toronto, and the Globe in recording it says:

"These men are not desperadoes, and have no criminal records." Such was the plea made by Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C., on behalf of Thomas Morse and Fred. Watson, alias Wilson, when they were called for sentence yesterday in the police court. The prisoners, who were arrested while in bed, were convicted of having an outfit of burglars' tools in their possession. Morse was sent to the Central for six months, and Watson was committed to the same institution for nine months. The latter's sentence was extended three months because he escaped from a policeman while being taken to the Mimico Industrial School. Mr. Robinette endeavoured to show that the prisoners did not have the tools in their possession with intent to commit burglary. They had been given the tools by a man named Handley, who had since left the country. "You certainly cannot class these men as hardened criminals," said Mr. Robinette.

"I think they are making splendid progress for their age," retorted his Worship, and he added that the evidence of the two young women who were living with the prisoners showed conclusively that Morse and Watson's intention was to commit burglary, particularly when one of the prisoners had remarked that he knew a man who was an expert at the business.

Charivari May Lead To Some Serious Results

Stephen Jackson to Be Tried in Millbrook.

On Charge of Wounding McGregor and Parrotte.

About two weeks ago, it will be remembered that the report of a shooting accident at Baillieboro, appeared in the Examiner. The accident occurred at a charivari, at the farm of Andrew Huggins, about five miles from Baillieboro. As the charivari party was on its way, Stephen Jackson discharged the weapon and the shot took effect in the arms of Edward McGreggor and Thomas Parrotte. The injured men were removed to the Nicholls Hospital and the affair was allowed to drop, until last Saturday, when Chief Bond of Port Hope, commenced an investigation. The chief drove to Baillieboro, and had quite a lengthy interview with Jackson. Jackson admitted that he knew the gun was loaded but had discharged it simply to call the party together. It appears that Jackson is short-sighted and on this occasion was wearing a mask, so that it was almost impossible for him to see any object.

Chief Bond of Port Hope, has laid information against Jackson for wounding, contrary to the criminal code, section 242, and it will come up for hearing at Millbrook, on Wednesday next.

THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY IS ACQUIRING MORE PROPERTY

Deals Were Completed Last Night by Which the Company Secured All the Land South of the Works to Albert Street—About $20,000 Was Paid for the Land Upon Which it is Believed New Buildings Will be Erected—Property Extends 40 Feet West of Large Machine Shop—Deal Was Put Through by the A. Brown Agency.

While Mr. Frederic Nicholls, General Manager of the Canadian General Electric Company stated yesterday that his visit to Peterborough had no special significance, it is a fact to which some significance has been attached, that last night deals were closed for property for which the company is to pay in the neighbourhood of $20,000.

This property lies directly to the south of the present works of the company and extends, with the corner lot, already purchased, from Albert street north to the works, and west to a line 40 feet beyond the western wall of the large machine shop which, as will be seen, gives them greatly increased space.

The persons from whom property has been bought are, Walter Stocker, The Braidburn Estate, Mrs. Ricker, Mr. Jas. Garside, Mr. W. Evans and Rev. Mr. White, of Toronto. This extends nearly half the whole length of Albert street from Park street west.

On the property acquired there are at present ten houses.

This large deal was put through by the A. Brown & Co., real estate agency, and is one of the most important real estate transfers that has taken place in the city in a long time.

Negotiations for the property referred to above have been in progress for about two months, and Mr. Brown secured options from all the owners for the company, and while the fact that coincident with Mr. Nicholl's visit to the city, the instructions were issued to Mr. Brown to close the deal, may have no significance, it is taken by some to mean that plans for the enlargement of the works have been definitely decided upon, and these extensions will be to the south of the present works.

The Present Works of the Canadian General Electric Company, Land for the Enlargement of Which Has Just Been Acquired.

It is hardly to be expected that the company has secured this property with the intention of holding it for rent, but the impression in general among those who are on the inside that it can have been secured for no other purpose than for an extension of the company's works.

In the absence of any definite statement from the heads of the company in reference to their intention with regard to the property which has been acquired, it is impossible to state positively that the intention is to cover the new land with buildings, but the statement that such is the intention is considered an accurate one.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, the superintendent of the local works, was this afternoon communicated with in reference to the above purchase, and stated that there was no immediate intention of erecting buildings on the property purchased, but that it had been secured in the belief that at some time in the future an extension would be made, and in preference to erecting buildings in the rear of the lot, they would extend the present buildings to the south.

For the present, however, the property would remain as it is, but it was thought advisable to purchase it now, while it could be secured, cheaper, possibly, than at a later date.

LOANED $10 YEARS AGO AND NOW IT IS RETURNED WITH INTEREST

The Children's Aid Society Received $15 This Morning From Local Gentleman to Whom a Loan Was Returned With Interest--An Interesting Story of How a Young Man Got His Start in Life--A City Resident's Generosity is Repaid With Interest.

This morning the Children's Aid Society was made the recipient of $15, and it is doubtful if in the history of that institution any contribution has come to it in such an unique manner.

To go into the details of the story which led up to this donation, one has to go back a number of years, when a boy was employed as a parcel carrier in one of the stores of the town. He was a bright lad, but had not been able to give as much time to the acquirement of an education as he would like.

A gentleman, who is still in the city and who occupies a prominent position in the literary world, took an interest in the boy, and meeting him on the street one day he said to him, "Why don't you quit this business and go to the Business College; you are too clever to carry parcels." The boy replied that he would be glad to if he had the money, and upon being asked how much he needed he said $10, which the gentleman gave him.

He left Peterborough and went to New York, after spending some time in a business college. In Uncle Sam's domain he prospered, and is at the present time the owner of a large wholesale furniture business.

To-day the man who had given him his start in life received a letter from him enclosing $25, which was the $10 loaned him with compound interest to date.

The recipient kept the $10, originally loaned and gave the balance, $15, to Mr. R. M. Denniston, Secretary of the Children's Aid Society, to be devoted to the funds of this Society.

Lamented Death of Miss Helen Kyle
Little Niece of Miss B. Y. Moyes Passed Away Yesterday.

Numerous Peterborough people, with whom she was a general favourite, will be deeply pained to learn of the demise yesterday in Toronto of Miss Helen Kyle, the little eight-year old daughter of Mr. T. E. Kyle of that city.

The little girl for three summers past, visited in Peterborough, with Miss B. Y. Moyes, her bright, affectionate disposition gaining for her a host of friends here. The funeral will take place in Toronto to-morrow.

The anniversary of the Battle of the Alma was celebrated at Aldershot with great ceremony by the Notts and Derby Regiment — the old 95th Regiment — who formed part of Pennefather's brigade in the assault on the height.

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those persons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $200. to $800. for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $1900. to $3000. Farms also we have for sale. Peterborough County Teachers' Convention

The Annual Gathering of Educators Taking Place in Norwood--A Large Number of Teachers in Attendance--The Opening Session Yesterday Afternoon--An Address by Inspector Brown--A Nature Study Talk by Mr. Pilkie--The Nominating Committee Appointed.

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, October 20.—The annual convention of the County Teachers' Association opened in the Model School here yesterday afternoon. Shortly after one o'clock, the President, Mr. Sydney Hill, of Lakefield, called the meeting to order and made a few introductory remarks.

Those who were present at the convention were:—

Miss Violet White.
Miss Susie Weir.
Miss Gertie Carter.
Miss Vivian Lough.
Miss Emily Swan.
Miss Mary Anderson.
Miss Loretta Kelly.
Miss Mary Nathan.
Miss Etta Kelly.
Miss Katie Baskin.
Miss Jennie Clydesdale.
Miss Ella Dewart.
Miss Lydia Simpson.
Miss Ellen Switzer.
Miss Flo White.
Miss Clary.
Miss Irene Shaw.
Miss Lizzie Powell.
Miss Grace Johnston.
Miss Lily McConnell.
Miss May Edgar.
Miss Mary Payne.
Miss Moore.
Miss Harndin.
Miss Elliott.
Miss Brightly.
Miss E. MacLachlan.
Mr. Jos. Powers.
Mr. Jas. O'Brien.
Mr. Jordan Crowe.
Mr. Harper.
Mr. Pilkie.
Mr. S. Smithson.
Mr. Bert Huston.
Mr. George Spence.
Mr. S. W. E. Hill.
Mr. R. H. Leighton.
Mr. Kirkpatrick.
Mr. R. H. Leighton, of Norwood Public School, gave a very interesting and concise report of the O.E.A. He pointed out that nearly every speaker spoke of the poor remuneration of the teacher. His condition is next to the labourer and below that of the mechanic. Mr. Leighton's report was well received.

Inspector Brown next followed with the Half Day System in rural schools, during summer months. He spoke of the present state of affairs; how that a large number of senior pupils leave school in the spring to assist at home and return in the fall, only to find that they are behind their former classmates, who were privileged to attend all summer. To put them in a class lower would tend to discourage them, while they are not qualified to remain in their former class. Mr. Brown gave the benefits of the Half Day system as follows:—

1—The larger pupils coming at eight o'clock and returning at eleven allow the teacher to give individual teaching to the juniors who remain from one to four.

2—Where the school is large it would produce better order.

3—The progress of both classes would be materially advanced.

At the close of the paper Messrs. Leys, Harper, Howton, and Smithson, took part in the discussion.

Mr. P. Pilkie gave an interesting and instructive paper on Nature Study. He spoke of its place in the public school; of its place as an interesting study to pupils. The paper was instructive and logical. He closed by an appeal to teachers' to be practical and felt no doubt as to the results.

Rev. Mr. McClelland called and gave a few words of welcome to the teachers. The Association is always favoured by a visit from Mr. McClelland, who never fails to give something of interest.

The President named Messrs. Brown, Leys and Smithson, as a Nominating Committee.

A report of the other sessions will appear to-morrow.

Peterborough Is Chosen For 1906 Convention

The Baptist Convention, in Session at London, Decided to Meet in This City Next Year—The Association Accepted the Invitation of Murray Street Baptist Church for 1906—Large Attendance at the Convention.

London, Oct. 19.—Attendance at the Baptist convention has perhaps reached its maximum to-day. The railway requirement of 300 was reached yesterday, and delegates will receive return tickets free. The sermon this morning was preached by Rev. J. W. Hoyt, Chatham. A deputation from the Lord's Day Alliance was heard. Rev. J. G. Stewart, resident of the local branch and Rev. D. E. Hamilton, Congregationalist minister, spoke, and their request for co-operation was referred to the Committee on Resolutions. Congratulations to the Baptist State Convention in session at Lansing, Michigan, were sent forward.

REV. F. J. SCOTT,

Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, Who Invited the Baptist Convention to Meet Here in 1906.

Sunday School Report.

The Sunday school report was presented by Rev. S. Sheridon, the Field Secretary, who thought that the youth of the churches were neglected, the school should supplement the home in teaching the Christian religion of love and service. A hint should be taken from the firemen, who turned their attention to buildings just beginning to burn, rather than on blazing ruins. He drew attention to the new courses which had been prepared. There 410 schools had a total enrolement of 36,399 and an average attendance of 25,912, but 202 schools with 11,249 scholars had added no members to the church. The total contributions were $28,088. The committee's receipts were $1,121. Four new schools were opened and the increased enrollment was 924.

Rev. O. C. Elliott, Stratford, doubted whether for the results the $1,100 would not be better spent in the North west.

The question of pastoral support was also discussed, and steps will propably be taken to increase the salaries of preachers on home mission fields.

The church fight at Otter Valley was brought up, and it was announced that the recommendation of the Mission Board in the matter would be to withdraw support from the pastor of the churche and cancel the church services, pending the investigations of a committee to be appointed specially.

Home mission work occupied most of the day, and the reports presented were most encouraging.

At the close of the afternoon session the alumna of McMaster University held a banquet, at which about 200 were present.

The convention has accepted an invitation for next year from Murray street Church Peterborough.

Rev. D. A. McKenzie, B. A., Inducted to Centreville Church.

A large congregation gathered at the Presbyterian church, Centreville, yesterday afternoon to witness the induction of the Rev. D. A. McKenzie, B.A., as pastor, by the Presbytery of Peterborough. The members of Presbytery present were Rev. Messrs. D. D. McDonald, Moderator; A. Thomson, Clerk; Jas. Skene, Baltimore; C. S. Lord, Grafton; W. R. Johnston, Bethesda; Wm. Johnston, Millbrook; Wm. Beattie, Cobourg; George Yule, Springville; Wm. Bennett, J. C. Potter, W. M. Mackay, Peterborough.

Among the elders present were noticed Mr. William Fowler and Jas. Larmour. A pleasing feature of the day was the presence of the late pastor, the Rev. J. W. McIntosh, M. A., of Toronto, whose interest in the congregation's welfare is without abatement.

The public service was conducted by the Rev. Jas. Skene, after which the Moderator called upon the Rev. Mr. McKenzie to answer the questions usually put to a minister at such a time after which, by solemn prayer, he was installed as minister, and by formal pronouncement admitted to all the rights and privileges of a Presbyter. The right hand of fellowship was extended by Presbytery.

The Rev. C. S. Lord, who for some time had been Mr. McKenzie's pastor, addressed the minister in suitable terms, after which Rev. Wm. Johnston, of Millbrook, pointed out the duties of the congregation in their relationship to the minister. The congregation heartily sang "Blest be the tie that binds, Our hearts in Christian love," and at the conclusion of the service the congregation had the opportunity of greeting their new minister.

From 5 to 7 o'clock tea was served by the ladies of the church in the spacious hall. Here the ladies kept up their former record of generosity and good cooking.

At 8 o'clock the church building was taxed to its utmost capacity, many of the towns in the neighbourhood being largely represented, including three large 'bus loads from Peterborough. The programme was chiefly composed of congratulatory addresses and of greetings to the minister. The Rev. Mr. Robeson, pastor of Fraserville Methodist church, brought greetings from the neighbouring congregations, and words of welcome and counsel were given by Rev. Messrs. McIntosh, Thomson, Mackay, McDonald, W. R. Johnston, and the chairman, Wm. Johnston.

The choir was assisted in the afternoon by Miss M. Rush, of Peterborough, while in the evening Miss Rush contributed very largely to the profit and pleasure of the musical part of the programme. The Rev. Mr. McKenzie, at the close of an eventful day, desired to express his appreciation of the the good things that had been said of himself and of Mrs. McKenzie, and hoped that all the anticipations would be realized. The Doxology was heartily sung, and the Rev. J. G. Potter pronounced the benediction.

The Rev. Donald A. McKenzie, B. A., is a graduate of Queen's University, having taken a thorough and brilliant course in that institution, completing his studies in May, 1900. On June 12 of the same year he was ordained at Bishop's Mills in the Brockville Presbytery, where he has laboured with much acceptance and success. Mrs. McKenzie was a Miss Johnston, of Cobourg, and from her deep and faithful interest in the Presbyterian church she is eminently qualified to be of great assistance in the work in Centreville. The congregation of Centreville is one of the best rural charges in Ontario, with an intelligent and zealous membership, and has been noted for its loyalty and devotion to its minister. The enthusiasm of yesterday, the beautiful decorations of the church edifice and the universal heartiness of the reception augur well for the future career of the new minister.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR

It Can Only Be Had Where There is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft glossy hair must be free of dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations, that were mostly scalp irritants, have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E Dodd, Dickinson, N.D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy.

Respected Lady Passed Away

Late Mrs. J. H. Stephens Lived Here for Forty Years.

After an illness of three or four weeks, Margaret Timson, widow of the late J. H. Stephens, for forty years a resident of this city, passed away at her residence, 355 Downie street.

In spite of the fact that the late Mrs. Stephens had been totally blind for the last fifteen years, she had been an ardent Christian, and was so zealous an advocate of Christ's cause upon earth that it was considered by those who knew her almost a benediction to converse with her.

Mrs. J. H. Stephens was born in Hastings, Sussex, England, June 21, 1830. She came out to Canada with her parents, Abel and Margaret Timson, in 1850, who settled in Toronto. On September 6, 1850, she was married in York Township to the late John H. Stephens, who predeceased her fourteen years. They resided in Brooklyn, N.Y., for about four years, then in Port Hope about two years. They came to Peterborough in 1865, where the family has resided ever since. Mrs. Stephens leaves behind her one son, J. H. Stephens, living in Chicago, Ill., and four daughters, Mrs. A. J. Johnston, city; Mrs. W. H. Eastland, Winnipeg; Misses Eva and Martha, city. She was for years a consistent member of Charlotte street Methodist church, and will be greatly missed by a large circle of warm friends.

The funeral will take place at 3.30 on Sunday afternoon from her late residence to the Little Lake Cemetery.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY

HEARD MANY REPORTS

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Managers is Nearing its Close—Last Night Reports of Publication and Literary Committees Were Heard—The Estimates Were Considered at This Morning's Session—The Closing Meeting, With Election of Officers, This Afternoon.

The Board of Managers of the Woman's Missionary Society in session in the George street church convened again at half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon. After singing the doxology and the recitation of the Lord's prayer, the minutes of the first session were read and approved. Mrs. Briggs was then called upon to present the report of the Supply Committee for the year. This committee reported abundance of supplies in the shape of clothing, bedding, etc., sufficient to cover all demands made in that direction. The British Columbia Branch had distributed in all, including clothing and supplies for missionaries and for hospitals, goods to the amount of $572. The Centre Branch in spite of the great amount of work done, and the boxes and bales sent out almost daily, had no lack of material with which to respond to the calls made upon them. Numerous bales had been sent to St. John's, Newfoundland to alleviate the distress caused there by fire. In the death of Mrs. (Senator) Cox a good friend to this work had been lost. The Gallisions in the Northwest, and a number of poor settlers at Lloydminster as well as the Deaconess Home, the All People's Mission in Winnipeg, had also been the recipients of generous contributions from this committee. In all about one thousand quilts were sent out every year, and between one and two thousand articles of clothing, amounting in all to about $6,000. The Nova Scotia Branch of this work reported clothing, etc., distributed to the amount of $292.95.

Mrs. Ross then presented the report of the official visit of herself and the Field Secretary, Mrs. Strachan to the fields in British Columbia and Japan. She stated that everywhere they went they were received as loving mothers and not as officials. The missionaries had perfect confidence in the Board. Although the missionaries were justified in asking for an official visit, the work had suffered little for lack of visitation, so effective had been the work of the mission bodies. Not often does the world witness more self sacrifice and denial of self than in the lives of the missionaries. The properties and buildings visited far surpassed their expectations. The Mother's School at Tokio is the largest, as indeed it should be. Tokio being a centre a certain amount of public hospitality had to be dispensed. A great work was being done in Japan by the mission schools and the boarding schools. The testimony of the first graduate of the boarding school was "I may forget the language I have learned, but I shall never forget the Christ." The value of this education work cannot be overestimated. A good work was also being done in the sending out of literature. Thousands of copies of the Gospels were sent out to different places, including the soldiers in Manchuria. Leaflets, tracts, etc., were also distributed. The mission schools and children's meetings to which were gathered the children of the streets were doing a great work. The great need was Bible women. The ladies had the privilege of being present at the Japan Conference. Everywhere there was the most generous appreciation of the work of the Woman's Society. Coming to British Columbia at Port Simpson, the property there has a fine situation. Four or five strong workers were needed there. The Indian School is anything but a failure. In many cases the Indian girls had gone back and regenerated their homes. The nomadic life of the tribes, many of whom live in tents for seven or eight months of the year, was a great drawback. The hospital at Port Simpson was doing a splendid work. No missionaries deserve higher place in the regard of the society than the nurses of British Columbia. Miss Buehler at Morely, in addition to conducting cooking and sewing classes was doing a good work among the Indian women. Everywhere the ladies went there was presented the dire need of non-Christian people and the great work that was before the church. Japan for Christ, meant China Christianised. Nothing would help the missionary cause as much as a great revival in the church at home, and the prayer of the society was, "Lord, send us a revival, and let it first begin in my heart."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Ross' report, on motion it was decided to have the same printed in the annual report as well as in leaflet form.

Following this, came a half hour with the returned missionaries, Dr. Henry, Miss Brimstin, of China; Miss Spence at the hospital at Port Simpson; Miss Jackson of Kitamaat, B.C., and Miss Howie, of Japan, each of whom gave a brief idea of her work, and gratefully acknowledged the support the society had given them.

Miss Wilkins, who is about to enter missionary work, her destination being China, was then called on, and very touchingly told of her call to this work, and her hope and aspirations to be of some help in the great missionary work of the church.

A memorial service was then held for Miss Lavinia Clarke, who passed away two weeks ago in a Charlottetown hospital, after an illness of some two years. Miss Clarke had spent twelve years in mission work in British Columbia. After singing the hymn, "Servant of God, well done," Miss Palmer gave a sketch of Miss Clarke's life, including extracts from letters written shortly before she died.

The session closed with the sacrament of Holy Communion partaken of by the Board.

During the afternoon the Japanese national anthem was sung by Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Strachan, and Misses Howie and Lang, a translation of which is "May the Emperor Reign a Thousand Times Eight Thousand Years, till the pebbles are grown to great rocks and the rocks are covered with moss."

THURSDAY EVENING.

The meeting last night was one of the regular business sessions of convention, and was attended by the usual number. It was held in the George street church, and was presided over by the president, Mrs. Ross.

The principal business was the reception of the reports of committees on the society's publications. These included statements in reference to the condition of the "Palm Branch", and "The Lookout," the two organs of the society. The Literature Committee's report and the report of the Advisory Board were also received.

The Reports.

The first report received was that of the Missionary Outlook, presented by Miss McCallum. She prefaced her report by remarking that it was the most unsatisfactory statement that she had ever had to deal with. The financial year was from January to January, and she therefore had only the work of nine months to report. There had always been a deficit at the end of nine months, as the last three months were the heaviest of the year. There was at present a deficit, but she was assured that at the end of the year there would be a surplus.

The monthly issue of the Outlook was 12,500 copies, and the circulation was 12,363. Of these 504 were sent to British Columbia, 748 to Manitoba, 327 to Assiniboia, 169 to Saskatchewan and Alberta, 127 abroad to the British Isles and United States, 210 to Newfoundland, 221 to Prince Edward Island, 654 to Nova Scotia, 574 to New Brunswick, 946 to the city of Toronto, and 7694 to Ontario, outside Toronto.

The receipts were January $985, February $294, March $284, April $208, May $146, June 141, July 108, August $67, September $87, a total of $2366, which was an increase of $140, or over 300 new subscribers.

The expenditure was as follows: January $159, February $155, March $159, April $151, May 141, June 150, July $162, August $159, and September, $151, a total of $1385.

As half of the receipts went to the General Society, there was a deficit of $301.69.

Miss McCallum, in concluding her report, referred to the appeal made through the Guardian for $1000 for the mission school at Chentu, China; $450 had already been received, and had no doubt that the balance of the amount would be forthcoming.

The report was adopted. In reference to the fund for the Chentu Mission School it was moved and carried, that money sent to the branch treasurer for the Mission should be kept until the end of the quarter and then be remitted to Miss McCallum, instead of to the Board Treasurer.

Palm-Branch Reports.

The report of the Palm-Branch showed that the receipts amounted to $422.77, and the expenditure $418.87, leaving a balance of $3.90.

Two hundred and ninety-one copies went to Montreal, an increase of 3, 147 to London, a decrease of 15, 382 to Hamilton, an increase of 156, 581 to Toronto, an increase of 7, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland 1180, an increase of 5, Manitoba 324, an increase of 59, British Columbia 130, an increase of 74, making a total of 3843, an increase of 308.

Victoria Chinese Home.

The report of the Advisory Committee of the Chinese Heome at Victoria, was then presented by the Field Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. S. Strachan, of Hamilton.

It showed that in no line of mission work was more courage or patience needed than in work in that field. It seemed more easy to convert the Chinese woman in their own land than on foreign soil. The conditions were complex and changing. The agents had often to give shelter to Japanese women as well as the Chinese.

There are eleven girls in the home at present, and some of them are most promising.

The committee in the report, expressed its appreciation of Miss Snyder's kindness in acting as substitute for Miss Sherlock. The report was adopted. A memorial was also enclosed, recommending that agents after consulting with the committee should be allowed to take up other lines of work than those already carried on.

It was moved and seconded that the Board express sympathy for the committee in their efforts, but hoped that it would not lose sight of the original object of establishing the school.

The report of the Literature and Publication Committee was then presented by Miss May Ogden. It was most satisfactory, showing total receipts of $6152.63, and disbursements $5483.92, leaving a substantial balance of $668.71 on hand. The report was received.

The meeting then adjourned.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The morning session of the Board of Managers of the Women's Missionary Society, opened in the George street church with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Phelps, Miss Carlmel and Mrs. Johnston.

Miss Phelps then gave a very helpful Bible reading, following which the president took the chair, and the field secretary continued the letters from the workers in the field. A letter from Miss Munree, at work among the Galicians at Pakan, Alta., contained a request for a stove, which the society decided to grant. A letter from Kofu, Japan, suggested a number of changes by way of improvement in the estimates for the proposed new school building to be erected in that place. The treasurer, Miss Wilkes, presented a statement shewing $35.17 received from the sale of embroidery at Kanazawa, Japan. A statement received from the Coqualeetsan Home at Chilliwhack, B.C., indicated a deficit there of $283, which was more than covered by the surplus of the three previous years. Exception was taken by some of the members to a consideration of a statement from the Home, inasmuch as it was not now under the control of the Society, but as the society had invested a large sum of money in this work, it was deemed advisable to insert an extract from their report.

On motion it was decided to make the resolution to the effect that all matter for the annual report with the exception of the minutes of the Board meeting, should be handed in immediately after the branch meeting. It was also resolved that all matter not in the hands of the committee by the end of October, the committee had the right to refuse to publish.

The matter of the estimates for the coming year then came before the attention of the Board, and the following schedule was presented by Mrs. Strachan for the sanction of the Board:

Honour for Canadian.

—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the distinguished philanthropist, has ordered a special library edition of five hundred copies of the forthcoming volume of Mr. Wilfred Campbell's verse for presentation to his libraries throughout the English-speaking world. The edition is to be called the "Carnegie Edition," and each volume will have the inscription, "Presented by Andrew Carnegie." This is a high compliment to our distinguished Canadian poet, the qualities of whose genius the critics and readers of two continents have recognized.

SUCCESSFUL ADMINISTRATION

The Conservatives are accusing Sir William Mulock of deserting his ship. If so, he is deserting it when it is under full sail, with a fair breeze. Sir William leaves office with a score of about a million to his credit. When he became Postmaster-General, he found the post office department, under Conservative management, registering a deficit of about $800,000 yearly. He leaves office with his late department producing a surplus of nearly $300,000 these respective sums representing a gain of over a round million of dollars, and this in face of the fact of a thirty-three and one-third reduction in the postal letter rate, and including the expensive mail service to the Yukon, with which the Conservative Postmaster-Generals did not have to reckon. The Yukon service alone left a deficit of over $100,000. While there has been a tremendous increase in revenue, there has been an increase of expenditure of $286,000, owing to expansion of the domestic postal service. But for these two extraordinary items, the Yukon shortage of $101,940, and the increased expenditure of $286,000, the surplus revenue would have mounted to nearly $600,000. This is a brilliant record, and Sir William Mulock retires from office with success writ in large letters over his record of administration. It must not be forgotten that in thus placing the post office upon a revenue-producing basis, Sir William Mulock has reduced the domestic as well as imperial postage rates from three and five cents respectively to two cents, and in so doing has saved thousands of dollars to the people, and promoted increased intercommunication in a way to draw more closely the ties that unite the mother country and Canada. The prosperity of the country is reflected to a very large extent in the great increase in correspondence, no doubt greatly of a commercial character. In 1890, the number of letters posted was 116,000,000. During the succeeding nine years the number of letters posted has increased to 285,541,000. Hon. A. A. B. Aylesworth succeeds to a well established and thriftily conducted business. With a continuation of the prosperity that the country has enjoyed under Liberal rule, and with a continued efficient management, which we have every reason to expect, we shall have continued satisfactory results from Liberal administration of the national post office department.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If local option continues to spread strong drinkers will have no option.

Sir William Mulock has the advantage of ordinary statesmen—he doesn't have to die to have the Conservative newspapers say something good of him.

A civil action is being instituted against the Toronto plumbers' combine. To treat a plumber civilly, especially after he presents his bill, represents the highest quality of human forbearance.

The Czar of Russia seems to be showing signs of sanity. According to Mr. Witte the Czar has declared that his greatest desire is to become a constitutional monarch on the model of his ideal, King Edward. For a beginner, Nicholas aims high.

Stabbed in the house of his friends is the fate of Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition. Quebec has revolted against him. Ontario is in arms led by Mr. McLean, and now his own home province repudiates him. The Halifax Herald, a true blue "Tory" journal, "turns him down." The leadership of the Conservatives does not much concern the Liberals of the country, but the fight for the leadership as indicating smouldering elements of internal disruption in the party is a matter of interest.

COMPANY WILL LOCATE THEIR EXTENSIVE WORKS IN PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company Is Incorporated With Capital of $50,000—Will Manufacture 15,000 Brick Per Day—Majority of the Promoters are Local Capitalists—Plant Will be About First of its Kind in Canada—An Industry With Great Promise—Will Relieve the Scarcity of Building Material.

As was noted in yesterday's Examiner, Saturday's Ontario Gazette will contain the announcement of the incorporation of another new manufacturing concern which promises to take a leading place amongst the manufacturing industries of Peterborough. Letters Patent have been granted to the "Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company, Limited," for the purposes and objects following: (a) To manufacture, sell, trade and deal in bricks and other building material made of sand and lime or of any other materials, (b) To sell clay, gravel sand or lime, and (c) To trade and deal in building materials of wood, stone, sand, lime or iron and all other kinds of building materials whatsoever.

The share capital of the company is $50,000.00 divided into 1,000 shares of $50.00 each and the provisional directors of the company are,—Messrs. John Joseph English, of the Village of Hastings, merchant; Robert Hartstone, of the Village of Warkworth, merchant; John James Hartley, contractor, Andrew Brown, agent, and Ezra Simpson Clarry, all of the City of Peterborough. The head office of the company is Peterborough.

In conversation with one of the above named gentlemen the Examiner learned that sufficient capital had already been subscribed to enable the company to proceed with the erection of their plant which will have a capacity of 15,000 bricks daily. The Company has a suitable site in view although it is not yet given out where the plant will be located. It will, however, be situated close to one of the railway lines so that ample shipping facilities will be afforded.

The great activity that has existed in building circles in Peterborough and throughout the country generally has no doubt led to the formation of the new company which has an exceedingly bright future. It is a well known fact that during the past few seasons building operations have been seriously hampered by the scarcity of bricks. The present manufacturers have found it a very difficult matter to supply the demands made on them and there is reason to believe that the building operations for the next few years will be even greater than that which the country has experienced during the recent past. In Peterborough alone the number of houses, and large buildings that are in contemplation of erection for next spring is most surprising.

A Superior Article.

Concerning the class of brick the Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company intends placing on the market, it is what is commonly known as the sandstone or sand-lime brick made exclusively of sand and lime put through a mixing and steaming process and can manufactured from the crude materials to be ready for use in twenty-four hours time. The company claims that their superiority over the ordinary clay brick is that, they make a more even joint than the ordinary brick, take less mortar to lay, have eighty per cent. less bats or culls, can be made any colour, size or shape, that they do not deteriorate, that inclement weather hardens them whilst extreme heat or cold does not affect them, that they are as durable as stone for foundations or other underground work, and that they will always retain their colour.

Sand-lime bricks were first made in Germany about twenty-five years ago and the annual output there now is over 400,000,000 bricks. The first plant was built in the United States in 1901 and in 1904 there were forty plants in operation with an annual output of 120,000,000. The bricks have been used in the construction of many large state buildings in Germany and the United States after having been thoroughly tested by experts. They are throughout the States and Germany rapidly taking the place of the old clay brick which are it is stated much more expensive to manufacture.

First of its Kind.

The Peterborough plant will be about the first of its kind in Canada. It will take some little time to install the plant but it is expected that the concern will be in full operation before many months, and that the product of the factory will be on the market for spring building operations. The promoters of the concern do not state how many hands will be afforded employment.

During the past few weeks some of the gentlemen interested in the Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company made a trip to some of the leading centres of the United States where these bricks are in use and they came home fully satisfied as to the important factor they have become in building operations in the great republic to the south.

While the leaders are fighting for the spoils of the captaincy, of the party, the rank and file will naturally be dropping behind in the race.

The Globe referring to the operation of the Grand Ligne Mission in Quebec, and speaking of its justification, says:—"But whatever might be put forward in justification would, at all events, we feel sure, be overborne by the one consideration that the overwhelming majority of the people of Quebec resent a propaganda that on the face of it puts a Province of this Dominion somewhat in the category of Dahomey, Borneo, or the Fiji Islands. This is not a feeling that should be lightly overlooked. What would be thought here in Ontario if the Roman Catholic Church in Quebec established an outpost in some ultra-Protestant section of this Province, not for the purpose of ministering to Roman Catholics, but for the avowed purpose of converting Protestants and weaning them from their idols? What would be done if their colporteurs went from door to door distributing Douay Bibles, Mass books, tracts, and lives of the saints to all and sundry? It is better not to even guess what would happen."

Edison's Opinion Of Cigarettes

Said Mr. Thos. Edison the other day, in an interview printed in the New York Sunday World of October 15th:

"Smoking tobacco is a pretty good working stimulant. I find it much better than drink of any kind. Alcohol seems to scatter the thoughts. It's a poor thing to work on. But tobacco helps, and I don't believe it does much harm, although excessive smoking is likely to affect the heart. Personally, I find that good, old Pittsburgh stogies are the thing.

"But cigarettes!"—Mr. Edison raised his hands and shook his head—"they're deadly. It isn't the tobacco, it's the acrolein produced by the burning of the paper that does the harm; and let me tell you"—his voice betrayed some feeling and his face grew graver—"acrolein is one of the most terrible drugs in its effect on the human body. The burning of ordinary cigarette paper always produces acrolein. That is what makes the smoke so irritating. I really believe that it often makes boys insane. We sometimes develop acrolein in this laboratory in our experiments with glycerine. One whiff of it from the oven drove one of my assistants out of the building the other day. I can hardly exaggerate the dangerous nature of acrolein, and yet that is what a man or a boy is dealing with every time he smokes an ordinary cigarette."

Notwithstanding the fact that the sun retired early yesterday afternoon, many of Peterborough's fair two hundred wended their way at the tea hour to the home of Mrs. D. J. Lundy on Aylmer street. The happy faces and pretty autumn costumes so much in evidence, reminded one that another social season, the one in which Peterborough society makes its debut as city society, is once more upon us. Mrs. Lundy, attired in a pale grey costume, and Miss Pearl Lundy, prettily dressed in a soft cream coloured gown, welcomed their guests in the spacious drawing-room, which, like the reception hall, had donned, by way of decoration, the gaily tinted foliage of autumn. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Rubidge, assisted by Misses McGill, Wilmot, Rush and Boll, from a large table placed in the centre of the square dining in the centre of the square dining-room. A high silver vase, filled with white carnations and standing in the midst of clouds of white tulle mounted on Nile green silk, was surrounded by smaller vases of pink carnations and pink candles in small silver candle-sticks. The table was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. Coulthard, who, by the way, is being warmly welcomed by her many old Peterborough friends, and who looked exceedingly attractive in a white silk gown with a rich lace berthe and large white hat with garniture of pink roses. Mrs. R. S. Davidson also assisted in looking after the welfare of the many guests who were privileged to enjoy one of the earliest and very pleasant social functions to be given this autumn.

Remarkably Fine Fur Exposition By W. Lech & Sons

Magnificent Showing of Newest Fur Styles for 1905-6—The Store in Gala Attire—Visitors Delightfully Entertained.

Something entirely new in the fur line was the remarkable fall opening display of elegant furs on Thursday by the Messrs. Wm. Lech & Sons, of 413 George street. The true magnificence of this showing can only be realized by personal inspection; and as the display is to remain intact until Saturday night, opportunity is still afforded of viewing these noteworthy styles.

Messrs. Lech & Sons have brought into service all their resources to make this exposition a decided success. Every fine fur suitable for women's, men's and children's wear is shown—the latest and most fashionable styles in furs that Canadians generally wear.

Not only because of numbers and variety, but by reason of the exclusiveness of the styles and the richness of the designs, was the display a most comprehensive and instructive one.

Ladies' fur jackets were shown in Persian lamb, untrimmed and trimmed with mink, Hudson Bay sable and stone martin; and seal jackets trimmed with mink. Other beautiful trimmings were the costly chinchilla and finest ermine. In the less expensive garments, jackets were shown in such furs as Russian bochara, Astrachan and grey lamb, Norway seal, electric seal, coon and the new jacket made from our Canadian muskrat, striped like mink. Except that the sleeves have been somewhat enlarged there is not much change in jackets from last season's styles.

A remarkably large display of fur stoles and fur collarettes was made in many new combinations of fur. The leading fur in these lines will again be the favourite Alaska sable.

Gems of the fur art were shown in fine muffs and stoles, made of mink and Hudson Bay sable; large pillow muffs in the latter fur were priced up as high as $100 each. Almost every other fur was represented in muffs and stoles: seal, chinchilla, ermine, stone martin, bear, Alaska sable, badger, lynx, fox, in different colours, such as blue, black and Isabella brown, and others. Nothing seemed missing.

Every Canadian woman owes it to herself, her health and comfort, to be the possessor of a fur-lined coat. In the delightful selections shown at Lech's there is the right quality. Coats were there of the finest imported black and coloured broadcloth, lined with the best grade of squirrel, muskrat and hamster, and trimmed with a nicely blending fur.

Men's fur-lined coats are also shown, impressing the visitor with the wealth of luxurious comfort possessed by these splendid winter outer coats. Some of these garments are lined with muskrat, marmot and wool seals, the former having the preference with most men. The favourite trimmings for men's fur-lined coats are Persian lamb and Otter.

The firm also offers a very large selection of men's fur coats, made up from various furs, such as raccoon, wallaby, black dog, Bulgarian lamb, brown and black calf and wombat.

There was an excellent display of men's gauntlets and fur collars, in otter, Persian lamb, Russian lamb, bear and some cheaper grades of fur. Also ladies' and misses' gauntlets, in Persian lamb, Russian and gray lamb, seal, beaver, plucked otter, electric seal and other furs.

To mothers, especially, there was an interesting showing of children's jackets, with cap to match, in pure white rabbit, Iceland and gray lamb.

In the matter of fur robes and rugs the firm carries a magnificent range, with an amplitude of variety to please the most exacting tastes. Splendid robes were shown in gray and black goat, mountain bear, cattle, wolf and musk ox.

One of the delightful features of this fur exposition, was the thoughtful provision made for the comfort of visitors. The store was furnished was a number of unique tables and stylishly upholstered armchairs, to enable ladies to enjoy a restful view of the attractive display.

—Last week some of the employees of the foundry caught a young mink in an old boiler where it had been chased by a dog. Several minks have been seen lately along the race. Another instance of the tameness of water animals can be seen in Hastings, a muskrat having built a house on a small island in the race, just back of the Star office. If the Bobcaygeon Independent will give us the key to the muskrat language we will get on speaking terms with our new neighbour and give weather forecasts.—Hastings Star.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

RUGBY.

Last night's Toronto Star says:—The Toronto-Argos will practice to-night at Varsity Athletic Field at 7.30 by electric light. The following players must be on hand, as those absent will not make the teams:—Morrison, Sale, Clarke, Housser, Kent, Greening, Balfour, Quigley, R. Inglis, Thompson, Russell, Grant, Peterson, Wood, Crooks, Mara, Reifenstein, Grey, Jemmys, Chown, Maguire, McLean, Marsh, Bleasdell, Murphy, Argue, Hutchins, F. Inglis, G. Kent, Kingston, McLeod, Cochrun, Hoyles, Fellowes. The seniors will go to Hamilton, at 1.15 by C.P.R. on Saturday. Tickets are $1.30 for the round trip, good for three days. A large number of supporters will go up with the team. The intermediates will leave at 9.15 a.m. for Peterborough by C.P.R.

• • • •

Peterborough boys figured on three winning teams on Saturday and in three different series. A. W. McPherson and Frank Burnham played with Varsity against Queens. Ben Simpson by his work at half-back helped the Tigers to defeat London by 29 to 3, and Bert Cameron was at outside wing for the Dundas team, which trimmed the Hamilton Cubs by 29 to 0. That's a pretty good record.

• • • •

The American game is getting some hard knocks. President Bull, of Georgetown University says that it is only fit for thugs. Spalding Nelson, lightweight champion pugilist of the world and Emory Payne, amateur heavyweight champion of the United States say that it's worse than prize-fighting. There's the result of offside interference.

• • • •

W. McKay will referee the Peterborough-Toronto Argonaut game here next Saturday.

• • • •

Trinity College School, Port Hope, and the Trinity University II. teams played in Toronto Wednesday. The school was shut out by a score of 12-0.

• • • •

The Varsity Football team passed through here to-day on their way to Montreal where they will play McGill to-morrow. A. W. McPherson and Hal. Burnham, formerly of this city, were with them. "Mac" will captain the team.

• • • •

The following players are asked to be on hand at 2 p.m., sharp, at the Riverside Park, for the game with Toronto-Argonauts II. next Saturday:—Crough, Quinlan, Shaw, Mulhern, Crowley, Walkey, Dillon, Meagher, Regan, McDonald, Gilbert, Craig, Gillespie, Fitzpatrick, Hurtubuise.

• • • •

Chelhotte Street Guild team will hold a signal practice to-night at 7.30.

• • • •

The Crescents will hold a special practice to-morrow, Saturday, afternoon, when every member, and any who wish to play are requested to be at Boswell's field. Those wishing to attend the Toronto-Aurora, II.-Peterborough match may come over after. E. H. Wood, captain.

• • • •

Mr. W. H. Walkey received a letter from Frank D. Woodworth this morning, notifying him of the appointment of Wallace McKay as referee. McKay is at present attending Osgoode Hall and comes from Petrolia.

• • • •

An outside man will umpire. Secretary Woodworth states that local men as umpires don't meet with the approval of visiting teams.

• • • •

• • • •

The game to-morrow should be a first-class exhibition. The Toronto-Argonauts have a big husky team and should be in good condition. They have been working out with the seniors and have been practicing afternoon and evening in preparation for this game. If there's any sport in the people at all let them turn out for this game. It means a long way towards bracing up a team to have a large crowd present. What encouragement has any team to put its wind heart into the game when there's nobody present to appreciate its efforts. And they need the money, anyway.

• • • •

A Toronto despatch states that Secretary F. D. Woodworth, of the O.R.F.U., was notified last night by secretary McGregor, of the London Club, that the senior team of that city would be compelled to drop out of the series, owing to the inability to get players.

The Londoners, after being beaten twice by Hamilton Tigers by a total score of 108 points to six, realized that they were outclassed in senior company and would have no chance in the series.

London was scheduled to play Victorias here on Saturday, but now it will be an open date in Toronto, as the Toronto-Argonauts go to Hamilton to play their first game with the Tigers.

The default of London leaves the senior O.R.F.U. standing as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Toronto-Argonauts	4	0	2
Hamilton	2	2	4
Victorias	2	2	2
London	0	4	0

There is no doubt about it, a City League, is a valuable means of developing material. Craig, McDonald, Gilbert, Whaley, Quinlan, Gillespie and Mulhern are all former city league men. Why, six of the men that played on the team last Saturday learned the game in the city league. Here's half a team developed from it, and yet they won't organize one this fall. They may be sorry next year.

• • • •

Mulhern will likely play on the half line to-morrow.

• • • •

BASEBALL.

"Rube" Kisslinger, the Buffalo pitcher, will spend his honeymoon in Lindsay. He won't get a chance to spend much money there anyway, and will probably get eggs instead of rice at the railway station. Probably "Rube" wants to recuperate. The air on Kent street is so pure you know, "pure as the pines".

MISCELLANEOUS.

So the Mutual street rink has been sold. The Toronto Type Foundry Company have bought it for $35,000. The old Mutual street has been the scene of many a hard fought battle. Victoria is the only covered rink in Toronto now. What will the Marlboros do with the O.H.A. senior trophy now? But some good hearted soul may build another, although he'll have to hustle to have it ready for the hockey season.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, will wrestle Munro, the Scotch Champion. If Munro throws him he will be the first man that has ever done so.

HOCKEY.

The Markboros are thinking of challenging for the Stanley Cup. Here's where everybody laughs.

• • • •

"Jimmy" Gardner, left wing for Calumet last winter, will captain that team this year.

• • • •

Tom Phillips, captain of the Kenora Thistles, was in Houghton, Mich., the other day. He says all is harmony in the home of the Manitoba League champions, and that the Thistles will be stronger than ever on the ice this winter.

• • • •

From latest reports it is learned that the Mutual street rink will still be used for hockey purposes. The ice space will be enlarged and additional seating accommodation provided.

Anson Moore Didn't Have The Money

Robert Londerville Gave Evidence--John Hill Paid $2 for His Carousal.

"You Can't Play in My Yard," Nearly, Sent a Man to the Graveyard—Gets 20 Days in the Woodyard.

Robert Londerville, who was so badly beaten at the American Hotel, a week or so ago, by Anson Moore, the diminutive yardman, was well enough to give evidence this morning. He had a very slight recollection of what happened however. Moore, in giving his evidence said that Londerville had bothered him for a long time, and that he was only doing his duty in putting him out.

"If the proprietor told you to murder him, would you do it?" was the reply.

Anson was "there with the goods" on the night of the row, but he wasn't at the police court this morning. "Ten dollars or twenty days," was the sentence, and as the prisoner did not have the money up the hill he went.

John Hill didn't accompany him to the hill, for he had the two dollars that he was assessed by the court for being drunk and disorderly.

Hatpin, Teacup and Strong FEMININE INVECTIVE WERE Prominent In Assault Case

John Cox, of Monaghan Township, Was Defendant in Assault Case Brought by Maud Barrett--Heard Before Judge Edmison This Morning--Judgment Not Rendered--Evidence in the Case.

A weird and, to say the least, unpicturesque maze of deatails were revealed in an assault case heard this morning before County Police Magistrate Edmison. Defendant in the case was Mr. John Cox, of Monaghan Township, who was charged with having on September 28 assaulted Maud Barrett, and inflicting bodily injury thereby.

Miss Barrett, who is a comely maiden of some twenty summers, appears, from the evidence adduced, to be the possessor of an extensive vocabulary, which owns by no means acquired from a deep study of a Bible dictionary; and it also further appears from the evidence of the defendant and others that she is, withal of a strongly pugilistic turn of mind. A considerable mass of evidence of a more or less contradictory nature was submitted, from which it appears that the home of Mr. Cox on the date of the alleged assault by no means resembled a Quakers meeting in tranquility. The causus belli was apparently a slight one. Miss Barrett is a domestic, employed up to that day by Mr. Cox. Things reached a climax upon that morning, and Maud retired from the stage to enter upon other fields of activity amid a whirlwind of action.

Miss Barrett was the first to testify. Upon the morning in question she had gone upstairs and was meditatively gazing out of a window in the hallway, Mr. Cox the while being engaged in dressing in his bedroom, some fifteen feet away, the door being open. She was awaiting to depart with a Mrs. Bowles, with whom she had engaged and who had driven into the yard a short time previously and had packed her trunk in anticipation. The cause of the trouble had had been that Mr. Cox had not informed her of the arrival of Mrs. Bowles.

A conversation, she stated, had sprung up between herself and Mr. Cox, and the latter had bestowed a most unparliamentary epithet upon her, to which she replied, "John, what's your reason?" Mr. Cox, she stated, rushed at her while standing outside his door, in the midst of the altercation, and a scuffle ensued in which he had pulled her through the door and thrown her upon the floor, pounding her, she alleged, till she fainted. She had sustained injuries to her left arm, throat and stomach, and was disabled in consequence for about two weeks. After she had arisen from the floor more indelicate references had passed between the two, Mr. Cox, she alleged, having expressed the opinion that "it was a ——— pity her tongue had not been cut out." She had retorted to the the effect that she "earned her living," and continued to make an uncomplimentary comparison. A continuation of the struggle had then occurred in which Mr. Cox had put her downstairs, both stumbling in the descent. At the bottom of the stairs she again fainted. Upon her recovery a whirlwind seems appears to have ensued. She was standing downstairs, putting on her hat when Mrs. Cox told her husband to put her out. Mr. Cox had advanced towards her and after threatening to "run a hat pin through him," she concluded by throwing the head gear in his direction, following this with a tea cup, which had broken against the wall. She then retired, to the outer world, with Mr. Harry Cox, who seized her by the arm.

Mrs. Bowles with whom Miss Barrett has since been engaged, next gave evidence, closing the case for the prosecution. Mrs. Bowles stated that she had taken Miss Barrett on the morning of the alleged assault, and upon examination had found black-and-blue marks. She was laid up for about one week.

The evidence for the defense was of a nature decidedly contradictory to that given by Miss Barrett, Mr. Cox testifying that while he was dressing, the girl, after referring in shocking language to Mrs. Cox, who was then down stairs, had commenced to attack him, at first verbally and then physically. She had advanced into his room and rushed at him with fists clenched. He had put put out one hand and checked her onslaught. She again rushed to the attack, and this time he again defended himself in a similar manner, Miss Barrett falling to the floor in the sudden shock given to her impetus. He had then grasped her himself and bumped her head several times. In taking the downstairs, she biting and kicking the while, both had stumbled and fallen. Miss Barrett had an ability to faint whenever she felt so disposed. At the foot of the stairs she took possession of the hats and coats up on a hat-rack, which she threw at him. She then chose a cup as a missile, hitting him upon the head, and after this came a teapot. She was then forcibly ejected by his brother.

The evidence which followed by Chas. Dimmick, a young English boy in Mr. Cox's employ, who witnessed the affray, and of Mrs. Cox and Mr. Harry Cox was all corroborative of the evidence given by Mr. Cox, and tended to place the general moral bearing of the girl in a strongly unfavourable light.

Mr. Oxlee de Laplante appeared for the complainant, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams for the defendant. Arguments of the counsel will be heard at five o'clock, after which Judge Edmison will render judgment.

Worry Habit Kills the Nerves

YOU CAN GET WELL IF YOU WILL STOP WORRYING AND USE

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Dr. A. T. Schofield, a great English authority on diseases of the nerves, attributes the usual causes of such ailments to the "worry habit" which he denounces as an "unmitigated evil."

Headache at top or back of head, noises in the ears, sudden starting or twitching, tenderness of the scalp, or spine, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, pains and cramps, timidity, irritability, melancholy, are some of the symptoms of exhausted nerves.

Pure air, wholesome food, rest and the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild and revitalize the wasted nerve cells is the ideal treatment for diseases of the nerves.

Assert your will power and determine that you will not worry or let little things irritate you, and keep using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly and persistently, week in and week out, and it will not be long until you will feel the thrill of new life and energy coming back to your wasted and worn-out nerves.

There is no doubt about the ability of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you, for its extraordinary restorative power has been established in hundreds and thousands of cases.

Mrs. D. O'Connor, 276 Simcoe street, Peterborough, Ont., states: —"My heart has given me a great deal of trouble lately. The least undue exertion affected it, and brought on weakness and fainting spells. My nerves were also very unsteady, and I became so bad that I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which was highly recommended to me. Now I am happy to be able to say that I am completely restored to health. My nerves are strong and steady, the action of my heart regular and the dizzy spells have ceased to trouble me."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 10

HE MEANS SCOTT'S

Your doctor says you must take cod liver oil. Probably he means Scott's Emulsion because you cannot take the clear oil; no one can take the clear oil who needs cod liver oil. The doctor understands that and doubtless means Scott's Emulsion of cod liver oil which everybody can take because it is emulsified and prepared so that it can be very easily digested by the most sensitive stomach. Most everybody likes it.

We'll send you a sample free.

A Coe Hill Man Has Small-Pox

And Was Sent to Toronto For Treatment.

(Toronto Star.)

There's another small-pox patient in the city. A young man from Coe Hill, Hastings County, was admitted to one of the city hospitals on Sunday and asked for a private ward. There not being one unoccupied, he was sent to a private ward in the Emergency Hospital. After he had been made comfortable he made a request that Dr. Sheard be sent for.

The doctor saw him yesterday, and immediately observed symptoms of small-pox. He was removed to the Swiss Cottage Hospital.

There have been a number of severe cases of eruption of the skin in the Coe Hill district, and the doctors have attributed them to poisoning of the blood. Another doctor, however, expressed the opinion that it was small-pox, and just as soon as the young man was taken ill he made tracks for Toronto.

Dr. Sheard has directed the attention of the Provincial Health authorities to the matter, and an investigation will be made.

The doctor states that during the shooting season there are a large number of Torontonians who go to Hastings County on hunting expeditions, and the advice is that they get vaccinated before they leave the city.

Local Divine Conducted The Last Service

Held On the Body of Prominent Port Hope Citizen.

Rev. Dr. Crothers Attended Late Wm. Quay's Funeral at Port Hope.

(Port Hope Guide.)

The remains of the late Wm. Quay were carried to their last resting place yesterday afternoon. The deceased had left a note providing for all arrangements in reference to his funeral, and these were carried out by the family.

The body was taken to the Methodist church and was viewed by many friends during the day. The pulpit, organ and the deceased's pew were heavily draped in black, as a mark of respect.

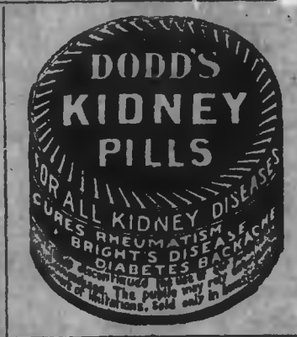
At 2.30 o'clock an impressive service was held in the church and a large crowd was present. It opened with the sing of "Forever With the Lord," after which Dr. Crothers, of Peterborough, a very intimate friend of the deceased, led in prayer. Mrs. J. H. Renwick, Miss Garnett and Messrs. Fulford and Wickett sang very sweetly, "Sleep Thy Last Sleep." Rev. G. H. Henderson read the 39th Psalm and the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians, after which the congregation sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

Rev. Dr. Crothers in a few remarks, said that this was a gathering to pay respect to a member, a citizen and a man that had always been closely connected with the community. It was not his intention to offer any eulogies, for knowing the mind of the departed brother as he did, he would not desire it. He wished, however, to point out several of the qualities of the deceased which to him were commendable. He was very fervent and loyal in his friendship, but people had to know deceased to understand him. He was very careful, earnest and conscientious about his business transactions. He had a great love for God's word and cause. The speaker had often talked with him and few men were as conversant with God's word as deceased. He believed the late Mr. Quay had a presentiment that the end was not far off. Four weeks ago when he bade him good-bye at Peterborough, deceased intimated that it would not be long before the end came, and he expected it to come suddenly. It was just fifteen years since the speaker knew Port Hope, and during that time many changes had taken place. He made reference to the death of Rev. Dr. Smith, of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. James Cleland, of the Mill street Presbyterian; Rev. Hull and Messrs. White, Peters, Budge and Wilson. Soon others would be added to the list, and he urged upon his listeners to do with a might what their hands find to do. He extended sympathy to the family and trusted that they would be guided by the example set by their father.

Mrs. James Massie, of Toronto, Miss Garnett and Messrs. Fulford Wickett sang "Shall We Meet in Heaven," Mrs. Massie taking the solo.

The Rev. G. H. Henderson pronounced the benediction, after which the procession wended its way to the city of the dead. The Trustee Board of the Methodist church and the Board of Directors of the Midland Loan & Savings Company attended in a body.

The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: Dr. Clemesha, G. M. Furby, J. H. Helm, Henry White, R. Gray and Jas. Evans.



Trafalgar Day Observances

Subject of "Nelson" Was Discussed in Public Schools.

As a fitting commemoration of Trafalgar Day, a special talk was this afternoon given by the teachers of all the public schools of the city, upon the subject of Nelson.

The time between recess and four o'clock was devoted to this, and in celebration to-morrow of the anniversary the flags on the various schools will be flying in honour of the famous admiral.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Sister Lived In This City

Late Luke Berry a Highly Respected Percy Township Resident.

A very unexpected death occurred in Hastings on Saturday night when Luke Berry, a much-respected citizen of Percy Township, passed away at the home of his son, Dr. J. D. Berry. The deceased came to Hastings on Tuesday of last week on a visit and took ill on Friday evening. Although a man of strong constitution and as active as most of men twenty or thirty years his junior, in the end old age told on him for his illness was only of one day's duration. While a man of strong will power, a very peculiar incident occurred before he left home. Breaking down completely, he told his son and family that he never expected to see the old home again.

The deceased was born in the County of Wexford, Ireland, in 1827, and came to this country with his parents two years later. About five years afterwards they settled in Millbrook. In 1854 Mr. Berry married Rosina Dunwoodie. To them were born seven children, four of whom are living, viz., Mrs. C. C. Huckyke and Mr. Wm. H. Berry, of Percy; Mrs. C. A. Mallory, of Cobourg, and Dr. J. D. Berry, of Hastings. In 1873 the family moved to Percy Township, where the deceased has since resided, and where, in August, 1896, the wife and mother died. On brother and two sisters, Mr. Geo. P. Berry, of Cavan, and Mrs. Johnston Stewart and Miss Alice Berry, of Peterborough, survive the deceased.—Hastings Star.

Mr. Harrod, founder of Harrod's stores, Kensington, London, Eng., who recently died has left a considerable fortune. A contemporary states that his father kept a grocer's shop in Cable street, St. George-in-the-East, London, and Mr. C. D. Harrod, with a capital of only £200, laid the foundation of the present huge business by starting a small grocer's shop on a part of the site now occupied by well known stores in the Brompton Road. In 1889 he sold to a company for half a million. He was a believer in advertising.

A NIGHTMARE

Given point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia or bad stomach. When the weak stomach is strengthened and invigorated the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"I was a victim of sleeplessness and extreme nervousness induced by chronic indigestion and I felt heavy, tired and worn out continually," writes Miss Mary Hoy, of box No. 9, Chisholm Street, Colorado Springs, Colo. "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the only medicine which relieved me. Within a week after I began using it these heavy depressed feeling after meals left me, and I found that I was able to sleep better than for months previously. My appetite was gradually restored, general system was toned and nervousness became a thing of the past and I have now been in splendid health for over nine months."

Sometimes a selfish dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It may be better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

PERJURERS SENT TO JAIL.

Man and Woman Severely Punished For False Testifying.

St. Catharines, Oct. 20.—Judge Carman yesterday morning sentenced John A Secord to one year in the Central prison, and Mrs. Jane Tipp of Grimsby to six months in the Reformatory for perjury.

Secord was charged with having on Sept. 27 assisted Mrs. Tipp to abduct 13-year-old Jessie Ecker from Smithville fair. When Mrs. Tipp was tried for abduction before Magistrate Forbes at Grimsby, she swore that she had not abducted the girl, and John A. Secord, in turn, took oath that he had not been a party to it. He had been seen driving the girl in a buggy on the day in question.

This led to a charge of perjury being laid against Secord and the Tipp woman. Mrs. Tipp pleaded guilty to perjury when arraigned, but Secord stoutly maintained his innocence.

Opera House To Be Completed In Ten Days

All That Will Then Remain Will Be Decorating and Plumbing.

Official Opening Will Take Place Near the Middle of November.

By November 1 it is expected that the new Opera House will have been completed except the work of decorating and plumbing. The New York man who has been here in charge of the work will have it completed in about ten days, and it is expected that the whole building will be ready for opening not later than November 15, although the opening may not take place just on that date.

The management will wait until they can secure a first-class attraction, which may delay the opening until a week later than the date mentioned. Mr. Fred. Cook, who has the contract for the decorating, has secured the services of an English decorator, and the work will be fully up to the Cook standard.

The advance sale list will be opened again for about ten days, and will be in the hands of Mr. Walter Stocker, after which it will be placed in Ormond & Walsh's, where those subscribing may mark their seats.

The list is filling satisfactorily, and the prospects are that there will be a bumper house on the opening night.

A STRIKING EXAMPLE IS FURNISHED OF REWARD OF INDUSTRY

R. C. Braund Started in Peterborough With $2.50 and Now Has a Stock of $10,000—From 280 Square Feet of Floor Space to 20,040 Feet Tells the Story of the Increase in Floor Space—The Growth of the Business Has Recently Demanded an Enlargement of the Store Premises.

Mr. R. C. Braund, the enterprising south end general merchant, the only one in the city according to his statement, recently completed a large addition to his already large store, and in an endeavour to ascertain to just what extent the store had been enlarged, the Examiner despatched a man to the south end to size up the situation. What he saw was in many respects a revelation. Mr. Braund has a store which does him credit, and it was really a surprise to find so far from the central business portion of the city such a large and well assorted stock of general merchandise. The genial proprietor of this store prides himself on the fact that no matter what the wants of his customers are, he can fill them, and to one looking over the stock it would seem hard to name anything which could not be found in it.

The story of Mr. Braund's progress since he came to Peterborough thirteen years ago reads almost like a fairy tale, and were it not for the reputation which he has established for veracity it would be hard to believe that such progress could have been made.

Thirteen years ago he landed in Peterborough with $2.50 in his pocket and secured work as a night operator for the Bell Telephone Company, and shortly afterwards took a position as grocery clerk, his salary being $7 per week. Then he did what all sensible young men do, he married a good wife and went to live in the building on the present site of his store, but it was then a very modest structure indeed. After clerking for a while he got $60 worth of goods from his employer and took the front room, converting it into a store, the size of which was fourteen by twenty feet, and he found it necessary to take in another room of his house, and still another, and this expansion continued until he had crowded himself into another house, which he was compelled to erect to allow the whole of the first building for his business.

Still there was not enough space and he determined to build at the rear of the store, which he did, erecting a one-story addition, and this summer he again enlarged, this time putting up an addition the whole width of the main store and two stories high, the present dimensions of the building being 35x86 feet, two stories, and a basement, and to-day his store presents a decidedly business-like appearance.

MR. R. C BRAUND,

These figures tell in a few words the story of his progress:—

Value of stock from $60 to $10,000.

Floor space of 280 square feet, and while he continued to work up town and take his wages in goods, Mrs. Braund managed the store, and from this very unpretentious beginning has grown the large business of the present time.

When it is stated that the present floor space of the store is 20,040 square feet, some idea of its expanse may be gained.

Six months after the business was opened it had increased to such an extent that Mr. Braund had to resign his position up town and devote his whole time to his own business. For $25 and $5 worth of goods he bought a horse, harness and wagon, with which to deliver his goods, and from that time on his progress was rapid. Soon

Size of staff from 1 to 7.

The lines which he now handles are:—

Groceries, dry goods, butcher meats, dishes, tinware, graniteware, tables, furniture, carpets, oilcloths, stoves, patent medicines, school books, Bibles, prayer books, brushes, thread, chairs, toys, hand sleighs, hat and caps, furs, flour and feed, whips, nails, paint oil, boots, shoes, rubbers stationery, postage stamps.

The store equipment is of the best and includes computing scales, a cheese cutter, which weighs the cheese as it cuts it, an automatic coal oil measure and pump, syrup and molasses pumps, mill counter, invented by Mr. Braund, and many other labour-saving devices. He has 200 feet of counter and 150 feet of tables in addition.

A fact which is rather remarkable about the business is the number of men who have graduated from this store and gone into business for themselves. Among these are Messrs. Brooks, corner Smith and Reid streets; Routley, Brock street; Green, Charlotte street, and J. T. Braund, corner George and Smith streets. One characteristic of these stores is the fact that in none of them is tobacco sold.

Mr. Braund has a system by which the cash customers may secure a China dinner set free, one check being given with each 25c. sale.

To illustrate the volume of business done at this store it is only necessary to mention that on a recent Saturday the cash sales amounted to $370.

The work of enlarging the premises of Mr. Braund was carried on by Mr. John Elliott, and is a credit to him. Mr. Braund is an agent for the Examiner, which paper is on sale on his counter every evening.

Hang Out Your Flags Upon The Outer Walls

Upon to-morrow, October 21, 1905, falls the one hundredth anniversary of one of the greatest naval battles and one of the greatest victories recorded in history. One hundred years ago Napoleon was overrunning Europe in triumph, and preparing to seize upon Asia. The battle and victory of Trafalgar Bay were the beginning of the end of Napoleon, and turned what might have been into what is, in relation to the destinies of Europe and the Empire. It may be thought that in celebrating Nelson's victory over the French fleet the sensibilities of our French-Canadian fellow citizens may be touched. Such is not likely to be the case. This section of our people are British subjects, too ample recognizant of the benefits they enjoy under British rule to resent a due tribute of respect to Nelson and his great deeds. If one mistakes not, the only statute of Lord Nelson in Canada is in Quebec Province—on Jacques Cartier Square, Montreal—a conjunction of two names of the highest imperial and colonial import respectively.

In view of the anniversary which falls to-morrow; in view of its immense imperial importance, it will be a grateful thing for our citizens to join generally in the observance of a day which is being celebrated with most elaborate ceremonies the world over. It would be a good thing if all who possess flags would display them to-morrow, the flag that Nelson's victories have lodged to flout, in the air of every clime. "England expects that every man will do his duty" in regard to display of the meteor flag in commemoration of the day which consolidated the naval power of the Empire, made it the arbiter of peace and war, and the greatest influence for progress, enlightenment and every form of good the world has ever known or will know. "Hang out your flags upon the outer wall."

Of the $13,000 Placed in the Estimates Early in the Year, Only About $400 Now Remains--A Mile of Walks Petitioned for Which Will Not be Laid This Year--Some Work Which Will be Done This Fall--Board of Works Met Last Night.

Last night the Board of Works met in the city clerk's office, when a number of motions were considered. It was incidentally learned that the appropriation made at the first of the year to the Board, $13,000, had all been expended except about $400, and that there is fully a mile of sidewalk petitioned for and granted which will not be constructed this year.

One of the important questions discussed last night was the proposed change in the grade of the Lakefield branch of the G. T. R. By the change the tracks at Smith street will be lowered five feet six inches. The change will be allowed by the city under certain conditions.

Those present at the meeting were Ald. Adams, Mayor Best, Ald. Batten and Povey.

Application was made on behalf of the Nichols estate and St. Andrew's manse for permision to make connection with the Brock street sewer and the Board decided to give the permission asked for, the petitioners agreeing to do the work.

The chairman called attention to a sidewalk on Hilliard street which had been removed and not replaced. Mr. W. H. Meharry had removed it to draw out stones. The engineer was instructed to notify them to replace it.

Money Running Out.

The chairman asked the opinion of the Board on the proposal to gravel Water street, north of Smith street. The Mayor enquired what state the finances appropriated to the Board of Works were in at the present time, and the clerk informed him that there was in the neighbourhood of $400 remaining out of the $13,000 after the salaries for the remainder of the year have been provided for.

Mr. D. O'Connell made application on behalf of Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Sanderson for permission to work a connection to Brock street sewer for lots 1 and 6, plan 54, and lot 2, plan 54. The permission was given on condition that must be paid for the connection.

Mr. R. C. Braund's request for repairs to the sidewalk at the corner of Park and Albert streets will be granted.

Work for 1906.

A petition was received asking for a granolithic walk on the south side of Gilmour street, from Park street to St. Joseph street, but the chairman remarked that this would be some of next year's business. A motion was passed granting the request.

The Mayor asked how much of the walk petitioned for this year and ordered to be constructed would be left over until next year, and Superintendent Evans informed him that there would be fully a mile.

Application was presented from residents on Stewart street for a sewer to a point seventy feet from Rubidge street, starting at Reid street, and the clerk will report as to whether it is sufficiently signed.

On motion of Ald. Batten, seconded by the Mayor, the crossing of King street on George street will be repaired by placing gravel and stone on the crossing.

A petition was granted for the construction of a sidewalk from Hunter street to Homewood avenue. This replaces the old wooden walk which the engineer had taken up.

THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR; HOW NELSON WON WORLD'S GREATEST NAVAL VICTORY

How Nelson Watched the Combined French and Spanish Fleets---How He Planned the Fight---His Prayer Before the Battle---"England Expects Every Man Will Do His Duty"---Desperate Valor of Both Fleets---The Fatal Bullet From the Main Top---Last Hours of England's Greatest Admiral.

The description of the battle of Trafalgar, that grand pivotal event of history, when Nelson's glorious career culminated in glorious victory, bought dearly by his death, is given somewhat in detail below:

September, (1805) War with France! War with Spain! Britain was once more girding for a furious struggle on sea, a struggle destined to leave her undisputed mistress through all the years intervening between the day of the sumptuous ship-of-the-line to that of the intricate mass of electricity, steam, and steel, the battleship of to-day.

For the first time Nelson's hands were unfettered. No aged admiral overlorded him. The fleet of Britain was gathered together, and committed to his untrammelled care. Maimed, frail in body and ill he was, yet his nimble brain and unconquerable spirit pervaded the fleet so that every item thrilled with life. As Nelson, afoot, made this way through the streets of Portsmouth to board the Victory on the way to Trafalgar, victory and — death, men, women, and children pressed about him with tears running down their cheeks, and on their lips prayers for his well-being.

Many stole forward to touch the hem of his garments. Each of them knew that Nelson loved his country with all his heart, and fought her fights with all his might. He—one eye gone, and one arm off, his body shaking from the effects of fevers, and bent from fierce contact with enemy's bullets and surgeon's knives—was still in the eyes of his countrymen the glorious national figure, the Knight of the Unblemished Shield.

Off Cadiz Again.

Nelson clambered aboard his flagship the Victory, and at once set sail to join our fleet which, as of old, was keeping watch and ward off the port of Cadiz. As it happened, the very day the Victory joined up with the fleet, the French admiral, Villeneuve, got his orders to put to sea with the first wind that blew fair for him. Nelson was

Interesting Facts About Advertising

Not Only Has The Examiner the Largest Circulation in the City, But Facts Show That It Is The Most Popular Advertising Medium--88.2-3 Per Cent. More Condensed Want Ads. Than All Other Local Papers Combined--Another of Series of Heart-to-Heart Talks With Advertisers.

TALK No. 2.

Want ads. are the test of circulation. The paper that carries the greatest number of want ads. gets into the greatest number of homes. This is an invariable rule, which is just as true in this city as in any other.

Last week the Examiner told of its circulation, and made the statement that the average daily circulation of this paper had grown to over 2200 copies, every one of which went into a home, and not only was the statement made, but opportunity was afforded of proving it.

To-day the talk is on advertising. Yesterday, October 20th, the Examiner contained exactly 82 want ads. On October 20th, 1904, it contained 20. In other words there are 60 per cent. more people using the want ad. columns of this paper to get what they want, or to get rid of what they do not want, to-day, than there were a year ago.

And yet the practice of using the want ad. medium is only in its infancy in Peterborough. There are hundreds of people in this city who, if they only knew how easy it is to get things through this medium, would use it.

That the Examiner is THE WANT AD. MEDIUM of Peterborough, is amply substantiated by figures which prove facts.

Yesterday the other two Peterborough papers combined contained 17 condensed want ads., compared with the 32 which the Examiner carried, or, in other words, this paper contained 88.23 per cent. more want ads. than the two other Peterborough papers.

There is a co-relationship between want ads. and circulation, which is now-a-times not appreciated. Want ads. are circulation builders, and circulation increases want ads.

Did it ever strike you that there is nothing in this world which touches a man's life more closely than the want ad. in a newspaper? It's a fact, though. You want a man; somebody else wants a position; you and he meet through the medium of the condensed want ad. You are looking for a room; somebody else wants to find a boarder. Again, the want ad. finds its place; and so one might go on through the list of nearly all the wants that flesh is heir to.

The point that is intended to be conveyed in the statement of these facts, is that the most popular and, as figures have convincingly shown, the most widely used mediums between the buyer and seller in Peterborough, is the Peterborough Evening Examiner.

Fix these facts in your mind:

Over 89 per cent. of the people of this city are regular readers of the Evening Examiner.

The Examiner carries over 88 per cent. more condensed want ads. than the other papers in the city combined.

Circulation counts, and the Examiner has the circulation.

Respected Head Of Grocery Firm Passes Away

Mr. William Ince Died in Toronto Last Night.

Was in Grocery Business for 62 Years —A Very Highly Respected Gentleman.

The many friends and customers of Messrs. Perkins, Ince & Co., will learn with the deepest regret that Mr. William Ince, Sr., died last night in Toronto.

The late Mr. Ince was 80 years of age, and had been in the grocery business in Toronto since 1843, when the firm of Perkins, Ince & Co. was established. This firm is probably the oldest English-speaking grocery house in Canada, and has been signally successful.

Two years ago the firm opened a branch in this city and it has been conducted since with gratifying success.

Mr. Ince was married and leaves a wife, four sons and two daughters. The funeral will probably take place in Toronto on Monday, and Mr. J. A. Cameron, Manager and Mr. T. D. Mulholland, assistant manager of the local branch, will attend the funeral.

How Nelson's Victory Is Being Commemorated

Special Services in Anglican Churches To-morrow.

Bumper House Assured for S. O. E. Concert To-night—Artistic Decorations.

Nelson's Glorious Victory, of Trafalgar Bay, one hundred years ago to-day, is being commemorated in Peterborough in an appropriate manner. Citizens generally appear to be taking a live interest in the fitting observance of the anniversary, as is evidenced by the decorations, in many cases most artistic, which line the streets.

Prominent, and most appropriately so, are the decorations upon the Sons of England Hall, Hunter street, where flags and bunting are profusely hung. Draped pictures, illustrative of various incidents connected with the life of the famous Admiral, have been placed in the windows of Messrs. H. S. Macdonald, druggist, corner of George and Hunter streets, F. J. R. Mitchell, grocer, Hunter street, and R. A. Dutton, grocer, George street. Many leading George street merchants have also decorated their places of business most artistically.

To-night will take place the concert under the auspices of the Sons of England, in the Opera House. The programme will contain much of a patriotic nature, and the advance sale of seats presages a large attendance. The members of the local lodge of the Sons of England, it may be said, by the way have risen to the occasion, and have been most live and energetic in arranging for the observance of the day.

To-morrow the occasion will be remembered in the various Anglican Churches by special services. At St. Luke's, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will preach a special sermon at the morning service, while in the evening Rev. J. C. Davidson, at St John's, and Rev. W. Major, at All Saints, will preach patriotic sermons.

Leg Fractured In a Fall From Scaffold

John Meeks Sustains Painful Injury at Cereal Works.

Fell From a Scaffold, Where He Was Engaged, This Afternoon.

John Meeks, a carpenter in the employ of the American Cereal Works, fell this afternoon from a scaffold upon which he was at work to the floor, a considerable distance below, sustaining a fracture of the leg. The scaffold was apparently insecurely fastened and rolled, causing him to fall.

The injured man was at once removed in an ambulance to his home, Rusell avenue, East City, where the fracture was reduced. It is thought that other than the broken leg, his injuries will not prove serious, and his many friends hope for an early recovery.

The Twentieth Wedding Day Was Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kemp, of Douro, Hold Anniversary.

A Delightful Evening Was Spent Last Night—A China Wedding.

Last night an interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kemp, of Douro, when they celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary. About sixty of their friends gathered to spend the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Kemp and a delightful time was spent.

Prior to taking tea, the company was entertained by Mr. G. G. Praitey, who gave a number of selections on the phonograph, and Misses Bertha and Maud Curtis, who sang a number of solos.

Afterwards the whole company sat down to a bounteous repast, at the conclusion of which Rev. E. A. Langfeldt proposed the health of the bride in a felicitous speech, after which Dr. Amys proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Kemp, the groom's father and mother, who are octogenarians. The bride and groom were the recipients of a large number of presents of china.

The younger portion of the company remained after the older members had retired to their homes, and enjoyed a couple of hours in dancing.

WANTED: A NAME.

The second of the series of prominent citizens' pictures is published to-day. The Examiner, after considerable difficulty, have succeeded in securing a picture of one of the best known business men in the city, taken twenty-five years ago, but the cut was not received from the engravers, and a hunt through the list of stock cuts for a man whom the readers would be able to identify was made. The above cut was discovered and was the only one which no one in the office could give a name for.

This much is known, he was a business man in Peterborough years ago, but no one would place him, and the readers of this paper are asked to help the office out.

The picture in last Saturday's paper was that of Chief Bessol, taken in St. Catharines twenty-five years ago. He was at that time a member of the police force, and has been a guardian of the peace ever since.

Banquetted on Eve of His Departure

St. Thomas, Oct. 20.—Mr. W. A. Buchanan, late managing director of The Journal, was entertained to a banquet last night at the Armoury by the officers of the 25th Regiment, of which he is quartermaster. He was banqueted to-night by the Young Liberal Club, about seventy-five being present. To-morrow night he will be entertained by the Golf Club. He leaves next week for Edmonton.

Grand Trunk To Change The Grades

Of the Line to Lakefield—This is the Proposal at Present —Track at Smith Street Will be Lowered 5 Feet 6 Inches—Asks Permission From the Council—It Will be Granted Under Certain Conditions.

At the Board of Works last night a plan was submitted from the G. T.R. showing the proposed changes in grade on the Lakefield line from Antrim street north to a point north of Barnardo avenue, and the council asked to allow them to make the changes. The plan shows that the track will be lowered at Smith street five feet six inches; at the lane running to the Barnardo Home, 2 1-2 feet, and raising at 1 1-4 feet at Barnardo avenue.

It was decided to grant the request on condition that the Company allow the Water Commissioners to lay the mains along the tracks from Water to George street, thus doing away with two sharp angles on the mains which would otherwise be necessary. Permission is also to be given the city to cross the Company's tracks at the head of George street and open up the street. The city also secures the right to go under the tracks with sewers. The Company shall also make the grades at the crossings and street intersections satisfactory to the City Engineer.

Gymnasium Was Visited By Flames

Collegiate Institute "Gym" Badly Wrecked This Morning.

Part of Equipment Was Saved—Loss Covered by Insurance.

The Collegiate Institute Gymnasium was this morning the scene of a blaze, which for a time threatened to devastate the entire property. The fire originated in the roof of the building, supposedly from a stovepipe.

The fire was first discovered about 9.45 o'clock by Mr. Herman Sugar, who was passing. It was at this time confined to a small section of the roof, but, owing to the combustible nature of the old wooden structure, spread rapidly. An alarm was sent in, and the brigade, upon it's arrival was compelled to make the most strenuous efforts to check the flames, which burst forth on all sides. With four streams playing upon the roof, and in the interior, the fire was soon controlled, and the long shed, which joins the building, saved.

The gymnasium building was considerably wrecked and rendered unfit for service, without extensive improvements. Whether these will be made or not is as yet an undecided question, and in view of the still hopeful prospect of the erection of a new Collegiate Institute, some, at least, of the members of the Board of Education regard a further expenditure in the way of repairs as ill-advised.

The loss by the fire will be completely covered by insurance. A portion of the equipment, fortunately was saved, among this being the rifles of the Cadet Corps. The insurance upon the building was $300, and that upon the equipment, $250.

The exact origin of the fire is unknown. A fire was burning yesterday in a stove in the building, and the only explanation appears to be that it arose from the smouldering embers of this. It's start was obtained in the loft of the building.

A History Of Ancient People

It is understood that the lecture which Mr. Burnham will deliver under the auspices of the Woman's Art Association of Peterborough on Tuesday evening next will deal with more than the immediate subject, "Indian Women," and will contain a short, artistic history of the ancient peoples of this continent, and an epitome of their racial origin and history as well. It will unquestionably be a matter of surprise to many to find that America ranks with Egypt and Indo-China in antiquity and importance.

At the same time the lecturer will devote a large portion of his time to the subject specified, and to readings from the poets illustrating the theme.

In the last fiscal year the increase in the deposits of the savings banks in the state of New York was more than $35,000,000. In the last six months it was $22,000,000.

The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those parse s who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $ 300. to $ 800. for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $ 1000. to $ 2.00. Farms also we have for sale. The Battle Of Trafalgar

Writing to Collingwood, his second in command, he said: "We can, my dear Col., have no little jealousies. We have only one great object in view—that of annihilating our enemies and getting a glorious peace for our country." Annihilation, nothing short of annihilation, he had set his mind on, and annihilation he accomplished.

"In case signals cannot be seen or clearly understood, no captain can do wrong if he places his ship alongside that of an enemy." This order was the keynote of the thunder of Trafalgar. Plain, stand-up-to-it, hard fighting — annihilation. The manoeuvres and counter-manoeuvres, the grimness victories won by Napoleon on land, were to be rendered as impotent as so many sham fights by the chaos created by Nelson's guns at Trafalgar.

Nelson's Prayer Before Battle.

On the morning of October 19, rippling along the line of frigates that stretched from Cadiz sixty miles out into the Atlantic to where Nelson's fleet rode, ran the news that the enemy was putting to sea. Later it was told that Villeneuve had cleared the port. The wind was light when Nelson signalled his fleet to make sail in the southeast quarter. All that night the fleet held to that course, and when day broke stood at the entrance to the Straits. No enemy! Nelson feared that Villeneuve had put back to Cadiz.

In the evening, however, the French and Spanish ships were sighted, holding for the west; and on the morning of the 21st October, one hundred years ago, Nelson, from the deck of the Victory, beheld his foe formed in close line of battle and about twelve miles to leeward. Nelson had with him twenty-seven ships-of-the-line and four frigates; Villeneuve, thirty-three ships-of-the-line and seven large frigates. But these figures do not give an adequate indication of the enemy's superiority in numbers of men and weight of metal.

Scattered through his fleet Villeneuve had four thousand troops, his tops were filled with sharpshooters, while the number of guns carried by his ships greatly exceeded that of Nelson's fleet. Villeneuve, a brave and skilful admiral, had come out determined to accept battle if battle was offered; and when Nelson saw that he was to be given the chance he so ardently desired, his exhilaration was unbounded. In two lines, the first of fourteen ships headed by the Victory, and the other of thirteen ships led by Collingwood's Royal Sovereign, the British fleet bore down direct for the enemy's centre.

The plan of attack had been amply elaborated, each captain in the fleet clearly understood it: the breaking of the enemy's line near the centre, the overwhelming of the rearmost ships as they came up, and before the van could put about and boat back to their comrades' assistance. There was no need for signals on directions. Nelson retired to his cabin, and, taking pen and ink, wrote a prayer, the opening words of which were: "May the great God, whom I worship, grant to my country, and for the benefit of all Europe in general, a great and glorious victory! And may no misconduct in any one tarnish it! And may humanity, after victory, be the predominating feature in the British fleet!"

The Ever-Glorious Signal.

Blackwood, captain of the frigate Euryalus, walked the deck with Nelson as the Victory drew near to the combined fleet. Nelson turned to them. "I will now amuse the fleet with a signal," he said. Blackwood replied that the whole fleet understood matters thoroughly and that therefore a signal was unnecessary. Nelson considered for some moments, and then said: "Suppose we telegraph, 'Nelson confides that every man will do his duty'?"

The idea was considered a good one, but "England" instead of "Nelson" was suggested. Nelson readily adopted the change. "Mr. Pasco," he said, addressing a signal-officer, "I want to say to the fleet, 'England confides that every man will do his duty.' You must be quick, for I have one more signal to make, which is for close action." "If your lordship will allow me to substitute 'expects' for 'confides' it will be sooner completed, because 'expects' is in the vocabulary, and 'confides' must be spelt," said Mr. Pasco. "That will do, Pasco; make it directly," assented Nelson; and the ever glorious signal was made.

When Collingwood saw the signalling begin, he said testily, "I wish Nelson would stop signalling. We know well enough what we have to do." But when the signal was completed and a mighty cheer went up from the ships, Collingwood admitted that it amounted to a stroke of genius. As the two fleets drew near a test gun was fired from one of the enemy's ships, and "as by common impulse, the ships of all the nations engaged, hoisted their colours and the admirals their flags — a courteous and chivalrous salute preceding the mortal combat."

"They Have Done for Me At Last, Hardy."

"See how that noble fellow, Collingwood carries his ship into action!" exclaimed Nelson, as the "Royal Sovereign," right gallantly, broke into the enemy's line of battle. "Rotherham, what would Nelson give to be here?" exclaimed Collingwood at about the very same instant that Nelson was speaking. The officers and men aboard the British ships were a band of brothers, and Nelson's enthusiasm pervaded them all.

A few minutes after the "Royal Sovereign" grappled with the enemy the "Victory" came under a murderous fire, but not a shot did she give in return till certain that every single one given would strike home. In a few minutes fifty of her men were killed or wounded. Still each unwounded man stood cool and firm at his post. Nelson vowed that he had never seen anything to equal the fortitude displayed on the occasion—no, not in all his stirring career.

Ahead, towered the mammoth four-decker, Spanish war vessel, the "Santissima Trinidad," of 136 guns, an old acquaintance, Nelson called her; and towards her the "Victory" was steered. A raking fire swept across the deck of the British flagship, and one of the first men killed was Mr. Scott, Nelson's secretary and good friend. His death distressed Nelson greatly. Next a double headed shot struck among a party of marines, killing eight of them. Still another shot struck the forebrace bits, and flung on its screaming way, passing between Nelson and Captain Hardy. The "Victory" had not yet fired a shot. "This is too warm work, Hardy, to last long," said Nelson, quietly.

The end of waiting came. The "Victory" fell aboard the French ship "Redoubtable." 74 guns, and, with the "Santissima Trinidad" on the other side of her, commenced to fire both her broadsides simultaneously. There could be no miss. The flames from the "Victory's" guns set fire to the enemy's ships, so close lay foe to foe.

Soon the "Temeraire" fell aboard the "Redoubtable" on the other side to the "Victory," and then another French ship coming up, fell on board the "Temeraire," so that there were four large ships in one close bunch, each fighting for all she was worth. Twice Nelson ordered to cease firing on the "Redoubtable," thinking she had struck, for her colours were down and her guns silenced; but each time she re-commenced firing.

It was from this ship, that he had twice spared, that Nelson received the fatal wound. In the very fiercest moment of the battle, and before anyone could tell how the day was going, Nelson was struck down.

One of the sharp shooters in the mizzentop, taking sight at the orders worn by the admiral, fired. The bullet struck Nelson on the left epaulet, passing through the lung, cutting an artery and smashing the backbone. The time was a quarter after one o'clock. Nelson fell, face down, on the very spot where his favourite, Mr. Scott, had died.

Captain Hardy dashed to his assistance.

"They have done for me at last, Hardy!" Nelson gasped.

"I hope not," cried Hardy.

"Yes; my backbone is shot through," Nelson said.

The End.

As they bore him down the ladder to the cockpit, Nelson noticed that the tiller-ropes, which, early in the action had been shot away, were not yet replaced, and he gave orders to have the matter attended to at once. Then, taking out his handkerchief, he spread it over his face and decorations, so that the crew might not identify him.

Bearers carried him to a midshipman's berth in the cockpit, and the surgeon saw at a glance that the wound was mortal. Nelson ordered the surgeon to leave him, and attend to those whom he had a chance of saving. "For," said he, "you can do nothing for me."

Mortal pains racked him, he was dying by inches, yet his great desire was to be kept informed as to the progress of the action. For an hour the battle raged so furiously and matters continued in so critical a state, that Captain Hardy dared not leave the deck.

Nelson feared that his captain had been killed, and repeatedly cried out, "Will nobody bring Hardy to me? He must be killed! He must be destroyed!"

At length Hardy descended, and the two old friends shook hands.

"Well, Hardy, how goes the battle?"

"Very well, my Lord. We have got twelve or fourteen of the enemy's ships in our possession."

After this cheering information, the two spoke of several matters in regard to those Nelson was leaving behind. At length Hardy expressed a hope that there was a chance of recovery. Nelson interrupted, "Oh, no! It is impossible; my back is shot through. Beatty will tell you so." To the surgeon he said over and over again, "God be praised, I have done my duty!"

An hour after leaving the cockpit, Captain Hardy returned. Again, the two shook hands, and Hardy, holding tight to Nelson's hand, congratulated him on a great and glorious victory won. The captain reported that he was certain that fourteen or fifteen of the enemy's ships had struck. Nelson replied, "That is well, but I bargained for twenty." (Eighteen were taken.) "Anchor, Hardy, anchor!" he suddenly exclaimed.

Hardy's position was a somewhat trying one, and he said, "I suppose, my lord, Admiral Collingwood will now take upon himself the direction of affairs?" Nelson started, as as though about to rise, crying out, "Not while I live, I hope, Hardy. No. Do you anchor, Hardy." "Shall we make the signal, sir?" "Yes; for if I live I'll anchor."

The pangs of death were upon him yet no words of complaint passed his lips. His thoughts were all for those he loved, and for his country. "Thank God, I have done my duty," he muttered again and again.

The chaplain leaning over him heard him whisper, "God and my country." And with these words on his lips, the soul of Horatio Nelson passed.

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is so clean and pure, so fine and creamy, so delightfully soothing and healing, that it is especially useful in the nursery for the skin troubles of childhood.

For sunburn, prickly heat and chafing it brings quick relief, and by affording a cure for the simpler irritation of the skin, it positively prevents eczema and scald head, the itching of which means keen torture for the unfortunate victim.

Every mother should know about Dr. Chase's Ointment, for by its use she can save her children much suffering and discomfort.

Mosquito bites, hives and insect bites, poison ivy and every form of skin irritation and eruption, yield readily to the healing, soothing influence of this great ointment, and you can use it with positive assurance that it will not injure the most delicate skin or hurt the growth of the hair.

Mr. C. Wiley, who is employed as a cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., says: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for eczema on my little girl some years ago, and soon brought about a thorough and permanent cure. She suffered for considerable time, and though we tried a great many remedies, Dr. Chase's Ointment was the only preparation to prove effective. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Ointment as it certainly effected a prompt and permanent cure in this case."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous recipe book author, are on every box of the remedy.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women

They are the prescription of a specialist.

This is an age of specialists,—men who give all their time, study, and practice to some particular branch of medicine. There are specialists of the eye, specialists in diseases of the lungs, specialists in diseases of women. It costs something to get a prescription from a specialist, but it is worth all it costs, when you get it.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women are the prescription of Dr. Hugo, of Paris, a specialist of forty years' experience in diseases of women.

It embraces the latest medical discoveries of the other skilled physicians in the world. It might be called a compound prescription of the world's best specialists.

No ordinary physician can prescribe such a remedy. The better the physician, the nearer will be his prescription to that of Dr. Hugo.

Thousands of women in Europe have paid $50 for a consultation with Dr. Hugo and got the same remedy. Considering the benefit they received from it, it was worth $50, but it costs women now only 50c. for six dozen tablets—enough for an extended treatment.

It is a compound remedy containing all the tonics and alteratives that any woman can need, no matter what her condition. For women suffering from a run-down condition, or any weakness peculiar to her sex, it is now acknowledged to be beyond doubt or question the best remedy available to-day. It makes healthy women.

RESENTED STATEMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

And Last Night's Meeting of the Teachers and Officers of the George Street Methodist Sunday School was a Stormy One—All Arose Out of the Criticism of the Trustees on the Method of Conducting Sunday School—Result the Superintendant Resigned — A Committee Appointed to Consider the Matter.

There was a stormy meeting of the teachers and officers of the George Street Methodist Sunday School last night. The trouble resulted from some references which some of the members of the Trustee Board made to the manner in which the Sunday school was being conducted.

At this meeting, which was held some weeks ago, the Trustee Board were discussing the Sunday school, and some of the members of the Board referred in language which is described as uncomplimentary to the superintendent of the Sunday school. They asserted that the Sunday school was not in a satisfactory condition, and attributed the state of affairs to what they characterized as incompetence on the part of the superintendent.

The result of this was that there was a very spirited discussion on the question, and, as a sequel, the gentleman, who, for a number of years has held the position of superintendent, tendered his resignation.

Last night a meeting of the officers and teachers of the school was held to consider the matter, when the whole subject was re-opened and some of the Trustees who were present defended the position of the previous meeting against some statements which were made against them by the supporters of the Superintendent.

The upshot of the matter was that the resignation was accepted and a committee was appointed consisting of the officers of the school, Messrs. Dixon, Kaspeman, Dobbin and the pastor, and the following members of the school, — Messrs. Greenman, Armstrong and Jefferies, and Mrs. Stubbs and Mrs. Lewis, to take the matter into consideration and report at a meeting which will be held next Friday night.

One of the leading members of the church informed the Examiner to-day that the school was in a deplorable condition, and the suggestion was made that it be disbanded. The statement was made that it was as far as could be seen, doing absolutely no good, and the officers are discouraged at the small degree of success which is attending their work.

Missionary Society Convention Closed

Yesterday Afternoon Saw the Concluding Session of the Gathering of the Board of Managers—Field Secretaries Were Elected—The Next Annual Meeting Will be Held in Belleville—Next Year the Anniversary Will Be Celebrated—Scenes at the Closing Meeting.

The final session of the Board of Managers of the Women's Missionary Society, was held in the George street church yesterday afternoon, at two o'clock. After devotional exercises, election of officers was proceeded with, resulting in all the officers of the preceding year being returned. The following appointments were then made:

Editor Outlook, Miss McCallum, Toronto.

Treasurer Rest Fund, Mrs. W. W. Ogden, Toronto.

Editor, Palm-Branch, Miss Ager.

Wesleyan, Mrs. Whiston.

Outlook Committee, Miss McCallum, Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Willis.

Supply Committee, Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Ogden.

Auditors for Rest Fund, Mr. J. Earle; for General Board, Mr. F. Roper.

Field Secretary-Treasurers—

Japan, Miss Hargrave.

China, Miss Brackbill.

Chinese work, B.C., Mrs. Snyder.

French work, Mrs. Armstrong.

Crosby Home, Miss Paul.

Kitamaat, Miss Long.

Galician work, Miss Munroe.

The Committees on French Schools, Literature and Publication, Chinese Home and Crosby Girls' Homes, were also appointed.

Mrs. Wilkes, Mrs. Powell and Miss Addison were appointed a committee to arrange the terms of the Strachan scholarship.

The Courtesy Committee presented their report, extending the thanks of the Board, to the trustees of the church, the pastor, organist and choirs, the auditors, Mr. Earl and Mr. Roper, Miss Ogden, for the work in room 20; that greetings be sent from the Board to the missionaries in the field, that a resolution of regret at the death of Miss Clarke be placed on record, and recognition of the good work done by her while in the field; that the thanks of the Board be extended to Dr. Oldham, for medical attendance given to Miss Long, missionary at Kitamaat, B.C.; also to the ladies of the W.C.T.U. of Newfoundland for greetings received; to the ladies of Peterborough for their kind hospitality; and to the local press and to the Toronto Globe, for the very full reports given.

Intimation was made of gifts of $1000 to the New Brunswick branch and the Board yearly, also of $4000 by a friend in Toronto.

It was resolved that next year, being the 25th anniversary of the Board, each Auxiliary be requested to make a special silver anniversary collection, and that the motto given the board by the president, "Lord, send a revival, and may it first begin in my heart," be the motto for the coming year for each Auxiliary.

On motion, the Board decided to meet next year in Belleville.

The Board meeting then closed with prayer.

Meetings Are Arranged For This Winter

The Winter Series Under Auspices of Farmers' Institute.

Live Stock Judging Will be a Feature This Year—The Speakers and the Subjects.

A circular letter, one of which has been sent to each director, has been received by the secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, announcing dates of regular winter meetings, giving names of delegates and the list of subjects each one has to speak upon.

A meeting of the Board of directors will be called shortly to select the subjects they think best suited for our district. It is important all the members of the Board attend.

The delegates are:

C. W. Nash, Esq., 34 Lee avenue, Toronto. Subjects, Chemistry of the Soil; How Plants Grow; Breeding of Domestic Animals; The Value of our Birds; Our Insect Pests; Nature about the Farm; The Enemies of the Pea Crop and How to Deal with them.

W. C. Shearer, Esq., Bright, Ont. Subjects, Rotation of Crops and Selection of Seed Grain; Corn in drills, or in hills, for the Silo; The Cultivation of Mangels, Potatoes and Turnips; The Bacon Hog and its Feeding; Selecting a Dairy Herd. Evening meeting subjects — Pure Bred Poultry for Boys and Girls; Making a Success on the Farm.

Miss Laura Rose, of the O. A. C., Guelph. Subjects, The Production and Care of Milk; Butter Making on the Farm; Defects in Butter Making, their Cause and Remedy; Bread and Buns: How much are we Worth? One Eye in the Field the other in the Town.

The first two speakers have the reputation of being fully up to the high standard of any previously sent here, in being thoroughly familiar with their subjects and able to explain them, while Miss Rose, who has been here on two previous occasions, and has a high reputation in her line in several of the other provinces, as well as Ontario, needs no introduction to a West Peterborough audience.

Lakefield, Town Hall, Dec. 7th, at 1.30 p. m. The Lakefield Women's Institute will hold a meeting at the same hour, at which Miss Rose will speak. In the evening a joint meeting will be held at 7.30.

On the 8th a judging class of stock for instruction by the delegates will be held in Peterborough, or at some farm yard, at 1.30 p.m. This is not yet definitely decided, but due notice will be given.

In the evening a meeting will be held in the town hall, North Monaghan.

On the 9th a meeting will be held in the city council chamber at 1.30 p.m.

The superintendent writes urging that an endeavour be made to get some local talent to help the work along by giving a short address or preparing a paper on some subject in connection with his business as a farmer.

We would say, Come to the front, boys, and take a part: It is your own meeting. The young men in all other callings are fast forging to the lead in nearly every calling in life, and why should not the young and progressive farmers of Canada? Come to the meetings and discuss those most important questions with your fellow agriculturists, the bone and sinew of the nation.

The supplementary meetings will be held later, and will be announced, at the following places: 4th Line of Smith, Ennismore, Selwyn and Stewart's, Otonabee.

To-day's Market.

—The market to-day was not very large, either outside or up-stairs. Beef and pork were at a maximum. Butter brought 25c, eggs went at 22c, chickens from 50 to 60c, ducks sold at 90c to $1, turkeys at $1 to 1.75. Hay sold at $8 to $9.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1905.

THREE NOTABLE CELEBRATIONS.

To-day is the one hundredth anniversary of the glorious British naval battle and victory of Trafalgar, at which fell Nelson, the greatest naval commander the world had till then known or has known since. Two memorable events are to be duly celebrated throughout the whole British Empire. Probably the greatest demonstration will be that which is taking place, or, according to difference of time, has already taken place in the Royal Albert Hall, London, which, it will be remembered, was erected as a memorial to "Albert the Good." Its success would appear to be a foregone conclusion, for it is in charge of a large and influential committee. Part of the proceedings is to consist of the presentation of a bust of Nelson to Admiral Togo, the Japanese naval commander, and who is undoubtedly the greatest naval hero of modern times. Warships and their armament have so changed during the century that no comparison can be made between the achievements of the two commanders. Togo is not expected to be present to receive the bust, but it is to be made to the Japanese Ambassador in London on his behalf, and the committee express the hope that the precious memento, which is mounted on a pedestal of Victory oak, "will ultimately find its place in Japan's chief nautical school."

Another important Nelson celebration is that which is to take place at Southampton, England. It is being got up by the Ladies' Guild of the Southampton branch of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, of which the Hon. Mrs. Eliot Yorke is president. Princess Henry of Battenberg has, as Governor of the Isle of Wight, given it her patronage; and the Duke of Wellington, Earl of Hardwicke, Admiral Sir John Fullerton, and the United States consul there, are taking an active part in the arrangements. Part of this celebration is to be a children and young people's demonstration of a nautical character, at which Victory mementos are to be distributed.

The Nelson celebration to take place in Hamilton, Ontario, promises to be one well worthy of the occasion and a credit to Canada. It is under the charge of the Women's Wentworth Historical Society, and that alone ought to ensure success. That society did a good work for Canadian history not long ago in buying the celebrated battlefield at Stony Creek and dedicating it forever as a memorial to the bravery of the men who defended their homes and firesides. Now to celebrate the victory and death of Nelson, and at the same time to inspire patriotism in the young, the society have arranged to hold a public meeting on to-day in the armoury, at which the children of all the public schools are to take part. Patriotic songs are to be sung and able addresses delivered by prominent men. The whole expenses connected with the celebration are to be borne by the society.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson is keeping the promise he foreshadowed in his speech at the banquet tendered him on the occasion of his recent visit to Peterborough. He now announces that he intends placing the Intercolonial Railway upon a paying basis, which he proposes to do, not by starving the excellent service now given, but by advancing the rates. He will introduce a plan at the coming session of Parliament. He justifies low rates in the past on the ground that they were necessary in order to unite the various parts of the Dominion and justify the political reasons for its construction. The low rates, he is reported as saying, had enriched the merchants of the West, who had found a profitable market in the Maritime Provinces. They had been the equal of a high protective tariff, as the people would otherwise have bought in the United States. If the charges on one classification of freight had been as high as those charged on the Grand Trunk the earnings of the Intercolonial would have been sufficient to wipe out the aggregate deficits on the road. The Intercolonial is a national railway, and if rates have not been high enough to make it a money-maker, the people have had the benefit in cheap transportation in a dividend to inter-provincial trade, and in other ways. While it would have been much preferable to have had it a money-maker, yet the importance of unifying the several sections of the Dominion has in the past at least far outweighed the objectionable feature of an absence of dividends. That purpose having, according to Mr. Emmerson, been largely served, he will now proceed to make it a paying investment.

QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

Interesting Extracts From The Examiner of 25 Years Ago.

The Examiner continues to-day the publication of a series of news items, taken from the files of this paper, published in the corresponding week of 1880:

Captain Bottum of Bobcaygeon, is building a new boat, which will be ready for the spring.

Sergt. Brennan, of No. 5 Company, Norwood, has been winning laurels for himself as an athlete in Ottawa and elsewhere.

The Mitchell Bros., of Peterborough, have been giving entertainments in surrounding towns, which have been well patronized.

The hose tower has been completed and taken off the contractor's hands. It is a credit to the contractor, Mr. Roberts, and the architect, Mr. Belcher.

It is announced that Messrs. Rathbun & Son have purchased the Scott Limits from Messrs Benedict, of Albany. On account, however, of some legal technicalities, it is not expected that any men will be sent to the woods this year.

The trial of James Carroll, one of the Biddulph gang, for the murder of the Donnelly family, one of the blackest crimes that ever disgraced humanity in this country, ended on Saturday night, when the jury reported that they stood seven for acquittal, four for conviction, and one man undecided. They were accordingly discharged, and the case stands where it did three months ago.

The annual matches of the Peterborough Rifle Association commenced on Monday. The entries and attendance were in advance of any previous year. In the Maiden Match, the first five prizes were taken by R. W. Reid, Dr. Miller, Capt. Dean, Sgt. Hilton and Pte. Brimacomb. In the Volunteer Match, Corp. Bell, Capt. Edwards, Trooper Scollie, and Asst. Sur. Miller headed the list.

Another fresh consignment of bulbs has been received by Mr. Jas. H. Cobb, of the Aylmer street greenhouses. These all come direct from the producers, in Holland, Messrs. M. Mr. Cobb can afford to sell 25 per cent. less than regular.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, it is reported, has placed a large order for locomotives with the Montreal works of the American Locomotive Company.

New Corridor Front Setting To Barrie's Fur Store

The rapid and substantial growth and development of a Peterborough business house, when backed by capable, enterprising and shrewd management, is strikingly illustrated in the progress of Messrs. Thomas Barrie & Co., fur manufacturers, hatters, and gentlemen's furnishers, corner of George and Simcoe streets.

Six years ago Mr. Barrie took over the business formerly carried on in these premises by Messrs. Fairweather & Co., the extensive fur dealers, now of Toronto. Every year since that time, it is gratifying to learn, Mr. Barrie's business has steadily increased,—in fact, to use a common phase, it has "boomed." The goods turned out are known to have been of more than ordinary quality —they pleased the customers, and the wearing qualities, the styles and the prices have been such that the man or woman who wore Barrie's garments wanted more. Such circumstances applied to any business, where the product is an article of necessity, must invariably result in success, so long as the high standard is maintained by the producer.

But it is of Messrs. Thomas Barrie & Co's recent store improvements, —and especially of their elegant corridor store front—that reference is particularly to be made in this article. For it is with a pleasure born of appreciation that special mention is given to this most successfully accomplished undertaking. After Mr. Barrie had conceived the idea of this unique style of store front, it took some "figuring" to plan just how so difficult an undertaking was to be engineered, without endangering the building. But the keen, practical foresight of architect and skilled workmen overcame all difficulties, with a result highly creditable to all concerned.

The whole of the old double front on George street, and fifteen feet of the brick wall on Simcoe street, having been successfully removed, left an open frontage on George street of 25 feet, and on Simcoe street of 15 feet. In this open space was installed the massive new plate glass show case, with tile corridors around it, from one street to the other, affording handsome front entrances off both streets. The size of the large central show case is 14 feet long, 6 feet wide, and 9 1-2 feet high. It is entirely composed of heavy plate glass, in copper oxidized steel frames. The ceiling is all quarter-cut oak in the square panel effect. At each corner of the squares is an electric bulb, or 36 bulbs in all. The floor is quarter-cut oak and the base is of blue Vermont marble. The side show cases line the back of the corridors, with ceiling, floor and back in quarter-cut oak and beautifully polished in the natural colour. A row of electric lights runs along all the front of the cases) The floor tiling of the corridors is a very pretty combination of blue, grey and white, with the name "Barrie" depicted at each entrance. The iron pillars are covered with oxidized copper on which the name "Barrie" is also shown in raised oxidized letters. On the east and west sides of the pillars illuminated signs also appear. The effect of this unique application of a modern city store front to advertise the goods of the firm is demonstrated every day by an exhibition of costly furs and other leading lines artistically arranged, with handsome wax figures and other new window display fixtures.

The interior of the store has also been improved and re-decorated. A new system of ceiling lighting has been installed, new mirrors placed to the left of the main entrance, and the walls re-decorated. On the second floor also important changes have been effected. The large show room has been furnished with new mirrors, so as to afford full views of the garments when being tried on. The fitting room has been arranged for displaying the finer lines of garments, and a private room conveniently provided, where ordered work can be tried on.

There was much to see on the premises that it is impossible in this brief article to do justice to. Let us add, however, that one of the features of this firm's success is its aggressive advertising policy. Mr. Barrie is a firm believer in, and a practical demonstrator of, the value of printers' ink, and it is largely to its judicious use that he attributes his success. The amount yearly expended in advertising runs into the thousands.

Mr. E. W. Argus was the architect on this work. He was well assisted in the most difficult part of the undertaking by Mr. Jas. Frowde, who carried out the details in a most satisfactory manner. Messrs. Alexander & Miller had the contract for installing the effective system of lighting, and the Coughlin Monumental Company made a creditable job of tile-laying. The painted signs, awnings and gold-lettered blinds were supplied by J. J. Turner & Sons.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN,—For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the Glasses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Assault Charge Was Dismissed

Judgment Was Rendered Last Night by Judge Edmison.

The charge of assault preferred against John Cox, of Monaghan Township by Maud Barrett, heard yesterday before County Police Magistrate Edmison, was dismissed without costs.

The evidence in the case published yesterday went strongly to show that Miss Barrett, a domestic formerly in the employ of Mr. Cox, had been to a large extent the aggressor.

The arguments of the counsel Messrs. Osler Leslie for the plaintiff, and R. F. McWilliams; were heard at 5.30 o'clock, after which the court rendered judgment as above stated.

McGlynu Saw Barker Steal

Young Man Was Committed For Trial

At the Police Court this morning, before Police Magistrate Dumble, Darrel Barker was charged with stealing from the Canadian General Electric Company. According to the evidence several files, drills and other articles of a like nature have been missed for some time. A man by the name of McGlynn in giving evidence, stated that he watched the prisoner and called the attention of the thefts to Mr. Taylor, foreman of the machine shop and tool room. He had seen Barker with a small cardboard box and watched him. The box was filled with drills a couple of times and McGlynn took them out and put them in the proper place, on both these occasions. He also marked the box and identified it as being the one exhibited at the police Court this morning. When Barker was leaving the premises at noon he was taken in charge by Mr. Peters, the gate keeper. It will be remembered that he made a thrilling escape from the gatehouse, the facts of which have been recorded before.

Mr. Taylor, the foreman, next gave evidence, but disclosed nothing of a startling nature.

As Barker had elected to be tried by a jury, he was committed for trial by His Worship.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, who appeared for the defence, put McGlynn through a rigorous cross-examination, but did not shake the latter's evidence materially.

A drunk and disorderly was discharged.

Maud Keswick And Her Great Record

Former Peterborough Trotting Mare Has Just Returned After Her Season's Work---Her Former Owner Mr. Geo. W. Fitzgerald Saw Her Yesterday in Toronto---Started in Nine Races and Took Five Firsts and Four Seconds---Beat Dan Patch's Time.

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald was in Toronto yesterday, and while there saw the horse which many believe is destined to become the fastest trotter in the world, Maud Keswick, which he formerly owned, and later sold to Mr. O. B. Sheppard.

Mr. Fitzgerald little thought when he sold the mare to Mr. Shepherd that she would turn out to be such a stopper. Her present owner stated to Mr. Fitzgerald that money would not buy her now, for he believes that next year she will beat Dan Patch's record. He feels confident that she will demonstrate that she is the best horse in the world.

The fast little mare has just returned to her stable for the winter, and looks splendidly, having gone through the season well. She started in nine races in the grand circuit and won five firsts and four seconds. The smallest purse of any of these races was $1,000, and the largest, $3,000. On the Columbus, O., track she went a trial heat, a half mile, in fifty-six seconds.

At the Kentucky Trotting Horse Association Meet in Lexington on October 3. She won the Tennessee Stakes with a $3,000 purse. Not only did she win this race, but her time was the best made in the history of the race.

The following is the record for the ten years since the race has been run:

1895—Star Pointer, 2.06 1-2.
1896—Bright Regent, 2.06 3-4.
1897—Bumps, 2.06 1-2.
1898—Searchlight, 2.09 3-4.
1899—Eyelet, 2.06.
1900—Connor, 2.05 1-4.
1901—Dan Patch, 2.05.
1902—Twinkle, 2.05.
1903—Norvolo, 2.07 1-4.
1904—John M., 2.04 1-4.
1905—Maud Keswick, 2.03 3-4.

This year there were thirteen starters, including some of the fastest horses in the United States.

Mr. Sheppard was so well pleased with his purchase that he made Mr. Fitzgerald a nice present, and the latter says he will be able to buy a new driver with the gift.

Fishing Party Has Good Luck

Four members of the Lake Catchecoma Fishing Club, returned to the city last night, after having spent nearly a week in the north country. Those who came down were Messrs. H. LeBrun, John Crane, K. Eardley-Wilmot and W. H. Denham.

They report having had a most enjoyable trip, and in one day, the day before they left for home, they succeeded in catching forty fine fish.

There were ten members of the party, who have remained for a few days longer.

The weather has been almost ideal and in fact it was so warm that some of the members of the party indulged in a swim, one of these being Mr. "Barney" Matachke, of Brooklyn. But the water in Lake Catchecoma was cooler than that of Brooklyn.

The remaining members of the party will return early in the week.

To the Sporting Editor:

Dear Sir,—On Thursday evening the Examiner in giving an account of the football contest at the Exhibition stated that Bridgenorth were not acting in a sportsmanlike way in refusing to meet the Quakers to break the tie for the Hall Cup. I think this is a little unfair to that team, and if all the circumstances were understood, I think every one would admit that they were acting within their right. In the first place, they understood it was a challenge cup and that they had to be beaten before it could be taken away from them. I can safely say that they are not afraid to meet the Quakers (or the best of the three former teams that were in Peterborough for that matter) at any time that they can get themselves in shape but they can't practice any now as they all work till six o'clock and have not the advantage of a gymnasium or anything else to keep themselves in shape. The Quakers have had several opportunities of meeting Bridgenorth during the summer but never accepted.

RUGBY.

The Rangers football team will play the St. Paul's at the Oval, Centre Island, to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Arthur W. Graham, of Peterborough, will referee.—Mail and Empire.

When MacPherson first went to Toronto the Toronto papers were inclined to "knock" him a little, but they have changed their tune now. "Mac" does all the knocking that is necessary.

The Toronto-Argonauts arrived on the 11.31 C.P.R. train this morning. They were looked after by Mr. George Hynes, brother of Jack Hynes, the lightning "redman" of the St. George's hockey team.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Wrestling is on the boom in London, England. Hackenschmidt, the Russian, Munro, the wonderful Scotchman, Hoch, the German, Yokio Tani, the Jap Jiu-jitsu man and Ambrose Madrali, the Turk, are all in line. Some fierce bouts will certainly be witnessed. We pick Hackenschmidt to win the tie-up, and as for the Jap, he won't have a snowball's chance.

Talking about Jiu-jitsu, a few comments would perhaps not be out of place. When the Japanese had the Russians "beat to death" on the battlefield, the jiu-jitsu system came into great notoriety. It was described as the keynote to physical success and several other extravagant claims were made concerning it. Some promoters even went so far as to say that with a perfect knowledge of jiu-jitsu, a man with a revolver had no chance. Hagashi, the Jap, beat "Ajax", the strong man of the New York police force all right, but when he ran up against Geo. Bothner, ex-champion lightweight of the world, he struck a snag that he couldn't handle with a stumping machine. Hackenschmidt threw another Jap as fast as he could get up and many other American wrestlers have easily defeated several jiu-jitsu men. The Japs are good game men and clever in the athletic line, but a diminutive brown man with his secret pinching tricks has no show whatever with a good catch-as-catch-can wrestler. Jiu-jitsu is an excellent physical culture training, but as a means of attack and defence it can't come near the old catch-as-catch-can.

Kid McCoy, the pugilist, evidently intends to keep in training, although he has retired from the ring. He has engaged a new sparring partner—married his fifth wife.

The Kid says he is done with the ring for good. He says that he has been in the sporting business all his life, and says there's nothing in it. It's just the same as any other business. The failures all say "there's nothing in it."

TURF.

Local horsemen evidently did not become very enthusiastic over the visits to Toronto of Dan Patch. Very few appear to have taken the special rate trip to see him go.

• • • •

Dan Patch will appear in Toronto to-day for the last time on a half-mile track. Dan's owner, Mr. W. Savage, refused $150,000 for him the other day. Savage doesn't need to look for gold mines. He might give that "dialect" wrestler a start in life.

Track interests are on the boom in Montreal. That city will soon have a most important turf organization, the Montreal Jockey Club, and though many of its active members are or have been identified with American sporting clubs, the majority of shares are held by Montreal people. Of the Board of Directors of five, four are prominent Montreal men. The club will construct a mile track and will aim to make it the fastest in America. The grandstand will be capable of holding six thousand and will be after the model of the one at Saratoga. The club house will be palatial in its character, the paddock will be a copy of the one at Belmont Park, New York, and the stables will still six hundred horses. The erection of a large summer hotel is a part of the plans of the club.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS FROM NELSON'S CROWNING VICTORY

OCTOBER TWENTY-FIRST 1905, marks the one hundredth anniversary of the Battle and Victory of Trafalgar. It is exciting great interest in all parts of the world, and the quantity of new literature dealing with that event and with the lives of Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton is remarkable even in this day of making books.

There are many speculations as to the relative historical importance of the battle of Trafalgar and that of the seas of Japan, in which Togo destroyed the sea power of Russia. Lord Nelson's victory prevented Napoleon from invading England and changed the course of history. Without Trafalgar there would have been no Waterloo, and without Waterloo the mind of man cannot conceive as to the present state of Europe and the world. It is well known that Napoleon's gratifying ambition included the east; his early dreams were of Asiatic conquest and the making of an army out of the hordes of Mongolia. He wanted to penetrate India, as did Alexander the Great, and eclipse that warrior in the extent and permanence of the achievements.

Nelson's Influence.

Lord Nelson, so far as we can judge of history, was all that stood between the Corsican emperor of France and the accomplishment of this world-wide scheme. Victor Hugo says it was not Nelson nor Wellington who led to the downfall of Napoleon, but God. Napoleon, says the great novelist, embarrassed the Almighty. But Nelson was the earthly means of removing this embarrassment. The battle of the Nile ruined Napoleon's Egyptian campaign, and the battle of Trafalgar left Great Britain free to pour her money and soldiers into Europe.

Had Togo failed to defeat the Russians in the sea of Japan, it is certain that the course of Asiatic history would have been materially changed. There would have been no treaty of peace and Japan would not now be such a dominant power in the east, and there would have been no Anglo-Japanese alliance with all that involves. It is doubtful if Russia could have extended her victory as Napoleon would have done had Nelson lost the day at Trafalgar, for Great Britain's navy would almost surely have rushed to the protection of Japan, and perhaps the war might have drawn in other European powers and might have resulted in a treaty dividing much of Asia among them.

These two great naval battles, Trafalgar and the Sea of Japan, stand out as momentous events in the history of the world.

Nelson's Independence.

Lord Nelson is one of the most interesting of men. He was always insubordinate and disobeying orders. In the battle of 1801, which resulted in the destruction of the Danish fleet, an ally of Napoleon, Nelson was signaled by his superior to discontinue the action. Placing his glass against his blind eye, he declared that he could see no signals and calmly proceeded with the fight. He remained in Naples with Lady Hamilton when he was ordered to join Lord Keith to fight the French, and he was in constant friction with higher officers, committing acts which in others would have led to a court martial. When stationed in the West Indies he violated orders by enforcing the navigation acts against the United States, but he was upheld by the British Government. Later he fell out of favour with the admiralty and was relieved of duty, but it soon became necessary to call him into service and he rapidly rose to an independent command, in which he was the supreme master of his fleet.

It is one of the astonishing facts of history that this sickly, immoral and maimed sea fighter could hold the rank and file in such unquestioning obedience and inspire them with the fighting spirit. He was always in ill-health; in Corsica he lost an eye; in an attack on Santa Cruz in 1797 he lost his right arm; in the battle of the Nile he received a wound on the head from which he suffered to the day of his death; and, as is well known, he was mortally wounded just when he had won the great battle which forever drove Napoleon Bonaparte's power off the seas.

Lord Nelson was a naval genius with great opportunities. A great naval strategist, both in theory and practice. He also had the fighting spirit which was willing to take chances. He possessed the magnetism which made the sailors his admirers, and when mutinies were common on board British men-of-war, the sailors under Nelson's command remained his most devoted slaves.

Birth of Nelson.

Horatio Nelson was born in Norfolk, England, September 29, 1758. His father was a clergyman of little influence, but his mother was a relative of the great Sir Robert Walpole. His maternal uncle, Maurice Suckling, was a naval officer of influence. Nelson entered the navy at the age of twelve, and received rapid promotion through the influence of his distinguished relatives.

Napoleon believed in his star, or destiny; Lord Nelson had almost the same superstitious faith in his future. He once declared, "Wherever there is anything to be done, there Providence is sure to direct my steps." In his obscurer years he chafed under what he thought was the Government's neglect of his qualities, and he thirsted for glory.

His Reward.

He won glory and very considerable material reward. After one brilliant exploit he was invested with the Order of the Bath, and Parliament voted him an annuity of £5,000 for life, although the exploit involved a defiance of superiors. After the battle of the Nile, in which he destroyed and captured every French ship, he was made Baron Nelson of the Nile and given $10,000 a year for life. For driving the French from Naples, the Neapolitan king made him a duke and gave him an estate worth $15,000 a year.

Great Without Trafalgar.

Had he never fought the battle of Trafalgar, Nelson would still be considered one of the greatest of sea captains. That battle places him at the head. His name already inspired terror among the sailors of France and Spain, who regarded him much as they did Napoleon, with superstitious awe. He had led hand attacks of the utmost audacity and fierceness, and his victories at Copenhagen and in the Nile had given the impression that he was invincible on the sea, as Napoleon appeared to be on the land. It is no wonder, therefore, that in 1805 the combined navies of France and Spain fled before him to the West Indies and back, and it is possible that the terror of his name and fame had something to do with disheartening the enemy and causing their overwhelming defeat.

Against Orders.

The French commander of the allied fleet had several vessels more than Nelson, and his largest ship contained thirty more guns than the largest of the British navy, but after the chase to the West Indies and back, he allowed himself to be blockaded in the harbour of Cadiz. He had been kept so busy that he was unable to assist Napoleon, who had massed troops at Boulogne for the invasion of England. Finally Napoleon threatened Villeneuve with punishment if he didn't fight, and the French fleet put out to sea on October 19, 1805.

The eager Nelson, waiting for outside, at once made for the Straits of Gibraltar to bar the entrance to the Mediterranean. He had only twenty-seven ships with which to meet thirty-three French and Spanish ships of the line and five frigates and two brigs.

Well Planned.

Nelson's plan was carefully arranged. His ships were to approach in two parallel lines, nearly a mile apart, one column under command of himself, the other looked after by Admiral Collingwood. Nelson was on the Victory, with seventy-four guns, commanding twelve ships on the right. Collingwood, on the left, commanded fifteen ships.

The French and Spaniards advanced in five columns, in a straggling line across the British course.

It was at 11.30 when Cape Trafalgar loomed twelve miles in the distance, that Nelson raised in flags his famous signal to the other ships of the fleet, "England expects every man to do his duty." It was a message that has gone down into history as the greatest warlike appeal of all time.

In the centre of the French line, which was curved away from the point of attack, was the flagship, the Bucentaure, a magnificent fighter, of eighty guns. Admiral Villeneuve had chosen this as the ship from which he should direct the battle.

Vice-Admiral Alava was on the Santa Anna, a few ships away. The two British leaders instantly picked out these two ships as the point of their attack, Collingwood making for the Santa Anna and Nelson for the Bucentaure.

The Royal Sovereign, Collingwood's flagship, had the advantage of position and was probably a bit fleeter than the remainder of the British ships, and she got into the enemy by 12 o'clock, three-quarters of an hour ahead of the others. This forced Lord Nelson to fume in impatience, while his fellow Admiral was raking the Santa Anna from stem to stern.

Blood-red Decks.

Side by side the Royal Sovereign and the Santa Anna battled, the decks of each running with gore, and the sailors of both ships fighting with amazing bravery. Collingwood profited by the better training of his fleet, receiving aid from the other ships, eventually sank or captured twelve of the sixteen ships forming Alava's rear line.

The Victory raked the Bucentaire, and was on a fair way to complete her destruction when a ship to leeward blocked the way. This led to the memorable hand-to-hand battle between the Victory and the Redoubtable. The Frenchmen on this ship justified its name, for they stuck to the conflict till only 35 of a crew of 643 were left.

The Hero Fell.

At half past one, just when victory was in the grasp of the British, Nelson was struck by a bullet fired from the enemy's rigging. He fell on the deck mortally wounded.

But even in the midst of his pain he did not forget the obligations he owed to England. As they carried him down into the cockpit, already crowded with the dead and dying, he covered his face and epaulettes with a handkerchief, so that the fighting sailors might not recognize him, and become panic stricken over his loss.

When they brought him news that the victory was complete and that 15 of the enemy's ships were captured, he expressed his regrets that the number had fallen short of the 20, on which he had counted.

Lord Nelson died a few minutes after the Achille and Intrepide had blown up.

A Complete Triumph.

The triumph of the British arms was complete. The French and Spaniards lost 18 ships, and those that got away were so badly damaged as to be worthless for future fighting. Admirals Villeneuve and Cisneres were taken prisoners, Admirals Alava and Gravina were wounded, and the French rear-admiral killed.

The body of Lord Nelson was taken back to England in a leaden casket, and when he was interred in St. Paul's cathedral, in the midst of one of the most pretentious ceremonies that England ever saw, his casket was wrapped in the flag that had flown at the masthead of the Victory during the battle, and had marked his presence there.

This flag, which should be one of the most prized of relics in St. George's chapel, is in the United States, and is the property of an American, W. A. Davidson, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Romance of the Flag.

The story of how it came there is a romance in itself. When the time came to lower the body of Nelson into the grave, the British sailors who had been with him all through that famous conflict, rebelled at the idea of interring the flag. A dozen of them seized it, each struggling for a fragment in remembrance of their leader.

It was saved from destruction by John Clyne, the sailing master of the Victory, who was then in charge of the men. Before the work of demolition had gone far, he got possession of it and concealed it under his waistcoat, where, rough and ready Jack tar that he was, he was able to protect it.

John Clyne kept his part until his death, leaving it to his widow, Margaret, who, in turn, cherished the 'England expects every man will do his duty.'

Nelson's last telegraph.

I.

Britons! you hear Trafalgar's story,
You triumph in your country's glory,
Mourn o'er the relics pale and gory
Of brave, immortal Nelson.
To earth and war our Hero's dead,
To Heaven and peace his spirit fled;
Twine your green laurels round the head
Of brave, immortal Nelson.
Mourn, one and all,
Great Nelson's fall,
Oh! dash not off the rushing tear;
No tears disgrace
The manly face,
When freeman tends a freeman's bier.

II.

When Passion's slave and Fortune's minion,
Panting to spread usurped dominion,
To Egypt flew, on vulture pinion,
Lo! there immortal Nelson.
To check the conquest of the world,
Old Nilus hailed our flag unfurled;
Wide havoc on the Gaul was hurl'd
By brave, immortal Nelson.
Lord of the main,
He sailed again,
Where Copenhagen's ramparts tower'd;
Gaul's mad intrigues
And captious leagues,
Sunk in the tempest Nelson pour'd,
In Britain's cause he bore the avenging rod,
But gave the glory to Almighty God!

III.

Each change of atmosphere disdaining,
With scarce the wreck of health remaining,
Never of toil or wound complaining,
Served brave, immortal Nelson.
Trafalgar saw the warrior die!!
Conspicuous of the hottest fight,
Foremost to guard Britannia's right,
Sprang brave, immortal Nelson
With heart elate
He met his fate,
And calmly mark'd life's ebbing sand;
Said, with a sigh,
He wished to die
In dear Britannia's favour'd land.
But Death's dark path with Christian faith he trod,
And bow'd submissive to the throne of God!

IV.

Mourn and rejoice! Horatio's spirit,
Well pleased, beholds a friend inherit
The honours paid to valour's merit.
He smiles on gallant Collingwood.
Mourn for your martyrs on the wave,
Mourn for your Nelson in his grave;
Rejoice and cheer the living brave,
With modest, gallant Collingwood,
United raise
Loud hymns of praise,
Yours prayers, your thanks are due to Heav'n;
Your loss deplore,
That tribute o'er,
Be grateful for the champions given,
By their great Admiral's side Fame's path they trod,
True to their King, their Country and their God!

It is the little things that make perfection.

We find that little things which most manufacturers neglect have made Semi-ready tailoring the best in the world.

All our garments are sewn with silk—cotton would hold nearly as well and look as well until the garments were sold.

But we want to sell you Semi-ready garments right along, so we make them so they'll give satisfaction to the end.

Silk thread, well-bound button-holes, strongly sewn buttons and the best quality interlinings, make much of the difference between Semi-ready tailoring and ordinary clothes.

They stir up the liver—make it excrete an abundance of bile. The bile makes the intestines move regularly and naturally every day. And Fruit-a-tives leave no constipating after-effects, like calomel, cascara and liver pills.

By curing Constipation to stay cured, FRUIT-A-TIVES purify the blood—clear the complexion—stop bilious headaches—help digestion—make you eat and sleep well.

"I have used Fruit-a-tives and think them the best remedy for Constipation I ever tried. I gladly recommend them to my friends and to everyone suffering from Stomach and Liver Troubles."
Miss J. C. LAW, Essex, Ont.

FIGHTING FISHERMEN.

Threaten to Break Law — Unpopular Edict As to Newfoundland Bait.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 19.—Premier Bond has arrived from England after successfully floating a loan to pay the Reid telegraph award and the cost of the cable from Newfoundland to Canso.

Premier Bond declared he had not changed his opinion expressed in the last session of the Newfoundland Legislature, that Americans have no right under the treaty of 1818 to catch herring or any other fish in any Newfoundland harbor, river or bay. This interpretation would prevent Americans fishing in Bay St. George or on any part of the west coast where herring strike at this season. The Government has instructed the customs officers and police to enforce this view. American vessels holding licenses issued previous to the passing of the Foreign Vessels Act will not be interfered with until the expiration of the terms of their licenses. It is reported that many residents on the west coast are determined to sell, despite the Government remonstrance.

From Bonne Bay they have sent word to the Government that cod and lobster fishing having been bad, they depend on the sale of herring to prevent destitution, and unless the Government makes some arrangement to get them out of the difficulty, they will fight this matter to the bitter end and sell in defiance of the Government. They have come to the conclusion that it is better to die fighting than tamely starve. It is generally believed that if the message truly represents the feeling of west coast fishermen, the Government has not sufficient force at its command to enforce the law without calling on British warships.

SAIL JIBED, BOAT CAPSIZED.

Port Rowan, Oct. 19.—Roy Smith and Nelson Cronk were drowned in the lower bay of Port Rowan yesterday morning by the upsetting of a small boat in which they were hunting duck. In company with Hiram Wrightman and John Griggs they went out in the boat early in the morning, and while chasing a wounded duck their sail jibed and the boat was capsized.

Elgin Rockafellow was just starting for Long Point, and hearing the cries arrived just in time to rescue Wrightman and Griggs in an exhausted condition, they having been in the water over an hour, and were clinging fast to the boat. All four of the young men were residents of South Walsingham.

Hamilton Woman Electrocuted.

Hamilton, Oct. 19.—Mrs. William Aldridge 307 North Wentworth street, met death in a most peculiar way yesterday afternoon. She was electrocuted by a current from the wire of an ordinary extension electric house light. Just how it happened is not known. Her husband returned at 4 o'clock and went to the cellar for something. The first thing he knew he got an electric shock that threw him off his feet. When he got up he discovered that he had stepped on the electric light wire. A short time afterwards he was horrified to find the dead body of his wife lying on the floor across the wire. The only marks on her body were slight burns on her thumb and two fingers where she had grasped the wire. There was apparently an extraordinary high voltage on the wire. Coroner Balfe was notified, and he will hold an inquest.

DISEASE THAT WORKS OVERTIME

Dyspepsia once started never Quits till Stopped—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets One Sure Way to Stop it.

Some diseases have peculiar seasons in which to do their deadly work, but not here is one that works all the time and overtime at that. It is almost needless to say that disease is Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Once started Dyspepsia never quits till it is stopped, and there is only one sure way to stop it, and that is by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. There is abundant proof that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets always stop Dyspepsia, thousands of Canadians who speak as does Mrs. John F. Sillams, of Western Bay, Newfoundland. She says:

"It gives me great pleasure to say I have been cured of Dyspepsia by the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered for seven years. I could not eat without suffering intense agony, and had given up to die before using the Tablets. I felt relief from the first, and after the use of five boxes am well and strong."

ALIEN LAW CASE GOES BAD.

Another Case Finds its Way to the Legal Boneyard.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—Another alien labor action found its way to the legal boneyard yesterday morning when the case of Spittal v. Breckenridge was dismissed by the Divisional Court. Frank E. Breckenridge, general agent of the International Harvester Co., was alleged to have imported E. L. Day, an alien, to work in his office. A conviction was made by Magistrate O'Keefe of Ottawa, who fined the defendant $50. A stated case was sent to the Divisional Court, and yesterday morning they quashed the conviction on purely technical grounds.

It is necessary before prosecuting under the alien labor law to get the consent of the Attorney-General or of a County Judge. In this case Judge O'Meara gave his consent, but did not stipulate any of the particulars under which the prosecution was being made. Chief Justice Meredith, Justices Anglin and Clute all agreed that something more than the formal consent was necessary, and that County Judges must specify the charges under which a prosecution is to be made.

CHEESE MADE IN CANADA.

Cheshire Farmers Think That Importations Will Be Lessened.

London, Oct. 20.—(C. A. P.)—At the Chester Show of the Cheshire Dairy Farmers' Association, John Emberton, chairman, said he had been informed that this year customers who had previously used imported Canadian cheese had been using Cheshire cheese more freely than ever before. Mr. Challoner, the secretary, said the Canadians had made up their minds not to send cheese to England unless it paid them to do so. As soon as cheese in Canada went below a certain price farmers stopped cheese-making. He did not think that in future Cheshire farmers would have the same competition to meet from Canada they had in bygone days.

Wm. Cronin, working at a threshing machine, near Branchton, fell from the haymow and his head struck the wheel of the engine, also producing concussion of the brain.

Australia's Import Tax.

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—A letter from the comptroller-general of Australia to the Trade and Commerce Department says that the recent customs regulations of the Commonwealth adding the inland freights to the cost of imports for customs valuation applies to the ad valorem list. Less than half the imports from Canada last year were subject to ad valorem rates.

Budapest, Oct. 20.—With the exception of M. Andreas Gyoergu, whose portfolio as Minister of Agriculture has been given to Baron Arthur Feilitsch, the Fejervary Cabinet, which was gazetted yesterday morning, is composed of the same members who were appointed by Baron Fejervary on June 13 last.

Admiral Togo is expected to arrive in Tokio Oct. 22. Exterisive preparations are being made for his reception. A huge triumphal arch is in course of construction before the Shimbashi Railroad station.

BLOOD DISEASES

More than half the disease in the world is caused by bad blood—weak blood, blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the one cause of all the headaches and backaches, the lumbago and rheumatism, the neuralgia and sciatica, the debility and biliousness and indigestion, the paleness and pimples and all the disfiguring skin diseases like eczema, that show how impure the blood actually is. It is no use trying a different medicine for each disease, because they all spring from the one cause—bad blood. To cure disease you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new rich, blood. Common medicines only touch the symptoms of disease. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills root out the cause. That is why these pills cure when doctors and common medicines fail. Here is positive proof:—"I suffered agony from indigestion," says Mr. Fred Fillis, of Grand Desert, N.B., "I had no appetite for my meals and no energy for my work; my stomach caused me constant distress, and everything I ate lay like lead on my chest. At times I felt my life a burden. I was always doctoring, but it did me no good. Then a little book came into my hands, and I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would cure indigestion. I got them and began taking them, and I soon found they were helping me. My appetite began to improve, and my food to digest better. I used the pills for a couple of months and I was well. Now I am always ready for my meals and I can eat anything, and all the credit is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I keep the pills in the house all the time, and I occasionally take a few as a precaution. I can honestly advise all dyspeptics to use this medicine, as I am sure it will cure them as it did me."

Give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and they will cure, you, simply because they make that rich, strong blood that disease cannot resist. See that you get the genuine pills, with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. You can get them from your medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Hurrying to his work cost Frederick Snow, a young carpenter, his life yesterday. He crossed behind the car he left and was struck by another going south.

Train Hits Trolley.

The car had just started across the Pere Marquette tracks when it was run down by a locomotive. Motorman Young was thrown through the glass in the vestibule. "KINGSWAY" OPENED.

London, Oct. 19.—The fine new thoroughfare formed by Kingsway and Aldwych, connecting the Strand and Holborn, through the heart of congested London, was opened yesterday by King Edward with considerable ceremonial. Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family were present. The route was lined with troops, the decorations were on a pretentious scale and immense crowds gathered to participate in the event.

The new street is considered to be the most important improvement carried out in the metropolis since the construction of Regent street in 1820.

The work occupied six years and cost over $30,000,000, of which it is estimated that two-thirds will be recovered by the sale of building sites.

The thoroughfare is three-quarters of a mile in length and a hundred yards wide. The notorious slums of the neighborhood have been eradicated. Underground trolley cars run beneath the new street.

THE ENTOMOLOGISTS.

Guelph, Oct. 19.—The 42nd annual meeting of the Entomological Society of Ontario opened at the Ontario Agricultural College yesterday, and will continue for a couple of days. The attendance is the largest yet, and includes some of the most prominent entomologists on the American Continent. In the absence of the president, J. D. Evans of Trenton, N J., the chair was filled by Dr. James Fletcher, C. E. F., of Ottawa.

J. B. Williams discussed insects prevalent in Toronto district. C. J. Young of Ottawa spoke of the alder plant louse, and Dr. Bethune of London and others discussed the cottony maple scale, tussock moth, white grub, wireworms, twelve-spotted asparagus beetle, Hessian fly and pea weevil.

An address on the tussock moth in Quebec was given by Rev. Dr. Fyles of Quebec, who pointed out that its favored food plant was the white willow. The moth was given credit for doing more harm than it really did. The food plant for the moth in Toronto and Guelph was the horse chestnut. In Ottawa it was the maple. A remedy was the spraying of trees with Paris green.

The evening session included addresses of welcome from President Creelman of the O. A. C. and B. Barlow, president of the Wellington Field Naturalists' Club; an inaugural address by Dr. Fletcher, and an illustrated address by Dr. J. B. Smith on "The Mosquito Extermination in New Jersey."

Red Rose Tea Uniformity

A TEA that is good to-day and poor to-morrow is unreliable.

Have you ever noticed variations in the quality of the tea you use? One package good, the next bitter, herby, perhaps weak and insipid.

A lack of expert knowledge by the tasters and blenders of that tea produced that result. There was a failure at a vital point, an ignorance of combining qualities in teas, poor judgment in the blending of that maker's teas, a weakness which invariably gives just such results as your poor tea.

Every chest of Red Rose Tea is tested at the gardens, again by the Eastern Red Rose shippers, then at the Red Rose warehouse upon its arrival before blending; after that an experimental blend is tested, and the final or actual blend is also tested before being packed.

That is why that "rich fruity flavor" is always present in Red Rose Tea.

The Pandora Thermometer

The thermometer on the Pandora range oven means precisely in accuracy to the cook what the square and compass mean to the draftsman. Without the square and compass the draftsman would have to work entirely by guess, just as you do without an accurate and reliable thermometer on your oven.

The Pandora thermometer reduces cooking to an exact science. You know precisely how much heat you have and what it will do in a given time. It is one of the small things which makes the Pandora so much different and better than common ranges.

PETERBOROUGH CEREAL CO.

TAKES ITS PLACE AMONG

LARGEST FOOD PRODUCERS

One of the Younger of Peterborough's Industries Which Has Met With Signal Success —"Canada Flakes," the Nearest to Perfection in Breakfast Foods—An Appreciative Reference in Retail Merchants' Journal--The Men Who Are at the Head of This Concern.

The Retail Merchants' Journal of Canada, in a recent number contains the following article in reference to the Peterborough Cereal Company, one of the most promising of this city's industries:—

The city of Peterborough within the last few years has made for itself a famous name. Endowed by nature with one of the finest water-powers in Canada, it remained for wide-awake progressive men to harness this great force. The proof of how ably this has been done is evidenced by the list of important industries claiming Peterborough as their home. To speak of electricity in Canada conveys to the average mind associate ideas of Peterborough. Scarcely a dynamo or motor in use in Canada to-day but bears the stamp of "Canadian General Electric Co., Peterborough." The householder groaning under burdens of a lighting monopoly ruefully compares his price with that of this city, "One dollar per year for 16 c.p. lamps."

W. G. FERGUSON,
President Peterborough Cereal Co.

This special electrical development under able management has produced such abundance of power that for manufacturing purposes $20 per horse-power for one year is now a maximum figure. A glance at the list of expenses incidental to the operation of a large factory under steam shows a saving by Peterborough's electricity of thousands of dollars. This cheap power is undoubtedly the cause of the rapid growth of the various industries in this new city. And this is why it is generally admitted that the possible low manufacturing cost in Peterborough permits of a controlling factor in competition anywhere.

Under such favourable condition of exceptionally cheap power, accentuated by the fact that the practical ownership of one of the electrical companies rests with them, the Peterborough Cereal Company, Limited, produces "Canada Flakes." This explains how it is possible to market the big 15c. package and still permit of a fair margin of profit.

To know how this famous food is prepared assists us very much in the enjoyment we take in eating it. To see the cleanly method of manufacture, the adherence to scientific sterilization in every step, the care shown in every department to prevent the slightest contamination of the food gives us a feeling of perfect security with this portion of the menu. The word "pure" applied to food then assumes new meaning. "Canada Flakes" is pure—absolutely pure. Automatic machinery does nearly everything. From the golden grain to the package form no human hand touches Canada Flakes. The basis of the goods is Manitoba wheat. After an elaborate system of cleaning, scouring and brushing the wheat is washed thoroughly and then cooked in large sealed tanks under steam pressure. This insures a perfect cooking of every atom of the wheat starch and allows the escape of nothing good. After a few hours of "cooling," a secret mixture of malt extract, maple syrup and other healthful and appetizing ingredients is added, and the wheat passes through great steel rolls and assumes the form of flakes.

The oven used in the desiccating and toasting of these flakes is of very elaborate construction. The huge iron frame work looms up like a small house, while within it great steel belts convey the food back and forth until the flakes are perfectly dry, and then over a set of innumerable gas jets until toasted to a delicious crispness. The food is now ready for the package.

Altogether the process occupies some forty-eight hours, and the grain travels about two miles. And throughout all this journey the fact that no human hand touches it, and that everything is automatic produces a delightful surprise. No wonder that "Canada Flakes" is called "The Food of Quality and Quantity." The special feature of the 15c. package and the purity of the food is emphasized by the pet rhyme of the company:

"Just a little bigger than the rest,
Just a little better than the best."

R. R. HALL, M. P.,
Vice-President Peterborough Cereal Company.

To know "the man behind the gun" adds interest, and so we take great pleasure in presenting to our readers the men who manage the Peterborough Cereal Company.

W. H. Meldrum, Managing Director, has been identified with the grain and milling business for many years. His special training in this line cannot but prove of great assistance to the company now under his direction. Among many others important positions in the business world he occupies that of manager, director, holds a long record of successful business management in various industries. As manager of the Canadian Cordage Company, whose products are known in every town in Canada, his ability is demonstrated in the fine results attained in the face of particularly keen competition.

R. R. Hall, M. P., Vice-President and Director, stands at the legal helm to pilot the company over the many shoals encountered by every extensive manufacturing business. His prowess in the tournament of brain fights has been amply demonstrated in Parliament as well as in the midst of the proverbial "gown and wigs."

In Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the president, the company receives the benefit of an experienced "canny Scot." His genial face is considered partly the outcome of continued success. Connected with many corporations in important positions, his counsel and advice have had no small share in producing the desired dividends. His name adds lustre to the stability of management of the Peterborough Cereal Co., and assures progressive methods.

The secretary is Wesley H. Collier,

W. H. MELDRUM,
Managing-Director Peterboro' Cereal Company.

B.A., M.E.E. For several years he was the chief draughtsman of the Canadian General Electric Co., and there acquired a practical knowledge of machinery of every description, which has borne fruit in several important improvements in cereal machinery. His patents have aided materially in reducing the expense, while at the same time producing a more perfect product. The manufacture of "Canada Flakes" receives his personal supervision throughout, and the excellence of the food attests the ability and untiring zeal of Mr. Collier.

Associated with the Peterborough Cereal Co. is Mr. J. D. Bourdeau, the famous food expert of America. It is a matter of considerable interest to know that Mr. Bourdeau has invented a greater number of prepared foods than any other man in the world. He might properly be styled "The Founder of Breakfast Foods." Such well-known foods as Malta-

ALD. ADAM HALL,
Vice-President Peterborough Cereal Company.

Vita, Force, Orange Meat, etc., have been produced under the identical patents of Mr. Bourdeau, or with some alterations thereto. Constantly experimenting, he has succeeded in discovering many improved methods of manufacture of this style of food. The benefits of his latest improvements were unreservedly placed at the disposal of Mr. Collier in the elaboration of the process used for "Canada Flakes." His assistance has been of unlimited value, and is evidenced by several of the special features of excellence of "Canada Flakes." He considers that "Canada Flakes" comes nearest to his ideal of a ready-to-serve cereal food, possessing the original, largest and most tasty flakes. For so young a man, Mr. Bourdeau has a long record of notable achievements, and his connection now with the Peterborough Cereal Co. affords that concern expert knowledge of a rare degree.

Modesty alone prevented the appearance in these pages of the faces of Mr. Herbert B. Collier, the Sales Manager, and Mr. Albert N. Reay, the Eastern Manager. The wonderful success in "Canada Flakes," is but its initial stages, bears tribute to the ability of Mr. Collier as an advertising specialist and sales manager. To produce such extensive sales with a new food is certainly very complimentary to Mr. Collier and his staff.

Mr. Reay was formerly manager of the Canadian branch of the Force Food Company, and made a very enviable reputation for himself in that position. Every wholesale grocer in Canada knows Mr. Reay personally, and recognizes that to him much credit must be attributed for the success of "Sunny Jim's" favourite food in Canada. Mr. Reay believes that "Canada Flakes" is bound to be the leading seller in whatever country it is placed, because the food possesses exceptional qualities that appeal to the customer. He brings to the already very able staff of the Peterborough Cereal Co. a record that means much of its strength. The Eastern provinces will soon see "Canada Flakes" in abundance under his charge.

W. H. COLLIER, B.A., M.E.E.,
Secretary Peterboro' Cereal Company.

J. E. BOURDEAU,

With a capital of $250,000, half of which is seven per cent. preferred stock, the Peterborough Cereal Co. began operations with very strong finances. Under the management and direction of such a group of men, all of experience and proven ability, it is conclusive that the brightest prospects are before the company. The main products of the firm now consist of "Canada Flakes," with "Mikado" and other flours of well-known reputation. To these will soon be added a line of shredded vegetables, potatoes, beans, peas, etc., under the patents of J. D. Bourdeau, the noted food expert. An export business to England has already begun. With proper development this feature will eventually make the company one of the largest in Canada.

Idyl Wyld Closed For The Season

A correspondent sends us the following:

I have been a guest at Idyl Wyld during the past two months and have enjoyed a most refreshing change from my ordinary every day work. On Monday last Mr. Hutchison, the lessee of the house, decided to close up for the season, and we prepared to pack up and leave this attractive resort.

Mr. Hutchinson drove to Cavanville on Sunday and met us at Whitfield's Landing. Mrs. H. and myself with our goods left Idyl Wyld about 7 a.m. on the steamer Water Lily, called at Hiawatha for wood; from there to Gore's Landing; then to the head of the lake, or Pengaley's Landing, where they got about six hundred bags of wheat for Mr. McCallister. While they were loading the wheat we took dinner. The crew of the boat were very kind, allowing us the use of the kitchen to prepare our meals in; also the dining room, and did their utmost to make us comfortable. After dinner we went back to Jubilee, where we left the load of wood. Then went to Harwood for another leaving about 5 o'clock p.m., again calling at Jubilee shortly after 5. We reached the new bridge about 7, where they got on ninety more bags of wheat. Our next stopping place was Whitfield's, where Mrs. Hutchinson was met by Mr. Hutchinson, Messrs. Jim and Charley Morton, Mrs. Hutchinson's brothers, with rigs to convey their goods to Cavanville. We reached the locks at half-past eleven, and Mark street wharf at about half-past twelve, after a very pleasant day sailing around the lake and up the river.

I believe if Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson go to Idyl Wyld next season they will have the house filled from what I heard from those who were staying there.

H. B. Fletcher, Butte, Mont., Oct. 20, 1899, says: "Like many other people, I have been troubled for years with dandruff, and within the last few months my hair came out so badly that I was compelled to have what I had left clipped very close. A friend recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I confess that I doubted his story; but I gave Herpicide a trial; now my hair is as thick as ever, and entirely free from dandruff." After 18-year-old George Precious, of Millbrook, Mich., had confessed to being drunk and that he had obtained his liquor from Frost, a Millbrook saloon keeper, Judge Palmer sentenced Precious to attend the Ferris Institute, making it incumbent upon his father to pay $40 toward his expenses, and then made Frost pay the boy's fine of $5.

A NIGHTMARE

Signs point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter risings so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia or bad stomach. When the weak stomach is strengthened and invigorated the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"I was a victim of dizziness and utter nervous prostration induced by chronic indigestion and dyspepsia," writes Mary Smith, of No. 1 Adelaide Street, Colorado Springs, Colo. "Had a terrible cough. Medical friends who had been treating me after meals had left me, and I would say I was able to keep nothing on my stomach. My appetite was gone and I was a mere bag of bones. My nerves became a thing of the past and I felt so poor from an exhausted system for over nine months."

Sometimes a selfish dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of other nostrum medicines will offer the same as just as good as "Favorite Prescription" or Dr. Pierce's Discovery. If you may be better for him because it pays better, but this is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

Armour's Extract of Beef in the Kitchen.

Armour's Extract of Beef gives a rich flavor of roast beef to hash, stews, ragouts and potpies. It restores to left-over meats the full flavor lost in the first cooking. With Armour's Extract of Beef in the kitchen a soup or sauce is made ready for the table in a few minutes that it would take an hour or two to prepare with fresh meat, and it would not be as good and would cost more.

Don't forget that a 2-ounce jar of Armour's Extract of Beef will go further than an 8-ounce bottle of Fluid Beef. It is therefore less expensive. Use a quarter teaspoonful to make a cup of beef broth, etc., etc.

South Burleigh Social Event

Miss Vera Ethel Stone Married to Mr. J. B. Sanderson.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, October 11th, at the home of Mr. William G. Stone, South Burleigh, when his daughter, Vera Ethel, one of South Burleigh's most popular young ladies was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. John B. Sanderson.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Warren, of Lakefield, the bridal party standing under an arch of evergreens and flowers. The bride was magnificently attired in grey poplin trimmed with white silk overlace and rucking and was assisted by Miss Hazel Walsh who looked charming in a suit of brown trimmed with overlace and brown satin. Miss Naomi Bolton, cousin of the bride, made a pretty little flower girl. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Herbert Dunford.

The bride entered the parlour at 3 o'clock leaning on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelsohnn's wedding march played by Miss Annie Sanderson, of Lakefield, cousin of the groom.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful five o'clock tea set, to the bridesmaid a handsome fruit dish and to the groomsmen a set of gold cuff links. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and costly presents which show the high esteem in which she was held.

The happy young couple left for Niagara on Thursday morning, after spending a very pleasant evening with their many friends. On their return they will reside in Lakefield. Our best wishes for many happy and prosperous years go with them.

Stomach and Liver Troubles.

There is a little lady at Sandringham England, living quite near the "hall", who had a baby a short while ago, and forthwith the Queen announced her intention of being godmother to the child. After the christening the Queen asked to be conducted to the infant's nursery, and with her diamond ring she wrote upon a pane of the window there, "God's blessing rest on this house and all who live in it".

IN OAKEN COFFIN.

London, Oct. 20.—The ashes of Sir Henry Irving, enclosed in a plain oaken coffin, are now lying in the chapel of St. Faith, Westminster Abbey, awaiting to-day's elaborate ceremony of interment in poets' corner.

Their removal from the residence of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts occurred at 6 o'clock last evening. The entire route to the abbey was line by thousands of people, the men standing bareheaded, who waited in respectful silence until the hearse passed and whe then joined in the procession behind the police. On arrival at the abbey the entire square was filled with a hatless multitude. The hearse was driven into the deans' yard, where it was met by the Dean of Westminster and a number of clergy

The scene was most impressive as the procession moved and disappeared among the gloomy cloisters. As the procession entered the great organ softly played the dead march from Saul, until the chapel of St. Faith was reached and the coffin had been placed on a catafalque when the music stopped and a short prayer was said by the dean.

GIVES UP TWO CONTRACTS.

Hon. J. S. Hendrie Complains of a Hardship to M.P.P.'s.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—Hon. J. S. Hendrie has found himself in an uncomfortable position regarding the letting of public contracts, on account of being at the same time a member of the Legislature and connected with the Hamilton Bridge Co., which were awarded two bridge contracts by the Government.

As a result he has asked his company to withdraw the contracts, though he was in no way personally instrumental in obtaining them, and they were secured in strict competition. The Government is requested also to call for new tenders.

In a statement to the press handed out after yesterday's Cabinet meeting he complains of the hardship borne by members of the Legislature under the circumstances.

Antigonish, N.S., Oct. 20.—(Special)—Mr. H. M. Spears, a well known farmer living near here, is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. "When I came to Nova Scotia about six years ago," says Mr. Spears, "I was so troubled with Backache I began to think I could not attend to business. However, I got a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and was able to attend to work.

"I had not taken enough to root the Kidney disease out entirely, however, and the following winter I was troubled with pains in my back and limbs. Then I got more of Dodd's Kidney Pills and after using three boxes all my pains and lameness left me.

"I can't say too much in favour of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They put me in a way to attend to business after two doctors had failed. (I was a cheesemaker for years, but now I am a farmer with a good strong back.'

A Government gunboat near by went to her assistance, and saved all the crew.

The submarine was towed in here for repairs.

The man, Alphonse Gagnon, was driving his cab down St. Catharine street, a little way in front of a car, and when he went to drive out of the way the cab swayed, the car catching its rear end and upsetting it.

Gagnon was thrown off his seat and caught under the car fender, finally rolling under the wheels. He was fearfully mangled, and when taken out was quite dead.

J. L. LUCKHAM, GUELPH.

This was the farewell message of J. L. Luckham, a local druggist, who was found in an unconscious state on the floor of his store yesterday morning. A pound bottle of carbolic acid was standing near by and two ounces had been taken out of it. An empty glass and a note was found on the table.

Mr. Luckham had been in poor health, which probably rendered him temporarily insane and caused his rash deed.

Deceased came to Guelph recently from Glencoe. His wife and two children were coming to Guelph yesterday to live.

Quebec Honors Mr. Parent.

Quebec, Oct. 20.—The banquet given by the citizens of Quebec to ex-Premier Parent last evening at the Chateau Frontenac was a brilliant success. It was a non-political function, at the tables being seated both Liberals and Conservatives. Among those present were Lieut.-Governor Jette, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, and Hon. R. Lemieux. The toasts were to "The King," "Our Guest," "Canada" and "Commerce and Transportation." All the speakers avoided everything of a political or partisan nature.

Found Dead In a Shack.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—A provincial detective reports the finding of the body of William Thompson of Huntsville in an old shanty near the line of the Temiskaming Railway, 60 miles above North Bay. Thompson came from Parry Sound and was endeavoring to introduce a new invention for raising logs out of the water. He was delicate in health and is said to have become partly unbalanced in mind through worrying over his invention. His father is John Thompson of Star Lake, in Parry Sound district.

IN MEMORIAM.

October 13th. 1905.

Lines on the death of Willie Connel, who died October 4th, 1905.

When the autumn leaves were falling
And the summer birds had fled;
Great grief was in the household
When 'twas found that Willie was dead.

But one short week of sickness
He suffered very much;
And the lips which once were so mirthful,
Are lifeless now to our touch.

Father and Mother they shall miss him
There shall always be a vacant chair;
While Willie! They think they have lost him,
Is in heaven with the angels to share.

His sisters, too, will remember,
The last they heard of his voice;
Till God in His infinite mercy,
Took him home where he could rejoice.

We may think that Death is a monster;
To take from us the dear friends we love,
But of all earthly trials and troubles
We know nothing when we reach Heaven above.

Then let us all join in chorus,
And sing praise to our Saviour on high;
Who ever for our sins is pleading,
To forgive which on the Cross he did die.

Those lines which I have just written
Are from one whose sorrow is deep,
And hope they shall be of some slight comfort
To those who cannot help but weep.

Yours in sympathy,
A FRIEND.

Presentation To Two Respected Dummer People

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob White Given a Morris Chair.

The Congregation of Bethel Methodist Church Remembers Them.

Special to The Examiner.

On Monday evening, the 16th inst., a congregational meeting was held at Bethel church, Warsaw circuit, presided over by the pastor, Rev. George Nickle, at which various phases of church work was discussed, among them chiefly, How to improve the class-meeting, the Sunday school, the Epworth League, and prayer meeting.

Many valuable suggestions and improvements were expressed, which we expect to see bear fruit in the near future. The importance of home training was especially emphasized.

At the close of the meeting a pleasant event occurred in the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob White of two beautiful Morris chairs, in oak, upholstered with velvet cushions, by the congregation. An address was then read by the pastor, Rev. G. Nickle, which was replied to in a suitable manner by Mr. and Mrs. White, after which the meeting was brought to a close. The address was as follows:

Dear Brother and Sister, — We, the members and adherents of our beloved Methodist church, have for some time noticed the "crowns of glory" that have been forming on your heads by the increasing tinge of silver threads that are being woven in your hair. We rejoice to know that your hoary heads are real 'crowns of glory,' because they are found in the way of righteousness. There is a sense of sadness come over us as we observe the increasing wrinkles in your brows and behold the steps that once were so elastic becoming somewhat set and slow. These things forcibly remind us of the truth of the Divine Word that this earth is not man's abiding home. We rejoice in the fact that the hope of the Christian is yours.

We call to mind some features of your useful lives. You have been in the highest sense worthy citizens of our fair Dominion, and have won the confidence of the municipality as to be given positions of trust and responsibility in public affairs. As neighbours you have always shown yourself ready to lend a helping hand and befriend anyone whom you saw to be in need of help. Many weary mothers and orphan children have been made glad by your Dorcas-like activities.

But above all do we appreciate your constant devotion to the church. God has prospered you to a goodly degree in temporal things, and you have proven yourselves to be stewards whom God could trust. Your example in charity ought to be an inspiration to the whole community to rise to worthy ideals in Christian giving. Not only does Bethel church owe much to your liberality, in its erection and maintenance, but the surrounding churches have been benefited by your contributions.

We are impressed that if every family had been so ready and willing as you to measure up their reasonable financial obligations to the cause of God, the Warsaw circuit would be in much better standing, financially and spiritually, for we read,—"Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of Hosts, if I will open the windows of Heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it." — Mal. iii, 10.

More than this, you have given freely of your time and talents in the councils and work of the church, responsible official positions on the Quarterly Board and the Trustee Board, acting as Sunday school superintendent, teacher, choir leader, and leader of the catechism class. Your examples as regular attendance at the Sunday school and church services and class-meetings, with testimonies borne to the saving power of Divine truth and the blood of Jesus Christ, together with the witness of the Holy Spirit that you were born of God, will we trust, have lasting impressions for good upon old and young.

And now we are reminded that that you are nearing the three score and ten milestone of life. We ask you to permit us to give a slight tangible expression of our appreciation of your helpfulness, and our esteem for you by presenting to you these chairs. They are not given as remards. God alon can, has and will reward you. They are given because we believe it better to give our expression now, than to wait and place them on the coffin, when you could not appreciate them.

Our prayer is that you may be long spared to enjoy the rest and quiet of retired life and that in your declining years you may more and more gather up into your characters the ripened sweets of a matured Christian life and finally gain that rest that remaineth for the people of God. Heb. 4; 9.

From Itching and Bleeding Eczema — Pain Terrible—Body and Face Covered with Sores—Doctors and Medicines Failed.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with itching and bleeding eczema, until cured by Cuticura, and I am so grateful I want the world to know, for what helped me will help others. My body and face were covered with sores. One day it would seem to be better, and then break out again with the most terrible pain and itching. I have been sick several times, but never in my life did I experience such awful suffering as with this eczema. I felt that death was near, and longed for that time when I would be at rest. I had tried many different doctors and medicines without success, when my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment. I continued with the Soap and Ointment, and have taken four bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and consider myself well. Any person having any doubt about this wonderful cure can write to my address. Will Be Given For Information That Will Lead to Arrest of Perpetrator of the Dead In Barton Woods—Detective Greer Will Devote His Whole Time to the Case—Circulars to Be Sent Out.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—The Provincial Government decided yesterday to offer a reward of $600 for information leading to the arrest of the perpetrator of the Hamilton murder.

Detective Greer was at the buildings yesterday and made his report to the Government. He stated he was issuing several thousands circulars giving full descriptions, pictures of the jewelry and a portrait of the unidentified victim. These will be sent all over the United States and Canada.

"I will also send a number to England," said he, "It is possible she may have come from there. The brooch she wore looked like an heirloom. The girl was dressed too well to carry such an ornament, which was one of the old-fashioned kind. memorial until she died. It then became the property of their son, who brought it with him to America, about ten years ago. From him it passed into the possession of Mr. Davidson, who guards it very jealously.

The flag is, or rather originally was, four feet wide and eight feet long, and is one solid piece of cloth made of sea island cotton, interwoven with silk. This is unusual, for most flags are made of different pieces of different colours, it being easier to connect the pieces than to colour different parts of the same piece in different lines.

The main ground is white and the colouring still clear and bright, was evidently put in by a process then used in the manufacture of war flags, that of protecting all but the parts to be tinted between wooden blocks tightly screwed together, while the flag was immersed in the dye. It is precisely alike and equally bright on both sides, showing that it could have been coloured by no ordinary process of printing.

How The "Thunderer" Told The Story Of Trafalgar

First Announcement in London of the Battle and Victory and of Death of Nelson--Collingwood's Orders--The The Poet of the Hour Pays His Metrical Tribute.

The Examiner is indebted to Mr. Sam'l Clegg for a copy of the London Times of November 7, 1805, which contains the official report, published in the "London Gazette Extraordinary," of November 5th, eighteen days after the memorable battle, whose hundreth anniversary is being celebrated to-day.

THE LONDON GAZETTE EXTRAORDINARY.

Wednesday, Nov. 6, 1805.

ADMIRALTY OFFICE, Nov. 6.

Dispatches of which the following are Copies, were received at the Admiralty this day, at one o'clock, A.M., from Vice-Admiral Collingwood, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels off Cadiz:—

Euryalus, off Cape Trafalgar, Oct. 22nd, 1805.

Sir, — The ever-to-be-lamented death of Vice-Admiral, Lord Viscount Nelson, who in the late conflict with the enemy fell in the hour of victory, leaves to me the duty of informing my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that on the 19th instant it was communicated to the Commander in Chief, from the ships watching the motions of the enemy in Cadiz, that the combined fleet had put to sea; as they sailed with light winds Westerly, his Lordship concluded their destination was the Mediterranean, and immediately made all sail for the Straights entrance with the British Squadron, consisting of twenty-seven ships, three of them sixty-fours, where his Lordship was informed by Captain Blackwood (whose vigilance in watching and giving notice of the enemy's movements has been highly meritorious) that they had not yet passed the Straights.

On Monday, the 21st instant, at daylight, when Cape Trafalgar bore E. by S. about seven leagues, the enemy was discovered six or seven miles eastward, the wind about west, and very light. The Commander in Chief immediately made the signal for the fleet to bear up in two columns as they are formed in order of sailing; a mode of attack this Lordship had previously directed to avoid the inconveniences and delay in forming a line of battle in the usual manner. The enemy's line consisted of thirty-three ships (of which eighteen were French and fifteen Spanish,) commanded in chief by Admiral Villeneuve; the Spaniards under the direction of Gravina, were with their heads Northward and formed their line of battle with great closeness and correctness; but as the mode of attack was unusual, so the structure of their line was new; it formed a crescent, convexing the leeward, so that, in leading down to the centre I first doth their van and rear abaft the beam; before the fire opened, every alternate ship was about a cable's length to windward of her second ahead and astern, forming a kind of double line, and appeared when on their beam to leave a very little interval between them; and this without crowding their ships. Admiral Villeneuve was in the Bucentaure in the centre, and the Prince of Asturias bore Gravina's flag in the rear; but the French and Spanish Ships were mixed without any apparent regard to order of national squadron.

As the mode of our attack had been previously determined on and communicated to the Flag Officers and Captains, few signals were necessary, and none were made except to direct close order as the lines bore down.

The Commander in Chief, in the Victory led the weather column, and the Royal Sovereign, which bore my flag, the lee.

The action began at twelve o'clock by the leading ships of the columns breaking through the enemy's line, the Commander in Chief about the tenth ship from the van, the Second in Command about the twelfth from the rear, leaving the van of the enemy unocupied; the succeeding ships breaking through in all parts astern of their leaders, and engaging the enemy at the muzzles of their guns. The conflict was severe; the enemy's ships were fought with a gallantry highly honourable to their officers; but the attack on them was irresistible, and it pleased the Almighty Disposer of all events to grant his Majesty's arms a complete and glorious victory. About three P. M., many of the enemy's ships having struck their colours, their line gave way; Admiral Gravina with ten ships joining their frigates to leeward, stood towards Cadiz. The five headmost ships in their van tacked, and standing to the Southward to windward of the British line, were engaged, and the sternmost of them taken; the others went off, leaving to his Majesty's squadron nineteen ships of the line (of which three are first-rate—the Santissima Trinidad, and the Santa Anna,) with three Flag Officers, viz., Admiral Villeneuve the Commander in Chief; Don Ignatius D'Aliva Vice-Admiral; and the Spanish Rear Admiral, Don Bathegar Hidalgo Cisneros.

After such a victory it may appear unnecessary to enter into encomiums on the particular parts taken by the several Commanders; the conclusion says more on the subject than I have language to express; the spirit which animated all was the same; when all exert themselves zealously in their country's service, all deserve that their high merits should stand recorded; and never was high merit more conspicuous than in the battle I have described.

The Achille (a French 74,) after having surrendered by some mismanagement the Frenchman took fire and blew up; two hundred of her men were saved by the Tenders.

A circumstance occurred during the action which so strongly marks the invincible spirit of British seamen when engaging the enemy's of their country, that I cannot resist the pleasure I have in making it known to their Lordships. The Temeraire was boarded by accident or design by a French ship on one side and a Spaniard on the other; the contest was vigourous, but in the end the Combined Ensigns were torn from the poop and the British hoisted in their places. Such a battle could not be fought without sustaining a great loss of men. I have not only to lament in common with the British navy and the British Nation in the fall of the Commander in Chief, the loss of a hero whose name will be immortal and whose memory ever dear to his country; but my heart is rent with the most poignant grief for the death of a friend to whom by many years intimacy and a perfect knowledge of the virtues of his mind, which inspired ideas superior to the common race of men, I was bound by the strongest ties of affection; a grief to which the glorious occasion in which he fell does not bring the consolation which perhaps it ought. His Lordship received a musket ball in his left breast about the middle of the action, and sent an officer to me immediately with his last farewell, and soon after expired.

I have also to lament the loss of those excellent Officers, Captains Duff, of the Mars, and Cooke, of the Bellerophon; I have yet heard of none others. I fear the numbers that have fallen will be found very great, when the returns come to me; but it having blown a gale of wind ever since the action, I have not yet had it in my power to collect any reports from the ships.

The Royal Sovereign having lost her masts, except the tottering foremast I called the Euryalus to me while the action continued, which ship lying within hail made my signals—a service Captain Blackwood performed with great attention; after the action I shifted my flag to her, that I might more easily communicate any orders to, and collect the ships, and towed the Royal Sovereign out to seaward. The whole fleet were now in a very perilous position, many dismasted, all shattered, in thirteen fathom water off the shoals of Trafalgar; and when I made the signal to prepare to anchor few of the ships had an anchor to let go, their cables being shot; but the same good Providence which aided us through the day preserved us through the night, by the wind shifting a few points, and drifting the ships off the land, except four of the captured dismasted ships, which are now at anchor off Trafalgar, and I hope will ride safe until these gales are over.

Having thus detailed the proceedings of the fleet on this occasion, I beg to congratulate their Lordships on a victory which I hope will add a ray to the glory of his Majesty's crown, and be attended with public benefit to our country. I am &c.,

(Signed,) C. COLLINGWOOD.

Collingwood's General Order.

The same issue of the Times also contains a copy of Collingwood's "General Order" issued to the officers of the victorious fleet, as follows:—

GENERAL ORDER.

Euryalus, Oct. 22, 1805.

The ever-to-be-lamented death of Lord Viscount Nelson, Duke of Bronte, the Commander in Chief, who fell in the action of the 21st in the arms of victory covered with glory, whose memory will ever be dear to the British Navy and the British Nation; whose zeal for the honour of his King and for the interests of the country will ever be held up as an animating example for a British seaman—leaves to me a duty to return thanks to the Right Honourable Rear Admiral and Captains Officers, Seamen, and detachment of Royal Marines serving on board the Majesty's Squadron now under my command for their conduct on that day; but where can I find language to express my sentiments of the valour and skill which were displayed by the Officers, the Seamen, and Marines in the battle with the enemy, where every individual appeared an hero on whom the glory of his country depended? The attack was irresistible, and the issue of it adds to the page of Naval annals a brilliant instance of what Britons can do when their King and their Country need their service.

To the Right Honourable Rear Admiral the Earl of Northesk; to the Captains, Officers, Seamen, and to the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of the Royal Marines, I beg to give my sincere and hearty thanks for their highly meritorious conduct both in action and in their zeal and activity in bringing the captured ships out from the perilous situation in which they were after the surrender among the shoals of Trafalgar in boisterous weather.

And I desire that the respective Captains will be pleased to communicate to the Officers, Seamen and Royal Marines this public testimony of my high approbation of their conduct and my thanks for it.

(Signed) C. COLLINGWOOD.

The same issue contains a poem showing how the victory and the death of Nelson, whom the Times of that date, in a leader, described as "as great an admiral as ever wielded the thunder of Britain," touched the popular heart. Even an unknown poet waked to sadness the living lyre, and paid tribute to Nelson in the patriotic verses reprinted on seventh page of the Examiner, which though they may not be in the highest style of the poetic art, have a right true ring.

Guy Fawkes' Day Will Be Commemorated

Local Orangemen Arranging for Special Tri-Centenary Services.

Out-of-Town Lodges Will Probably Participate—Afternoon and Evening Service.

More than usual significance will year attach to the observance of Guy Fawkes' Day, in view of the fact that it is the 300th anniversary of the famous plot.

The Ter-centenary of the event falls on Sunday, November 5, in view of which the Local Orange Lodges are arranging for special services in various of the city churches. It is probable that several out-of-town lodges will unite with those in the city in attending the services and otherwise fittingly observing the day. Nassau and Col. Saunderson Lodges will, it is understood, be present upon the occasion.

The arrangements, though as yet not definitely concluded, will probably include special sermons by Rev. A. H. Brace at the Park Street Baptist Church in the afternoon, and by Rev. Dr. Crothers at the George Street Methodist Church in the evening.

It is understood that the Rev. W. L. Armitage, former rector of All Saints' Church, may visit the city upon the occasion to take part in the service.

A Prominent Resident Of Otonabee Dead

Late Evans Ingram Was One of Pioneer Settlers.

A Man Who Had Held Many Public Offices—A Useful Life.

Another of the old pioneers of the County of Peterborough has passed away, and by the death of Mr. Evans Ingram, this county loses one of its most highly respected residents and a public-spirited gentleman.

Yesterday, after an illness extending since last August, Mr. Evans Ingram died, and by his death the township of Otonabee, in which he lived for a great many years, sustains a severe loss. Though 92 years of age, the deceased gentleman had been in comparatively good health until he took to his bed in August, and from which he has never risen. Even while he has been ill and gradually sinking, after a busy life, Mr. Ingram's mind was clear until a short time before his death, and about a week ago, on the occasion of a visit from his pastor, conversed freely with him, and was in possession of his full mental faculties.

The late Mr. Ingram was one of the foremost men in Otonabee, and one of its oldest residents, having settled on the farm where he died, while the virgin forest still claimed what is now one of the best agricultural townships in the province. He was born in County Galway, Ireland, and was the only son of the late Daniel Ingram, who died when his son was in his youth.

The late Mr. Ingram was educated in Belfast, and studied in the University of that city for three years for the English Church ministry, but feeling that this was not his avocation in life he went into the study of the law. When in his early manhood, Mr. Ingram, with his mother and four daughters, came to this country, and lived for a time in Peterborough which was at that time a mere hamlet, and the surrounding country a forest.

Mr. Ingram sisters married and settled in Otonabee, but the subject of this sketch went to the Southern States, and lived there for seven years, working at the carpentry trade. At the end of that time he returned to Canada, and settled on the farm on which he died. He built a log house in a clearing which he made for himself in the forest, and gradually brought the land into cultivation, until he had one of the best one hundred acre farms in the township.

Later he married Isabel Esson, who predeceased him 18 years ago.

The deceased held a number of public offices in the township and county, having been a township councillor for a number of years, deputy reeve of Otonabee in 1859 and 1860, and reeve from 1861 to 1866. In the latter year he was elected warden of the county and filled the position with credit to himself and advantage to the county.

He was a county councillor at the time of the visit of the Prince of Wales to Peterborough, and was one of the committee appointed to represent the county on that occasion.

The late Mr. Ingram was a staunch Liberal, and on two occasions was a candidate in these interests for East Peterborough. In religion he was a Methodist, and was a member of Salem Methodist church, and, until the infirmities of age prevented it, was a regular attendant upon the services.

Mr. Ingram was the last of the family, his four sisters having predeceased him. Their names were: Mrs. William Hare, Mrs. Robt. Milliken, Mrs. Wm. Chamberlain and Mrs. Robert Esson, all residents of Otonabee. Mrs. J. H. Crawford, a daughter of the late Mrs. Milliken, and a niece of the deceased, has lived with him for a number of years, and has attended him in his illness.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from his late residence, Otonabee, to the Little Lake cemetery, and the service will be conducted by Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of the church of which the deceased was a member during his lifetime.

W. Cunningham Gets a Dose Of Strychnine

Entered the Oriental While Violently Ill.

Services of Two Physicians Called into Requisition—Condition Dangerous.

William Cunningham, formerly an employee of the Oriental, walked into that hotel this afternoon, being violently ill. He was taken into one of the stalls, and Dr. J. Malcolm McCullough immediately sent for. By the time he arrived the man was in a very critical condition, and it was decided to secure the services of another physician, as Dr. McCullough found the man to be suffering from strychnine poisoning Dr. T. Popham McCullough was at once telephoned for and arrived upon the scene with a stomach pump.

Up to the time of going to press it was impossible to state whether or not the dose of poison was fatal. It could not be learned where or how he obtained the strychnine.

Concert At Murray Street Baptist Church

R. T. of T. Have Arranged for Concert to Assist the Children's Aid Society.

Excellent Programme Will be Presented by Local Artists.

"For Sweet Charity's Sake," is the purpose of the high class concert to be given to-morrow night at the Murray street Baptist Church.

The object in view, that of assisting the Children's Aid Society, is a most commendable one, and in taking the lead in furnishing the "sinews of war" for the prosecution of the work in view by the Society, the members of the R.T. of T. have certainly selected wisely and well, and are worthy of the highest commendation for the action which they have taken.

As pointed out a few weeks ago by Examiner the demands upon the society accompanying the approach of the winter season, have been extraordinarily heavy. Many cases have come under notice of its officers, with which in their somewhat straitened circumstances, financially it was feared that they would be unable to deal.

The work accomplished by the society this year has been far in excess of that of any previous year, and there still remain a large number of most pathetic cases of destitution to be dealt with.

A large number of clever local artists have been secured to assist at the concert, which it is to be hoped, will receive a generous patronage.

The speakers will be Hon. J. M. Stratton, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun and Rev. J. C. Davidson. The soloists whose services have been secured are, Miss Helen Davies, Miss Clara Bellegham, Mrs. T. D. MacGregor, Miss Maude Titterson. Miss Laura Sager will recite. Mr. J. Miller, cornet soloist, and Miss Maud Crothers, Violin soloist will contribute. Mrs. Mowat, accompanist.

Charlotte Street S. S. Grand Reopening and Anniversary, Monday Evening, October 30th. The following talent has been secured:—Miss Pearl O'Toill, Reader; Master Harry Graham, the Boy Violinist; Miss Clara Belleghem, Soprano; Mr. R. H. Jolliffe, Baritone Soloist; and Greig's Orchestra. Admission 25c.

Two New Companies Secure Incorporation

In its Saturday issue the Ontario Gazette contained the announcement of the incorporation of two Peterborough companies, the Thorn Plumbing Company and the Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company.

The incorporation of the latter has already been referred to in these columns.

The Thorn Plumbing Company is capitalized at $20,000, with the following provisional directors: John Henry Thorn, Arthur Joseph LaFay, Frederick William Jenkins, Arthur James Jackson and Frederick George Garbutt.

The company is incorporated to take over the business of Thorn & Co., plumbers, of this city, and the head office of the company will be in Peterborough.

Damages Of $4,000 Demanded

P. C. Stewart Receives Notification of Suit for That Amount.

Men Convicted of "Faking" at Fair Grounds Ask for Public Apology.

The recent development in the case of M. J. Gagnon and J. E. Harkness the two men arrested on the fair grounds on a charge of carrying on a charge of carrying on an illegal game of chance, has arisen. The men, it will be remembered were fined a sum of $60 and costs by Magistrate Dumble.

The arrest of the men by P. C. Stewart was followed by some complications arising from the presence of a Provincial Government officer, who claimed to have arrested the men, and also claimed the amount of the fees in connection. These, however, were retained by the city through the action of P. C. Stewart.

The latest development in the case was the reception a few days since of the subjoined letter demanding the damages mentioned from the officer. The letter is as follows:—

Peterborough, Oct. 7th.

Joseph Stewart, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I am instructed by Messrs. M. J. Gagnon and J. E. Harkness, to issue writs against you for slanders uttered by you referring to them on Wednesday the 27th of September, last, at the exhibition grounds, for the sum of $2,000 in each case.

I am informed that you called them "thieves" and "robbers" and others like terms before a considerable crowd, and you do not need to be told that such remarks cannot be passed over by men carrying on any kind of business in this city or neighbourhood. I think you will see on reflection that you had no justification for such names and that in justice to them you should without delay make apology and reparation.

If a satisfactory apology is published next week they will waive most of the claim for pecuniary damages but I must have some settlement with you not later than the 25th instant.

Yours truly,
(signed.) R. F. McWILLIAMS.

P. C. Stewart is naturally reticent with regard to the matter, but so far as can be ascertained no apology has yet appeared over his signature.

Dredge Will Commence Work Above Bridge

"Trent," Now Lying at the Wharf, Will be Dismantled.

Appropriation of $6,000 Secured for the Work Through Efforts of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.

The dredge Trent which has been operating at the Peterborough Locks has completed it's work. The Trent has been engaged in removing the old dam which was situated just above the new dam, and has also been dredging the channel at the lower entrance to the work. She is now out of a job and is waiting at the Peterborough wharf for further orders.

It is generally understood that the Trent will, in the course of a few days be dismantled preparatory to be taken under the C.P.R. bridge, after which she will commence dredging the channel in the river at that point, an appropriation of $6,000 having been placed in the estimates last session for this purpose, upon the recommendation of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., of West Peterborough.

Deceased Was A Resident Of Peterborough

Many persons in this city, by whom Mr. Mellville Millar, J. P., was well known, will learn with deep regret of his death, which occurred in Toronto. The late Mr. Millar was at one time a resident of Peterborough, where he was in partnership with the late John Bertram in the hardware business. He was a prominent member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and was a man possessing the highest qualifications of citizenship. The Toronto Globe, referring to his death, says:

The death occurred at the Toronto General Hospital yesterday morning of Mellville Millar, J.P., postmaster of Orillia. Two weeks ago he underwent an operation, which was in itself successful, but death resulted from shock, combined with other complications. Mr. Millar was born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1840, and came to Canada in 1847 with his father, the late Alexander Millar, who was general manager of Canada's first railway. He was Orillia's first mayor in 1876, holding the position for three years. He was also reeve for a number of years. He was at one time in partnership with the late John Bertram in a hardware business in Peterborough. Later he conducted a similar business at Orillia, and was also in partnership with John Thomson in the lumber industry at Longford Mills. He was appointed postmaster in Orillia by the present Government in 1895. He leaves seven sons and four daughters. The body was taken to Orillia yesterday afternoon.

Charming Trafalgar Day Commemoration Concert

A Delightful Programme Charmingly Presented—Mr. Rechab Tandy's Splendid Singing of Patriotic Songs—Exquisite Contributions by Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot and Miss Helen Davies—The Concert Worthy of the Occasion.

The "Grand National Concert" given in the Opera House on Saturday night to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the battle and victory of Trafalgar, under the auspices of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, was in every way worthy of the spirit of the occasion. The evening being the busiest period of the week doubtless accounted for an attendance which should have been larger, both on account of the significance of the occasion and also with reference to the special musical programme presented, which, in both an artistic, musical and patriotic sense, was of the highest character.

The programme opened with a selection played in very creditable style by the Y.M.C.A. orchestra, which also opened the second part with a well-performed number. Mr. James Boxall, of Lndsay, Supreme Grand Vice-President, S. O. E. B. A., in assuming the rather sinecure position of chairman, made a brief address, paying an eloquent tribute to the noble qualities of Nelson, and emphasizing the point that too much stress could not be laid upon the great qualities of soul and character, which distinguished the great sea captain—his ardent devotion to duty and his patriotism affording lessons which should be impressed especially upon the minds and hearts of the rising generation.

To Mr. Richard Tandy, a member of the faculty of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, a first-class tenor, with a grand and well-cultured voice, fell the duty of contributing the patriotic features of the programme, which he did with a success and acceptance of the most pronounced character, in the process displaying musical and artistic culture of a very high order. He sang chiefly the stirring old war and sea ballads which have roused the hearts of Englishmen for years, and sang them with a spirit and appreciation not only of their patriotic sentiments, but also of their robust as well as pathetic musical motifs. Mr. Tandy's voice retains its old-time sonority and sweetness, admirably exercised or combined as occasion demands, evenness and purity of tone and an excellent wearing quality, for Saturday night in singing a series of eight exacting numbers, including encores, Mr. Tandy's voice seemed to prove to his closing selection when he concluded with a magnificent production of that grand old sailor lyric, "The Bay of Biscay," sung with all the fire and vocal finish the rolling rythm of the song demands. Mr. Tandy's second number was the patriotic piece, de resistance, "The Death of Nelson," sung with captivating sympathy and pathos, and for a repeat number he gave that seldom-heard song, "Rule, Brittania," the audience joining in the chorus and waving in unison miniature flags with which each had been supplied on entering the hall. He also gave Adams' "The Veteran's Song" in fine voice and style, and was again recalled and again responded. He opened the second part with "The Maple Leaf," stirringly sung, the audience heartily joining in the chorus. Enthusiastically recalled, Mr. Tandy sang rare Ben Johnson's beautiful toast — "Drink to me only with Thine Eyes" — which from an artistic point of view was, with its beautiful phrasing and shading, perhaps his best work during the evening. His next appearance was in Allitsen's "There's a Land," which was delightfully interpreted. Mr. Tandy is a most satisfying singer, with a fine voice and a complete knowledge of its use, and if he can impart this secret to his pupils, as well as he employs it himself, it is no wonder that his services as a vocal teacher are so greatly sought.

The next in order on the programme was Miss Helen Davies, who began her evening's triumph with the difficult selection, Alletsen's "The Lord is my Light," which gave large scope to the display of her fine quality of voice and execution, of which she very charmingly took full advantage. Miss Davies' voice, as heard, was at once powerful and sweet, with a delightful smoothness and roundness of tone. Her sosteuto notes were exquisite, with just enough vibrato, and not too much, for pleasing effect. Of course she was recalled, and responded with another charming number of lighter vein, but with equal artistic presentation. Her second presentation, "Enchantment," in its title, very happily expressed its effect upon the audience, and she was recalled.

Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot in Trotere's "Old Madrid," repeated the captivation which attends her every public appearance. Her sweet voice, with its wide range, is used with a nice skill, and the artistic finish and graceful ease of execution, which are in every way satisfying. Still thrilling with the delight of both Miss Davies' and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot's singing, the audience had reason for expecting a delightful treat in Miss Davies' and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot's duet, Campana's "I Live and Love Thee," and they were not disappointed. The beautiful blending of two such voices, used by two such vocalists, was exquisite, and their duet, combining the best work of both contributing artists, was a double delight. Outside the singing stars of the concert stage, there is no necessity for going out of Peterborough for first-class lady singers.

Most of the audience evidently saw no incongruity in the justaposition, for Mr. Jas. Fax, the humourist, sang and grimaced himself into tremendous popularity. He was billed for three numbers, but the audience made them seven. He was recalled on every appearance, and on one occasion was honoured with a double recall.

Altogether, the concert, whether regarded from an artistic or patriotic point of view, was a gratifying entertainment, which reflects credit upon those responsible for its organization and management.

A Warren, Mass., despatch says a New York Central brakeman fell from an eastbound freight, lay mangled and bleeding beside the tracks and was in a fair way to be left to die when he hurled a stone at the caboose of his train. The stone struck a window and the flying glass quickly brought the brakemen inside to their feet to learn who threw the missle. The train was stopped and the man was picked up and taken to a Springfield hospital.

The oldest regiment in the British service and probably the oldest in the world is the 1st Royal Scots, familiarly known as "Pontius Pilate's Guards," on account of the very great length of time the regiment was been embodied.

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate Nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes:

"I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use.

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would bloat after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acrid discharge and pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

"Football and Lacrosse Are Beastly Games"

This is the Expression Attributed to Inspector Brown--Spoke at Victoria Teachers' Convention--Recommends Sharp Work and Short Hours and Little Recreation --Believes That Military Drill is Better Than Games --Condemns Strongly Football and Lacrosse as They Are Played.

The Bobcaygeon Independent, in reporting the meeting of the Victoria Teachers' Convention, gives the views of Inspector Brown on the half-day system. Incidentally he condemns football and lacrosse as they are played. The Independent says:—

Mr. Brown, Inspector of Peterborough County was next introduced and gave a good address on the half-day system. He said he would have the larger children come to school at 8 and disperse at 11. Then the smaller children could come at 1 and leave at 4. This arrangement has been tried in two schools near Peterborough and works satisfactory. The idea was that it gave the grown up ones the afternoon to help the parents, and the little ones would attend when the dew was off the grass and when they were least benefit at home. Mr. Brown was in favour of short hours and sharp work. By this system boys and girls would stay much longer at home and not be drifting to cities for employment. This system would also give the teacher 2 hours for dinner, and they could have a hot meal instead of frequently a cold lunch. The schools that are using this system were very successful in examinations. Long hours drove many from school. He was not in favour of much recreation as the pupils had two months during summer to play. He recommended the system and was strongly of opinion that it was the only one for schools that were crowded, and asked that the system be considered by Trustees. Mr. Knight said he was very much impressed with Mr. Brown's remarks and favoured the half-day system.

Trustees Dr. Boyd asked Mr. Brown why he objected to recreation for children and in reply he said he believed in short hours and sharp work and less ball.

Mr. Ramsay said he has been having his scholars play football and thought it was good exercise, and taught them discipline. Mr. Brown said football and lacrosse were beastly games, as they are played, and should be abolished from the school, and as for discipline, he recommended military drill.

A Resolution From George St.

Was Passed in Reference to Sunday School Matters.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — Your article in the Examiner of the 21st, anent the George street Methodist Sunday School, was deemed so unfair, that an emergency meeting of the Trustee Board and the Quarterly Board met after service last night, and unanimously passed a resolution, which I enclose. Will you please give it insertion in your paper, and oblige.

Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE,
Recording Steward.

Resolution.

That the report of matters concerning the George street Methodist Sunday school, contained in the Peterborough Examiner, of the 21st inst., is untrue, and misleading as to facts, and wholly untrue in spirit.

At the Trustee meeting mentioned, reference was made to the conduct of some bad boys, who had meddled with the horses in the sheds; and a speaker regretted the hoodlum spirit which was apparent among so many boys of the city. Incidentally, it was mentioned that in Sunday school boys manifested some resistance to the laws of order, and that our school suffered somewhat from the absence of Mr. Robinson, the superintendent, while at Stony Lake during the summer months. At the same time there was grateful acknowledgment of Mr. Robinson's long and faithful services in the school. Only the kindest words were used in reference to him. Mr. Robinson took advantage of the occasion to say that he intended resigning the superintendency.

At a subsequent meeting of the teachers and the Sunday school committee the matter was considered, and after explanations by a Trustee of the previous trustee meeting, the teachers united in expressions of satisfaction with the Board and of goodwill to Mr. Robinson. Only a kindly consideration of an important branch of church work was dealt with, and that in the kindest way, without passion, and without tears.

It is to be regretted that a reporter by exaggeration of language as to what was in fact a private family matter of a church, should have attempted to make a sensation, where judicious respect would have suggested either silence, or, at least, a strict adherence to truth.

This splendid school has a roll attendance of about 1000, and an average attendance of about 500. It has 9 fine Bible classes and is prosperous and harmonious.

The Examiner prints the above with pleasure, even though the names of the mover and seconder as guarantee of bona fides, are not given. We have not, and never had at any time a desire to create trouble or cast reflections upon the management of the George street Sunday school. The Examiner simply used in a legitimate way information it believed to be reliable and of public interest. That there are friction and dissatisfaction is not to be doubted, and that the discussion that has been aroused will do no harm is generally conceded. There are some who freely express the opinion that the Examiner wanted to "get after" somebody. It is not the way of the Examiner to reach its aim by firing round a corner. In printing what was printed the only aim was to get at the facts which, it was firmly believed, were represented by the information furnished by a prominent member of the church in question, whose word on any subject, and especially on a subject dear to his heart, we would accept as readily and unreservedly as a resolution of a church board or of the Ministerial Association, no matter who may have inspired them. If members of the church load up reporters with information submitted as genuine there is no foundation for thinking that the publisher of the Examiner was behind it, for he was like Rev. Mr. Lewis, he did not know anything about the matter. The reporter who handled the paragraph thought the information was absolutely correct, especially in view of its source. It is hoped that good will result from the discussion that has been exalted. Though the publisher of the Examiner does not wish to evade responsibility for what has appeared—it was printed in perfect good faith and with undiminished belief in the zeal and faithfulness of Mr. T. W. Robinson, whose services in connection with the Sunday school have been, there is reason to believe, unwarrantedly reflected upon.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

We don't put Scott's Emulsion in the class of advertised cure-alls; it doesn't belong there. We hardly like to use the word "cure" at all, but we are bound to say that it can be used for a great many troubles with great satisfaction. Its special function is to repair the waste of the body when the ordinary food does not nourish, and this means that it is useful in many cases which are indicated by wasting.

We'll send you a sample free.

RUGBY.

With a lead of only 11 points to cut down in the final contest in round 2, intermediate O.R.F.U., the Toronto-Argos. II. team has determined to go on Varsity field Saturday in the pink of condition to meet the Peterborough twelve. The rough-house tactics of the easterners deprived the Toronto-Argos. II. of Anglin, their full-back, but Dey, who was also knocked out with a jolt in the side, may be able to get into shape. Ross Murphy is going away, but his place at outside wing will be taken by Falconstein. The team practices to-night at 6 o'clock at Varsity Field. The following are requested to be on hand:—Gale, Quigley, Dey, Hutchinson, Thompson, Chowne, Millar, McGuire, Reiffenstein, Ingles, Hoyles, Dionsdoll, McLennan Marsh, R. Ingles, Greening.—Toronto World.

The World refers to the rough tactics of the easterners. "It's a pity that a bunch of big, heavy dubs can't look after themselves. "Rough house tactics", indeed! Wouldn't that give you a pain?

Speaking on the Tigers-Toronto-Argos game on Saturday, the Globe says:—

Moore and Simpson were the most brilliant of the backs. Moore was watched pretty closely, but nevertheless got in many of the long dodging runs for which he is noted. Simpson never missed a catch, and in addition showed fine punting ability.

At the conclusion of the Peterborough-Tor.-Argo. game the T.A.S. and Charlotte Street teams played an exhibition game and provided a good game. Neither team scored in the first half in the second Charlotte Street made a touchdown, but failed to convert. A.T.A.S. back fumbled and Dixon held the pigskin for five. For the winners, the entire back division played well and Roddy probably played the best game on the wing line. Quinlan and Fitzpatrick played well for the losers. During the game a couple of Charlotte street men were laid out but that was the extent of the casualities.

The final score was 5-0.

The Charlotte Street Guild team will practice to-morrow evening at 7.30 at the corner of Charlotte and Reid. The players are requested to turn out in uniform.

BASKET BALL.

At the conclusion of the practice Tuesday evening, the Brownie's will be banqueted by Mr. Gordon Miller.

The Brownies will play Queen's, of Kingston, an exhibition game, in Kingston, on Thanksgiving Day. As is shown by their line-up the Brownies are stronger this year than ever. The team that will represent the Brownies in Kingston will be as follows:—Defence, Hall and Boucher; centre, Fitzpatrick; forwards, N. Miller and Gillespie. Mr. Gordon Miller, who was last year captain, is unable to be in the game this season and his legs will be very much fat. Mr. Miller was one of the ablest and most popular members of the team. To-morrow, Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock the final practice of the team, for the Queen's match, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, when the Brownies will play a practice game with the following picked team:—Defence, Campbell and Richardson; centre, Ferguson; forwards, Morgan and Whitcroft.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Lucy Brewer, who died May 1st, 1905.

In the garden of our love there is a Lily;
Whose image is enshrined there ne'er to fade;
Till at last death stills our hearts faint beating
And we meet her in our home beyond the grave.

She was only in the bloom of her childhood,
And the happy days glanced along;
She knew naught of care or of sorrow;
Life seemed to her one sweet song.

But alas! soon she drooped and faded
Like a sweet and tender flower;
And for her one bright May morning,
Rose another sun than ours.

She had gone, your fair young child
She had crossed the chasm wide;
To dwell in bliss forever more
At rest by our Saviour's side.

How short was her lingering pilgrimage
Upon this desert drear;
Her sudden death has caused you
Many a bitter tear.

But do not weep dear friends, for her
Whom God has called away;
For on a golden harp around His throne,
She chants her sweetest lay.

Her winning ways have made her
Esteemed and loved by all;
And we'll always love her dearly
Though she has gone beyond recall.

It was hard to see the one you loved
Placed beneath the sod;
But her body only reareth there
Her soul is safe with God.

Then when for you the sun will set,
On earth to rise no more;
With angel bands your child will meet you
On that distant shore.

And there in our Father's home of love,
Where there is no care nor pain,
You'll meet dear little Lucy,
To be parted ne'er again.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

THE LOAN THAT FAILED.

Hon. Mr. Matheson is not proving himself the heaven-born financier his friends claim that he is, or that his long career as a financial scold would indicate him to be. He seems to have bungled the Temiscamingue loan, at least British financiers did not sit up nights waiting their turn to subscribe. Hon. Mr. Matheson and the Ontario Government neglected their opportunity. They are not, of course, to blame for the temper of the British money market, but they are guilty of a sin of omission. Mr. Matheson neglected to take action, to take advantage of a favourable market. During the summer when he should have gone to England, and could have gone, money was easy and honours would have been easy. He had behind him a Province with the best credit of any country on earth, without a dollar of indebtedness except that represented by the loan he was to negotiate, which itself was represented by a splendid asset in the Government railway. A couple of months ago the Bank of England discount stood at 2 1-2 per cent., but Premier Matheson selected an hour for his visit when the rate of discount had advanced to 4 per cent. The very fact that the loan was not a gilt-edged security in one sense, should have led Mr. Matheson to snap at the best market, to act in time, and not delay till the floating of the loan was a financial improbability. Railway bonds are not among the funds in which trust funds are, by British law, permitted to be invested. Mr. Matheson was warned in time that the best condition of the British money market should be taken advantage of. Last session Hon. Mr. Harcourt pointed out what Mr. Matheson should expect, but Mr. Matheson and the Opposition laughed him to scorn. Now they find that he knew what he was talking about, and that Provincial Treasurer Matheson, who, at the time, intimated his ability to go straightway and arrange the loan at more advantageous terms, did not know what he was talking about. He might have done better if he had acted promptly, but he let the golden opportunity pass, and now he has put the Province to the expense of a futile mission, and in a sense inflicted a blow to its credit. Mr. Matheson's failure comes to him somewhat in the sense of a retribution. For years and years he decried the credit of the Province, plunged it into debt when it had no debt; for years he was glibly assenting that Ontario had a deficit of five to ten millions, and he should not be disappointed if Old Country financiers believed something of what he said. But they have not done so. In spite of Mr. Matheson's criticisms it is known in the Old Country that Ontario bonds and securities are of A1 quality. Premier Matheson made the mistake of masterly inactivity—neglecting to touch the British money market when it was in a responsive condition. He must begin to appreciate the difference between administering Provincial finances under responsibility and recklessly criticising under irresponsibility.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Even The Toronto News feels called upon to score Provincial Treasurer Matheson, says the Brantford Expositor, for his failure to float the Temiskaming loan, and thinks the hawking about of the bonds to be unfortunate. The trouble seems to be that Colonel Matheson delayed too long in attempting to float the loan, and permitted the day of golden opportunity to slip. In view of the exceptional financial position of the province, the spectacle he has made of its credit is certainly to be deplored.

"But we must with our lives, our means, our support, loyally stand by the mother country in her great work of still cementing stronger and stronger the ties that bind together the great Empire to which we belong. The work must be done; we cannot escape our responsibility, and if we are worth our salt, we shall be glad of the chance to do the work—glad of the chance to show ourselves equal to the expectation of our King, and the mother country, that is the matter of Imperial unity and Imperial loyalty, 'Canada will do her duty.'" — Extract from Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's sermon at St. Luke's church yesterday morning.

QUEER COINCIDENCES.

A remarkable series of coincidences has been appearing in the London Standard. One correspondent sent the following triple coincidence, taken from a old manuscript diary, dated 1642, in which a relative quotes from an "old journal": "In the year 1661, on Dec. 5, a boat on the Menai (Menai Strait in North Wales) crossing the strait, over which a bridge has since been built, with eighty-one passengers, was upset and only one passenger, named Hugh Williams, saved. On the same date, in the year 1765, was upset another boat, containing about sixty passengers, of whom all perished excepting one, whose name was Hugh Williams. On Aug. 55, 1820, a third boat met with the same disaster, with twenty-five passengers only, and all perished with the exception of one, whose name was Hugh Williams."

Col. L. M. Buchanan writes that his youngest son served in the South African campaign as a trooper in the Rhodesian horse. Aug. 21, 1900, the young man was reported as severely wounded at Bamman's Kraal and his wound was described by the surgeon in attendance as a "comminuted fracture of the left humerus," out of which twenty-one splinters were subsequently discharged or extracted. On the same day in his bedroom in Ireland the mirror fell to the floor and was smashed into many pieces, receiving what the colonel thinks might be called a "comminuted fracture." The mirror had been in its usual place on the dressing table and the room was vacant at the time.

Herbert Russell sends a literary coincidence:—"My father, W. Clark Russell," he writes, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me: 'To-morrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from Mr. W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

The Occidental Land Of Peaches

The Old Country grumblers who regard Canada as a land of ice and snow, where all the year round the "natives" were furs such as these in which Lord Minto and party were pictured, will be surprised to learn that in British Columbia lying between parallels 49 and 60 degrees, the same latitude as St. Petersburg, Russia, peaches mature to perfection. The weekly edition of the New Westminster "Columbian," under the heading of "The Land of Peaches," says:—

Southern Okanagan is rapidly coming o the front for its peaches. A small but highly interesting display of this delicious fruit together with apples, pears, grapes and fume is invitiongly displayed in the exhibit made by the Southern Okanagan Land Company. The booth is attractively arranged showing a number of excellent photographs of Penticton, the thriving town at the foot of Okanagan lake and orchard, meadow and lake scenes on the lands of the Southern Okanagan Land company. The company owns a tract of 30,000 acres of arable and pasture land in the heart of the Southern Okanagan valley stretching from Penticton to the International boundery line. This land has been subdivided into five and ten acre plots and an extensive irrigation system is now in course of construction. To give an instance of the productiveness of the soil there is in an orchard on the company's land a most prolific cherry tree, which is also the largest one in the province. This tree is in the habit of yielding in the neighbourhood of $100 worth of cherries every season. In an exceptionally productive year, when the prices, too, were high, the tree netted its owner over $150. The company making the exhibit has at its head two very enterprising directors in the persons of L. W. and W. T. Shatford.

MAXIM'S MAXIM

Modest Claims Often Carry More Conviction Than Loud Boasts.

When Maxim, the famous inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be considerably below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a triumph of surprise instead of disappointment as it might have been if he had overestimated his gun's efficiency.

The General Electric Comes To Canada

The Big American Electric Concern Absorbs Allis-Chambers Co.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls States That Deal is a Purely American One.

Milwaukee, October 21st. — The Bullock Electric Company, of Cincinnati, has been absorbed by the Allis-Chalmers Company. The General Electric Company has purchased a majority of the Allis-Chalmers common stock, according to reports of E. C. Converse, of Pittsburg, as a result of a deal which has been made by the directors of the three companies.

A few weeks ago the capital stock of the Bullock Company was increased to $3,000,000, to enlarge the plants. The Allis-Chalmers Company, a rival of the General Electric, leased the Bullock Company, in March, 1901. The price at which General Electric obtained control, it is reported, was $25 a share for common stock.

The Allis-Chalmers Company has a big Canadian plant located at Montreal, and the result of the above deal will be to give the American General Electric Company a foothold in Canada. American General Electric some time ago disposed of its Canadian rights to the Canadian General Electric Company, but it looks as if it again contemplates the invasion of Canadian territory, which is now regarded as a most profitable field.

Mr. Nicholls' Statement.

Mr. Frederic Nicholls, when shown the above despatch, on Saturday, said that it was a purely American deal, and he did not know to what extent it would affect the interests held in Canada by the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock Company, who have a factory in Montreal, but the deal would not affect the Canadian General Electric, adversely at any rate, as they were in friendly affiliation with the American General Electric, and whatever benefited them would benefit the Canadian Company.

Speaking of the report that the Canadian railways and American steel companies were planning an attack on the steel rail tariff on the plea that the Canadian companies had not the capacity to handle more than a fraction of the quantity of rails that were and would be needed for the next ten years, Mr. Nicholls stated that the Canadian companies at the "Soo" and Cape Breton had the capacity to turn out all the rails that would be needed, in spite of all that was being said to the contrary.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Canadian Shipbuilding Company, was held on Friday, and Mr. Nicholls says that the affairs of the company are in a very satisfactory condition. They have work on hand to keep them busy for some time to come.

This Man Wasn't Lord Nelson Celebrating

Two and Costs for Depositing Manure in Stream.

Young Man Didn't Know P. C. Stewart in His Plain Clothes—$2 and Costs for Riding Wheel on Pavement.

Thomas W. Nelson, of Keene, was the only occupant of the prisoners' box at the police court this morning. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and pleaded guilty. Nelson has been drinking altogether too much of late, and took the notion to jump into the river the other day. His Worship told him to go back to Keene at once.

T. Cavanagh, through a representative, pleaded guilty to depositing manure in the creek that runs at the back of his hotel. This was not the first offence, so the Magistrate imposed a fine of $2 and $4.50 costs.

Ernest Mongraw did not recognize P. C. Stewart in his plain clothes. "Joe" nabbed him on Hunter street yesterday, when he was riding a wheel on the pavement. The court assessed him $2, and he paid the money forthwith.

"Is Our Modern Society Christian?" Was The Subject

Of Special Sermon by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt at St. Luke's Last Night.

Modern Society, Generally Speaking, is Not Christian—Subject Was Convincingly Treated.

"Is Modern Society Christian?" was the question which Rev. E. A. Langfeldt endeavoured to answer, and to prove that in the strict sense there is not much real Christianity in it, though a certain amount of sentimental Christianity is adopted.

The text was from I Peter, 2; 12,—"Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles."

The Revised Version of the Bible makes the meaning of these words much clearer, for there we read, "Having your behaviour seemly." We see at once that St. Peter is not alluding merely to verbal conversation, but to the whole manner of life of Christian men and women. He wanted those to whom he was writing to make their lives a witness to the faith. Religious conversation, in the modern sense of the word, is not much good unless it is backed up by a consistent life. This was particularly important at the time when St. Peter wrote his epistle, because Christianity was on its trial. The Christian society of those days consisted, with few exceptions, of very humble folk, and yet, small and insignificant as it was, that little society was both feared and hated by Jew and Roman alike. By the Jews, because they regarded it as something revolutionary; by the Romans, because the simple austere lives were a silent rebuke to their own vicious immorality and luxurious habits and customs. St. Peter, in this chapter, suggests that the way to run the world is neither to give in to its lax principles nor to give up our own principles for fear of persecution, but by strict seemliness of behaviour to show that our faith is a real power in our lives, and so set it before our opponents as something worth having, worth keeping, worth suffering for. There is no doubt in the minds of those who have tried it, that a consistent Christian life, a life of which it can be said that its "behaviour is seemly," is the source, in spite of any consequent suffering, of the truest happiness and enjoyment that man can know in this world. Lead a consistently Christian life if you want your life consistently happy.

There is no scriptural maxim which more needs to be impressed upon the present generation. Though the times have changed since St. Peter wrote this epistle; though so-called Christian society now includes those who were then outside it, still there is need for those who would be true disciples of Christ to bear in mind the advice of St. Peter, "let your behaviour be seemly"; still the question has to be asked, whether or not lives of nominal Christians can fairly be regarded as Christians in fact. The question, "Is modern society Christian?" is a difficult one to answer. Though the conditions of life have changed, the antagonism of the world to Christianity is not changed. The great tradition of disloyalty and dislike to God and to His Kingdom lives on and will live on to the end.

The dangers which beset the Christian Society of the first century still beset that of the 20th. There is still a danger, only too real, lest the force of evil example should corrupt those who by baptism and vocation are called to witness to the truth as it is in Jesus, lest the temptation should prove irresistible to win the favour of the world by temporizing with its ways. The deduction of St. Peter still holds good, that the only way to impress the world with the value of the truth is not by accommodating our lives to the principles of the world, but by seemliness of behaviour; that consistent Christian lives can alone prove to the world that the faith of Christianity is still a power over human lives, which is worth having, worth keeping, worth suffering for.

And what is modern Society doing in this respect? That Society which at least professes to be Christian? That Society which puts in appearance at church occasionally? It would not be hard to enumerate certain practices of modern society, which, to put it very mildly, are not seemly, and which, judged by a strict standard, cannot be called Christian. It is only necessary to refer to, without enlarging upon, the prevalence of gambling, now so common even among ladies in society; the wasting away of golden opportunities for doing good, and valuable time with afternoon whist parties; the not uncommon practice of drug-taking in order to have sufficient energy for the whirl of social engagements; the often immodest style of dress adopted; the dyeing of hair to a fashionable shade and the artificial complexion; the recklessly risque and loose conversation too often indulged in; and, to conclude the series, race-suicide and the enormous increase of divorce. The mere mention of such things, the existence of which no one who knows anything of modern society can deny, is surely indictment enough. No! Modern Society, speaking generally, is not Christian. Modern Society cannot put the matter on one side with regard to its influence upon others, with Cain's contemptuous question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" If we do there stands a chance for us of one day hearing God's damning sentence,—"What hast thou done? Thy brother's blood crieth to me from the ground." If modern society would escape this terrible possibility, it must be more careful than as a matter of fact it is to make its behaviour seemly. Modern society may be Christian in name, but its Christianity is a good deal more nominal than real.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

GENTLEMEN,—For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the Glasses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Trafalgar Trick Turned By Peterborough Rugby Boys

Defeated Toronto-Argonauts II. by a Score of 18-7 --A Good Article of Rugby Presented--The Game Rather Strenuous at Times--The Local Intermediates One Step Nearer Championship Honours--The Changes in the Back Division Worked Wonders--Features of the Game.

The Peterborough Football team did their share toward celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of Lord Nelson's death when they defeated the Toronto-Argonauts of Toronto by a score of 18—7. The chances for victory looked very small at the beginning and all the early part of the game the visitors led by 7—0. When Shaw got in some of his fine punting however, and the locals began to follow up well, and the game assumed a different aspect. After the visitors had obtained their early lead they failed to score any more during that part of the game. The quantity of Rugby displayed on Saturday was away ahead of that seen at the Victoria-Peterborough game a week previous and the home team delighted the enthusiasts by the fine form they exhibited. The back division was much stronger than it has been before this season. Every member of the half line showed up to good advantage. Muthern who was moved from full to half gave a good account of himself. Crowley made some pretty dashes. His running was superb. Shaw was a whole host in himself and his punting went along way towards winning the game. The wing line worked hard and held the heavy Argos to a nicety. Gilbert probably played the best game on the wing line and his tackling would have done credit to pretty nearly any half back in the business. He had the ball a score of times and Mearsh, the big outside man of the Toronto aggregation was completely outclassed. "Skin" certainly gives promise of being one of the huskiest wings in the game. Regan and Craig also acquitted themselves nobly. Regan is a hard worker and is not in the least afraid. Craig has lots of weight and uses it to advantage. Bill Meagher dug in all through the game. Walkey was doing well at quarter before he was hurt. The Toronto-Argos are a heavy bunch and when they lined up on the field there half line looked very formidable. They punted fairly well at some stages of the game but the wings seemed to do the greater bulk of the tackling. It was only once or twice during the game that brilliant running was done by the back division. The wings were good men and played the game every minute. They had the advantage over the local line in the matter of weight but had nothing on them in speed or staying power. While the Peterborough wing line was never seen to better advantage it was probably the clever work of the half back division that did the most towards winning the game. The gate was disappointingly small and the receipts did not amount to over $35. As this sound will be decided on points the locals think they have it cinched and are even confident of trimming the visitors on their own grounds. To give the Argos credit it is only fair to state that had not their able full back, Anglin, been put out of the game, the score would probably been much smaller, as Gale who replaced him did miserable work and made several costly fumbles. McKay, who refereed the game, did not seem to be familiar with the Burnside rules and did not give satisfaction. When the O.R.F.U. sends down another man let it be a capable official, one who has made a name for himself, for it is in the best interests of the game that this should be done. The umpire also was very inefficient and might have been a spectator for all the good he did.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.	Toronto-Argos.
(Back.
Crough	Anglin
(Halves.
Crowley	Dey
Shaw	Hutchins
Muthern	Quigley
(Quarter.
Walkey	Thomson
(Scrap.
Hurtubise	Chowen
(Inside.
Craig	Murphy
Dillon	McClennan
(Middle.
Meagher	Miller
MacDonald	Ingles
(Outside.
Gilbert	Mearsh
Regan	McGuire

The Game.

The game began with the home team playing against a strong wind. Peterborough kicked and shortly after the kick-off Gilbert got the ball on the pass from the scrimmage but was soon downed. Toronto soon had possession of the ball but Crowley made a pretty tackle. Shortly after the pigskin flew over the dead ball line. Score 1—0 in favour of Toronto.

Shaw kicked and a Toronto back got the ball and sent it into Peterborough territory. Peterborough returned and Toronto did likewise. Muthern fumbled about twenty yards from the local line and the visitors were right on top of him. The Torontos were having the best of the argument. Shaw planted another on to Toronto territory but their halves were on the lookout and Hutchins made a good run. Crowley brought him down with a thud, a little past centre field. Toronto kicked and Crough was too slow to prevent a rouge. Score 2—0.

Shortly after the kick Toronto made a touch down, but failed to convert. Score 7—0.

Things were looking pretty blue for Peterborough and several were heard to remark "they're up against it." But the boys were not losing heart as was shown by their stellar work during the rest of the game. Peterborough kicked and Dey made a splendid run of forty yards. At this juncture Anglin was hurt and Gale replaced him.

From this on the visitors seemed to go to pieces and they were unable to score during the rest of the game. Peterborough was commencing to back up and the team received lots of encouragement from the bleachers. The work of Crowley was never better and his tackling made many a Toronto player "sore." Though backed and shortly afterwards Craig got the ball. Walkey made a good run and kick. Toronto returned and Hurtubise caught the leather. Walkey made a nice tackle but the man's heels caught him in the chin and inflicted an ugly gash. He had to retire and Gillespie went on to take his place. The play was pretty much in the Argo. territory and Shaw booted her over the dead line for a point. Score 7—1.

The monotony was broken and from then on the Hogtown athletes never had a look-in. The Peterborough half line backed up wonderfully and the spectators began to take a deeper interest in the game. Shaw's punting was a feature from this point to the end of the game. Peterborough had the ball all the time and soon made another rouge. Score 7—2.

Before half time was called Peterborough again punted and McDonald made a pretty touch from Gale's costly error. Shaw converted and the half time score was 9—7 with the homebrews on top and still looking for more.

Second Half.

Shaw's punting was again a feature of this half and he used great judgment throughout. The wings followed up well and the whole team worked like Trojans. The play was not in progress very long before Meagher was hurt and this caused a short delay. Gillespie made a good sprint and after the down Crowley made a good run carrying the ball out of touch. Toronto got the ball shortly after and Regan made a good tackle. Shaw made a short run but was downed before he had gained much ground. Peterborough kicked after the down and Toronto made a sprint. Gilbert downed Quigley on a pretty tackle. Shaw made his best run and gained about thirty yards before he was tackled.

Toronto was doing a lot of coaching and were apparently getting desperate. "Reddy" Lamont was not so chipper as in the earlier stages of the game. The pigskin was near the visitors' line and the work very close with neither team gaining much ground. There was an exchange of long punts and the locals followed up well. Gilbert was especially conspicuous and he seemed to travel wherever the ball went. McDonald also showed up to good advantage. Shaw kicked the ball to Gale but the latter had hardly moved with it before Gilbert made him bite the dust. Peterborough rouged shortly after. Score 16—7.

After the kick Peterborough got the ball on the return and held it for a long while before the Torontos managed to get it into their clutches. Crowley made a good run and was tackled hard by a Toronto wing. Meagher made a nice bucking run of about ten yards. Regan made a fine dash and after the scrimmage Muthern repeated his performance of the previous Saturday and made a beautiful run of about fifty yards. Meagher carried the pigskin down the field. The play was well around Toronto line when Peterborough rouged. Score 11—7. The home team rouged again shortly after this. They were having the best of the play by all means. Score 12—7.

Shaw got the ball but made no ground. After the scrimmage Peterborough kicked over the Toronto line. Gale caught but was downed near Toronto goal. The ball was shot into Peterborough territory but was returned just as quickly. Gale made a try for it but was found lacking. Crough who had followed the kick up with the speed of a deer fell on the leather and a touch down resulted. Shaw converted on a pretty kick. Score 18—7.

Toronto kicked and Shaw made a short run. Toronto tried desperately to score but their most strenuous efforts proved unavailing. The Peterborough halves caught the ball every time and the wings had their men marked to a standstill. Meagher, Gilbert, Regan, Craig and McDonald were in the game all the time and the Toronto wings were nonplussed. All the halves were playing a horse of a game. The play was becoming a little rough and Toronto tried to use their weight to the best advantage. The game ended with the ball about centre field. Final score 18—7.

When Bilious and Allow

REMEMBER THAT THE LIVER IS PROMPTLY SET RIGHT BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Many people are subject to periodical attacks of biliousness, sick headache, stomach troubles and bowel irregularities, who do not realise that the liver is especially responsible for this suffering.

Torpid, sluggish action of the liver is almost invariably accompanied by inactivity of the kidneys and bowels. The whole digestive and excretory system becomes clogged up and there is pain, discomfort and suffering.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, they effect a prompt and thorough cleansing and invigorating of these organs.

With all the poisonous waste matter removed, pains and aches disappear, the digestive system resumes its functions, the appetite is sharpened and health and vigour are restored.

As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have never had a rival for they get right at the cause of the common ills of human life and remove it. By their promptness and thoroughness they win the praise of all who give them a trial.

Mr. John Noyes, Ashburnham, Peterborough, Ont., states: "Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, with success, I can strongly recommend them. For a considerable time I was a sufferer from kidney disease and constipation, and besides being tortured by the shooting pains through the back, put up with the other annoying and often distressing symptoms of kidney disorder. At times I would go for three or four days without a motion of the bowels, and could get no relief.

"After using a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I was well again and feeling fine. This treatment seemed to be exactly what I needed and promptly brought relief and cure."

RUGBY.

The Tor.-Argos. were up against it on Trafalgar Day. The "big injuns" lost in Hamilton and the second team succumbed to the locals. Three Queen Citizens' probably "hoisht it" was the celebration of Waterloo.

The Manor School football team of Stanford, Conn., refused to play the High School of that place because a coloured man figured on the High School line-up. The Manor School is a Christian Science institution. Why didn't the scientists draw on their powers of imagination and fancy he was white?

• • • •

The game deserved a much larger gate but what the crowd lacked in size was made up in enthusiasm.

• • • •

The referee couldn't handle the teams properly. Peterborough demands just as good officials as any other place. As for the umpire, the crowd told him to get off the dough line.

• • • •

A large crowd is expected to go up to Toronto on Thanksgiving. The game will be well worth the trip. The city tournament is on that night and the sports that go up will have an opportunity of witnessing that.

• • • •

Shaw's kicking was a feature. Crowley never tackled so well as he did on Saturday.

• • • •

That Gilbert lad's a rotner.

• • • •

Mulhern at halfback played a good game. He can fill pretty nearly any position on the gridiron.

• • • •

The punt and follow up game is the best if the wings are fast. The locals demonstrated that on Saturday.

• • • •

Is Chris. Graham saving his energy for the hockey season? It's to be hoped so.

• • • •

Marsh hit Gilbert one nasty slip in the eye. Perhaps he got angry at "Skin". He was completely outclassed by the home man.

• • • •

Regan is a good man at outside wing. He's not afraid to "dig in".

• • • •

Walter Camp was the guest of the Hamilton club last Saturday and witnessed the Hamilton-Toronto Argonaut Senior C.R.F.U. game. Wonder what he thinks of the tigers?

HOCKEY

"Maggie" Whitcroft is getting into basketball. There's nothing will put him into better condition for hockey. "Whitty" is quite an all round athlete.

Peterborough will probably place a good seven on the ice this winter. If things pan out the way the management expects, a winning team should represent this city.

Correspondent Replies To "Bridgenorth"

Regarding the Dispute Over Football Trophy.

The Cup, in His Opinion, is Now Property of the Quakers.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Referring to the article in Saturday's issue of your paper, I might say that the excuses offered therein, by one who styles himself "Bridgenorth", for the "Noble" bunch of timber wrestlers holding the trophy so kindly donated by R. R. Hall, M. P., are very weak. I might say, as will be well known by your readers, that if Bridgenorth had simply to defend the cup, all they would have to do would be to line up in the goal, and the opposing team would be unable to make connections with the atmosphere on the other side of them, although they might bombard the goal continually (provided it is as good a team as "Bridgenorth" says they are.

Again, suppose Bridgenorth did understand that they had simply to defend the cup, and played the game with that understanding, if they afterwards learned from the donor of the cup, and also the directors in charge of same, that the cup had to be won (as they have been so informed) they would have shown more gentlemanliness and fairness by putting the cup up again for competition. This is a trick fit for a town of the yellow streak class.

"Bridgenorth" also says that his bunch are acting within their right by holding the up. This is certainly untrue, as they have been informed by R. R. Hall, and the Directors in charge of the cup that the tie must be played off. This game was to have been played on Riverside Park, on Saturday afternoon after the Ang—Peterborough game, but I presume the people from the wood'and did not want to see Peterborough score a double header. The cup donated by Mr. Hall, is now the rightful property of the Quakers, owing to the default of the Bridgenorth team to meet them on Saturday, but as is most natural the Quakers are letting Bridgenorth hold it for a little while, so that it will not go too hard with them.

If parting with the cup will affect them as much as ceasing to play association football for a couple of weeks, there surely will be some work for the undertakers. It is very seldom that a team will go so quickly out of shape in such a short time, and this is a very slim reason for not playing. As far as practice goes, the Quakers all have to work up to six o'clock, and after that time it is also too dark for them to practice. Perhaps there may be a game yet, this year, as the Quakers, I suppose, do not much care how long it takes the Bridgenorth team to get into shape.

If Bridgenorth were to hold the cup this year on this plea, and pray for pity, all they would have to do to get it next year would be to keep on working until six o'clock at night, and then when the time comes to play, look pleasantly at their opponents, and say over again, "Have pity on us, we are not in shape yet." Probably the same cry will arise when the last trump is sounded by the Angel Gabriel.

ONE INTERESTED.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Edward B. Bushnell, in writing for October "Physical Culture", says:—

"The pugilistic world has had a hearty laugh to itself over the position of championship ability by Hart, McCormick, and Ruhlin. The decadence of the once honourable sport of boxing was never made so evident as within the last few years. Crooked dealing is now become a part of the fighting game. The sport has fallen into such disrepute that honest men have no place in it. Indeed it is doubtful if the pugilistic arena contains a man who would not "fake" a fight if the proper inducements were offered. And then the boxers talk about the prejudice of legislators, who are trying to make their nefarious trade impossible!"

While there are probably more crooks in fighting and wrestling than in any other sphere of sport at the same time there are still plenty of honest men in the ring, men who have never faked a fight, men who have never been accused of doing so. Take for instance, Nelson, the lightweight champion, "Bob" Fitzsimmons, the greatest man the roped arena ever produced, and Jeffries, the present heavyweight champion. These men are all good, straight pugilists. There are lots of others, too, and Bushnell goes too far to include all as fakirs.

• • • •

A wrestling enthusiast has asked the sporting editor if the hero of Trafalgar was in any way responsible for either the hold or full "nelson."

BASEBALL.

An ambitious young pitcher on asking "Matty" Mathewson, the wonderful pitcher of the New York Giants, the secret of delivering the "spit" ball was informed by that worthy that the twirler had to put lots of "juice" behind it.

THE TURF.

Dan Patch did the mile in Toronto in 2.08. There was a pretty stiff breeze blowing and six thousand spectators witnessed the heat.

"The Model Husband" Was The Theme

Charlotte Street Church Was Filled to the Doors—Sermon Was Forcible and Instructive.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church last night Rev. W. J. Jolliffe preached a special sermon, taking as his subject "The Model Husband." Upon the week previous much interest was awakened by his sermon upon "The Model Wife," and the sequel to this was dealt with in last night's sermon. The continued interest was evidenced by the large congregation in attendance, which filled the church to overflowing, and for some time before the service commenced scarcely a seat was available. The subject was dealt with by the preacher in a forcible and instructive manner.

Rev. Mr. Jolliffe chose as his text two verses of the chapter read previously as a lesson, Ephesians v; 25 to 28.—Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it; that He might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word.

That He might present it to Himself as a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish. So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself.

The subject of the "Model Husband was, the preacher remarked in opening, one of very great importance. Some of the husbands present had doubtless got so far in life that little or no change might be expected. What do we mean by model husband? asked the speaker. The literal meaning of the word was the band of the house, or, in other words, the support of the house. There are many married men who are not husbands according to that definition,—many married men who do not keep their wives. Their wives keep them. The model husband will provide liberally to his wife.

The preacher then passed on to remark upon the evils of marrying for money. Men have no right to drag women into a life of desolation. When a girl is taken from her home in marriage, her husband should be willing to work, and to work hard, if necessary, for her happiness. The model husband will make her as comfortable as possible. We have in the present day many improvements unknown to our grandparents, and many of these will add greatly to convenience and comfort in housework. The husband should, so far as possible, provide these. Many, by their actions, display a want of confidence in their wives, and the latter are not allowed the liberty to which they are entitled in the small matters of life. Men are not model husbands who dictate to their wives about their clothing.

The model husband will also treat his wife as a companion, not as a servant. The preacher then made a humourous reference to the common conditions which obtain during courtship. Many young men who at that time found it impossible to go anywhere without their sweethearts, after marriage go everywhere without them. Thousands of young wives are left in their homes, while they are out enjoying themselves. There are some men whose homes are merely places where they eat and sleep—and groan. Husband and wife should stand side by side, not only in the drudgery of the kitchen, but in all the affairs of life—in sorrow, and in joy. Before marriage, many young men are scrupulously polite to their intended wife. The many cases in which the care and attention formerly manifested, vanishes after wedlock, was spoken of by the preacher.

The model husband is always a polite man. When a man is known to treat his sister unkindly, look out for him! The same nature which leads him to such discourteousness, will lead him to be discourteous to his wife.

The model husband will also respect his wife's convictions. The words of the text spoke of submission. This submission must be in love, and not tyrannical demands. The husband must, as explained in the text, represent Christ in the home. Religious differences should by all means be settled previous to marriage.

The model husband must be a sober man. God help a woman, said the preacher, who marries a drunkard. Girls have frequently expected to work a reformation after marriage. This is, the preacher pointed out, rarely accomplished. Not only should the husband be sober, but other necessary qualifications were a truthful, a straightforward, and a cleanly life.

He must above all, be a Christian. If we take Christ as our example, we will become model husbands. The word that sums up happiness in the home is Love.

A few words were next addressed to the young women present. As one who had seen more of life than had been within the possibility of those to whom he spoke, the preacher urgently advised them not to marry young men who frequented saloons, or those who were known as "fast" young men. Life is too serious to take so great a risk.

In speaking to young men the preacher urged them to live a true and honourable life. Many temptations were daily hovering upon their path. These should be avoided, and care taken that they be not led away by that which is immoral or unmanly.

Christianity places men and women side by side, and to it we are indebted. Love makes the home bright.

The preacher in his concluding remarks made a charming allusion to the manner in which the wives and daughters of the Trolese fishermen go to the shore in the evening on their return from their labours, singing as their boats approach. The husband joins in the melody, and they thus sing till their homes are reached. So we are, in our lives, out in the fog of difficulty. Why cannot we catch the strains from the heavenly shore, as we continue the fight, and later sing the same songs in our eternal home!

The Music.

The music was of an especially charming character. The anthem, a beautiful setting of "Abide with Me," was rendered with fine ensemble effect, the solos being taken by Miss Clara Belleghem and Mr. Freund.

A solo was also charmingly rendered by Miss Belleghem.

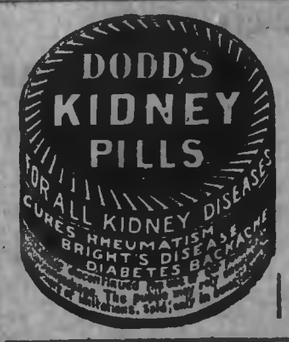
Why shouldn't it cure her?

Is it a complicated case? Thousands of such cases have been cured by "Favorite Prescription." Is it a condition which local doctors have declared incurable? Among the hundreds of thousands of sick women cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription there are a great many who were pronounced incurable by local doctors. Wonders have been worked by "Favorite Prescription" in the cure of irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"I commenced taking your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,' nearly a year ago for chronic inflammation of womb and can truly say it is the only thing that ever did me any good," writes Mrs. L. C. Wagner, of 118 Edwin Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. "I could not walk any distance before using it. After taking six bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I find I can walk without difficulty and am greatly benefited in general health. I would advise all suffering women to use Dr. Pierce's medicine."

Those are the Original Little Liver Pills, first put up over 40 years ago by Old Dr. R. V. Pierce. They've been much imitated but never equalled. Smallest, easiest to take and best. They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick and bilious headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved and cured. Permanently cured, too, by their mild and natural action. These little Pellets gently lead the system into natural ways again. Their influence lasts.



The Storm's Death Roll On The Lakes

Twenty-Two Lives Lost On the Sunken Lake Ships.

STORY OF THE MINNEDOSA

Crew, Knowing the Worst, Cut Tow Line In Order to Prevent Other Tows From Going Down With Their Craft — Barge Tasmania Sinks In Lake Erie—Expect to Hear of Other Disasters.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Latest returns from the storm which swept the great lakes for thirty-six hours, abusiding Saturday morning, increase the known death list to twenty-two and the number of vessels, either lost or badly damaged, to forty-two. Many boats are missing, and it is feared that these figures represent but a moiety of the gale's victims.

It is known that fifteen more men either are in imminent peril or already have been drowned. The death list probably will be swollen to thirty-six.

The barge Tasmania went down with its crew of seven off False Island, in Lake Erie, Friday morning. It also developed that the schooner Jones capsized in Lake Michigan, off Ludington, Thursday night. Four survivors of its crew and two bodies were picked up Saturday. A number of other wrecks in which the crews were saved also were reported Saturday.

CUT THE TOW ROPE.

Crew of the Minnedosa Go Down Saving Others.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—For a paltry few hundred dollars, the price of an increase in cargo, nine lives were snuffed out in the gale off Harbor Beach early Friday morning, when the schooner Minnedosa went to the bottom with her 75,000 bushels of wheat.

The story is told by Capt. Alex. Milligan of the steamer Westmount and Capt. R. A. Davey of the schooner Melrose, as their boats passed here yesterday.

All the way from Fort William, where the Westmount, Minnedosa and Melrose took on the last of their cargoes last Monday, the boats shoved their noses into the fierce winds and mountain waves.

True to Their Comrades.

In that final battle, eight miles off Harbor Beach, knowing their overloaded craft was doomed, the heroic crew of the Minnedosa, the first consort, cut the tow line connecting with the Melrose, the second consort, to prevent the latter being dragged to the bottom.

When those nine lives were swallowed up, not a cry was heard. Not a warning of peril came from the Minnedosa, and the crews of the steamer and of the other consort did not know when the sinking took place.

Mate John Black of Kingston, standing on the steel steamer, looked aft one moment, and the Minnedosa was plunging from crest to trough, creaking and snapping in the gale, that was breaking her to pieces.

Back of her, the Melrose was scarcely discernible in the darkness. She had been cut loose from the schooner ahead and was fighting it alone.

As in a Moment.

The mate turned to speak to Capt. Milligan. Again he looked.

"My God, captain, where is the Minnedosa?" he yelled above the storm.

The Minnedosa had disappeared.

When the steamer's steel cable that held the Minnedosa in tow was pulled in, the tow post of the sunken schooner was rooted from its fastenings and hoisted to the rail of the steamer. The tow-line had not broken.

For six long hours the captain of the Westmount tried to pick up the Melrose. Finally, at daybreak, the Westmount succeeded in her thirtieth attempt to throw her a line, and the Melrose was towed to Harbor Beach shelter.

Those who went down with the Minnedosa were: Capt. John Phillips, Kingston, Ont.; Mrs. Phillips, captain's wife; Arthur Waller, mate, Nova Scotia; George McDermott, Belleville, Ont.; James Allen, Nova Scotia, a passenger, and three sailors, names unknown to the captain of either the Westmount or Melrose, and whose homes are believed to be at Kingston.

Siberia Founders.

Buffalo, Oct. 23.—The steamer Siberia of Cleveland foundered on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie, Saturday afternoon. Capt. Benham and the entire crew were rescued.

A Mount Irwin Couple Marry

Miss Minnie O'Neil Becomes Bride of Mr. Jas. Hickey.

On Tuesday morning, October 17, a very interesting event took place at St. Mary's Church, Galway, when Rev. Father O'Leary, parish priest, united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Miss Minnie, youngest daughter of Mr. Thos. O'Neil, of Mount Irwin, and Mr. James Hickey, of Nelson, British Columbia, but formerly of Mount Irwin.

Promptly at nine o'clock the bridal party entered the church, to the strains of the wedding march, rendered by Mrs. Frank Maguire.

The bride looked exceedingly pretty attired in a costume of pearl grey silk voile with French knots, allover lace, and trimmed with cream silk and chiffon ruching. She wore a velvet hat to match; and carried a white prayer book and pearl beads, the gift of the bridesmaid.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Foley, of Lakefield, and teacher at Mount Irwin, who was tastefully costumed in a suit of pearl grey soliene, dotted with French knots, and trimmed with white silk, and allover lace, and wore a green velvet hat.

The groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. Maurice Hickey.

After the usual congratulatory addresses were expressed, the bridal party, accompanied by their many friends, drove to the residence of the bride's father. The morning was spent in a social manner, after which the guests retired to the dining hall, where a sumptuous dinner was served.

Besides being the recipients of presents more than usually costly and useful, which showed the esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends, the bride received a goodly sum of money.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold brooch set with pearls, and to the bridesmaid a gold seal bracelet. The gift of the bride's father was a $50 gold piece, and to the groom the same, and from the groom's father a $20 gold piece.

The bride's going away dress was a brown basket cloth, with brown velvet hat and wore a black ladies cloth furlined coat, trimmed with borwn sable.

The happy couple left on the 3.20 train amid showers of rice and good wishes, to sojourn among friends in Niagara, Buffalo and Detroit, after which they will leave for their future home in Nelson, B.C.

At the unveiling ceremony of a memorial to religious martyrs, at Heathfield, Sussex, England, who had been burned at the stake in 1557 two of the descendants of one of the martyrs attended.

THE DOWN-DRAFT FURNACE

Supplies the Deficiency Experienced in all other Furnaces.

It burns Wood, Hard or Soft Coal, or any kind of Fuel, without the usual inconveniences arising from escaping and noxious gases.

Owing to the principle of "Down-Draft," the combustion is perfect, consuming the fuel more completely, consequently there is less ashes and sifting is unnecessary.

It is Labor-Saving, because there is less fuel to handle and less ashes to take out, as everything that will burn is consumed.

The people who are using our Furnaces are most enthusiastic in their commendation of it.

They only need to be seen in operation to be appreciated and admired.

Attendance. Was Large At Gospel Meeting

Held Yesterday Afternoon at Y. W. C. A.

Miss A. Weir Gave an Interesting Talk to Self-Supporting Young Women —Bible Class on Tuesday.

Even though Sunday afternoon was unfavourable there was a good attendance at the Gospel meeting at the Y.W.C.A. Miss A. Weir spoke to self-supporting young women. Her talk was received with interested attention.

Judging from Proverbs xxxi there had developed in early Bible times a comparatively high ideal of womanhood; yet a knowledge of the customs of the times reveals to us that it was not to be compared to the ideal of our times. That ideal had made progress by the time of Paul, and again has made great progress since. We are not to be altogether guided by the practices of the early times in Jewish life. The Bible as our guide is a propounder of everlasting principles and not of everlasting practices. In the time of Paul women were absolutely provided for. Would the church of the present day take charge of widows, as it was told to do in the time of St. Paul? With the doing away of the communistic system, the position of women has changed. Woman is thrown upon her own resources, and with the principles that Christ has taught of honesty and justice, she decides to earn her own living. A desire to be honest to God for the talents He has given her, is often a demand that she should work. Woman, under ideal conditions, can find her highest development in the home, but conditions are not ideal, and, consequently, for many reasons, many women do not have their own homes.

Next Sunday Miss Potter will speak on the Y.W.C.A. work under Miss Donald in Japan.

This week Mrs. Williamson's Bible Study class at the Y.W.C.A. will meet on Tuesday evening at 8, instead of on Thursday.

Three Patriotic Services In Anglican City Churches

At St. Luke's Church.

A very large congregation was present on Sunday evening at St. Luke's church, to take part in the patriotic service commemorative of the Battle of Trafalgar, and the death of Nelson, October 21st, 1805. The hymns were suitable for such an occasion and special prayers were said from the Accession Service, and "for those at sea," as well as a thanksgiving prayer composed by Bishop Weldon. The choir sang an anthem, entitled, "O, Give Thanks unto the Lord," by Roland Smart, Miss K. Phillips taking the soprano solo.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached a patriotic sermon. He said that he had not chosen a text, but would on this occasion invite his people to take a retrospect of British history, especially as it related to the war with France, and to look into the future and consider the possibilities and resources of this glorious country, and the demands it made upon our loyalty and faithfulness. At both the morning and evening services the choir sang "God Save the King."

At St. John's Church.

At St. John's church last evening, in conformity with a mandament of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, a special patriotic service was conducted. There was a large congregation present, which included many of the non-commissioned officers of the Fifty-seventh Regiment in uniform, who occupied seats in the front of the church. The hymns were appropriate to the occasion. The offertory anthem was a setting of Kipling's "Recessional," in which the incidental solos were taken with excellent effect by Mr. Morphet. God Save the King was sung before the recessional hymn—"Onward, Christian Soldiers." The rector preached a most excellent sermon from the text found in Acts 18th chapter and 6th verse, "What thou oughtest to do," founding upon it a strong appeal to duty, and incidentally commending Lord Nelson as a strong example, whose battle was not an ordinary sea fight, but one in which Lord Nelson was used by God as an instrument to effect a mighty purpose, the spread of British influence and the great and good influences it represents — the protection and uplifting of the subjects of the empire, no matter what their creed or colour. The importance of doing one's duty was dealt upon forcibly and attention called to the revolution that would be effected if every citizen should do his duty towards God and his fellow-man.

At All Saints.

At the special Trafalgar Day service last night at All Saints' church an appropriate sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. W. Major, in commemoration of the occasion of Nelson's crowning victory.

The chancel was decorated in a fitting manner by the members of the Chalice Guild. Flags were attractively draped above the altar. The music was also most appropriate. As a voluntary, Miss Bullen, the organist, rendered De Koven's setting of Kipling's Recessional. The anthem, "The Lord in His Holy Temple," was rendered with beautiful effect by the choir. The National Anthem was also sung, and "Rule Britannia" was played as a closing voluntary.

Rev. Mr. Major spoke from the text, Psalms 44; 1,—"We have heard with our ears, O God; our fathers have told us, what work Thou didst in their days in the times of old."

The preacher emphasized strongly in the line of thought presented, the place of God in history. Our outlook in this regard, he pointed out, is, generally speaking, very narrow. If we want to understand correctly we must see God in history.

The speaker then traced God's hand through the history of the Egyptian, Assyrian, Prussian and Roman Empires, and passed thence down to the Reformation in England, when that country accepted the responsibility arising out of that movement, and accepted the Protestant faith. From that time forward she gradually developed and progressed till she attained her present leading position among the nations of the world.

It was pointed out that so long as she remains faithful to the trust, so long will she maintain the position; otherwise decline and decay are bound to ensue.

Special manifestations of God's hand was to be seen in the rejection of the Papal yoke and in the Spanish Armada. The battle of Trafalgar, by which England had been saved, was also an illustrious example. God, in His work and purposes, used instruments, of which Horatio Nelson was one.

In conclusion, the preacher drew three lessons upon the following subjects: The Love of Country; The Love of Our Fellowmen, and The Necessity of a Staunch Faith in God.

Rev. J. G. Lewis Steps Into George Street Controversy

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Your issue of Saturday last contains an account of some of the affairs of George street Methodist church. Of these affairs I know nothing save what through your paper was given to the public. I for one wish to protest against this kind of journalism. The matters you have thus published are just such that by your doing so can only encourage what every fair-minded citizen must deplore. There are sometimes in a church difficulties, that if left to the church would soon be overcome, and with which the public has no business. To give these to the public is to serve no good purpose, and by no means act the part of a friend to the church in a promoter of peace. If it is the part and work of a newspaper to serve out through its columns accounts of difficulties in the internal working of organizations, why pass over your own office in silence? Have you not found it possible to settle home of these in private, which if once sent broadcast through your news columns might never have been settled? I claim, sir, what you published should never have been given out by one interested in the church. Having reached you, it is unfortunate that you gave it wings through your widely circulated paper.

Yours, etc.,

J. G. LEWIS.

As will be seen, we publish the above correspondence from Rev. Mr. Lewis, who, at the same time, is respectfully reminded that it is not the intention of the Examiner to be controlled by what the pastor of the Mark street Methodist church has to say as to the functions and province of a newspaper, or the policy under which it should be conducted. From what we know of the matter of which the reverend gentleman's letter treats, the subject to with such ex cathedra exception is taken is no concern of the writer, who seems to have a happy faculty of rushing in to print apropos or rather malapropos of other people's affairs. Last summer he rushed into print to self-constitute himself the champion of the ministers who were out of town enjoying their holidays. He was not aimed at, and the other ministers were apparently able to take care of themselves. If the reverend gentleman will kindly allow the Examiner to attend to its own business, which, incidentally, is a matter of public concern, he will be conceded full liberty to attend to his and we fancy will be found. A newspaper is a private enterprise conducted in the public interest—to furnish information regarding what is of interest to the public. The public, by virtue of its investment in the form of subscriptions to the erection of church structures, representing every church in the city, of every denomination in the city, have an interest, have a right to know of conditions affecting the prosperity, so long as the information is given without malice and on authority believed to be absolutely reliable and responsible. Rev. Mr. Lewis does not show the best judgment in plunging into print in connection with which he has no concern and to bring the Examiner to the policy of glossing over difficulties of public moment, or crying peace when there is no peace. Rev. Mr. Lewis says, "Of these things I know nothing." Then he should say nothing.

Geo. Armstrong Visits The City

Former Peterborough Boy and Wife Renew Acquaintaces in Post-Nuptial Visit.

Mr. George Armstrong, a well-known Peterborough boy, and the hustling representative for Northway's well known garments, was in town this week in the interests of his firm. George speaks of business very encouragingly, but, of course, it was because of the "superiority of the goods I handle." He was accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong, who was making her first visit to Peterborough since their marriage, which occurred only a few weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong paid their respects to a number of intimate friends and were cordially received.

Late William Ince Buried

Prominent Toronto Business Man Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late William Ince took place yesterday afternoon amid many demonstrations of sorrow and sympathy with the relatives. The first portion of the beautiful burial service of the Anglican communion was read in Holy Trinity Church, where a large congregation had assembled to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased gentleman, who was the oldest member of the church, having been present at the consecration and opening of the building fifty-eight years ago, and a constant worshipper therein ever since.

Rev. Dr. Pearson, rector, officiated, while in the chancel Rev. W. J. Brain, curate of the parish, and his Lordship, the Bishop of the diocese, attended by Venerable Archdeacon Sweeny.

The pall-bearers were the four sons William, James, John H., and Geo. Ince, and two sons-in-law, Harry Patterson and A. D. Langmuir. There were a large number of floral tributes from public and private sources.

The mourners included eight grandsons.—William, Strachan, Gordon and Hugh Ince; Woodburn, Jack, Gavin, and Kenneth Langmuir; a nephew, W. H. Oates, and Ed. Perkins, a godson.

Typhoid in the Water.

The recent investigation of Peterborough's drinking water by the health authorities of Toronto shows that we are not entirely free from the danger of Typhoid. To avoid all danger some good mineral water should be used, such as Sanatoria Water. The cost will be small and in addition to absolute protection from a disease of this kind, it is also beneficial to the general health.

SPINAL MENINGITIS

HAS MADE ITS APPEARANCE IN CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Three-Year Old Son of Henry Cassels Died on Saturday From This Disease—One of the First Cases of This Kind in This City—Was Sick Only Twenty-Four Hours—Some of the Peculiarities of This Disease—Claim That it is Infectious—The Case Has Been Reported to the Board of Health.

The death of the three-year-old son of Mr. Harry Cassels, which occurred in East City on Saturday night, has caused some little anxiety among the residents of that part of the city.

There was a suggestion that there was some peculiar circumstances in connection with the death, one of them being the suddenness with which his death occurred. He was only sick for twenty-four hours, and on the day prior to his fatal illness was playing about the street.

The undertaker was seen by the Examiner last night in reference to the matter, and he stated that the doctor's certificate gave the cause of death as cerebro-spinal meningitis. The attending physician was Dr. Morgan, and he was communicated with by the Examiner. He stated that he had been called to attend the sick child and had found him suffering from meningitis. He had died about twenty-four hours after he was first taken ill. The matter had been reported by him to the acting Medical Health Officer.

Dr. Halliday was called in for a consultation on the case.

Cerebro spinal meningitis is an infectious disease, occurring sporadically and in epidemics. It is characterized by inflammation of the cerebro-spinal membranes, and is very irregular clinical course.

It is known by the names of malignant purpuric fever, petechial fever and spotted fever. Children are much more susceptible to the disease than adults, though susceptibility is different in different epidemics, in certain cases children alone being infected. In others it is chiefly among adults.

Cause of the Disease.

Among the common causes of the disease are over-exention, prolonged marching in the heat, depressing mental or physical surroundings and the misery and the squalor of the large tenement houses in cities are predisposing causes. The direct cause is a small microbe, the diplococcus of spinal meningitis; but science is still ignorant of the manner in which it invades the cerebro-spinal membrane.

The cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis may best be grouped into three classes:

1.—The malignant form.
2.—The ordinary form.
3.—Anomolous forms.

Symptoms.

The onset in the malignant form is sudden, usually with violent chills, somnolence, spasms of the muscles, great depression, moderate temperature, and feeble pulse. Usually a purpuric rash develops. Cases have been reported of a death within five hours of the onset of the disease.

The ordinary form usually sets in with headache, severe chill and vomiting; temperature 101 to 102; pulse full and strong; and early and well-marked stiffness of the muscles of the neck, the headache increases, and there is a dread of light and a great sensitiveness to noise. Children become very irritable and restless. Sometimes the muscles of the back are involved as well as those of the neck, when the body becomes quite rigid, and the head drawn so far back the occiput may be between the shoulder blades. A contraction of the inner or outer muscles of the eye is very common and spasms of the muscles of the face may also occur. Headache is a most prominent and persistent symptom from the outset. The pain is chiefly in the back of the head and extends into the neck and back. Delirum occurs at the outset, and this gives place in a few days to stupour, which, as the effusion increases deepens into coma. The temperature is irregular and variable; some cases with very little fever, in others it may reach 105 or 106, or before death 108. The pulse may be very rapid in children but in adults at first it is usually full and strong. Unless there is pneumonia, the respirations are not often increased in frequency. In over 50 percent. of the cases there is a petechial rash which gives it the name spotted fever. The vomiting may be a special feature at the outset but as a rule it gradually subsides. Diarrhoea is not common.

Course of the Disease.

The course of the disease is extremely variable. It may range between a few hours and several months. More than half the deaths occur within the first five days. A sudden fall in the temperature is a bad omen. Convalescence is extremely tedious and may be interrupted by many complications.

Anomolous Forms.

The anomolous forms are sub-divided into three classes,—the abortive, the intermittant, and the chronic form.

The mortality runs from 20 to 75 per cent., in children, the death rate being higher than in adults. Cases with deep coma, repeated convulsions and a high fever rarely recover.

Treatment of the Disease.

In the treatment of the disease cold to the head and spine is very beneficial, particularly if the temperature be above 102 1-2 degrees. Of internal remedies opium is the best while a host of other remedies are advocated. The diet should be nutritious, consisting of milk and strong broth. Many cases are difficult to feed, and Heubner recommends forced feeding with a stomach tube. Whiskey and brandy may be given freely where there are signs of heart failure.

W. Cunningham Is Remanded

Will Appear Before Magistrate Next Friday.

William Cunningham, the young man who attempted suicide yesterday and who staggered into the Oriental while under the influence of strychnine poisoning, was remanded at the police court this morning until Friday next. Cunningham has acquaintances in Montreal and Toronto, but only knows the address of his sister in Toronto, not having corresponded with the others for some time. He was very gloomy and despondant this morning and his features show the effect of the terrible struggle he had with the poison. Cunningham stated yesterday afternoon that he would have his life before night.

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those persons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $ 200. to $ 8000 for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $ 1000 to $ 2500. Farms also we have for sale. Men's Meeting Sunday Was Well Attended

An Instructive Address Was Delivered at Y. M. C. A.

Rev. J. G. Potter Spoke on "Samson, the Strong Weak Man."

One of the largest Men's Meetings of the season thus far was addressed by Rev. J. G. Potter at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday, a feature of the meeting the presence of a large number who had not attended before, including strangers.

Mr. Potter has the faculty of speaking effectively to men; his utterances always have that manly ring which finds a response in those who listen. Before the address, Mr. Geo. Allen sang "Outside the Heavenly Gates" in a manner which was highly appreciated.

Mr. Potter said Samson was one of the great problems of sacred story. He had a good start in life, but soon allowed his passion sto govern him. He has his representatives to-day in the too many men who go down defeated and disgraced.

The restraining influence of good women, of a mother, and early religious training were duly emphaizzed.

Samson was a man with some good friends, yet some bad enemies. His mistake was in yielding too much to the spirit of cordiality.

It takes a hard fight to make a great victor. We should conserve our young manhood.

Mr. Potter, in closing, drew many practical lessons. Social relationship should not interfere with religion—No matter what one's talents may be, all can be ruined by sin. Be true to God and do the work He purposed you to do. Do not defeat His plan for your life.

Sudden Death At Bensfort

A Toronto Boy Dies Suddenly of Appendicitis.

A sad and sudden death occurred on Tuesday, 17th inst., at the home of Mr. John Kerr, Bensfort, when Willie Pellow, of Toronto, a bright and intelligent lad of 12 years, passed away. Not having a strong constitution, his friends were anxious that he should spend the summer months in the country. This he had done for several summers, and his bright face and attractive manner won for him many friends there, who will miss him from their midst.

The little fellow was in his usual health, being at school on Friday and at church on Sunday, but on Monday he was suddenly stricken with acute appendicitis and he died on Tuesday in spite of all the remedies which medical skill could apply.

His parents Mr. and Mrs. Pellow, were at once informed of the sad affair and came to Bensfort that evening.

The funeral took place on Thursday from the residence of Mr. Kerr, interment being made in the Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough. Rev. J. E. Robeson had charge of the services at the house and Rev. Mr. Joliffe, of Peterborough, conducted the service at the grave. Six school Pmates acted as pall bearers. Much sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing parents in their sad and sudden bereavement.

If Subject To Salt Rheum

WHY NOT MAKE A THOROUGH AND LASTING CURE BY USING

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Many people write to tell us that they are attacked by salt rheum every spring and fall, and have been unable to obtain a cure.

Others write that they were formerly subject to salt rheum, but have been entirely cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

If you are suffering from salt rheum, eczema, or any form of itching skin disease, it is worth your while to make a test of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and you can do so with every confidence that the results will be lastingly beneficial.

On the first few applications you may find the ointment a little severe, but this is necessary for a proper cleansing of the sores so that the cure may be thorough.

Use warm water and Packer's Tar Soap only as often as is necessary for cleansing purposes and apply Dr. Chase's Ointment plentifully.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a worldwide reputation as a cure for the worst cases of salt rheum and eczema. It is not like experimenting with internal medicines when you use it, for you can see the benefit derived from day to day.

Mr. Peter G. Strohm, Deeswaville, Haldimand County, Ont., writes:—"About a year ago last spring my face began to break out in blotches and pimples, and used to itch and burn so that it was impossible to bear it. At last I went to the doctor and he pronounced it eczema and gave me a wash to apply. Though I returned to him repeatedly he was unable to help me.

"Reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment in an almanac I sent for a box and used it until entirely cured. Now I cannot praise this wonderful ointment too highly."

Whenever there is itching of the skin or a sore that will not heal, Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used with positive assurance of relief and cure. 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, is on every box.

Why Red Rose Tea is Economical

RED Rose Tea has all the good points of two good teas and none of the weaknesses of any. You never drank a cup of straight Ceylon or Indian tea that could compare in strength, richness, delicacy and fragrance with the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea.

Yet Red Rose Tea goes further and costs no more than either Indian or Ceylon teas alone.

Red Rose Tea is better than either Indian or Ceylon tea and is more economical because it goes further.

Thanksgiving Service At Murray Street

An Offering Was Taken for Missions Last Night.

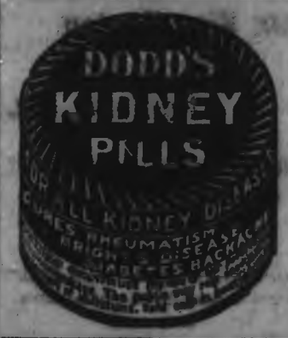
Interesting Meeting Held by B.Y.P.U.—Letters From Former Members.

Last night at the Murray street Baptist church the B. Y. P. U. held a meeting which was of more than special interest. It was a thank-offering service, and was very largely attended, the Sunday school room being filled. The room was very appropriately decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers, and presented a very pretty appearance.

Rev. F. J. Scott, the pastor, occupied the chair, and in opening the meeting gave an address along the lines of the theme of the service, that of thanksgiving. He enumarated some of the many things for which we should be thankful. Mr. Scott's address was very appropriate, and was inspiring.

One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the reading of replies to invitations to the meeting from former members of the society. Among those from whom letters were read were Rev. Mr. Bastow, of Renfrew, and Rev. J. E. Trotter, of Port Hope. Other letters were read from former members in Norwood, Toronto, Fairfield, Ont., New York City, and Los Angeles. From Toronto Mrs. (Mayor) Urquhart sent a letter. Mrs. (Rev.) F. J. Scott delighted the gathering with a vocal solo, and Miss Chas. Hidd was also heard in a much appreciated solo.

The proceeds of the meeting will be devoted to some missionary object.



A Patriotic Sermon By Rev. E. A. Langfeldt

Rector of St. Luke's Preaches a Sermon in Commemoration of the Battle of Trafalgar--Unity of the Empire Brings With it Responsibilities--Men of Timid Peace Are Not Admired--A Strong Patriotic Utterance.

On Sunday morning in St. Luke's a large congregation was present to participate in the patriotic services in commemoration of the battle of Trafalgar.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached a patriotic sermon. He said that he had not chosen a text, but would, on this occasion, invite his people to take a retrospect of British history, especially as it related to the war with France, and to look into the future and consider the possibilities and resources of this glorious country, and the demands it made upon our loyalty and faithfulness. At both morning and evening services the choir sang "God Save the King."

In part, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt said: The unity of the empire is secure so long as we continue to honour the memory of the men who by the tens of thousands died to preserve it. The dissolution of our unity with the mother country is impossible so long as we continue to inculcate lessons of fraternity, unity and patriotism.

But we must not forget that the unity of the empire, and the liberty which we enjoy under our glorious constitution, places upon us the gravest responsibility. We have the freest government on the face of the earth. Our strength rests in our patriotism. Anarchy flees before patriotism. Peace and order and security and liberty are safe so long as love of country burns in the hearts of the people. It must not be forgotten that liberty does not mean lawlessness. Liberty to make our own laws does not give us license to break them. Liberty to make our own laws commands a duty to observe them ourselves and enforce obedience among all others within their jurisdiction. Liberty is responsibility, and responsibility is duty, and that duty is to preserve the exceptional liberty we enjoy within the law, and for the law and by the law.

A life of ignoble ease, a life of that peace which springs merely from lack either of desire or of power to strive after great things, is as little worthy of a nation as of an individual. I ask only what every self-respecting man demands from himself, and from his sons, shall be demanded of the nation as a whole. We do not admire the man of timid peace. We admire the man who embodies victorious effort, the man who never wrongs his neighbour, who is prompt to help his friend but who has those virile qualities necessary to win in the stern strife of actual life. It is hard to fail, but it is worse never to have tried to succeed.

In this life we get nothing save by effort. Freedom from effort in the present, merely means that there has been stored up effort in the past. A mere life of ease is not in the end a satisfactory life and above all it is a life which ultimately unfits those who follow it for serious work in the world.

As it is with the individual, so it is with the nation. It is a base untruth to say that "happy is the nation that has no history." No, rather, "thrice happy is the nation that has a glorious history." Far better it is to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though chequered by failure, than to take rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much because they live in the grey twilight that knows neither victory nor defeat.

If in 1805 the men who loved England, had believed that peace was the end of all things, and had acted up to their belief, hundreds of thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars would have been saved. Moreover, besides saving all the blood and treasure which were then lavished, the heart-break of many women and the dissolution of many homes would have been prevented. All this suffering could have been avoided had England shrunk from strife. But if free Englishmen had thus avoided the conflict, they would have shown that they were weaklings and that they were unfit to stand among the great nations of the world. Thank God for the iron in the blood of Nelson and his associates, the men who upheld the wisdom of Pitt in accepting the fight forced upon England by the arrogant and upstart Emperor Napoleon Buonaparte. Let all Britons, as the successors of the men who proved themselves equal to the mighty days—let them, the posterity of the men who carried the great war with France to a triumphal conclusion, praise the God of our fathers that ignoble counsels of peace were rejected, that the suffering and loss, the blackness of sorrow and despair were unflinchingly faced and the years of strife endured, for in the end England remained unconquered, the great English nation which had been gradually raised by the wisdom and virtue of noble men, still stood the one country in that age where freedom in any sense remained alive.

We of this generation do not have to face a task such as that of generations past, but we have our tasks, and woe to us if we fail to perform them. We cannot be content to rot by inches in ignoble ease within our borders, taking no interest in what goes on beyond them; sunk in a scrambling commercialism, heedless of the higher life, the life of aspiration, of toil and risk; busying ourselves only with the wants of our bodies for the day, until suddenly we should find beyond a shadow of a question, that in this world the nation that has drained itself to a career of unwarlike and isolated ease is bound in the end to go down before other nations which have not lost the manly and adventurous qualities. If we are to be a really great people we must strive in good faith to play a great part in the world.

No country can long endure, if its foundations are not laid deep in the material prosperity which comes from thrift, from business energy and enterprise, from hard unsparing effort in the fields of industrial activity; but neither was any nation truly great if it relied upon material prosperity alone. All honour must be paid to the architects of our material prosperity; to the great captains of industry who have built our factories and our railways, to the strong men who toil for wealth with brain or hand, for great is the debt of the nation to these and their kind. But our debt is yet greater to the men whose highest type is to be found in the devotion as displayed by Nelson and Pitt. They showed by their lives that they remembered the law of work, the law of strife. They toiled to win a competence for themselves and those dependent upon them, but they recognised that there were yet other and even loftier duties,—duties to the nation and duties to the law.

We cannot sit huddled within our own borders and constitute ourselves merely an assemblage of well-to-do hucksters who care nothing for what happens beyond, but we must with our lives, our means, our support loyally stand by the mother country in her great work of still continuing stronger and stronger the ties that bind together the great empire to which we belong. The work must be done, we cannot escape, our responsibilities and if we are worth our salt, we shall be glad of the chance to do the work,—glad of the chance to show ourselves equal to the expectations of the kin and the mother country; that in the matter of Imperial unity and Imperial loyalty, "Canada will do her duty."

Let us as we value our own self-respect, face the responsibilities with proper seriousness, courage and high resolve. We must demand the highest order of integrity and ability in our public men who are to grapple with these problems. We must hold to a rigid accountability those public servants who show unfaithfulness to the interests of the nation, or inability to rise to the high level of the new demands upon our strength and our resources.

I preach to you, then my brethren, that our country calls not for the life of ease, but for the life of ceaseless endeavour. The 20th century is with us big with the fate of many nations. If we stand idly by, if we seek merely slothful ease, and ignoble peace, if we shrink from the hard contests where men must win at hazard of their lives and at the risk of all they hold dear, then the bolder and stronger people will pass us by and will win for themselves the domination of the world. Let us therefore boldly face the issue, resolutions to do our duty well and manfully for god and country, resolute to uphold righteousness by deed and by word; resolute to be both honest and brave; to serve high ideals, yet to use practical methods. Above all let us shrink from nothing, in the cause of spreading the Kingdom of God as well as extending the influence of our God-given country, within or without the nation, provided we are certain that the strife is justified; for it is only through strife through hard and dangerous endeavour, that we shall win the goal of our national greatness.

Woman Thrashed A Negro Footpad

The sight of a pretty and well-dressed young woman kneeling on the chest of a struggling, sputtering negro, and beating a tattoo on his face with her little fists, drew a cheering crowd to Central Park West and Sixty-third street early last evening.

The young woman was Miss Mary Stickler, of No. 161 West Sixty-third street, whose muscles have been hardened by a thorough course in basketball and bag punching. The negro, a lad, sixteen years old, was struggling to get free, but the woman held him fast, and the crowd, seeing that she had the better of the argument, did not interfere, but cheered her on until Policemen McCarty and Donohue ran up. When they got a firm hold on the negro's collar the girl arose and shook her clothes into shape. Her face was full of colour from her exertion, but she was not a bit excited or scared.

She said that she had been walking up the avenue along the park wall, when the negro passed her and tried to snatch her chatelaine bag out of her hand. She jerked it away from him, and he seized her by the throat. There were no others within a block of the struggling pair, so the girl had to fight her own battle.

With a dexterous twist of her foot, she tripped her assailant, and as he fell she sprang upon him and held him so that he was powerless to resist. Then she began the rapid tattoo on his nose that didn't end until the policeman appeared.

The crowd followed to the West Sixty-eighth street police station. As they passed Sixty-fifth street and Broadway a curb-stone political meeting broke up, and the spellbinders and audience joined the procession. When they heard the story, they said the negro had not been punished enough. They tried to take him away from the two policemen, and, though they failed, the negro got a bad bumpering from the crowd. — New York World.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Many persons, possibly animated by prejudice, seem to think that as temperance propagandists the Royal Templars are extreme, but so long as their extreme sentiments take the form of a concert in aid of the funds of the Children's Aid Society there will be none to say them nay, for a more praiseworthy enterprise than assisting the work of an excellent and necessary organization like the Children's Aid Society cannot easily be named. At the root of the activities of the society is the idea of prevention, which had all the merit of superiority in morals that it has in the domain of disease. Not only are neglected and dependent children rescued from lives of neglect and suffering, but they are placed in environments which result, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, in their developing into useful and virtuous members of society, instead of graduating from the school of vice as criminals. It seems an arbitrary and cruel act to separate a child from its mother, even though that mother be drunken and debauched. But it must needs be done; the moral and physical salvation of the child demands it, not only in the interests of the child, but oftentimes of the mother, for the removal of her child often rouses the good that lies at the bottom of the basest heart, wakes the mother's love for her young that is so hard to die, rouses or resurrects the dormant or dead conscience, and possibly leads to resolves to lead a better life so as to be made worthy of the renewed custody of her child. These may be quixotic possibilities, but they are possibilities; and it is by striving to accomplish the remotest and most elusive of possibilities that the greatest achievements are effected. It is to be hoped that the entertainment in benefit of this most useful and necessary society will be generously dealt with by the public—in the Murray street Baptist church to-night.

GRAVE CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.

A curious complication has arisen at Hastings, and the guillotine of the Whitney Government is responsible for it. Mr. Alex Wilson of that village, issuer of marriage licenses was one of the minor officials who came under the ban. An order for his dismissal was passed and de facto Mr. Wilson ceased to be an issuer of marriage licenses. But the letter containing the notice of his dismissal was delayed several days and in the meantime Mr. Wilson had been issuing marriage licenses. Now the delicate question arises whether or not these licenses are legal. If they are not legitimate, then the matrimonial contracts based upon them come into the same class and the same will logically apply to the issue of marriages contracted under such conditions. Its "up to" Hon. Mr. Whitney to submit a test case to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council in order to secure a pronouncement which will be authoritative in settling a question which cannot fail to have an otherwise unsettling effect upon the persons affected and form a new one of the distinguished precidents upon which the British constitution is based. Hon. Mr. Whitney has an undoubted right to wield the official axe, but he should make sure that the decapitated official should not exercise his functions after he is officially dead. Mr. Wilson it seems was an excellent official and nothing but the exigencies of the spoil system, justified his dismissal with the resulting complications.

NIGHTLY GATHERING OF INCORRIGIBLE BOYS CAUSE OF ALARM

A Shack Erected on Banks of Creek the Scene of a Nightly Meeting of Boys Who Play Cards and Drink Beer--A Wild Western Style Which the Boys Are Emulating—Residents of the Vicinity are Alarmed—Police Notified and They May Stop the Meetings.

Those who visit the vicinity of Hicks' and Fitzgerald's wood yards, will see a shack erected on the south side of the creek, which separates the two yards, and this innocent looking structure is not as harmless as one would think, judging from its appearance.

It seems that the hut was built by a number of boys, from 12 to 16 years of age, who live in that neighbourhood, and who have made the woodyard a rendezvous for their nightly gatherings. It was constructed out of odds and ends of lumber picked up around the yards, and with its construction the meetings of these dozen boys took on a different and more dangerous form.

It appears that recently the boys have been gathering in their shack, and the principal diversion has been that of card playing, and the statement is also made that a can of beer is usually spirited into the shack, and the boys imbibe rather freely of the liquid, the result being that some of them are taken home in a condition which is bordering on intoxication. Recently the residents of the neighbourhood have become rather alarmed at the state of affairs which has developed, and the nightly carousals of the boys have aroused them to take action.

It was feared that in the excitement of the game, and in one of the frequent scuffles the coal oil lamp, which, with an old lantern, serves to illuminate the shack, would be upset and the place set on fire. The close proximity of the wood piles of the Fitzgerald lumber yard is looked upon by the owners with alarm, and the boys have been told that they will have to find some other place in which to meet. The police have also been notified of the fact that the boys' presence is a danger to the property in the vicinity, and it is probable that they will put a stop to what is constituting a source of annoyance and danger to the residents and property owners.

The shack is a crude structure, the sides being covered with tar paper, and the roof shingled. One small window admits a dim light, and entrance is secured through a door which would hardly admit a full-grown man.

A bench runs around three sides of the building, and at almost any hour of the day some of the boys who frequent the place may be found there, but after school hours and in the evening the shack is almost filled.

Doubtless the parents of the boys who have made this gathering place will be very pleased if the police and the residents affected are able to succeed in their efforts to break up the rendezvous, which undoubtedly has the effect of lowering the morals of the boys who gather there.

Mr. J. S. Larke Arrived This Morning

All Is Not Smooth Sailing in Labour Circles in Antipodes.

Canadian Trade Commissioner Will Speak at Board of Trade Meeting To-night.

Mr. J. S. Larke, Canada's Trade Commissioner in Australia, who will speak at to-night's Board of Trade meeting, arrived in the city this morning from St. Catharines. The present is the first visit to Peterborough of Mr. Larke, in eleven years, his last one having been in conjunction with Sir Mackenzie Bowell, just previous to his departure for the Antipodes in December, 1894.

Seen this morning by the Examiner, Mr. Larke talked interestingly with regard to industrial and other pertinent matters in the island where he now resides. Speaking with reference to the arbitration method of dealing with the labour difficulties, of which so much has been said, both adversely and favourably, Mr. Larke states that it has not been accomplishing what was hoped for it. In New South Wales, the government legislation providing for arbitration, has not prevented strikes. It has so far only been successfully enforced against employers. The difficulty in the working out satisfactorily of the system, is the fact that, while the employers can be dealt with, and fines imposed when necessity demands, this is not the case as to the employees, with whom, as a little reflection will show, there can be no means of satisfactorily dealing, when they refuse obedience to the Act. True, it is, as Mr. Larke points out, that they may be indicted, but the success of this course is in most instances precluded by the number of men to be dealt with.

Many assert that in New Zealand the system has resulted satisfactorily, but this, Mr. Larke explains, has been the result wholly of favourable circumstances. In that country wages have, since its adoption, been steadily increasing, and difficulty will be the inevitable result when a decline occurs. The people of the island colony have already found that the cost of manufacture of many lines of merchandise, is so great, that importation of the manufactured articles has, in many instances, become imperative. This is certain to result in a reduction and, consequently, labour difficulties at a sooner or later date.

In New South Wales, where a reduction was recently made, an understanding was arrived at, not through the medium of the Court, but between the labourers and the employers. The strike resulted in spite of the act, and the Court of Arbitration was utterly unable to deal with the matter. Public opinion and not the Act induced the employees to come to an arrangement. It is most probable that when a period of depression and the wage-reduction incident arrives, that the act will prevent strikes.

Speaking with reference to the general attitude of the public toward Canada, Mr. Larke stated that the feeling is most friendly though a slight jealousy may be said to exist. The recent reflections said to have been made in Australia upon the Canadian climate, in his opinion should not be considered seriously. Exaggerations were frequent in the cable service. He admitted, however, that the people of Western Australia naturally felt a certain amount of jealousy over the success of the Canadian Immigration Policy. They had attempted similar movements but with very indifferent success.

How can they expect to secure the results which Canada did, Mr. Larke asked, when to use a slang phrase, "they haven't got the goods?" In the first place there is at present an army of 30,000 unemployed men in the country. This fact alone, without taking into consideration the quality of the land, may scarcely be expected to attract immigrants, in any considerable number. The land in the centre of the country is good pastoral, and in some sections, good agricultural land, but this is surrounded by a vast territory of what is practically desert.

Mr. Larke did not wish, of course to enter into any discussion of trade conditions, as this subject will be dealt with in detail in his lecture which will deal largely with the Australian export trade and its effect upon the industries of this country. Hence the speaker will be glad to meet not only the manufacturers but the general public as well.

Mr. Larke, who has been in Canada since July will return to Australia on Nov. 10th.

TWO ENTRANCES: George and Hunter Streets

A Delightful Birthday Party

Mrs. Robt. Wright, Albert street, celebrated her birthday yesterday in a very pleasing manner. She is the efficient organist of the Park street Baptist church, and last night she entertained the pastor and Mrs. Brace, the deacons with their wives, and the members of the choir.

A pleasant evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and games, Mr. Moore, of Brockville, giving several solos, which delighted his hearers.

A dainty lunch was served about 10.30, and was not the least pleasing feature of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright spared no trouble or expense in royally entertaining their friends.

Before separating, the pastor read the Scriptures, and two brethren led in the devotional exercises, thus closing a most pleasant and profitable evening.

Mr. Wm. Bunton Returns From Portland, Me.

Newly Elected President of Canadian Ticket Agents Association.

Had a Most Enjoyable Time in Seaside City—One of the Best Conventions Ever Held.

Mr. William Bunton, local up-town G. T. R. ticket agent, recently elected president of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association, arrived home from Portland last night, on the 5.35 G.T.R. express.

Mr. Bunton gave the Examiner a very interesting interview this morning, in reference to the Canadian Ticket Agents' Convention, and spoke very highly of the hospitable treatment, and general good time, accorded him and the rest of the party at the sea-side terminus of the Grand Trunk Railway.

Mr. Bunton reached Portland on Saturday night, October 14th, and remained there until Thursday, October 19th. The party met at Montreal, and went over the G.T.R. from that city to Portland. The route taken for the return trip was the Maine Central and Boston and Maine Railroad. The White Mountains were passed through, and the party changed cars at Johnsbury Junction. From this point the C. P. R. was taken for Montreal, and here the gathering dispersed, the several members returning to their various homes.

While at Portland side trips were taken to Old Orchard Beach and other places of interest. A clambake was tendered the members of the convention at Tony Island, Casco Bay, by the Casco Bay Steamship Company, on Tuesday, and on the same evening the citizens of Portland entertained the visitors at a banquet in their honour.

At the business meeting which was held on Monday, the election of officers took place and, as has been previously announced, Mr. Bunton was chosen to fill the president's chair, and Mr. W. J. Mollroy, up-town C.P.R. agent, the 1st vice-president's seat of honour.

Special trains were provided by the different railways during the entire travels of the party, and the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association wishes to heartily thank the companies for the many courtesies extended to them.

The luxury of modern travel, which the agents enjoyed in full, greatly added to the pleasure of travelling.

Representatives from many parts of Canada attended the convention. The north was represented by Manitoulin, the south and west by Niagara Falls and the east by Halifax.

Mr. Bunton stated that the opinion of every one who attended the convention, was that it was the most enjoyable assembly ever graced by the members of the Association.

Illustrated Lecture At T. A. S. Rooms

Graphic Descriptive Address by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

Mr. R. M. Roy Presented Illustrations Russian-Japanese War—Charming Musical Programme.

The illustrated lecture given last night in the T. A. S. Rooms, was, in every respect, a most pleasing event and, in addition to the keen delight which it gave the large audience which attended, was most instructive.

The views of the Japanese-Russian War, presented by Mr. R. M. Roy, were wide in their scope, and of a character so varied as to prevent any feeling of monotony. The pictures were entirely artistically coloured photographs, secured, it is unnecessary to say, under the most difficult circumstances, and at a large expense. During the second part of the programme a series of Canadian views were presented. Scenes of leading interest from the Atlantic to the Pacific were presented, including many points of historic interest. Among these was one of special local interest, and, it may be said, highly prized by Mr. Roy. This was a picture of the arrival in Winnipeg of the Midland Battalion, en route to the scene of the rebellion.

The various scenes as they were presented were described in a most graphic and interesting manner by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The speaker prefaced his address by remarking upon the many and widespread changes consequent upon the war, and the increased prestige of the Japanese as a nation, as a result of their marvellous victory over the Russians. The many lessons lessons taught to the world by the war were also commented upon.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Robert Bagley.

The first number was a pianoforte duet by Misses Doherty and McCabe. The selection was charmingly rendered with spirit and musicianly expression.

A vocal solo by Miss Delaire, was heard with great pleasure by the audience, which manifested its appreciation in sustained applause.

A vocal solo was rendered by Miss Loretta Clancy, with charming expression and effect. Mr. Maskie also drew a most enthusiastic recall from the audience, by his vocal contribution.

The accompanists who performed their duties with taste and expression were Misses Doherty and McCabe.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

A Canadian Writes Article On Trotting Horse In Canada

An instructive and interesting article on "The Trotter in Canada" was written for the last number of Rod and Gun by Mr. Fred. Abraham, Montreal. It reads:—

"The early history of the trotting horse in Canada is involved in a great deal of obscurity; no attention was paid to his breeding or development and his speed at the now popular gait was supposed to be the result of chance or accident, or one of those sports in which Nature case in a while is wont to amuse herself. Certain it is that long before the trotter had obtained any status in Upper Canada he was looked upon as of more value in the Lower Province among the French Canadian habitants. Upper Canada horse buyers early understood that if their Gallic friends could not converse in their English dialect they had early learned the importance and worth of the word "trot". Devoid of anything else the pony of the habitant had this gratification in the eyes of the owner.

"Several theories have been advanced as to the cause of the Lower Canada pony being so strongly imbued with the trotting instinct. This was so thoroughly in him that the effects of the whip would not compel him to change his mode of going. However, tenable these theories, or rather surmises, may have been to their originators they have not been at all satisfactory to the student in trotting lore. The most reasonable suggestion has been that among the many horses brought from France and Normandy by the original settlers of the new Province of Quebec, some were of the strains of blood, and their mating on the cold-blooded mergies of the settlements produced families of trotters known now as the St. Lawrence, Pilots, Black Hawk, Copperbottom, and others.

The Morse Horse, said to be by a Norman imported from Canada into the States, excited a good deal of influence on the stock in the section of the St. Lawrence and tends to uphold the suggestion of the common or uncertain origin of the families above noted. However, it is not so much with them as with their descendants I have to deal. The get of the St. Lawrence has never been identified as a family of merit. It must have been along in the 40's when the old horse was in his prime. He was one of the fatest of the early trotters and could speed, it is said, well down in the thirties, a great clip in those days, and one that is yet to be recognized as fast when it is considered the rigging they had then and the class of tracks they had to trot over.

"Copperbottom was a pacer and taken from Canada to Kentucky early in the present century, where he did much to improve the gait of the stud in that section.

"Of Pilot, like the rest, there is no trace of his origin, but it is said he could both pace and trot. It has been asserted he paced a mile in 2.25 with 165 lb. on his back, but too much stress must not be laid on this statement considering the methods of timing in vogue at that time. Anyhow he got Pilot, Jr., the sire of Pilot Temple, and Tattler, the sire of Voltaire. Pilot Jr. was also the sire of Miss Russell, the dam of Maud S., the queen of the turf. This is enough without any further investigation of the value of Canada Pilot blood in the American trotter.

Columbus, the old horse, was a chestnut, foaled about 1820, and was bred "about forty miles below Montreal." He got Young Columbus, the sire of Com. Vanderbilt, Harry Harling, Mignet Perry, Phil Sheridan, etc. Phil Sheridan's dam and grand dam were both bred in Canada, so the native blood was very strong in his veins. Sheridan's get are well-known—Hiram Woodruff, once owned by J. P. Wiser, Prescott, having been in the most prominent of any owned in Canada, although the mare, Phyllis, 2.11¼, owned by Charlie Wagner, at Dickinson's landing, and that died at sea proved the strongest kind of rival of his as representative of Phil in Ontario.

"The dam of Henry Clay the founder of the American trotting family bearing that name, was a Canadian-bred mare—Surrey, owned by Mr. Geo. M. Patchen, of Brooklyn, N.Y. Others which might be mentioned among the Lower Canada stud horses are Grey Eagle, Andrew Jackson, Canada Chief, Snow Storm, Coeur de Lion, etc., who are supposed to all have a common origin—the Norman Horse—and whose prepotent power is seen to this day, among the trotting stock on both sides of the St. Lawrence.

"Old Tippoo, foaled about 1817 in the vicinity of Belleville, commenced a new family of trotters. He got Warrior, and Warrior got Royal George, "the Dougherty Horse", from whom the present popular family of horses takes its name. Royal George was a strong sire and left his mark when he got Toronto Chief, who in turn got Thomas Jefferson, the winner of the great stallion race at Buffalo, N. Y., when he beat Snowgier, Manbrino Gift, Pilot Temple and Joe Brown, the last of whom was later owned in Canada, near Ottawa. The Tippoos, in the Belleville district, the Warriors in Western Ontario and the Royal Georges and Toronto Chiefs in the central part of Ontario, are all one family, distinguished only by the name.

"Besides Toronto Chief, his greatest son, Royal George, sires many other stallions who have upheld the honour of the family. Clara (Crazy Jane), by the Sager Horse, by Tippoo, was one of the first Canucks to get in the magic 2.30 list. While there are many representatives of the Hambletonian family in Ontario they do not appear to have been more successful as sires

RUGBY.

Today's Globe says:—

The Thanksgiving Day Rugby attraction will be the game between the Toronto-Argos and Peterborough. These teams met last Saturday, and Peterborough proved themselves too good for the combination intermediates on the Peterborough grounds. The Argos were handicapped by being unable to take three of their best players with them, and were only beaten after two of their half-backs were injured. With a strong team they should reverse the result. Peterborough will come up with a big crowd. The game will be played at Varsity Athletic field at 3.00 p. m., sharp.

• • • •

The Senior Cresents will play the Trinity College School II. team here on Thanksgiving Day. The old scrimmage game will be played for one half of the game and the Burnside rules for the other half. The Cresents are a good fast team and the game should be well worth witnessing. Arrangements are being made for the Riverside Park.

• • • •

The Toronto papers are raising a great howl over the alleged bad treatment the Toronto-Argos received at the hands of the home team last Saturday. It is a mystery to the spectators of the game why they should shower such abuse on the Peterborough boys. While Anglin, the full back, got his rib broken, the game was not unduly rough, and casualties are bound to occur in every match. The Hamilton Tigers are nasty, rough things, so there! If Toronto teams can't take their bumps, goodness knows they're big enough, they should get off the gridiron for keeps.

• • • •

At Williamintic, Conn., Saturday last John C. Deniders died from injuries received while playing Rugby. He was found lying on the ground after a scrimmage and expired shortly after he was carried off the gridiron. Soon after his brother was kicked in the eye and sight of the optic destroyed.

Oh, it is a lovely game — American Rugby!. Such casualties are a common occurrence and the death roll of the Rugby field rivals that of the Spanish American war.

• • • •

Last Saturday evening while the Argos were returning home from Peterborough they were grouped in a car explaining how it happened. Referee McKay thought that what would be against the Peterboroughs in the return match on Thanksgiving Day would be "stage fright." The Peterborough boys have been in Port Hope, and Belleville, and Lindsay, and besides, they make runs into the country, and there is a pork-packing factory within the city limits, so that there does not seem to be much danger of the sight of "Hogtown" striking terror into their souls.

• • • •

The proposed Crescent-T. C. S. I. game will not be played on Thanksgiving Day, as word has been received from Port Hope that the college team will be unable to be here on that day.

• • • •

Dey, a former Rochester player, made an exceptionally good showing with the Toronto-Argonauts at Peterborough on Saturday, and it is altogether likely that he will be given a chance to display his worth in senior company before the season ends. He is a steadily built chap, and a fine drop kick.—Globe.

• • • •

Judging from the stories told by the Toronto-Argo interpeditors, the game at Peterborough on Saturday was not of the parlour variety by a long shath. The heavy aggregation played clean ball until the visitors got in front, and then they cut things loose generally. Charging, scragging and piling on in the mêlée were common offences. Hunter-hised the hunky, it is said, was prominent in the rough work.—Globe.

• • • •

To McPherson and Lash belongs the credit of Varsity's victory at McGill, though the whole back division were in the game all the time. Lash, in the period when Toronto caught up on McGill's head, played magnificently, and his clever kicks was due the fact that Varsity won also the game. He scored the first point for Toronto by a clever run around the scrimmage for thirty-five yards and over the line. To McPherson fell the honour of the second score. McLaughlin, in trying to clear from his own line, kicked low. The ball bounced off a Varsity player's back into McPherson's hand, and he was over in a flash. He then kicked the goal, practically pinching the game.—Mail and Empire.

• • • •

The team will practice to-night at 8 o'clock in the Brock street rink. This will be the last workout before the game with the Toronto-Argonauts on Thanksgiving Day. The team committee is also requested to be on hand to pick the twelve that will represent Peterborough in the Queen City.

TURF.

A meeting of the directors of the turf club will be held in the Ontario Bank Board Room to-morrow afternoon at 2.30. Important business will be transacted and arrangements for the winter meet will be made.

• • • •

The article printed upon this page upon the "Trotting Horse in Canada," by Mr. Fred. Abraham, of Montreal, is a valuable contribution to harness horse lore, its most interesting feature being the prominent share Canadian horses have had in developing the trotting strain. It seems that most of our best trotters have made their way across the border, and, no matter what their achievements in the way of get or track records, no great effort was made to connect them with their source—Canada. However, we have one promising trotter, Maud Keswick, foaled and bred in this country, by Mrs. Charles Fife (of Otonabee) who also bred Jim X and Dolly Keswick, and must feel like kicking himself for not being prophet enough to see what latent lightning in the shape of speed the mare contained. Maud Keswick shows signs of making a new turf record for straight trotting for her present owner, Mr. O. H. Sheppard, of Toronto, thinks she will beat Dan Patch's best time on the fast track as she beat it this summer in the race for the Tennessee Stakes.

• • • •

The Eastern Ontario Circuit met in the Iroquois, Toronto, last Saturday. Dates were arranged and all preparations made for this winter's race meets.

• • • •

Mr. H. Cooke has the following horses on his training string:—Little Jap, Minnie Bell, Expelled, Miss Paisley and a two-year-old colt by Chimes. A three-year-old colt owned by Mr. Art. Elmhirst, of Otonabee will be added to this list by the first of next month. Mr. Cooke has the horses stabled at the Maple Leaf Hotel, East City.

HOCKEY

The Brantford Expositor says: The local hockey situation is still uncertain in detail, but pretty well defined in general. In a word, there is to be a junior O. H. A. team, and possibly a professional aggregation, although the latter is by no means definite. The greatest uncertainty, however, exists in regard to the manner in which the junior team shall be selected. The Victorias desire the enter their whole team and are willing to drop none. On the other hand others argue the team should be representative of the entire city. In the end the latter view is likely to prevail.

Ed. Howell is mentioned as a probable defence man if the Brantford pros. ever got going.

BASKET BALL.

The Brown'as will play a picked team in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium tonight at seven o'clock. A full attendance is requested as the team goes to Kingston on Thanksgiving Day to play the Queen's College aggregation. After the practice the Brown'as will be the guests of Mr. Gordon Miller.

• • • •

The following members of the Arrows will go to Toronto on Thanksgiving Day for their game with Toronto Central in the evening: Defence, Loomis and Darling; centre, Hodgson; forwards, F. Greasman and Laing; spare, Yelland. Ross Dobbin will have charge of the team and will handle our whistle at the game.

Robt. Howland Gets His 21st

He has been meeting with splendid success on his early morning fishing expeditions this season, and is naturally somewhat elated over his record.

EXPLANATORY.

Rev. J. G. Lewis called at the Examiner office this morning to explain that his remarks in reference to his knowledge of the George street Sunday school matter, as contained in his letter of yesterday, and commented upon by the Examiner, were misunderstood. He says that he did not say in his letter, "Of these things I know nothing," but he said in his letter, "Of these affairs I know nothing, save what through your paper was given to the public." This explanation is made in deference to Rev. Mr. Lewis' intimation that such explanation was necessarily due him, though in what way it alters the situation, or weakens justification for the comments made, is for the reader to decide.

DANGER SIGNALS.

No engineer would be mad enough to run by the flag which signaled danger. It is different with the average man or woman. They attempt constantly to run by the danger signals of Nature and that attempt costs thousands of lives every year. When the appetite becomes irregular or entirely gives out, when sleep is troubled and broken, when there is a constant feeling of dullness and languor, Nature is hoisting the danger signal. The stomach and its allied organs are failing in their work and the body is losing the nutrition on which its strength depends.

Such a condition calls for a prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies and enriches the blood and builds up the body with sound, solid flesh.

"I have had so much benefit from your medicines am glad to say a few words that you may use for publication," writes Mrs. J. R. Downes, Crystal Lake, Conn. "Had been troubled with a complication of diseases for over two years, but kidneys and liver bothered me most. Some of my worst ailments were headache, frequent pains around heart and under right shoulder-blade. My hands and feet were cold nearly all the time, and I had such chilliness between shoulders. Some days cared but little for food; I was faint; felt so tired and miserable it seemed I couldn't do any housework. Took medicine from my physician, but received no benefit. Bought a bottle of Golden Medical Discovery,' and after taking it I felt so much better we determined to give it a fair trial. Appetite soon improved and gradually the disorders disappeared until now I am well."

DEATH OF C. O. ROCKWOOD.

Toronto, Oct. 24.—This was the verdict handed in by the Rockwood jury this morning at one o'clock:

"We the jury sworn to make inquiries as to how Cyrus O. Rockwood came by his death, find that the said C. O. Rockwood was killed by a street car run at too great a speed.

The car was not safely or properly equipped.

The automatic sander was not in proper working order and condition.

The rails and curves were defective.

Motorman John Dean was not sufficiently experienced in handling an electric car and we hold the President, Directors and General Manager were culpably negligent in their duties and they are thereby responsible for the death."

Deserts Wealthy Husband.

Brockville, Oct. 24.—Not long since a young man named Meade arrived in town, accompanied by a handsome young woman, who, of course, was thought to be his wife. Last week a detective arrived from Albany, N. Y., looking for the couple. He secreted himself in a room in the boarding-house and waited till the couple had returned, when he entered their room and identified them. He says the woman is the wife of a rich business man in Albany, whom she married at the request of her parents. The husband now seeks a divorce. They have one child.

SMALLPOX AND TYPHOID.

An Increase of Cases Throughout the Province—Death Record More Satisfactory—Consumption's Harvest.

Toronto, Oct. 24.—The Provincial Board of Health has issued the following report concerning the health of the Province in September:

The returns from 761 division registrars for the month of September gave 3,128 deaths from all causes, being 141 more than were reported for the same month last year, but the increase is largely due to the fact that 38 more division registrars made returns, making the death rate 12.1 in 1,000.

The table of infectious diseases shows a decrease in the number of deaths, and an increase of nearly one hundred in the number of cases, which would indicate that some of the diseases were of a milder type than in September a year ago.

Smallpox and diphtheria prevailed to about the same extent, the latter showing 21 fewer cases, but with the same number of deaths.

Scarlet fever reached a very low point, only 27 cases and one death occurring.

Typhoid fever was somewhat more prevalent throughout the Province, the reports gave 278 cases and 45 deaths, while for the corresponding period last year 182 cases with 66 deaths were reported. The apparent high mortality in 1904 is no doubt due to a great many cases not being reported by the attending physicians, while the secretaries of the local boards made returns of all the deaths. Of the 233 deaths from the different infectious diseases, consumption caused 152.

West Indies Send Delegates.

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Something of imperial character is to be given to the sessions of the tariff commission in Ottawa by the attendance of delegates from the British West Indies Islands. Jamaica some time ago intimated that a representative of that colony would appear before the commission, and yesterday the Department of Trade and Commerce received word from the Government of Trinidad and Todago that it also would be represented. The preferential tariff applies to both Jamaica and Trinidad

Victim of Hunting Season.

Dead Man Was Found Lying In His Blood

Jack MacKay, a Finlander, is Brutally Murdered.

MAN AND WOMAN SUSPECTED

Victim Was Found Dead With His Head Almost Pounded Off in Sturgeon Lake County — Was Finnish Miner Who Belonged to Port Arthur—Arrests Are Likely to Follow in a Few Days.

Port Arthur, Oct. 24.—Theodore Yansen, a Finlander, who arrived in town from Sturgeon Lake County, reported a brutal murder as occurring near Anthony Reef mine, when Jack Mackay, a Finnish miner of this place, was the victim.

According to the story of Yansen, the body of Mackay was found by miners employed at the St. Anthony Reef mine, at the door of a shack belonging to a woman named Morrow, who keeps a house of ill-fame, about a mile from the mine. It is supposed Mackay went to the house and a fight took place, and the woman and a man, who is employed at the shack, murdered him.

When Mackay was found he was lying in a pool of blood, with the top of his head almost pounded off. A large club lying near-by told what instrument had been used. It was covered with flesh and blood.

The body was left just where the deed was committed. Yansen told the story to the police, and Crown Attorney Langworthy and likely an officer will be sent to the scene to arrest the parties.

Charge of Carelessness.

Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—Fritz Weeseen, a boy residing four miles north of Rose Isle, Carman district, fatally shot, was riding in a buggy behind two men on their way to duck-shooting grounds, acting as a guide, when a gun lying in the bottom of the buggy, accidentally discharged into his neck, killing him instantly. The two men, John W. Thompson, a farmer of the district, and James C. Goodman, a harvest hand of Owen Sound, Ont., were arrested and brought to Carman to stand trial for criminal carelessness.

Says He's the Murderer.

Hamilton, Oct. 24.—Yesterday the police received a letter from a man who claimed that he murdered the woman whose body was found in Marshall's bush. He enclosed a photograph. The police think the communication was intended as a joke.

Squaw Abducts Girl.

St. Catharines, Oct. 24.—The police are on the lookout for an Indian woman, weighing 210 pounds, Nancy Sugarbush by name. The woman, who was employed by a farmer near the city, Sunday skipped out with the seven-year-old daughter of another Indian woman working at the place. They are believed to have crossed the line.

Struck By a Train.

Belleville, Oct. 24.—Alexander Baumm, a middle-aged man, apparently a traveler, whose home is at Parry Sound, was struck by a train, about a mile east of the station here, and badly injured. His leg was broken, also several ribs, and he was otherwise injured internally as well as cut about the head. His recovery is by no means certain.

A WIFE SACRIFICE.

Mrs. David Hobbs Reimburses C. P. R. and Government Treasuries.

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Mrs. David Hobbs, wife of the defaulting customs officer, came forward yesterday and paid over the sum of $25,000 to make good the loss sustained by the Canadian Pacific and the Federal Treasury.

Early yesterday Mrs. Hobbs called upon Davidson & Wainwright, who had represented the Government, and intimated her desire to recoup the party or parties who had suffered loss on account of her husband's departure. The amount handed over was $25,000, consisting of $23,000 in cash and $2,000 in bonds, and a receipt was given to the effect that the amount was to be applied to the loss sustained by the Government or the C. P. R., or both.

The amount also provides for the $25,000 for which Charles Meunier, the customs cashier, was responsible.

It has also transpired that Hobbs had opened an account with a broker in his wife's name, and that when he skipped out the sum of $20,000 remained to his credit. It also came out yesterday that Daniel Hobbs had already served a term of eight years in Scotland before coming to Canada.

THE DOWN-DRAFT FURNACE

Supplies the Deficiency Experienced in all other Furnaces.

It burns Wood, Hard or Soft Coal, or any kind of Fuel, without the usual inconveniences arising from escaping and noxious gases.

It burns the gases, thereby giving out more heat and consuming less fuel.

Owing to the principle of "Down-Draft," the combustion is perfect, consuming the fuel more completely, consequently there is less ashes and sifting is unnecessary.

It is Labor-Saving, because there is less fuel to handle and less ashes to take out, as everything that will burn is consumed.

The people who are using our Furnaces are most enthusiastic in their commendation of it.

They only need to be seen in operation to be appreciated and admired.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions. Inquiries of general interest of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — I am glad to see that the "Woman's Art Association" has postponed Mr. Hampden Burnham's lecture for one week, in deference to the concert to be held in the Baptist church in aid of the Children's Aid Society. It is not necessary to go into details in regard to the standing of this society, that is doing work, practically in every respect, of the greatest value to the community. Mr. Dennistoun, the secretary, deserves great credit for the splendid work he is doing.

CITIZEN.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — As a citizen with a warm interest in the success of the Children's Aid Society, and an admirer of the good work it is doing, I do not think that it is impertinent to request that it is the duty of the public to give a liberal patronage to the concert to be given in the Murray street Baptist church tonight. Money is needed for the society's work, as it is necessary for waging war converting the heathen, or promoting any good cause.

Yours, etc.,

SYMPATHY.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

CANADA IS MISSING
MANY TRADE OPPORTUNITIES
SAYS MR. J. S. LARKE

Canadian Commercial Agent in Australia Delivers an Instructive and Comprehensive Address at Board of Trade Meeting ---Speaker Strongly Urges a Progressive and Wide-Awake Business Policy by Canadian Exporters---Large Market in Antipodes Awaits a Rapid Transportation Service.

Board of Trade meetings in Peterborough, as is the case in most other cities, may scarcely be regarded as representative gatherings, if viewed in a numerical sense. The true indications of the interests represented, it may be said, may rather be gathered from the personnel of the audience, and last night's meeting, at the council chamber, was no exception to the rule.

The audience which assembled, may certainly be said to have been composed in a manner indicative of the best interests of the city. By such an audience, as might naturally be expected, was the interesting and comprehensive address delivered by Mr. J. S. Larke, Canada's Commercial Agent in Australia, thoroughly appreciated. The many new facts, and vast amount of profitable information arranged and presented by the speaker, in an interesting manner, held the undivided attention of his hearers. Thoroughly conversant with every detail of the subject under discussion, the speaker presented a view of trade conditions, as at present existing between Canada and Australia, which, it is safe to say, awakened an interest which can scarcely fail to lead to tangible results.

President D. Hughes Charles occupied the chair and, after of the communications by the secretary, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, introduced the speaker in a few brief and pleasing words.

Mr. J. S. Larke, in his opening remarks, stated that he had met a great many Boards of Trade recently, and had found them generally indicative of the character of the town. At his previous visit, eleven years ago, he, together with Sir Mackenzie Bowell had been made honourary members. Many of the old faces he recognized, and with pleasure.

There was a conception that the Australia trade was wholly confined to the East. A few years ago, practically the only trade with Canada was that with the Massey-Harris Company, and the British Columbia salmon trade. Canada's trade has increased about six-fold since he went to Australia, in which fact he naturally felt gratification. It is not yet, however, what it might be.

The reason of this was the fact that for about eight years after his arrival there, there was a period of destructive drought. The Canadian trade with Australia is by no means a wholly western trade, but is largely from Ontario and Quebec.

The Canadian cotton manufacturers had been doing business in Australia, frequently at a loss. It has however been kept up for the purpose of keeping their mills in operation, with operatives constantly employed, and that, in this way, they may make a new dollar for an old one. By reason of this the trade of all Canada is interested in the men who export. Some had claimed that it was a ridiculous scheme for Canada to think of doing an export trade. "What constitutes an export trade?" asked the speaker.

The gypsum mined in the Maritime Provinces had for some time been manufactured in the United States, and shipped from there to Australia. Is it a foolish scheme that it should be proposed that this, and many other raw materials, should be manufactured in Canada, and exported from Canada, thus saving for our country, the profits, direct and indirect? We have been content to ship the best fish in the world, and put them up in a crude manner, while fish of the same quality was purchased in Australia, at greatly increased prices from the United States, simply because it was packed as the necessities of the trade demanded. The profits of our paper-making industry are likewise sacrificed.

The speaker could remember when

CHARMING CHRYSANTHEMUM THANKSGIVING WEDDING

Nuptials of Miss Frances Elizabeth Sybil Stethem and Mr. Walter Harold Chatham Reynolds in St. Luke's Church.

A charming social event was that which took place this afternoon in St. Luke's church, when a young lady who has lived in Peterborough practically all her life until about two years ago, and who was one of the town's most popularly young ladies, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to a young man who, was also a former resident of Peterborough, but who has recently been living in Montreal. He, too, has a great many friends in the city to whom to-day's function will have a deep interest.

The bride, who to-day plighted her troth at the altar, was Miss Frances Elizabeth Sybil Stethem, eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. Stethem, of Fort Frances, but until recently a resident of Peterborough, where for many years he conducted business, and the groom was Mr. Walter Harold Chatham Reynolds, of Montreal, where he occupies a permanent position on the staff of the Canadian General Electric Company in the sales department, son of the late Nelson Gilbert Reynolds, sheriff of Ontario County, of Whitby. The beautiful Ontario Ladies' College at Whitby was opened in what was formerly the residence of the late Sheriff Reynolds.

To-day's event was a chrysanthemum wedding, and a delightfully pleasing function, and many of the many friends of the young bride and groom went to the church to witness the ceremony, while the list of invited guests was a large one, including over one hundred persons.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., rector of St. Luke's, the sacred edifice having been decorated appropriately for the occasion, the predominating flowers being white chrysanthemums, while palms were also included in the decoration scheme. In addition to the large number of guests present from the city, there were many friends of the bride and groom present from other cities, including Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and New York.

At 3.30, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, and preceded by the two ushers, Mr. Frank Smallpiece and Mr. Mark Burnham, of this city, and the bridesmaid, Miss Helen Stethem, entered from Lohengrin, was played by the organist, Mr. J. L. Armstrong.

The bride, who was led to the altar, and given away by her father, was attired in a gown of cream silk colienne en traine over silk taffeta, with real lace trimming. She wore the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Stethem, sister of the bride, was dressed in pale pink Japanese taffeta, with lace garniture. She wore a black velvet picture hat, and carried pink chrysanthemums. Mr. George Pelletier, of Montreal, supported the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party and invited guests were driven to the home of Mr. J. Harris McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, Gilmour street, brother-in-law of the groom, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. McClellan's beautiful residence was appropriately decorated with pale pink chrysanthemums, in harmony with thee floral scheme of the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for their wedding trip, which includes in its itinerary New York and other United States cities.

Among the invited guests from out of town were: Mrs. F. E. Reynolds, Montreal, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reynolds, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Reynolds, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. Macdonald Oxley, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryerson, Trenton; Miss Annie and Miss Helen Reynolds, Montreal; Chief Justice and Madame Girouard, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, Earnscliffe, Ottawa; Mrs. (Hon.) McDougall, Ottawa; Mrs. A. R. Pensonneault, Montreal; Mr. Rupert Howard, New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stethem, Montreal; Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Symonds, Montreal; Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Smart, Montreal; Mrs. and Miss Cruso, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Henderson, Montreal; Mrs. and Miss Pelletier, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. S. Bruce McConnell, Sherbrooke, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duggan, Toronto; Mrs. George Duggan, Toronto; Mrs. H. P. Temple, Toronto; Mrs. W. J. Keating, Fort Frances, Mr. and Mrs. George Nickels, Toronto; Mr. Harold Henderson, New York; Mr. and Mrs. McDougall, Port Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor, Halifax.

Mrs. F. E. Reynolds, the groom's mother, wore a black silk dress, trimmed with handsome black lace.

Mrs. J. Harris McClellan, sister of the groom, was dressed in a pale green silk crepe de chine, over silk taffeta, trimmed with real old rose point lace. Her hat was white embroidered chiffon with green roses.

Mrs. A. Macdonald Oxley, of Toronto, sister of the groom, was gowned in biscuit silk voille with Cluny lace trimmings, and hat to match.

The wedding presents, of which there was a great number, were of a character which bore eloquent testimony to the immense popularity of the bride and groom, both of whom are quite well known in the city.

Mr. Reynolds was a former resident of this city, and was on the local staff of the Canadian General Electric Company, prior to being transferred to the Montreal office. He was prominent in athletics, and was a member of the Peterborough Hockey Team, playing the position of point.

Board of Trade Names Committee

At the meeting of the Board of Trade held last night, the following resolution was passed:—"That Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., G. M. Deonistoun and W. H. Maldrum be appointed representatives of the Board of Trade on a citizens committee to cooperate with the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council, with regard to better equipment for the Fire Department."

Stock Broking Firm Suspends

The Stock Broking firm of N. B. Darrell, of Toronto, and Peterborough, has suspended, and the office was closed this morning. There were a number of customers of the firm in this city, but it is understood that none of them will lose anything, the accounts having been transferred to the firm of Mahon & Co., the Water street brokers.

The office was opened here on January last, and has been in charge of E. Boomer.

Thanksgiving Season Social Happening

Pretty Home Wedding Took Place To-day.

Miss Clara R. Clegg Married to Mr. W. F. Stubbs.

An interesting social event took place this afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mr. Charles Clegg, 10 Benson street, when his daughter Clara Ruth was united in marriage to Mr. W. F. Stubbs, of Galt, formerly of this city. The drawing room was prettily decorated with palms and autumn leaves. The ceremony, which was attended only by the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties, was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Belleville, a former pastor of both bride and groom. The bride, who was unattended, wore a pretty costume of dove coloured crepe de chine over taffeta silk, with garniture of lace and Alice blue velvet, and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty dejeunar des noces was served by Long Bros. The bride's travelling suit was of brown broadcloth with toque of Alice blue velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs left on the 5.10 train for a short trip to Toronto, Niagara and Buffalo before going to their home in Galt, where Mrs. Stubbs will be at home after the first of December. The bride and groom are well known in Peterborough and the good wishes of a large circle of friends will accompany them to their new home.

The death occurred last night at 9.30 at his late residence in Ennismore, of Mr. Wm. J. Doran, a life-long and highly respected resident of that township. Besides a large number of friends and relatives he leaves to mourn the loss an aged mother, and two brothers and three sisters. The sisters are, Mrs. Joe. Travis, Mrs. Thos. Harrington, and Mary Ann, all of Ennismore. The brothers, Joseph and Martin J., also reside in Ennismore. The late Mr. Doran was predeceased by his father, who died last March.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good, and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

A coin described by a man to the Bury, England, police as having been stolen from him, was a farthing bearing the impression of a sixpence. The farthing had been carried with some other coins in the hand of a woman friend, who had met with a fatal accident some few years ago. Her hand was cut off and the money crushed together, the impression of the sixpence being left on the farthing and plainly visible. He had kept it as a keepsake.

Toronto Teacher Strapped A Fainting Child

Startling Charge Against a School Principal.

Severe Punishment Also Administered to Delicate Ten-Year-Old Boy for Trifling Offence.

For alleged brutal punishment of a little girl and boy Principal S. A. Stevens of the Manning Avenue Public School, Toronto, has been suspended by Chief Inspector Hughes and Chairman Brown of the Board of Education. The Management Committee will on Wednesday decide on final action in the matter.

The charges are definite, but Mr. Stevens considers his use of the strap no more than a performance of his duty.

Mr. Stevens has been a teacher in the Toronto public schools for 22 years, and for some time has had the reputation of being a vigorous disciplinarian.

A special charge was laid against him last week in a letter from Mr. A. J. Pattison, Managing Director of the Home Life Association, to Trustee Leyes. His complaint runs as follows:—

"I am told by my cashier, who has been with me for a number of years, that her little sister, Flossie Laughton, was brutally treated in the Manning Avenue School on Wednesday. This little girl was threatened with punishment for some trifling misdemeanor. She did not wish to take the punishment. It appears that the Principal and his assistant approached her, one in each aisle, and so terrified the little girl that she fainted away. In this condition each of these two brutes dragged her by the hands across the room and out into the hall, where she was punished. Her hands this morning show the effects of the punishment."

Following the receipt of this came another letter to Trustee Levee from Mr. Thomas Davis, 178 Euclid avenue, whose son, it is alleged, was so severely whipped by Mr. Stevens that he has he has since suffered from sleeplessness and complete loss of appetite. The recipient of this treatment is said to be a frail, delicate child of ten.

Mr. Davis says:—"The offence, if you can call it so, is this:—A boy friend came into the room to deliver a message or parcel, and my son, who sits near the door, noticed him and in a low tone said, "Hello, Harry!" Thereupon he was sent down to the Principal's room and was made stand there from 9.45 to 11 a. m., without recess. Then he was called into the cloakroom and strapped eleven times on the hands and wrists so severely that when he reached home they were badly swollen and inflamed."

Both correspondents emphatically demanded that the matter be looked into, Mr. Stevens' suspension followed investigation by Inspector Hughes.

A report to the effect that the Fraser River canneries lost about eight thousand cases of salmon this season, through bad packing, has been persistently circulated in Vancouver for the last day or two.

Shoe prices in Chicago will be higher within the next fortnight than at any time during the last forty years both in ready and custom made articles. Already the jobbing price has advanced fifty cents on the pair, and the retail price is expected to feel the change immediately.

The Brownies Banqueted By Mr. G. Miller

Basketball Team Guests of Retiring Captain.

A Sumptuous Feast Provided—An Excellent Evening's Entertainment.

The Brownie Basketball team were the guests of Mr. Gordon Miller, retiring captain, at his home on McDonel street last night. The following members of the team and their friends were present:—Messrs. W. Campbell, Geo. Schneider, G. H. Williamson, Harry Cressman, "Bobbie" Hall, Norman Miller, Bruce Gillespie, Graham Ferguson, Arthur Boother, Harry Morgan, "Ned" Fitzpatrick, W. Richardson, Fred. Whitcroft, Chris. Graham, and an Examiner representative.

After viands fit to grace the king's table were partaken of, Mr. C. G. Graham spoke a few words expressing great regret that Mr. Miller was retiring from the captaincy of the team and congratulating him on the very able manner in which he had discharged his duties. At the conclusion of the address F. R. Hall, on behalf of the Brownies, presented Mr. Miller with a handsome suit case.

In thanking the club for their presentation, the recipient of the gift stated that he was entirely unaware that he was to be in anyway honoured and expressed his great appreciation of the Brownie's thoughtfulness in thus remembering him. He then gave the history of the team since their organization and showed that they had established a very enviable record. Out of the games played out of town the Brownies have lost but three and have won both their home matches. They were the first to defeat the West End Y.M.C.A. team of Toronto and accomplished that feat in both this city and Toronto. When the Brownies overcame the crack Toronto basketball team here a couple of seasons ago, they became junior champions of Canada. Three of the players that first represented the erstwhile "fairy men", Arthur Boucher, Norman Miller and "Bobbie" Hall, still figure on the line up. Mr. G. Miller, who has ceased to become a unit of the playing strength of the team, owing to ill health, said that while it grieved him greatly to sever his connection with the team, he was confident that an able man could be chosen to fill the position, and expressed his opinion that the most appropriate time to choose their leader would be there and then. This met with the approval of the entire gathering and Mr. "Bobbie" Hall was unanimously elected to that office.

Mr. Hall thanked the members of the club for the confidence they had shown in him and stated that he would endeavour to be a worthy successor of the previous floor general of the team.

Mr. W. Campbell then gave a few words of encouragement to the boys and spoke very feelingly of his pleasant relations with the Brownie basketball team. He also favoured the audience with a most mirth provoking recitation.

The toast to the Y.M.C.A. was next honoured, and Mr. G. H. Williamson the local secretary, eloquently responded. In his remarks Mr. Williamson stated that Mr. Harold Daly, a former player of the Brownies, was assistant physical director, of the Winnipeg Y. M.C.A., and said that he was a credit to the local association and a sample of the calibre of all Brownie athletes.

Col. Miller, who may be referred to with Mrs. Miller, as co-host and hostess, respectively, made a short speech commending true athletic sports and games, provided that all unnecessary rough play was eliminated. The Colonel in response to the pressing entreaties of the gathering gave a stirring military recitation entitled "The Crutch in the Corner" This selection brought forth vociferous applause and he was forced to respond to a double encore.

During the evening Mr. Geo. Schneider, Peterborough's talented musician, presided at the piano and his selections were enthusiastically received by an appreciative audience.

After the singing of God Save the King and after the very echoes in the walls had lent volume to the three ringing cheers and a tiger for the host of the evening, the party dispersed.

'Twas Nerve That Saved His Life

Remarkable Adventure of a Poplar Creek Miner.

Injured by a Premature Explosion, He Scrambled Up the Shaft in Time to Avoid Death.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 20.—But for his presence of mind and nerve, Jack Chisholm, miner, of Poplar Creek, would be now in the grave.—An extraordinary accident has just happened to him by which he was seriously injured, but escaped with his life. He and his partner, Monro, were sinking a shaft on their claim, and, being forty feet down, had finished four holes, and proceeded to fuse them. Three were lighted and Chisholm turned hurriedly to the fourth. He was in a hurry to get out of danger's way, and mistakenly inverted the final fuse, leaving the cap end out. He placed the fire to the cap, when it exploded in his right hand, badly tearing the two first fingers, injuring the arm, and knocking him down.

For a moment he lay dazed, with the firing of all four shots growing nearer and nearer. Realizing that to wait till the fuses burned through meant sure death, he made a frantic effort, pulled himself together, and, notwithstanding his wounds, from which the blood was freely flowing, he managed to climb up the forty-foot ladder and reached the top of the tunnel just as the shots went off. As he stumbled off the ladder to the ground he lost consciousness.

Judge Cutting gave Mrs. Christina Moderi of Chicago, possession of the body of her husband, Michael, which it is said, was kept from her by her brother-in-law, John Moderi, and who is said to have ignored the widow, and buried his brother. The widow secured a writ of replevin, and the body has been in the custody of a constable.

THANKSGIVING.

The King, through his representatives, has set apart Thursday, October 26, as a day of national thanksgiving because,—"it hath pleased Almighty, in His Great Goodness, to vouchsafe this year unto Our Dominion a bountiful harvest and other blessings." If gratitude to order does not appeal to us, we have behind it the divine command, and besides, we have abundant reasons for being thankful, especially on the score of material benefits. In every part of our broad Dominion we have had a surpassingly bountiful harvest, the third of three full years. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, all through the magnificent intermediate stretches we have the same song of a harvest of unstinted abundance. Nor is that all of our material blessings. We have had rampant industrial prosperity, and a large increase of population. Thousands of new homes have sprung up in thousands of places. The wilderness has receded before, one might say without exaggeration, the on-rush of settlement. Waste places have come under the dominion of the plough, and harvests have smiled over new leagues of erstwhile waste larger than the bounds of many a European kingdom. In a word, all over Canada prosperity has run riot, and as a nation we have been "blessed in basket and in store." The year, now waning to its close has afforded other indications of progress. Two new provinces, under settled government, have been added to the Dominion sisterhood, carrying with them the similar glorious burden of prosperity enjoyed by every other province of the country, and with the same expansive promise of opulent development and progress. Uncounted acres of untrodden soil, rich in fertility beyond the dreams of agricultural avarice, are awaiting the coming of another transcontinental railway to bring in possessors and carry out golden harvests, and to constitute another bond of steel to unite the widely separated units of our Dominion, to bind people and provinces into a more homogenous whole, and to hasten the day when Canada shall become, essentially as well as potentially, "The granary of the Empire."

Not only is our gratitude stirred by the sense of positive benefits. We have had negative blessings abundantly. We have been spared the horrors of war; the red hand of anarchy has not even been raised in menace. We have escaped pestilence famine, and earthquakes and devastating tempests have not riven our solid soil nor marked its surface with swaths of destruction. In these, as in other regards, we have been set apart as a favoured land. With all these things, immediately past and present, a bright future looms as largely before us as if we were a chosen people entering a land of promise, flowing with milk and honey.

As a city, Peterborough has had a lion's share of the current prosperity. We have thriven in every way, and our own little future beckons us brightly onward. With the light of divine favour thus beaming upon us, it becomes every citizen to contribute his or her share to making us worthy, so far as human frailty is capable of attaining such a condition, of the grace vouchsafed. We have great resources to be proud of—with a grateful, not a vain, pride—proud of our country; of its splendid endowment by Providence. We have a climate in general unsurpassed on earth for salubrity and delightfulness; we have a people in the main sober, industrious, God-fearing and loyal to the highest demands of Christian civilization, flourishing under the protection of the best of laws and within the widest bounds of freedom the world knows. So that, with these things and the generous dower of our magnificent heritage, with its uncomprehensible possibilities, the boast, "I am a Roman citizen," dwindles to a vain dream and becomes as a tale that is told, beside the grandly modest boast, "I am a Canadian"—not as an empty vaunt, but in a spirit of thankfulness to the Divine Bounty, whose lavish favours to this blessed land have at once made possible, and justify such a boast.

GERMANY'S SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Bismarck said that the French had colonies but no colonists, the Germans, colonists but no colonies, while the British had both colonists and colonies. Since Bismarck's time Germany has been making determined efforts to build up colonial Empire, and the largest of her colonies, that of South-west Africa, has been and is the scene of a costly and inglorious war, which is arousing great dissatisfaction among the German people.

German Southwest Africa comprises no less than 320,000 square miles, an area one and a half times as large as the Empire which the Kaiser reigns over in Europe. Exclusive of military and other officials there are about 600 whites in the colony, and the entire native population does not exceed a quarter of a million. The record of administration in the colony is one of bureaucratic mismanagement and worse. For the insurrection against German rule by the Herreros and Witbois, native tribes in that wilderness of sand and rocks and sun-stricken brush, with here and there an oasis and a patch of grazing land the German forces were unprepared being without transport service and without supplies adequate for an expeditionary force in the field. The savages slaughtered the colonists on isolated farms, men, women and children, and succeeded in inflicting many severe blows upon the German military forces, among whom, to make matters worse, typhus broke out and made great havoc.

The news of all this deeply stirred the German people. The Emperor recalled Colonel Leibert, the Governor of the colony, and sent out General von Trotha to quell the rebellion. He has been eighteen months at this work, with a total of 14,000 men, and military stores of all description have been sent out for the war. But the Witbois and the Herreros are still unsubdued, and are in a position, as the latest news from South Africa tells us, to prevent the carrying out of the elaborately arranged German plans of campaign.

The latest development has been the recall of General von Trotha, who has been superseded by General Lindequist. The latter has just arrived in Africa, and is to carry out, it is announced, a policy which will be "a happy mixture of firmness and conciliation—the steel hand in the velvet gauntlet." Already over 1,800 German soldiers have been killed or wounded out in those parched sand wastes, nearly 1000 more have been invalided home, and no less than $48,000,000 has been poured out of the German Imperial treasury on the conduct of the campaign. The patient German taxpayer is beginning to show himself less patient, and the Socialists and other malcontents are demanding that the colony in Southwest Africa be abandoned.

Facts Abont the American Indian's Healthy Hair.

The American Indian, accustomed from time immemorial to go bare-headed in all kinds of weather, is never troubled with falling hair or baldness.

The close atmosphere caused by our "civilized" head-gear is conducive to the breeding of infinitesimal germs which dig into the scalp and thrive on the sap of the hair-root.

This true cause of baldness is of recent discovery and explains the non-success of all hair-vigours which treated baldness as a functional disorder.

Newbro's Herpicide is a direct exterminator of the germ. "It destroys the cause and permits the hair to grow as nature intended.

Believer In Solomon Believes In Birching

The Increase of Juvenile Crime is Looked Upon as a Matter for Alarm—A Correspondent Expresses His Opinion That Birching is the Best Remedy—Lack of Home Discipline is Given as Part of the Cause for This State of Affairs.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Even the most careless reader of the daily papers cannot help but notice, and be grieved, at the many cases reported of juvenile depravity. Every week, yes, almost daily, we read of young lads being brought before the Magistrate, or of serious depredations being committed by mere boys. Cases of burglary, horse stealing and other criminal offences, for the conviction of which an adult might, and probably would, get a term in the Kingston Penitentiary, are being brought against the boys of our city with alarming frequency. What is the rising generation coming to, and where does the fault lie? There is something radically wrong.

In the opinion of the writer the trouble is, mainly, the lack (or, should I say, complete absence) of home discipline. Children are allowed by their parents to run around the streets day and night much as they please. Boys are permitted to frequent street corners, night after night, where their education is soon finished in the art of cigarette smoking, tobacco chewing, swearing and foul language. I have no hesitation in saying that the ordinary street corner "gang" is a school of vice, and the parent who knowingly, and willingly, allows his boy to frequent with such lads, is sowing sorrow for himself.

Then, again, when these lads have been caught, and convicted of some crime, before the Magistrate, how are they dealt with? Simply reprimanded. Now I do not wish to cast any reflection on our Magistrate, but I submit that something more strenuous than a reprimand is required. Some of the boys out on parole are looked upon as heroes by a certain section of their fellows, and the lads themselves are apparently not averse to the notoriety attaching to themselves.

I would not favour jail for these youthful criminals, but I believe a thorough birching, ordered by the Magistrate, and vigorously applied by a strong athletic arm, would do more good to these young rascals, and act as a deterrent to others in embryo, than all the reprimands our worthy P. M. is capable of giving.

I had intended, Mr. Editor, to write on some other matters along this line, but I see this letter is already of considerable length.

Yours very truly,
A Believer in Solomon.

A Wedding In St. Joseph's Church, Douro

Miss Loretto Allen Becomes Bride of Mr. Wm. Young.

An Interesting Social Event Took Place This Morning.

This morning at St. Joseph's church, Douro, a pretty wedding was solemnized, by Rev. Father Kelly, parish priest. The principals in this interesting event were Miss Loretta Allan, eldest daughter of Mr. Robt. Allan, of Douro, and Mr. William Young, son of Mr. John Young, also of Douro.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Martha Young, sister of the groom, was dressed becomingly in cream voille, and wore a navy blue toque. The bridesmaid was also gowned in cream and wore a black velvet picture hat.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where a wedding breakfast was served. A number of the friends of the bride and groom were invited and the usual festivities incidental to the occasion were enjoyed. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Young left for their home in Douro, where they will reside.

Given For The Sake Of Sweet Charity

A Successful Concert Given in Murray Street Baptist Church Last Night for Benefit of Children's Aid Society—Addresses on Work of the Society and on Temperance—Much Enjoyed Musical Numbers Were Presented.

The concert given last night by Dan Spence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, in aid of the Children's Aid Society, in the Murray street Baptist church, was very successful, although the attendance was not as large as it should have been, with such a worthy object in view.

The programme was varied and interesting, and in itself was worthy of a larger audience, even if it had not been connected with the welfare of a society that has done so much for the children of Peterborough.

In addition to a musical programme, addresses were given by Rev. J. C. Davidson, and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, the first explaining the aims of thee Royal Templarrs of Temperance, and the latter speaking of the work being done by the Children's Aid Society.

Rev. Mr. Scott acceptably acted as chairman. In his opening remarks he expressed his pleasure at welcoming the Royal Templars to the Murray street church. He referred to the noble work of the Children's Aid Society, and said that it was connected with the Royal Templars, as the need of the Children's Aid Society, in nine cases out of ten, sprang from intemperance. It was therefore appropriate that the Templars should give a concert in aid of the other society. He then called upon Rev. J. C. Davidson to open the programme with an address.

Rev. Mr. Davidson said that the Royal Templars of Temperance existed for the cause of temperance. There were many things to be considered in speaking of temperance. In the first place we have licensed a number of citizens to sell intoxicating liquors, and as we are, to some extent, partners in the business, we should not lose sight of our responsibilities. It is our duty to see that the law in regard to temperance is enforced, and that public opinion is brought to bear to prevent any infraction of the law. We should bring influence to bear to see that the law is carried out in spirit, as in letter.

The speaker, continuing, said that the hotel keepers should not be looked upon as social outcasts. Many of them were anxious that the law should be enforced. Others were in the business for what they could get out of it in any way. The better part of the hotelmen, if they knew that the community sympathised with them, would be more eager to do better than they are to-day. They are men subject to an enormous temptation to take advantage of the weakness of their fellow men.

Rev. Mr. Davidson advised his hearers to help those not as strong as themselves. Each one should be on the look out for such persons, and assist them in every way possible. We should know the real danger of alohol and should communicate our knowledge to others.

The speaker referred to the fact that drunkenness was often referred to with merriment. This was not as it should be. He closed by inviting those interested in the temperance cause to join the Royal Templars of Temperance.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt spoke briefly, expressing his hearty sympathy with the good work of the Children's Aid Society, which he said, was deserving of a more general support than it was getting from the people of Peterborough.

Children's Aid Society.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun gave a most interesting address upon the work of the Children's Aid Society.

He first expressed the thanks of the Society to the Royal Templars of Temperance for their kindness in arranging the concert.

The three main features of the Society's work were: the juvenile court, the Shelter and the foster home. The first acquaintance with the children was generally made in the juvenile court, which was rather a new thing. It was an informal affair, none of the spectators being allowed to remain, and there was none of the notoriety which seems to appeal to some boy natures. Mr. Dennistoun said that while the Society had the power to take children from their parents, it had not the power to bring them into court and have corporal punishment inflicted upon them. He was in favour of a good old lashing and spanking for some of the boys. Then they got into the police court, they would back, not as heroes, but with bowed heads.

The society can now have children remanded to the Shelter, instead of to jail, while they are awaiting trial. As long as a boy keeps out of jail it has a horror for him. Once inside, with his first terror over, he finds that it is not such a bad place. He is warm, fed regularly, and made much of by the other prisoners. Speaking of the Shelter, Mr. Dennistoun said that the society was deeply indebted to Mayor Best for the use of the present building.

The foster home was the great feature of the society. The only rules required of those taking children into their homes were, first, Treat the child as your own; second, Bring it back to the Shelter whenever you feel so inclined.

In speaking of the system of transplanting children, Mr. Dennistoun said that the society found a great difference between city and country boys. The latter do not experience the temptations of the city boys.

It was a practice of the society, after getting a boy in the police court, to send him to the country. The plan had also been successful, and he never yet heard of a boy stealing from his foster home. The transplanting of country boys to the city had also brought about results.

In addition to the addresses a delightful musical programme was rendered. Miss Clara Bellegham, in her usual excellent voice, gave a vocal solo which was encored. Little Miss Maud Titterson, in her solos, captivated the audience, which warmly applauded her. Miss Crothers with splendid effect rendered a difficult violin solo, in which she displayed marked musical ability. Mr. John Miller gave a solo in his usual musicianly manner. Mrs. T. D. McGregor, in her vocal solo, was warmly applauded by her hearers, while Miss Helen Davies, who always pleases, was heartily received in her contribution to the programme, a vocal solo.

The Royal Templars wish to express their thanks to the congregation of Murray street for the use of the church; to the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company for transferring piano free of charge, also to the Peterborough Music Store for loaning it, as well as to Messrs. Jordan Brothers for flowers kindly loaned.

Mrs. Mowat was the accompanist for the musical numbers, and her work was much appreciated.

A letter of regret at his inability to be present was read from Mr. J. R. Stratton, who was to have delivered an address.

Fire Engine Tests To To Be Made To-morrow

The Canadian Fire Engine Company of London, has shipped two fire engines to Peterborough, steam and chemical engines, and if they arrive in time a test will be made to-morrow afternoon.

The company understands that there is to be no competition between the London and Brantford engines, and Ald. Johnston telegraphed the former concern to the effect that if they sent the engine it was at their own risk of sale, but apparently they are willing to take that risk, since the engines are now on the way here.

Doubtless there will be considerable interest in the test, and since it will be made on the holiday there will be a large number of citizens on hand to witness it, since the presence of a fire engine which really works will be considerable of a novelty in Peterborough.

Seventy-One Appeals Have Been Entered

The time for entering appeals against the assessments has expired, and seventy-one have been made which is an increase of twenty over 1904. The first session of the Court of Revision will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 8th, to consider these appeals.

This year the court is constituted differently from that of former years, when members of the council were on the Court of Revision. This year it consists of Messrs. Wm. Langford, H. Rush, Sr., and Sheriff Hall.

Reach Of The Canal Not To Be Drained

After the close of the Lift Lock for the season, which will be on November 1st, Superintendent McClellan intends draining the water from the Lift Lock to the Norwood road bridge, where he will have a cofferdam constructed.

In former years the dam has been placed at the entrance to the reach at Nassau, the effect of which has been to leave the whole stretch of canal, for the four or five miles, empty, killing all the fish, which formerly were quite plentiful.

Another advantage in leaving the water in the reach is the fact that it it will form a supplementary reservoir for the Nassau dam, and as such will be doubtless appreciated by the Canadian General Electric Company, which will always have that much additional water to draw from in case of emergency.

The canal from the Norwood road bridge to No. 6 Lock, that below the Lift Lock, will be emptied, as it is necessary for the proper preservation of the Lift Lock during the winter that there shall be no water around it.

Peterborough Turns Out Y. M. C. A. Secretaries

The many Peterborough friends of Mr. Harold Daly will be pleased to learn that he has entered active Y.M.C.A. work, having recently been appointed Assistant Physical Director of the Winnipeg Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Daly was the first boy to enrol in the Y.M.C.A. nine years ago when the new building was entered here. He remained in Peterborough until four years ago when he moved to Winnipeg.

It may be said of him that he is a good exemple of the work the local Y.M.C.A. is doing for young men and boys.

An average of a man a year has gone out from Peterborough Y.M.C.A. to enter active work, these include, H. E. Ayers, of New York City; H. A. Pearson, Secretary Collingwood; H. Frowde, Sidney, C.B.; and W. G. Maguire, Physical Director, Port Hope.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN, — For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the G sense you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Mr. J. Ross Robertson Retires From O. H. A.

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. J. Ross Robertson, president of the O.H.A.:

Dear Sir:

Your club, in connection with the clubs of the Ontario Hockey Association, is about to choose its delegate for the annual meeting on the 11th November next.

I feel that I owe it to the Association and all its clubs, to announce my withdrawal from the active executive government of the O.H.A.

I make this announcement so that there may be no uncertainty as far as I am concerned, in regard to the presidency of the O.H.A.

My withdrawal is final. Other business duties and absence from Canada in the winter months prevent me from giving the office the time and attention which it requires.

Further, I do not desire to block the promotion of younger men, and I, therefore, venture to give due and timely notice of my withdrawal so as to give ample opportunity for another selection for the office of president.

I shall, of course, preside at the annual meeting, when I hope to have the opportunity of thanking the clubs, through their representatives, for the long continued confidence the Ontario Hockey Association has reposed in me during my successive terms in the presidency, and of expressing my hope that in the coming years the O.H.A. will gain, as it has always stood, at the head of Canadian athletic associations, in the support and conduct of clean, amateur sport.

Yours truly,
J. Ross Robertson,
President O. H. A.

P.S.—Will you be good enough to hand the enclosed letter, after reading, to the president of your club?
J. R. R.

The officials of the Peterborough Hockey Club, as well as those who are interested in the game, either actively or passively, will learn with the deepest regret of the intention of Mr. Robertson to retire from the O.H.A. presidency. He has been one of the staunchest friends of amateur sport in the Province, and has done splendid service to hockey by his firm stand for what he believed was in the best interests of the game.

RUGBY.

The T.A.S. team will practice to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Oval and the following players are requested to turn out besides any others wishing to get into the game:—Quinlan, Parnell, McGrath, Cahill, Fitzpatrick, Grady, O'Brien, Stortz, F. Whaley, M. Whaley, Giroux, Kelly, F. Crate, Derocher, Mann, McIlmoyle, J. Dorris, L. Dorris.

• • • •

The Junior Crescents go to Lakefield on Thursday to play the team of that place. They are having good practices whenever possible, the men turning out with a willingness. They have beaten this team twice already and expect to do so again. Captain Mills has made new signals and will place the following team in the field at Lakefield on Thursday. Full back Mills (Capt.); halves, Lewis, Layfield, Hatton; snap, Hall; quarter, Fentye; wings, Harold Wallace, Dean, Hank Wallace, Perks, Minorgan, Gilbert. The Lakefield ground is only what could be expected of that place, having two or three stumps in it, and the North-west corner touches the river. You needn't get thirsty there, boys.

• • • •

The Toronto-Argos. it say that Huttrubise, the wrestler captain of Peterborough intermediate team, has taught his players more about strangle holds and half-nelson's than he had about football. Sore necks and shoulders testify to the effectiveness of such methods of football.—Mail and Empire. My! but they're a yellow bunch!

• • • •

The Mail and Empire says:—Toronto-Argonauts and Peterborough will come together in an intermediate O.R.F.U. game at Varsity field to-morrow afternoon. Peterborough defeated the combination last Saturday by 13 to 7, but the home club have strengthened their team greatly since then, and expect to put it all over their opponents to-morrow. Austin, Clarkson, Bert Wood, Heiffenstein, Dey, Walter Bleasdell, R. Ingles, P. Ingles, and Lou Marsh will form part of the T.-A's line-up and as Peterborough's aggregation is very speedy, too, a smacking good game should result.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock, with Messrs. Hayes and Robbins, of Hamilton, as referee and umpire respectively. Previous to the big contest Varsity III. and Tor.-Argo. III. will play a junior O.R.F.U. game, commencing at 1.30 o'clock.

• • • •

• • • •

It is rumoured that Shaw will be unable to play in Toronto to-morrow. If it is possible for him to turn out and help the locals he should do so. The loss of one man on the half-back line may turn what looks like sure victory into defeat.

• • • •

A large crowd will accompany the boys to Toronto to-morrow. The team is in good condition and in spite of the predictions of the Toronto news sheets to the effect that the Toronto-Argonauts will be sure victors, expect to win the laurels. Besides the game in the afternoon the opening bouts of the city boxing tournament may be witnessed at the Mutual Street Rink.

• • • •

The officials for the game to-morrow will be Hughes Hayes, Hamilton, referee; F. C. Robbins, Hamilton, umpire.

• • • •

Thorogood the Victoria Senior Rugby man, has been suspended by the O.R.F.U. He was suspended a good deal of the time when he played down here a couple of weeks ago.

• • • •

A practice of the Charlotte Street team is called for to-morrow morning at 9.30 at Boswell's field.

Loss of Power To Digest Food

AMONG THE FIRST INDICATIONS OF EXHAUSTED NERVES—THE CURE IS

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The most important function of the organs of the body is the digestion, and assimilation of food, and in this process is consumed an enormous quantity of nervous energy.

As the result the moment disorders of the nerves arise digestion is impaired, and the very source of health, strength and vitality interferred with.

To prevent physical bankruptcy the nervous system must be built up by outside aid, such as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, a preparation composed of the very elements of nature which go to form new blood and nerve cells.

Besides this restorative influence on the whole system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has an immediate and direct effect on the digestive system.

It stimulates the nerves of taste and induces a good flow of saliva to aid digestion. It excites the glands of the stomach and produces a plentiful supply of the gastric digestive fluids. It sharpens the appetite and arouses hunger.

Especially where appetite and the ability to digest have diminished, as in nervous exhaustion, anaemia, the result of sickness, overwork, or worry, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is by all odds the most effective treatment that can possibly be obtained.

It insures good digestion, regular, healthful action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and the building up and fertilizing of the whole system.

Mrs. J. Derocher, 83 Bethune street Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness, and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine, for besides steadying my nerves, it built up my system wonderfully, and enabled me to sleep and eat well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years, and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled, and the Pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 1

"Mechanics Wanted"

(ONE CENT PER WORD)

Business houses, not only in Toronto, but all over Canada, rely on "The Globe" to supply them with good mechanics. In one day, 72 letters were taken down asking for help. Most of them wanted men who knew where they wanted in "The Globe." Answer "The Globe" ads and get a good position.

"THE GLOBE" - TORONTO.

1903—Lost in Hamilton, 34-9; defeated West End Y.M.C.A. of Toronto, in local Y.M.C.A. gymnasium by a score of 36-6. This was one of the best exhibitions of basketball ever witnessed in Peterborough, and by defeating the Queen City aggregation the Brownies won the Junior Championship of Canada.

1904—In this year no matches with outside teams were played.

1904—Defeated Midland in Midland, 19-12 in first game and 20-5 in second; lost to Westmount, of Montreal, 33-22; defeated Central Y.M.C.A., Montreal, 34-13; defeated Railroad Y.M.C.A., Montreal, 38-15.

The Brownies will play the Queen's University team at Kingston to-morrow and expect to add another victory to their already long list. The following team will represent the Brownies for this match:—Defence, Hall and Boucher; centre, Fitzpatrick; forwards, N. Miller and B. Gillespie.

TURF.

The Horse World says:—Over in Canada railbirds say that Maud Keswick, 2.16 1-4, owned and driven by Mr. Geo. Curtis, a popular horseman of Lindsay, could have beaten 2.10 the past season. Thos. E. Keswick pieces are hot stuff.

• • • •

The Peterborough Turf Club Club has done a great deal towards encouraging good straight horse racing and the breeding of blue blooded stock.

• • • •

The Turf Club takes a wide interest in sports outside their own sphere. A tug-of-war cup put up by them is on exhibition at Mr. R. H. Jackson's hotel, the Crown, and a splendid city league lacrosse trophy presented to the Turf Club by Mr. Calcutt is offered for competition and is now at the Palace Hotel. It's rather early to talk city league lacrosse but it's up to the youngsters to organize a league next summer and strive for the silverware.

HOCKEY

A good picture of last year's T.A.S. hockey team is on exhibition in the window of Macdonald's drug store.

• • • •

Cobourg will have two teams in the O.H.A. series this winter, an intermediate and junior aggregation.

Andy Fawcett Tells Court All About It

Charged by His Wife With Non-Support.

Explains Matters to His Worship—Case Enlarged Until Friday.

"May I say a few words, Mr. Dumble?" said Andrew Fawcett, who occupied the prisoner's box at the police court this morning, charged by his wife with non-support. Upon being informed that he might speak on his own behalf, Andy proceeded to enlarge upon the questionable qualities of his better half. "She calls me names and beats the boy, and never cooks me a meal," said Andy.

His Worship, who previous to Andy's fervent expostulations, had thought that a month in gaol would be the best thing that ever happened him, changed his mind and enlarged the case until Friday morning, when some new witnesses will probably give evidence.

"I'm afraid neither one of them would make good Sunday School teachers," were His Worship's concluding remarks

"Sure there she is at me again," said Andy, as his wife proceeded to lecture him at the top of the stairs.

Andy walked a way triumphantly, very much pleased that he was not forced to fulfil the obligations relative to the dreaded month on the hill.

Grain-Laden Scow Sinks at Hastings

Last night Messrs. Fowlds & Son met with a considerable loss by the sinking at the wharf at their elevator, Hastings, of a scow laden with peas. They have an elevator on Rice Lake, where the scow took on her cargo and was towed to the village where it sank during the night. The men at work in dealing with the situation will have to be prompt or the scow will be rent asunder by the swelling of the peas which are known to exercise a great expansive force.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I read your issue of Saturday and your remarks on Tuesday. While perhaps your reporter's enthusiasm carried him away and he used language that might have been more or less modified, still I am satisfied that the awakening did not take place a moment too soon. My own children have been speaking to me about the conditions that were referred to, but I am satisfied that if the church and school will work harmoniously together improvement will be accomplished, and that the criticism will do good. An awakening occasionally does no harm. I am satisfied that whoever supplied the information which led to the remarks, has done good, even though it may not have been put as he desired.

Yours truly,
WELL-WISHER OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

For shooting a rabbit at Pottstown, Pa., Tony Sandy was fined $60 by Magistrate Missemer. Ten dollars was imposed for shooting out of season, $25 for shooting on Sunday, and $25 for not having the license which the law of 1903 requires an unnaturalized person to possess when shooting.

"Shut your eyes, open your mouth and see what luck will bring you."

Many a woman is weak and sick, nervous and discouraged. She suffers from headache, backache and other ills. She wants to be well, but all she does is to shut her eyes and open her mouth for medicine and trust to luck for results. She "doctors" month after month, often year after year, in this same blind, hap-hazard fashion, and receives no permanent benefit.

Women take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with their eyes open to the fact that it cures womanly ills. It cures irregularity. It dries debilitating drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. There is no trusting to luck by those who use "Favorite Prescription."

"In the year 1898 my health was poor," writes Mrs. J. Mack, of 248 Broadway, Buffalo, N. Y. "I suffered from falling of womb, a disagreeable discharge, painful monthly periods, headache, backache and pains in the limbs. Every month was confined to bed for two or three days. Was weak, nervous and hysterical; life was a burden to myself and I made every one in the family unhappy because I was so irritable. My husband got me four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and before I had taken the first bottle I was feeling some relief. The medicine made me well and strong, free from nervousness, aches and pain, and I felt like a new woman. Before I used the 'Favorite Prescription' I had been taking another physician's medicine for nearly three months, but had received no benefit. Your medicine is certainly the best in the world."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Don't let a selfish seller over-persuade you to accept a substitute for these Original Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago. Imitated but never equaled.

Lack of Quorum Prevented Meeting

The meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary, which was announced for yesterday, was not held, the reason being that there was no quorum. Another meeting is called for Thursday, Nov. 2nd, when it is hoped that there will be a full attendance as matters of great importance are to be considered.

THE HILL TRAGEDY.

Among Dummer's rough and craggy wilds,
There lives a man named Hill;
And o'er his home a mystery stands
Which time may yet reveal.

At midnight hour their boy was shot,
But strange it is to tell,
No neighbours comes to sympathize,
Though many near them dwell.

The doors are closed, with planks are barred
Their rifles stand around,
And in the corner of the room
Two axes may be found.

But why all this warlike array
In a quiet country home,
Are they besieged by rebel band,
Or do savages round them roam?

But hark me thinks I hear again
That midnight cry, "I'm shot,"
An unseen and a careless hand
Much grief to them has wrought.

For at an upstair window
Appears a youthful pair,
And soon the cry "Mamma, I'm shot,"
Rends the calm midnight air.

Then can you picture in your mind
That scene of grief and woe,
A mother kneeling by her child,
While tears in torrents flow.

A youth now stands behind the bar,
To answer for that deed.
Before a crowded court room
In his own defence he pleads.

He, who in his country's cause had given,
His life, though not laid down,
Must at that country's tribunal
Now answer to the crown.

Upon that night upon pleasure bent
We see him sally out,
To join his comrades in their drive,
For Dewart's home enroute.

They reach their destination,
Their horses there they tie,
With music, songs and pleasantries
The hours pass swiftly by.

Returning on their homeward way,
What tempts them for to shout
And cheer, when to Hill's gate they come
To bring the inmates out.

A shot is fired, Gow answers back
Again and yet again,
But little did he know that he
Had caused such mortal pain.

And all unconscious of the ill
That crying shot betides,
Unto his father's homestead,
With his comrades, onward rides.

But now within a prison cell
He sits with bowed head,
And thinks 'tis well my mother sleeps
Among the silent dead.

And as he meditates he finds
One comfort may yet remain,
That "if he survives he will shoulder his gun
And off to the wars again."

The Cossacks Are Placed On The Guard

To Prevent Interruption of the Telegraphs At Moscow.

RAILWAY STRIKE SPREADS

Decision of Railway Men to Call a General Strike Has Complicated the Russian Situation — Passengers Compelled to Walk Big Part of Their Journey—Bombs Thrown at the Troops.

Moscow, Oct. 25.—The strike is spreading in all directions. On the Moscow, Windayand Rihinsk line the evening express could only reach Potimoskorraia Station, and the passengers were compelled to walk to Moscow.

At the Moscow and Kazan Station 2,000 passengers are waiting. They are being paid by the railway administration, first and second class, 50 cents daily, and third class, 25 cents.

The strikers have damaged the water conduit between Moscow and Mytishichi, and some sections of Moscow are without water.

A meeting of ten thousand strikers yesterday decided to prevent telegraphic communication, which already is becoming difficult.

Several attempts were made yesterday to interrupt communication by telegraph and telephone out of Moscow, and the telegraph offices had to be guarded by Cossacks. Persons wishing to send messages had to fight their way through crowds of strikers, and often were severely handled.

The strike has taken a violent turn in many cities from which reports come of encounters between the mobs and the police and troops.

Casualties Heavy on Both Sides.

Kharkoff, Russia, Oct. 25.—A serious conflict between troops and the people, during which there were many casualties on both sides, occurred Monday night. While a meeting of 20,000 citizens, students and workmen was in progress the cry of "The Cossacks are coming!" was suddenly raised and a panic followed. Many persons were injured in the crush. Subsequently the crowd came in contact with a detachment of cavalry, revolver shots were fired by some of the civilians and small bombs were hurled among the cavalry. The latter thereupon fired two volleys with blank cartridges and then fired with bullets. Both sides suffered seriously.

Strikers have since plundered the gunsmiths' stores and have armed themselves. A number of bakeries have been destroyed and all work has been stopped at others.

Decide on General Strike.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—The Government resumed railroad service on a few roads yesterday, but under great difficulties. The decision of the railroad men last night to declare a general strike has complicated the problem. Trains left for Moscow yesterday over the Nicholai road, but the passengers were notified that communication was guaranteed only to Tver.

Witte Asked; Demands Power.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—It can be positively stated that the Emperor has tendered the position of Premier of the Cabinet about to be formed to Count Witte, who, however, informed the Emperor that he could accept the position only on the condition that he would be a real Premier with a working Cabinet, and not the mere figurehead of an irresponsible body.

Foul Play Suspected.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—The body of a man, believed to be T. L. Bryant of 21 Algiers road, Ladywell, London, England, and whose business address was 165 Fenchurch street, London, was found floating in one of the docks yesterday, having apparently been in the water only a few hours. There are indications that the man may have been the victim of foul play.

G. T. R. Will Use Tunnel.

Detroit, Oct. 25.—A letter from Mr. Atwater, assistant west of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers to General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk, to the Detroit City Council, relative to the grade separation, indicates quite clearly that the Grand Trunk intends to use the new Michigan Central tunnel between Detroit and Windsor, in addition to the other railroads.

Drowned in Welland Canal.

St. Catharines, Oct. 25.—A sad drowning accident occurred Monday night in the old Welland Canal, near lock three, whereby James Reid, a young man, 20 years of age, lost his life. Deceased, accompanied by his brother and Joseph Lydiatt, were in a rowboat, which capsized.

Canada and Newfoundland.

London, Oct. 25.—(C.A.P.)—The Morning Post understands the question of the inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion is again the subject of confidential negotiations. This news, says The Post, is of particular interest in view of the present fisheries dispute between Newfoundland and the United States.

Choral Society's Good Practice

The practice by the new Peterborough Choral Society held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. hall was very successful, the attendance was large and good work was done. The part songs rehearsed were Gaul's "Ferry Maiden" and Pinsuti's "Watchword." Music by Bishop, Pinsuti, Garrett, Gaul, Barnby, etc., has been already purchased and will be taken in hand in due course. A concert will be given during the season.

All who intend joining the Society are requested to communicate with the Hon. Secretary, Miss Dobbin, or with the Conductor, Professor Davies, this week, as it is desirable that the enrollment of members should be completed by next rehearsal which will be held on Tuesday evening, the 31st, at 8 o'clock sharp. The night being Hallowe'en the practice will only occupy one hour.

The place of meeting will be announced in the local papers on Monday and Tuesday next.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mr. W. C. Ackerman Returns

FROM WESTERN TRIP.

Over 15,000 Miles This Year

Business and Pleasure Were Combined on Enjoyable Trip in Canadian West and to Pacific Coast--Fifth Business Trip of Mr. Ackerman More Successful Than Any Previous--Wheat Crop Returns are Excellent.

Mr. W. C. Ackerman returned last night from a three months' trip, embracing the leading cities and points of interest in both the Canadian and United States West. The tour, in addition to being most successful in its business aspect, combined a most pleasant four weeks' visit to the leading cities of the American coast, including a sojourn in California.

Mr. Ackerman, when seen this morning, talked most interestingly concerning many of the leading features of his trip, which is his fifth western trip in the interests of his business, and also the most successful in this respect, of any which he has made.

Leaving Peterborough on August 1st, Mr. Ackerman went via Winnipeg, and after thoroughly covering the Manitoba and Saskatchewan territory, passed on via Calgary, to the Coast. In speaking of the western wheat crop, Mr. Ackerman tells the invariable enthusiastic tale of the returned western tourists of this season. He considers that the estimate of 100,000,000 bushels as the aggregate crop, as a conservative one. The grain is grading exceedingly well, and will, it is expected, average No. 1 Northern. The crop has been a uniformly excellent one in all sections. The railways have been doing excellent work in the handling of the crop, and no shortage of cars is reported. Over 2,500,000 bushels per day are being marketed at Winnipeg. The yield, which it was first estimated at 20 bushels to the acre, will, it now transpires, greatly exceed that figure, and will probably reach an average of about 30 bushels. A yield of 55 bushels per acre on one small section of 10 acres of newly-broken ground is reported, 550 bushels being threshed. A famine in binder twine at one time threatened, and it appeared that nearly all the available twine in the country was consumed. An immense market will thus be created for next season. As an illustration of the rush created by the rapidity in the ripening of the wheat, Mr. Ackerman states that while he was in Indian Head binders were being received by express.

The lateness of the harvest excursions created a great amount of confusion. The first excursion did not reach Winnipeg until the grain was ripe, causing a great dearth of labour; $3 per day was paid in many instances for inexperienced hands. The fact that the excursionists were allowed by the conditions of their tickets to go as far west as Moose Jaw also created much annoyance, this section of country being surfeited with labour while others suffered.

The fine clear fall weather fortunately made the threshing season a long one and little loss was incurred.

The entire country was described as a veritable network of railway lines, all roads branching out rapidly in all directions, the C.P.R. itself having now twenty-seven distinct branches. Mr. Ackerman incidentally pays a high tribute to the C.P.R., which he says equals, if not excels, any of the other ten roads upon which he travelled, both in dining car and pullman service.

Mr. Ackerman concluded the business portion of his trip at Calgary, and continued from there to Vancouver, and thence down the coast, by boat and rail, to California, upon a pleasure and observation tour. His description of the points visited upon the American Pacific coast was most entertaining. The Lewis and Clark exhibition at Portland was in all respects a gratifying success. The directors make the statement that it will pay a dividend of 40 per cent, which is considered phenomenal in an enterprise of this kind. Two most interesting days were spent in San Francisco.

After visiting Los Angeles, and other cities, Mr. Ackerman returned via the San Pedro Line, across the Navajo desert to Salt Lake City.

In Salt Lake City the Mormon element is now considerably in the minority. The streets of that city are described as being the finest in the world. They are 132 feet in width, each block being 660 feet long. Streams of water fresh from the mountain sides run beside each curb. Poles of all kinds are placed in the centre of the street. The Mormon Tabernacle and Assembly Hall were visited. The former is famed for its wonderful accoustic properties, the drop of a pin being quite audible at a distance of over 300 feet. The edifice seats over 10,000 people, and contains an organ of over 5,000 pipes. Salt Lake is gradually evaporating, a decline of sixteen inches being reported last year.

After visiting a large number of other American cities, Mr. Ackerman returned via Detroit, concluding a journey of over 10,000 miles, which, along with his winter trip, aggregates 15,000 miles this year. While in Moose Jaw he had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Bruce Rickey, now connected with the C. P. R. stores department, and at Redlands met Mr. Clyma Lelean, who will be remembered in Peterborough. Mr. Lelean will shortly take unto himself a Californian wife.

Fell From Scaffold and Slightly Hurt

Yesterday Mr. Joseph Wolstenholm, met with a painful accident by falling from a scaffold, while he was engaged in plastering a residence building for Mr. A. Davidson, on Parnell street. The scaffold was on the second floor over the stair case well and in his descent he struck the balluster. The injured gentleman had his spine hurt, ad received other severe bruises, from which, it is hoped, his recovery will not be long.

Young Man Asphyxiated At Regina, Saskatchewan

Mr. Ambrose Sullivan, a Former Peterborough Young Man, Met With Sudden Death—A Native of Emily, But Lived in This City for Some Time—Left Here Only Two Months Ago.

A telegram was received in the city this morning conveying the sad intelligence of the sudden death in Regina, Sask., of Mr. Ambrose Sullivan, which occurred a few days ago, the cause being asphyxiation, though no details of the sad affair are known as yet.

The late Mr. Sullivan left here two months ago for the Soo, afterwards going to Regina. He was twenty-one years of age and was a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. He was well known here, and his many friends will learn with deep regret of his death.

He was a son of Mr. William Sullivan, Frank Hill, Emily, and leaves three sisters and two brothers, as follows: Misses Mary, of Rochester; Hannah, of this city, and Florence, of Emily; John and Dennis, both of Emily.

The body will be shipped to this city and will reach here on Friday. The funeral will probably take place at Ennismore.

Water Levels To Remain The Same

Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, has received a number of inquiries from persons running cottages at Stony Lake in reference to the height of water in the lake next year. This is asked with a view of fixing their wharves to the probable level of the water. Mr. McClellan has informed them that should he have control of the water in 1906 as he has had this year, the water will be kept at the same level, which was about eighteen inches higher than it was in 1904.

This year the flow of water has proven to be quite satisfactory from the standpoint of the power owners and those interested in navigation, and it is the intention, if possible, to have it remain so.

The music was supplied by Mr. Charles Musgrave, of Toronto, whose music is always such a treat to Peterborough people. The floor was in excellent condition, and a varied programme came to an end all too soon. The supper was served by Mr. Harry Long with his usual good taste, the dining-[illegible] sweet with the perfume of many pink carnations and 'mums. Altogether, Miss McGill, who is an ideal hostess, gave what was certainly one of the jolliest little home parties that has been given in the city for some time.

Mr. Bradburn Makes Record Trout Catch

Was With the Winch Party at Catchecoma.

The Members Returned Last Night After Two Weeks' Sport.

The Catchecoma fishing party returned last night from their two weeks' trip to the north on their annual trip in search of the finny tribe.

They spent the two weeks very pleasantly at the Winch cottage, on the shores of the pretty lake, and returned full of pleasing anecdotes of their adventures. Those who returned yesterday were Messrs. A. P. McDonald, Alex. Elliott, N. Nesbit, D. J. Lundy, A. E. Peck, Bal. Burnham, R. J. Winch and Mr. "Barney" Mataske, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Chief of the Fire Brigade of that city.

Mr. Winch this morning related the experience of the party, the most thrilling of which was the exploit of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., who dropped in for a few days on his trip through the north country. Mr. Bradburn got the largest fish ever taken by the party. It was a 6 1-2 pound trout, and was caught with a bamboo pole and light line, which weighed 3 1-2 ounces each included. Naturally Mr. Bradburn is considerably elated over the success which he met with. He caught this master in Bottle Lake.

Mr. Winch reports that on account of the warm weather the fishing was not as good this year as formerly, but those who go hunting will probably have better luck.

Great praise is given to Mr. A. Jackson, the chef of the party.

Lamented Death Of Minnie Dorris

Who Passed Away Yesterday, Aged 23 Years.

Surviving members of the family are five brothers and two sisters, viz.—James, of Cape Vincent, N.Y.; Albert, John and Ambrose, at home; W. E., of Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. J. W. Fairbolt, Vancouver, B.C.; and Hannah, at home. A sister, Irene, it will be remembered by many friends of the family, died about five months ago of appendicitis.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, from the family residence, 112 Aylmer street, to St. Peter's Cemetery, where interment will take place. Service will be held at the Cathedral.

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those persons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. FIRE ENGINE TESTED IN VIEW OF A PROSPECTIVE PURCHASE

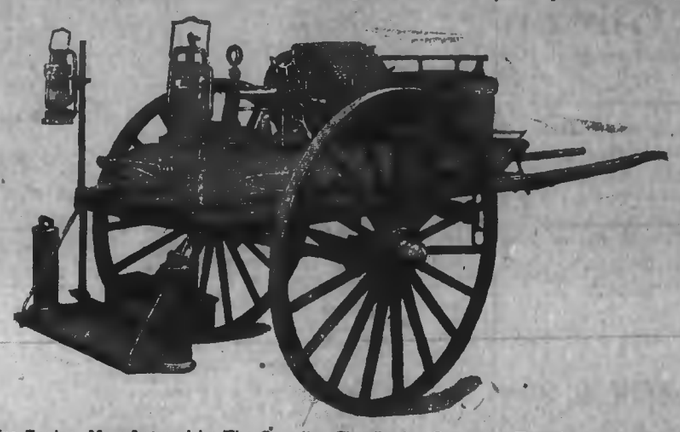
London Fire Engine Company Sent Steamer and Chemical Engines to the City—Chemical Outfit Gave Test Last Night—The Advantages of That Style of Engine Demonstrated—Large Crowd on Market Saw the Test —Fire Engine Given Its Trial This Afternoon.

The Canadian Fire Engine Co., of London, have unbounded confidence in the engines manufactured by them, and, with a view of convincing the City Council of the fact that it would be to the advantage of Peterborough to buy one or both of these engines the company shipped two with them, chemical and steam, to the city in order to give practical demonstrations of the work which they are able to perform.

Yesterday the engines arrived and were unloaded during the morning at the C.P.R. station, and taken to the fire hall, where they were fitted up ready for the tests.

It will be remembered that arrangements were under way some months ago to have both the Waterous and Canadian companies ship engines here and engage in a competitive test, as has been done in other cities, before engines have been purchased.



Chemical Fire Engine, Manufactured by The Canadian Fire Engine Company, Tested on the Market Last Night.

It is a two cylinder engine mounted on two wheels, and is drawn by one horse. The cost is in the neighborhood of $1,500, and the makers claim that in cities where one of these engines have been placed, they have given good service, and have demonstrated their usefulness. The particular advantage of this style of engine is in the fact that by its use a fire which has not yet assumed big proportions may be extinguished without flooding all the surrounding goods or furniture, as the case may be, while it is also more quickly applied. The solution which the cylinders contain is of such a character that it extinguishes the fire much more quickly than water. The engine is so small and compact that it can be taken close to the seat of the trouble.

The London chemical, an illustration of which is given on this page, has another feature which highly commends itself. Should the solution in the cylinders be exhausted before the fire has been extinguished, the regular fire hose may be attached from the hydrant to the cylinders and the chemical nozzle and hose, throwing a small stream may be used. It is a well known fact that in the majority of cases, the greatest damage in fires is by water, and this is an added inducement for the purchase of the chemical engine.

There was a good crowd on the market last night, when the fire alarm was rung, and the large bonfire which had been lit, was extinguished quickly by the use of the chemical. After the first fire had been extinguished, it was allowed to burn up again, and the chemical solution again applied. The test was, to the representatives of the Company, quite satisfactory.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, was a witness to the test, and stated afterwards that the engine had performed all the makers claimed for it. He was pleased with the work done.

The Steam Engine.

The steamer is one of the latest type, crane neck fire engine, complete with all the most modern improvements and appliances. It has been tested under the most severe strain, and the makers claim that it is in perfect condition. It has a nominal capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute, and is an exact counterpart of an engine sold by this Company to the City of London, which now has one each of three styles of engines made by this company, the steamer, chemical and combination chemical and hose wagon. The London engines in a test with two lines of hose 500 feet long siamesed into one nozzle, threw 1 1-2 in. stream twice as high as a six storey building, and on a level, 215 feet.

This afternoon the engine is being given a test here, which is intended to demonstrate its ability to fight fires. Mr. Pritchard, the secretary-treasurer of the Company; Mr. Watt, the superintendent, and Mr. James, the head machinist, accompanied the engines here, and are conducting the tests.

Steam Fire Engine, Made by The Canadian Fire Engine Company, Tested This Afternoon.

The Waterous Company objected to the proposed test, on the ground that it did not give the engines a fair show. The Canadian Company, however, were determined that their engines should be seen under operation by the Fire, Water and Light Committee and citizens, and shipped two to the city.

The "Social Evening" Was Enjoyable

Delightful Thanksgiving Attraction at T. A. S. Rooms.

Progressive Euchre Tournament, Interspersed With Music and Followed by Refreshments.

The social evening under the auspices of St. Peter's T.A.S. last night was one of the most enjoyable and successful of the Thanksgiving attractions.

The society has a well deserved reputation for hospitality and so the attendance was large. The evening passed most pleasantly and many were the compliments paid to the management for the manner in which they had arranged for their guests' pleasure.

Progressive euchre was the main attraction and twenty-six tables were kept going. Mrs. Ed. Conroy won the ladies' prize, a pair of kid gloves, while Mr. Thomas Raymond headed the gentlemen, and was rewarded with a pair of gold cuff links.

Delightful refreshments were served by the Ladies' Literary Society, and needless to say, the guests did ample justice to the array of good things.

Mr. Robt. Begley was master of ceremonies and did everything in his power to make the event a success.

During the evening Miss Minnie Begley entertained the guests with several well rendered piano selections.

Garden Hill People Are Very Confident

Mr. Lawe, a government engineer, has been boring for rock in the north part of the township for some time but can't find it. He is making preparations for the canal which will be along in the spring for sure because it cannot be built any other place for the same money, and if the route by Garden Hill village is chosen there will be very little water taken from Rice Lake as there is plenty in the deep ravine which extends from Garden Hill to Port Hope, and it will be in touch with rich country.—Port Hope Times.

Brantford Visitors Come to Peterboro'

Yesterday Mr. W. R. Turnbull, ex-Alderman, Dr. Hart, M. McPherson, and Mr. C. Gibson, of Brantford, were among the holiday visitors to Peterborough. The primary object of their visit was to look over the plant of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, they having been interested in the development of this system, which had its origin in what is known as the Telephone City. They went over the plant with great interest, and were delighted with the service given over the score or so of phones which the local company have placed in operation, which upon completion of the work at the central station will be added to from time to time. Mr. Turnbull, who is also associated with the Buck Stove Company, Brantford, visited the local agency, under the capable management of Mr. E. M. Best, one of our most popular young business men. It was his first visit to the city and after seeing it in company with his friends, pretty thoroughly, he expressed his surprise at the evidences of thrift and progress he saw on every side, and the great possibilities of future development. The party visited the lift lock and were surprised and delighted.

MOTHERHOOD

Many women long for a child to bless their homes, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs they are barren.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the entire female organism, curing all displacements, ulceration and inflammation.

A woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution. Is not that an incentive to prepare for a healthy maternity?

If expectant mothers would fortify themselves with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for thirty years has sustained thousands of women in this condition, there would be a great decrease in miscarriages, in suffering, and in disappointments at birth.

The following letters to Mrs. Pinkham demonstrate the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Mrs. M. Keener, Hebron, Yarmouth, N. S., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Before my baby was born I was in very poor health, hardly able to get out of bed in the morning, and often so dizzy that all would look black to me and life really did not seem worth the living, but as soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to get better, in fact I feel that this medicine really saved my life and the life of my child, for it helped me give birth to my boy and also made me strong after the child came. I am, therefore, very glad to recommend your Vegetable Compound to all expectant mothers, and feel sure that it will help them as it did me."

Mrs. Mae P. Wharry, Secretary of the North Shore Oratorical Society, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis., writes.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me, and I am so glad I took it, for it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy one within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, which is the pride and joy of our household. Every day I bless Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the light, health and happiness it brought to our home."

If any woman thinks she is sterile, or has doubts about her ability to carry a child to a mature birth let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is free to all expectant, or would-be mothers. She has helped thousands of women through this anxious period.

Women suffering with irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacement, ulceration or inflammation of the womb, that bearing down feeling or ovarian trouble, backache, bloating or nervous prostration, should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of woman's ills, and accept no substitute.

Many Women Have Been Benefitted by Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Medicine.

Enjoyable C. O. F. Concert Last Night

Court Peterborough No. 29 Gave Successful Affair.

Concert Was Followed by Charming Dance—Large Number in Attendance.

The concert given last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, by Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., was undoubtedly one of the most enjoyable of the many affairs of the kind, with which the present season has been ushered in. The attendance was large, the seating capacity of the Hall com. taxed to its utmost. The result was in every respect gratifying to the members of the Court. The programme was a pleasing one throughout, and there was not a number included which did not meet a hearty appreciation as was evidenced by the numerous manifestations of pleasure. Mr. Geo. Duncan occupied the chair.

The opening number was a piano forte duet by the Misses Dorris, which was rendered with the musicianly interpretation and technical power which invariably characterizes their performances. Following this was a vocal solo, "Mona", by Mr. J. E. Firth, which brought such an enthusiastic recall that he was forced to respond with The Veteran's Song.

Mr. J. H. Cameron, the leading artist of the evening, made his initial appearance in a vocal solo "The Pale Moonlight". Mr. Cameron's ability as an entertainer is too well known to require further comment, and last night his versatility and histrionic power were never more apparent. Both in monologue and in vocal musical numbers he kept his audience thoroughly delighted. His recitation, "The Highland Brigade" was an exposition of a dramatic art of a high quality. While succeeding numbers, of a lighter character, were treated in a bright, and pleasing manner appropriate to their nature, his impersonations being particularly good and irresistibly funny. In the second part of the programme he rendered "Ain't it funny, what a difference just a few hours make" in a manner rivalling Raymond Hitchcock. A descriptive selection "The Race" and a concluding song, "See Me Dance the Polka", both drew from the audience hearty and sustained applause.

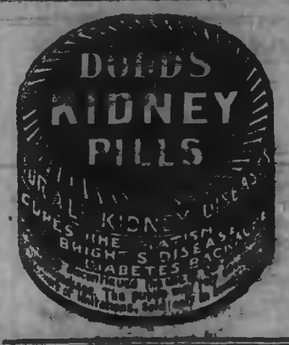
Mr. Harry Dunslow contributed two recitations, both of which were received with enthusiastic applause by the audience. His first number "How Ruby Played" was presented in a graphic and realistic manner. A second number was most much provoking.

A vocal duet, "O, would that we might sing like a bird in a greenwood tree" by Mr. and Mrs. Greenslade, was charmingly rendered, with beautiful expression and shading. Miss Ruth Dawson contributed a vocal song "My Love for You" in good voice and with excellent effect, and in response to a recall gave "Swanee River", in a manner in which the delicate cadences of the world-wide favourite were brought out charmingly.

Part II. of the programme opened with a pianoforte duet by Mrs. Greenslade and Mrs. Rehill. This was an Irish Medley, and was rendered with characteristic spiritedness of movement which appealed strongly to the audience. A song, "Jack still knows how to fight", by Mr. Coleman, was greeted by hearty applause to which he was forced to respond with a humorous selection. A song, "The Valley of Rest", was rendered by Mr. Crowe, with splendid effect, and was also received with a manifestation of pleasure by the audience. The accompaniments were played with skill and expression by Mrs. Greenslade.

At the conclusion of the programme an informal dance took place, for which the music was furnished by the Misses Dorris. Many availed themselves of the opportunity and a pleasant time was spent by the devotees of Terpsichore for several hours. Mr. Archie Moore officiated as director of ceremonies.

The successful termination of the affair reflects great credit upon the committee in charge, of which Mr. D. Menzies was secretary.



Presentation Was Made To Mr. Jas. Tully

Honoured by Staff of Messrs. Gough Bros., Toronto.

Given a Gold Locket and Address—Leaves the Firm to go on Road for Oddfellows.

The many warm friends which Mr. Jas. Tully has in this city, will be interested in learning of a presentation which was made him on Saturday night last, in Toronto, on the occasion of his severing his connection with Gough Bros., with which firm he has been associated for many years, going to Toronto, to work at their store there some months ago. When he left the firm of Tully, Morrell & Meredith.

Last Saturday night at the Toronto store, after business, the members of the firm and staff gathered around Mr. Tully, and Mr. J. J. Gahan, the manager, presented him with a heavy gold locket, with, on one side the three links, emblematic of the Oddfellow Order, raised in gold letters, and on the opposite side the following inscription: "Presented to James A. Tully by the employees of Gough Bros., after 20 years of companionship." The address appended was read by Mr. R. F. Day. (The address follows:—

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 21, 1905.

To James A. Tully, Esq.,

We, the employees of Gough Bros., on this, the eve of your departure, after your long and pleasant connection with the firm to make a venture in a new field, take this opportunity to show our appreciation of your sterling worth and good fellowship as a fellow employee.

Knowing you as we do we feel assured of your success in your new position, necessitating, as it does, close application and honest effort and as fellow employees, we are glad to see that your merits as a workman in the society to which you belong have been recognized and rewarded by them, in placing you in such a responsible position.

We feel that we cannot let this occasion pass by without showing you in a tangible way, our warm feelings towards you, and would ask you to accept with our heartiest wishes for your future prosperity this locket.

May you, as long as you wear it, never forget that the links of remembrance, which bind us, your fellow employees, in the chain of your friendship, are as the links of the order, whose work you are about to take up everlasting and unseverable.

Signed by J. J. Gahan, A. McBride, W. C. Godson, R. D. Currie, Fred. Walker, K. Leonard, S. A. Gregory, S. A. Smith, R. F. Day, H. Gibbons, E. R. Bowie, A. Solomon, Dudley Gough, Jr., Fred. C. Manning, J. A. Gregg, J. Walters, S. Wilson, John O'Leary, D. W. McBride, Frank Donerv, N. V. McKendrick, Harvey Gahan, J. D. O'Connell, E. Pollard, L. McFarlane.

Mr. Tully was taken completely by surprise, but made a suitable reply, expressing his deep appreciation of the gift and of the spirit which prompted it.

The members of the firm also made a few remarks, speaking of the pleasant relations which had always existed between Mr. Tully and the firm, and wishing him success in the future.

After those present had given Mr. Tully a hearty hand shake and extended him their best wishes for his future success, the gathering dispersed.

Mr. Tully as has already been noticed in these columns, has accepted a position with the Oddfellows Benefit Association, as Inspector of Agents, and will devote his time to travelling in the interests of the Order.

It is gratifying to his friends here to learn that, according to information from Toronto, he has made himself as well with his associates there as he was and is in Peterborough.

'Is Dr. Chase Your Doctor"

Have You Learned to Cure Biliousness, Indigestion and Constipation With

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills?

A medicine like a physician, is selected because of the actual results it is known to bring about. Most people are slow in choosing either physicians or medicine until they know of cases in which they have proven successful.

In calling your attention to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills it is only necessary to point to their success in the past for they are known in nearly every home.

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver — causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

This cleansing process set in action by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, means a thorough cure of biliousness, intestinal indigestion, torpid liver, kidney derangements and constipation.

It means a restoration of health, strength and comfort where there has been pain, weakness and suffering. It means a removal of the conditions which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, appendicitis and diabetes.

Mrs. H. Trollope, 830 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I have used two boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them an excellent medicine. I had very severe pains across the back, which came from my kidneys being out of order, and after using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for a time I began to feel a wonderful improvement in my health.

"I have no more pains in my back now and am feeling as well as ever I did. Consequently I am glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

The Czar Utterly Unnerved

In Bitterness of His Soul Then Granted Reforms.

COUNT WITTE DOMINATES

Nicholas Finally Conceded What May Be the Magna Charta of the Russian Nation—Will Grant a Constitution by Creating a Ministry Responsible to the Emperor and the Representatives of People.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—After a series of special ministerial councils under the presidency of Count Witte, held to adopt measures to deal with the situation, the new National Assembly law and laws granting practical freedom of the press and of speech and meeting will be promulgated forthwith. Upon the peremptory demand of Prince Hilkoff, the Minister of Railways, the budget covering the remuneration of railroad employes, will be revised to meet the promises made last spring. Unless this was done, the prince announced he would resign. Thus Count Witte, even in advance of the promulgation of his formal appointment as Premier, completely dominates the situation.

Interesting details have been learned by the Associated Press regarding Count Witte's interview with Emperor Nicholas last week, at which it was agreed that the time had come to limit the autocratic power and give the people a real share in the government of the Empire.

Czar Utterly Unnerved.

His Majesty asked Count Witte to speak frankly, and after listening to the statesman's exposure of the situation, he appeared to be utterly unnerved by the deplorable state of affairs and cried out that he was weary of the struggle and felt like leaving all and fleeing to Darmstadt, hence probably the origin of the report that the Emperor was going abroad.

Count Witte, however, told His Majesty that in his opinion not even a republic could now save Russia from anarchy. It was the Emperor's duty to the people and the country to face the situation by meeting their wishes, viz., to abrogate the autocracy power and grant a constitution by creating a Ministry responsible alike to the Crown and the representatives of the nation. The Emperor finally accepting, requesting Count Witte to draft a project, which later in skeleton form, he approved last Sunday when the count agreed to accept the Premiership on condition that he could name the Ministers and that they should report to His Majesty only through himself as head of the Cabinet.

He was employed on a working train at night between Rockingham and Bedford, and boarded the day express for Sydney at Richmond, to go to Fairview, six miles distant. On arrival at that place the train slowed down and Sharpe started to get off before the train stopped. He fell and was drawn under the wheels.

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 27.—Six bodies have been taken from the ruins of a railroad hotel located at the corner of Elm and Olive streets here, which was gutted by fire early yesterday. He lived some hours only.

As a result of a misunderstanding over his pew rent, Mr. J. Barrie, of Douro, is alleged to have used abusive language to Mr. Wm. O'Brien, of that township. A summons was issued Wednesday upon an information received by Judge Edmison, and the case will probably be heard in Peterborough.

A CREAMY FOOD

Scott's Emulsion is cod liver oil prepared as a food—not a food like bread or meat, but more like cream; in fact, it is the cream of cod liver oil. At the same time it is a blood-maker, a nerve tonic and a flesh-builder. But principally it is food for tired and weak digestions, for all who are fat-starved and thin. It is pleasant to take; children like it and ask for more.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

FRIDAY. OCTOBER 27, 1905.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK'S FAREWELL.

Sir William Mulock's farewell to his constituents of North York on Wednesday evoked a demonstration of enthusiastic appreciation of his public career, and personal relations. The sincerity of this demonstration is undoubted, because Sir William, having retired from public life, no favours to come could inspire adulation. It is a very high tribute to a man that after twenty-three years of strenuous political life, after a quarter of a century's representation of a riding, he should be the subject of congratulatory addresses, in which both friend and foe entered without discrimination of hearty approval and congratulation and regret, and that at the end of that period, Sir William could say that "not a trace of bitterness or discord, has arisen between himself, and any many, woman or child in North York." He has retired from office solely on account of his health, and in proof of the wisdom of this action Sir William stated that out of 213 men who had entered public life when he had done so, only six remained.

The most pleasing tribute, perhaps, that Sir William received, was from a former bitter political opponent, who had been won by the former's kindness — entirely apart from any representative obligations — to the opponent's side, by special kindness to his son, who was in sickness and trouble in South Africa during the war.

The true representative, is a man who recognizes that his representative functions embrace all his constituents, whether friends or opponents. Nothing in Sir William's life, possibly, gave him greater regret, or greater pleasure, than the manner of his exit from it, so far as North York is concerned. He had so far discharged his duty to his constituents as to make the occasion one of the deepest regret. He had served them so well — he had kept his friends, and made friends of foes, so well, that both united in unstinted tribute to the value of his services, and the cordiality of his relations, that he must have been saddened and cheered. In many respects, we shall not soon look upon his like again.

NOT HEREDITARY

Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ.

Many people, even unto the present day of grace, consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is further from the truth —Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall our.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is affected the Dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

Rice Crop Partial Failure

The wild rice crop at Rice Lake which was expected to be larger than usual this year turned out a partial failure on account of heavy wind storms which occurred last month. The Indians were gathering the rice at the time, and had already harvested twenty-five barrels when a severe wind storm battered the rice and caused it to sink to the bottom. Last year seventy-five barrels were gathered and there would have been as much this year but for the storm.—Port Hope Times.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT DISCUSSED FIRE QUESTION

A Notice of Motion Endorsing the Action of the Council in Submitting $25,000 By-Law to Improve Fire Fighting Appliances—A Thorough Discussion of the Whole Situation—The Meeting Representative of the Interests in the City.

The joint committee, representing the City Council, Board of Trade, Retail Merchants' Association, Water Commissioners and citizens, appointed to consider the matter of fire protection for the city, met in the city clerk's office on Wednesday night, when the whole matter was thoroughly discussed, with the result that the action of the council, in submitting a bylaw to raise $25,000 in order to put the fire-fighting equipment of the city in a satisfactory condition, was practically endorsed.

No definite action was taken at the meeting, but Mr. T. F. Matthews, after the whole situation had been thoroughly discussed, gave notice that at an adjourned meeting of the committee, he would submit the following motion to be voted on:

The Resolution.

"Resolved, — That this joint committee recommend the expenditure of $25,000 in order to provide better fire protection appliances, such as:

"1.—New fire hall.
"2.—New steam fire engine.
"3.—New chemical engine.
"4.—New ladders and additional hose.
"5.—A new fire alarm system, believing that improvements are absolutely necessary, taking into consideration the risks in, and the size of, the city; and that a bylaw be submitted at the time of the next municipal elections for the above amount and the committee pledges itself to support the council in their endeavours to carry the bylaw."

It was unanimously agreed to allow this to go as a notice of motion, and the chairman will call a meeting in the near future, at which the matter will be further discussed and the motion voted on.

Those attending the meeting were Ald. Johnston, chairman; Mayor Best, Ald. Hicks, Crowe and McIntyre; Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Robert Fair, R. M. Dennistoun, T. F. Matthews, H. LeBrun and W. H. Meldrum; Chief Rutherford, and Assistant Chief Turner of the Fire Brigade; and Superintendent Henderson, of the Waterworks.

The Proposal.

In opening the discussion, the chairman explained the object of the meeting, pointing out that the city had made progress in almost every line except in that of fire fighting appliances. The need along this line had been felt for some time, and the council had this year submitted a bylaw which, if it had carried, would have sanctioned the expenditure of $25,000 for the erection of a new fire hall, the purchase, of a new steam engine, chemical engine, hose and ladders, and the installation of a new fire alarm system. Unfortunately the ratepayers had not accorded it support, and the result was that none of the much needed improvements had been carried out.

The council still recognized that in the best interests of the city some improvements should be effected, and the meeting had been called in order that the interests most vitally affected might together consider the matter, and, if possible, arrive at some conclusion which would meet with the approval of the ratepayers to such an extent that they would co-operate with the council in providing the necessary improvements.

Objects of Meeting.

Ald. Johnston, in answer to one of the committee, gave the items going to make up the $25,000, which the council had asked the people for. They were as follows:

Land for new fire hall, $2,000.
New hall, $10,000.
Steam engine, $5,000.
Chemical engine, $3,000.
New alarm system, $3,000; leaving a balance of $1,400 for incidentals.

His own opinion was that the vote had been taken at the wrong time of the year, and he believed that if it were taken at the time of the municipal elections it would carry. Out of an average vote of 1000 on money bylaws there were only 121 in favour and 249 against the bylaw.

Mr. H. LeBrun was of the opinion that if the bylaw were voted on in the January election there would be no trouble to pass it. All must feel the improvements were needed. For the last 25 or 30 years nothing had been done to improve the fire protection of Peterborough, and it was time that something was done.

Citizens Must be Convinced.

Mr. Dennistoun thought that if the bylaw were to be carried, the citizens would have to be shown how the improvements proposed would benefit them. If they could see that it would be to their advantage to have these improvements they would not object to providing them.

Ald. Crowe expressed his opinion that the reason the people had defeated the last bylaw was because too much money was asked. His idea would be to get $10,000, or $15,000, and build a fire hall first, and afterwards secure the equipment to place in it, adding to it each year until the appliances were up to the standard.

Mr. Bradburn thought that the sum asked for was not too much, and said that if the merchants and business men took off their coats on election day and worked, they could carry a bylaw of $50,000.

The chief of the brigade was asked for his opinion as to what was needed, and said that the question of rates was a secondary consideration. The first thing to do was to place the city on a good basis, as far as protection was concerned. The present alarm system was practically useless, and for the last three months when an alarm came in the firemen had to go to the central telephone office to find out where the fire was. The alarms were worn out, and the first thing, in his opinion, was to get a new alarm system. Other improvements needed were a new hall, an engine of some kind, either repair the present engine, or buy a new steam engine, a chemical engine, new hose and new ladders, the latter long enough to reach the highest buildings. This it was pointed out, was just what the bylaw had proposed to provide for.

Need for Steam Engine.

Some discussion ensued as to the advisability of purchasing a new steam engine, and Mr. Matthews pointed out that had it not been for the engine, the Cereal Works would in al probability have been totally destroyed, and in this one case alone the engine had demonstrated its usefulness.

After some further discussion on the question the resolution quoted above was introduced as a notice of motion by Mr. Matthews, and it was decided to ask for public discussion through the press on the proposal, and at a later date, possibly in a week or ten days, the committee will be called together again to votee on the resolution.

AN APPRECIATION OF CANADA

A correspondent of the Commercial Intelligencer, of London, who is now touring the country, calls attention to scenic Canada, one of our assets, which has a very tangible value, and which we are apt to think lightly of, when discussing the agricultural, mineral or forest wealth of the country. Speaking of "Canada as a holiday ground," he says:

"What Americans desire in choosing where their summer vacations shall be spent are: 1, A fresher and cooler summer climate than their own; 2, Attractive scenery; 3, Tidewater or river or lake fishing and boating, and, 4, Good surf bathing, and a sandy foreshore, which lends itself, not to fashionable promenading, but to sun bathe and sauntering. All these attractions are offered in numerous places in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and Quebec, which are reached by the Intercolonial railway — the Government railway of Canada — and the Dominion Atlantic Railway, while further west, in the region served by the Grand Trunk, and only a few hours pleasant ride by fast trains from Toronto, in the Muskoka District, there is a delightful summer climate, a district fresh and invigorating on account of its altitude and its forest surroundings, with boating and canoeing, which never lose their charm as long as the summer and autumn lasts, and fishing as good, as plentiful and as varied, as in the most favoured lake and river fishing resorts, for which the Maritime Provinces have now a world fame."

The proceeding will be a revelation, the Brantford Expositor thinks, to the average Britisher, who visits Norway, Switzerland, the Rhine country, and continental Europe for scenic attractions. Proceeding, the writer says:

"Canada's natural charms are an abiding beauty — the bays and inlets, the mountains and forests, and the rivers and lakes of the Maritime Provinces; and the streams, lakes and woods of Muskoka are among the scenic assets of the North American continent. When the boundary lines were finally drawn after the domestic unpleasantness of 1776-83, Canada certainly got the better part of the natural beauties of the continent — most assuredly from the point of view of summer and autumn vacation life; and to-day these glorious possessions of Canada are of obvious and appreciable value in the present growing time in the Dominion."

Canada obtained after all, the best share of the natural beauties of the continent, and while it is not necessary for her to live off tourists, as the Swiss are said to do, there is no reason why she should not make the most of the bounties which Nature has showered upon her.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

HOW THE CITIZENS AND THEIR VISITORS SPENT THE HOLIDAY

Thanksgiving Day Was a Quiet Holiday in the City—The Services in Churches Well Attended—Many Out of the City—Railways Did Big Business—The Entertainments at Night—Visitors in City Were Numerous.

Yesterday, Thanksgiving Day, was passed quietly in Peterborough, as all similar days are.

The weather was conducive to outside pleasures, and as a consequence a large number of persons took advantage of the splendid fall weather to spend a day in the woods, and numerous excursions were made to the many hunters' resorts in the country, with the result that at night the roads leading to the city were alive with hunters returning from the chase, with game bags bulging out with spoil.

The railways this year did an almost unprecedentedly large holiday trade. The fact that the single fares were good until after Sunday had the effect of inducing a larger numbers of citizens than usual to spend a few days out of the city.

On Wednesday the great bulk of the business was done, though yesterday morning saw a large exodus.

The rugby game in Toronto attracted a large number of persons to that city, and they came home well pleased with their trip.

The railways report that the Thanksgiving trade this year was the largest in the history of the city.

In the city everything was quiet. The rifle matches which were in progress during the greater part of the day at the ranges, attracted a large number of spectators.

Until night there was nothing of a public character, except the usual Thanksgiving Day services in the city churches, which were all fairly well attended, and in the majority of churches special music appropriate to the day was given.

At night three enjoyable social gatherings were held. At St. Andrew's the annual tea and concert, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society was held, and was largely attended. At the T.A.S. rooms an interesting entertainment was given by the literary section of the Society. It too, was well attended, and those who were present had a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Court Peterborough No. 29, C.O.F., gave a delightful concert in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, at which Mr. J. H. Cameron, of Toronto, assisted by local talent gave the programme.

Those who did not go out of the city had visitors spending the day with them, and the dirt track and cemetery were the chief places of attraction yesterday. At the former there was a continual stream of visitors during the whole day.

A Charming Social Event Yesterday

Miss Ida May Edmondson Becomes the Bride of Mr. Maxwell Martyn.

Marriage Solemnized at the Home of Bride's Father—Mr. and Mrs. Martyn Will Reside in Montreal.

At seven p.m., last evening, the spacious home of Mr. Henry Edmondson, 116 Weller street, was the scene of an interesting event, when his daughter, Miss Ida May Edmondson, was united in marriage to Mr. Maxwell Martyn, son of the late Richard B. Martyn, a life-long and popular resident of Peterborough, and grandson of the late Martin Martyn, by the Rev. Dr. Orothers, pastor of the George street church, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the bride ad groom.

The bridal party entered the drawing rom with the bride leaning on the arm of her father, as Prof. Milner, organist of the George street Methodist church, rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride as she approached the beautiful arch of smilax and ferns, where the groom awaited them, looked charming in her rich gown of pearl gray silk soliennе en traine, with bertha of real lace, and wide silk girdle, and carrying a large bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ipsa Martyn, of Toronto, sister of the groom, was attired in a becoming gown of mauve crepe de chine, trimmed with applique and lace yoke. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groomsman wass Mr. W. T. Edmondson, of Dawson City, brother of the bride.

The little flower girl, Miss Mazie Cunningham, niece of the bride, looked sweetly pretty in white organdie frock and white silk sash.

After receiving the congratulations of their friends, a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served. The presents were numerous and costly.

The bride's going-away gown was of navy blue broadcloth.

Amid showers of confetti the bride and groom left on the midnight train for the East, and will visit Montreal, New York and other cities. After an extended tour they will take up their residence in Montreal, where the groom has a lucrative position.—Com.

Wedding Took Place Wednesday

Miss Edna McWilliams Becomes Bride of Mr. F. Mahood.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday night at the residence of Mr. Thos. McWilliams, 33 Ware street, when at 7 o'clock his sister, Miss Edna McWilliams, daughter of the late Thos. McWilliams, was married to Mr. Frederick Torrence Mahood, Otonabee.

On account of the recent bereavement in the family of the bride the wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Major, of All Saints' church, in the drawing room, the bride being dressed in white organdie, trimmed with lace. The bride and groom were unattended.

After the ceremony the usual dejeuner was partaken of, after which Mr. and Mrs. Mahood went to their new home in Otonabee, near the locks bridge.

Third Thanksgiving Social St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church have a practical, pleasant and profitable way of spending Thanksgiving. Three years ago the night was set apart, for what is denominated a Thanksgiving social. The congregation for two or three hours are the guests of the society—for a consideration—and the proceeds of the tea are devoted to the funds of the society. An elegant supper is served and the members of the congregation combine the pleasures of the table and social enjoyment in a very pleasant way. Last night supper was served to between 300 and 400 persons, consequently the sum of between $75 and $100 is added to the funds of the Society, and in this and in all other respects the third annual Thanksgiving social was one of the most successful of the series.

The general direction of the affair was under the direction of the officers—Mr. T. C. Elliott, President; Mrs. Frank Packenham, Secretary, and Mrs. J. D. Tully, Treasurer. The work was divided among several committees. The three bountifully spread tables were in charge of six ladies—No. 1—in order, not necessarily of merit, but of enumeration—table, Mesdames. F. L. Robinson and C. S. McClelland; No. 2, Mesdames. R. J. McWilliams and Wm. Carter; No. 3, Mesdames. Archie Moore and —— McCollum. Young ladies and gentlemen of the congregation, excellently served the delicious viands provided.

The Concert.

After supper the feasters repaired to the church auditorium where a very pleasing programme of music was introduced by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, who made a few remarks expressive of the significance of Thanksgiving. Space at command will not permit of a detailed reference to the several numbers, but an excellent programme was presented in an admirable manner in the following order:—

Pianoforte Duet.....Mrs. C. S. McClelland and Mrs. A. P. Kerr.
Vocal solo, "Love th Peddler," Germania.....Miss Margaret Bryce.
Recitation, "A Visit to Grandma," (encored,) Little Miss Christie.
Clarinet solo, Fantasia, "Alicante," LeThiere.....Mr. E. N. Gibbs.
Vocal solo, "The Lord is My Light," March ... Miss Florence Hall.
Recitation.....Little Miss Christie.
Clarinet solo, 'Polka Brilliante,' Story...Mr. Gibbs.
Vocal solo, "The Standard on the Braes of Mar,"... ...Miss Bryce.

Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. Kerr, had charge of the programme arrangement, also furnished the accompaniments to the several creditably performed numbers which furnished such delightful entertainment.

Arrested At C.P.R. Station Wednesday

Indian River "Thankgiver" Grew Hilarious.

In the crowd of holiday travellers which thronged the platform of the C.P.R. station upon the arrival of the local on Wednesday evening, there was no more conspicuous figure than that of James Kelly, of Indian River. James had evidently been on pleasure bent earlier in the day, and this was followed by a boisterous period at the station. Standing in the midst of the crowd he gave vent to what was termed by many bystanders in the most comprehensive volley of epithets and obscene language which they had ever heard. Kelly had under one arm a large bundle of meat, while both pockets of his overcoat bulged with two capacious whiskey bottles.

Kelly boarded the train upon its arrival at the station, but the conductor had other views with regard to the matter and the police were notified. P.C. Stewart arrived in a short time, and amid a storm of protests, verbal and physical, Kelly was dragged from the car by the officer, and the train proceeded on its way with only a few minutes' delay. The prisoner was conveyed to the cells in an express wagon. At the police court this morning he was fined $10, to be paid forthwith, and not having the money went up to gaol, verbal and physical, Kelly was Nesbitt Castle for twenty days.

Peterborough Wins Round;

DEFEATS TORONTO ARGONAUTS

By The Close Score Of 8-6.

The Game Was One of the Best Ever Played in Intermediate Series of the O. R. F. U.—Shows Phenomenal Punting—Opened the Eyes of Toronto Enthusiasts—Gilbert Made the Touch-down—The Back Division Played Almost Perfect Rugby—A Large Crowd Witnessed the Match.

Peterborough 8—Toronto 6.

Yesterday, the above few words brought delight to the hearts of many of the loyal devotees of Canada's fall sport. Thanksgiving Day was made brighter by the welcome message tapped over the wires and it seemed as if a great sombre storm cloud excluding the brilliancy of the sun had suddenly vanished as if touched by a fairy's magic wand. The crowds that witnessed the match said it was one of the most interesting they had ever witnessed and the Peterborough enthusiasts that accompanied the team to the Queen City and who were spectators of the great game say that they were doubly repaid for their visit to the Queen City.

Peterborough knocked the Toronto-Argonauts out of the running in the intermediate O. R. F. U. series yesterday afternoon when they defeated the combination team for the second time this season by a score of 8 to 6 on the Varsity athletic field. At Peterborough last Saturday the score was 18 to 7, making the total on the round 26 to 13. The credit for the victory must be ascribed to the splendid punting of Shaw and the excellent defence work of the back division. They missed very few catches, though hard pressed most of the time. The Toronto-Argonauts wings were superior all round to their opponents, but there was no combination between the respective back division. Barring Day, the soldier half-back, who played excellently the home team's halves were decidedly weak. Hutchins, a mere youngster, was visibly nervous, and muffled nearly everything that came his way. His mistakes and also those of Inglis, prevented the Argos from pulling out in front. Hutchins muffed an easy punt behind his own line, which gave Peterborough six of their eight points, as a try resulted and the goal was kicked. Shaw outpunted the Argo halves, kicking with and against the wind. Mulhern pulled off some nice runs, and Crowley made few mistakes. Ford played in good form until he was hurt by a tackle and compelled to retire. The husky Hurtubise, Regan, Gilbert and McDonald were the stars of the wing line. McGuire's great tackling was the bright feature of the game. He never fail to pull down his man, and on his showing yesterday he should easily land a place on the first team. Magah, Clarkson and Crowe were always prominent and Thompson at quarter did finely. Wood played on the line until Hutchins was dropped, and then he went to half, where he distinguished himself by some nice catching. It was a hard game for the combination to lose, as in the first half, playing against the wind, they scored three points to their opponents' one. There was a fair crowd present and the game was in many respects superior to some of the so-called senior matches played this year. Referee Hayes and Rosina, both of Hamilton, handled the games admirably. The teams and officials were:—

Toronto-Argonaut II.—Backs: Wood; half-backs, Inglis, Day, Hutchins; quarter-back, Thompson; snap-back, Crown; inside wings, Millar, Heffernan; middle wings, Inglis, Cowlson; outside wings, Marsh, Maguire.

Peterboroughs—Back, Ford; half-backs, Mulhern, Shaw, Crowley; quarter-back, Gillespie; snap-back, Hurtubise; inside home, Regan, Craig; middle wings, McDonald, Meather; inside wings, Crough, Gilbert.

Referee, H. Hayes, Hamilton; umpire, F. J. Robbins, Hamilton; touch-line judges, B. Love, C. S. Shortell; linesmen, R. A. Bakes, Dillon; goal judges, A. Anglin, N. C. Belton; timers, P. Mill, K. Hall.

Peterborough won the toss and kicked north, with a strong wind favouring them. The locals scored very quickly. Day kicked off to Shaw, whose return struck one of his own forwards, giving the T. A's the ball ten yards out. Hutchins kicked over the line and a rouge resulted. Day was ruled off for five minutes for rank interference, and Peterborough pressed. Hutchins muffed and the play was in Argos' territory. Maguire made a nice run for twenty yards and then Gilbert was penalized for charging. Inglis missed a punt and Shaw tried to drop a goal, but his kick was wide and only a rouge resulted.

Before half-time the Torontos scored two singles on kicks over the line, the ball being in Peterboroughs territory most of the time. Millar, Marsh and Maguire met with slight accidents, Maguire stalled off many runs by great flying tackles. In the second half Peterborough rushed matters. A kick of Day's was blocked, and then Shaw punted over to Hutchins, who muffed, and Gilbert fell on the ball for a try, which Shaw converted nicely. In quick order the locals forced a rouge, and had much the better of the play until Inglis missed a pass and Crough dribbled for a single. Gillespie and Inglis pulled off some runs, and from a scrimmage 20 yards out Day kicked over for a rouge. A moment later he repeated the trick. Ford was hurt and retired, Hutchins accompanying him. The final score was 8 to 6.

Mr. G. Barrie Accepts Challenge of Mr. W. Stewart.

In reply to a challenge which appeared in Wednesday's Examiner, the following letter of acceptance from Mr. G. Barrie, has been received by the Examiner:—

The event, which will be the first of the kind for some time in the city should prove a highly interesting one, the letter is as follows:—

Mr. W. Stewart,

I hereby accept your challenge to a five mile road race, to be run on Oct. 28th, 1905, starting at 4.30 p. m. Open run around the Driving Park, down to Downer's Corners and finish at the Exhibition grounds corner.

Yours,

G. BARRIE.

Dated October 27, 1905.

GOLF.

Yesterday was a record day at the Peterborough Golf Links, in point of attendance and probably in respect to its enjoyable nature. About 125 took luncheon at the links.

In the morning the gentlemen played for the Edmison trophy, which was won by Mr. R. Neill, with a score of 83.

The finals in the Captain's Prize were also played in the morning and the trophy was won by Mr. W. H. Bradburn, after a closely contested game, with Mr. Cyril Meore.

In the afternoon, in the mixed Foursomes, Mrs. W. E. Hall and Mr. W. H. Bradburn tied the round with Miss G. Hall and Mr. Cowtharde with a net score of 42.

Mrs. E. M. Donnistoun and Mr. H. D. Burbidge, handed in the best gross score, 46.

Altogether the day was a most enjoyable one and expressions of pleasure were general.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

At the end of the eleventh round Gus Gardner went blind in his fight with Mike Donovan at Philadelphia the night before last. Dr. Guess said that the blindness was caused by tannic poison, the result of too much drinking. Gardner was fighting the best of the argument up to this stage. The referee was forced to give the decision to Donovan and Gardner went like a child.

Mr. Martin Conners was the representative of the local club at a meeting held in the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto, on Saturday, when the dates for the winter circuit were arranged. This will open at Dufferin Park, Toronto, on Christmas Day, and the local meeting will be held during the third or fourth week in January.

The following towns and cities will be included in the circuit: Port Perry, Lindsay, Peterborough, Picton, Belleville and Ottawa.

THE TRIGGER.

The Havelock Standard says:—The programme of the annual rifle match of the local Civilian Rifle Association has been arranged. The match will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, Oct. 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th.

The chief prize in the match and one for which the running will be close, is the handsome silver cup, known as "The Stratton Challenge Cup", donated last year by the Hon. J. H. Stratton, to the member scoring the highest aggregate in general match, and which must be won for three years in succession, before it becomes the private property of any member.

Last year Mr. John Armstrong was the lucky man to secure the cup, and this year he will have to hustle some to keep possession.

BASEBALL.

New York, Oct. 26.—The team that brought the world's baseball championship to New York last week will line up in 1906 exactly as it did this year. John McGaw, manager of the Giants, made this announcement at a dinner given in his honour by the New York sporting writers. He further declared that he has no intention of trading any of the players.

This was taken to mean that he has rejected the offer of the Cincinnati club to exchange Cy Seymour, the leading batter of the National League, for Roger Bresnahan, the Giant's star catcher.

"I believe I have demonstrated that I have the greatest baseball team in the world," said McGaw. "The Athletics certainly are a fast collection of ball players, but we out-classed them in every department. Mack's punch proved game and they were dangerous until their best man had been retired."

BASKET-BALL.

The Brownies, Queen's University team in Kingston yesterday by a score of 33-23. The Brownies led at half-time by 17-14. Fitzpatrick did the bulk of the scoring and the whole team showed up to splendid advantage. The match was played at night and in afternoon the boys took in the rugby game and saw Varsity trim Queen's University by a score of 20-6. The Brownies returned this morning and report excellent treatment at the hands of their opponents. As was predicted the local lockers have added another victory to their already long list. About two hundred Kingstonians witnessed the game.

W. Cunningham Was Granted His Freedom

Young Man Who Attempted Suicide.

Chas. Burgoyne Did Not Send His Boy to School—Had to Pay $5.

Wm. Cunningham, the young man charged with attempting suicide, was discharged at the police court this morning.

James Kelly, the Indian River man, who created such a disturbance at the C.P.R. station on the night before Thanksgiving was fined $10, to be delivered there and then. "Jimmy" didn't have the price, so he took twenty days on the banks of the Otonabee where there's "water, water everywhere but not a drop (of booze) to drink."

Chas. Burgoyne did not send his son to school and was assessed five dollars. His Worship, Police Magistrate Dumble, said that some people found fault with the court for not sentencing the non-school attending pupils to be flogged, but said that he had not the power to impose this sentence and he therefore would fine the parents and leave the corporal punishment for them to attend to. The culprit in this case had only been to school a little over a month during the past eight.

Society Event In Norwood

Miss Emily Squires Married to Mr. Henry Harper.

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, Oct. 26.—Snyd Villa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Squire, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, October 25th, when their daughter, Emily, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Harper of town. The officiating minister was the Rev. W. H. Adams.

The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father, and was beautifully attired in a dainty gown of whited esprit, with duchess satin ribbon, trimming, over white silk.

She carried a trailing bouquet of chrysanthemums and smilax, and wore a veil with wreath of tube roses, her only ornament being a brooch of filigree gold which she while in England, received as a gift, to be worn on the evening of her marriage.

The ceremony was performed, with the bride and groom beneath an arch of chrysanthemums and smilax, and was witnessed by a large number of relatives of the contracting parties.

After a sumptuous repast the happy couple left for their home on Queen street.

The gifts were numerous and handsome. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond pendant.

Mrs. Harper will receive on Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon, November 3rd and 4th.

Unveiling Of Honour Roll

Will Take Place at Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday Next.

The unveiling of an honour roll will take place on Sunday afternoon next at the Park street Baptist church. The school was divided several months ago into two sections, in an effort for the building fund, each having a card representing $1.00, the colours being red and blue.

The reds came out on top, and, as acknowledgment, an illuminated scroll upon which is entered all the names of the winning side will be given. The work was very artistic in Old English and water colours, and was done by the pastor's son, Rev. A. P. Bruce, of Newtonville, and was framed in a beautiful frame and will be unveiled in the presence of the school on Sunday afternoon next.

Celebrating The Holiday

While a well-known "Gravel Road" man of fabulous tendencies, not only on the holidays but on pretty nearly "everydays" was absent from his horse and vehicle for a short time yesterday. A number of young men and boys took advantage of the opportunity to decorate his gallant steed. After the equine's toilet had been completed, the owner staggered into his conveyance and away he went up George street with sundry ribbons, rags and other ornaments fluttering to the breeze. The gay equippage attracted considerable attention and some people thought that Dan "Patch" had surely come to town.

Cobourg Active.

—On Monday night at a special meeting of the Cobourg Town Council a deputation was appointed to interview teh Provincial Government, (along with other deputations from adjoining municipalities) to further the claims of the memorials already forwarded the Government in reference to retaining the Healy Falls' power for utilization in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, and also to issue the leases of the Government portions to the Cobourg Heavy Falls' Syndicate; also, restricting the several portions of the power already owned by it, for use in the United Counties.

Let go or die. That's the alternative of the shipwrecked man with the money bags. A great many people have a like alternative before them. Business men come to a point where the doctor tells them that they must "let go or die." Probably he advised a sea voyage or mountain air. There's an obstinate cough that won't be shaken off. The lungs are weak and perhaps bleeding. There is emaciation and other symptoms of disease, which if unskilfully or improperly treated terminate in consumption.

Thousands of men and women in a like condition have found complete healing by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"It gives me pleasure to send you this testimonial so that some other poor sufferer may be saved as I was by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Geo. A. Thompson, of Sheldon Ave., Chatham, Ont., Canada. "I had a cough for years, expectorated a great deal and was slowly failing. Was losing flesh every day. Lost in weeks from 180 pounds down to 132. My flesh got soft and I had no strength. Did not say anything to any one but made up my mind that the end was not far off. One day my wife was reading in the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser' about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; and I said, that sounds more like common sense than anything else that I had heard. I at once bought a bottle of your famous remedy and before I had taken half of one bottle I felt better. Took thirteen bottles and it made a new man of me. I gained sixteen pounds and never have had a cough since. I feel splendid and give all the credit to your medicine."

Given away. The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. The book contains 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations and several colored plates. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-bound book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure bad, foul stomach and constipation and no help to cure nearly every disease of man kind. They regulate, tone up and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The Contagion Is Spreading In Czar's Domain

Striking Russians Going Out By the Thousands.

RAILWAY LINES ALL TIED UP

International Train Service on All Lines Has Practically Ceased—Misfortunes Accumulate Upon People, Who Cannot Obtain Bread—The Royal Family and Court Get Supplies From a Battleship.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—Russia is practically isolated to-day from the rest of the continent of Europe, as the international train service on all the lines has virtually ceased. The tie-up in the interior is more complete than yesterday. The only trains running are operated by the railroad battalion.

The strike contagion is spreading. All classes of workmen are organising sympathetic strikes, and industrial life in the country is coming to a standstill. The situation cannot long continue. Either the workmen will soon be starved into submission or pillage with military interference and bloodshed on a large scale are bound to follow.

At Moscow 600 cabmen have already fought the strikers, whom they charge with taking the bread out of their mouths. In many cities, especially at Moscow, the question of food is becoming extremely serious. Collisions between the troops and strikers are reported to have occurred at several places. At Ekaterinoslav, a regular pitched battle between the soldiers and strikers was fought, and the city was left in darkness. But as a rule the revolutionary leaders are keeping their men in hand. Communication by telegraph with many interior points is interrupted.

In State of War.

The whole country is becoming alarmed, and in St. Petersburg an incipient panic prevails. The boats and the Finnish trains, now the only means of egress, are crowded with people fleeing abroad. The situation here has grown much worse over night. The mills and factories who joined the ranks of the 40,000 workmen in the strikers Wednesday, were increased by 30,000 more yesterday morning. All the employes of the port, 4,000 in number, walked out, and 12,000 other men from the steel works left work in a body. The inhabitants of St. Petersburg awoke to find the capital resembling a beleaguered city. The shops in the Basiliostarov district and in all the suburbs are closed, windows are boarded and barred and mounted patrols are to be seen everywhere in the streets.

Meat Nearly Gone.

The prices of food have gone up and the supply of beef is only sufficient for three days, but there are ample supplies of wheat and rye for two months. The Emperor and the court at Peterhof are supplied by a warship from St. Petersburg. All the families who can afford to have hastened to lay in supplies and stand a siege. The suffering falls heaviest on the poor, who live from hand to mouth. All the bakers sold out their bread before noon.

The meat dealers have been ordered by the revolutionists not to deliver meat to the troops under pain of death, and consequently the soldiers are living on canned goods. The butchers have notified their patrons that the meat markets will probably be closed to-day on account of lack of meat. All the St. Petersburg schools were closed yesterday and the children sent home, with instructions not to return until their parents think it is safe to do so.

Postpones Foreign Loan.

The great strike promise to delay and possibly interrupt the negotiation for the new Russian loan. The international bankers who are here do not seem to be greatly disturbed by the situation, although they are constantly in receipt of threatening letters from the revolutionists, warning them that if they contract a loan without the consent of the National Assembly it will be repudiated. Nevertheless they are not disposed to close with the Government until the situation has cleared up.

Troops in Possession.

During the afternoon the alarm in St. Petersburg increased, the meat markets were raided by anxious purchasers, and all the oil and candles were sold out. The people feared that the city would be plunged in darkness, but Gen. Trepoff acted energetically. The troops took possession of the water, gas and electric light works, and a strong guard was placed around the treasury.

During the afternoon striking workmen began marching into the outlying districts and inviting their comrades to join them. The police and troops did not interfere, but by Gen. Trepoff's orders the spirit shops were closed. During the day the pharmacists formally struck. The police are becoming frightened, many of them offering their resignations.

Reports from the interior say that the troops are moving a few trains, but with great difficulty. The strikers are tearing up the tracks in some places.

A state of siege exists in Moscow. The street cars are stopped and the Cossacks have several times dispersed crowds of people. Martial law has been declared at Elizabethpol.

Gen. Trepoff believes the strike will exhaust itself at the end of the week, as the workmen are without money.

Order Given to Strike.

Lods, Russian Poland, Oct. 27.—Posnanskis' great spinning mills and other establishements here ceased work yesterday and a general strike has been declared for to-day.

Dragoons Fire on Mob.

Warsaw, Oct. 27.—At Pabianice, dragoons yesterday fired on 4,000 workmen, killing two and wounding 14.

Asks Official Probing.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—Governor Pennypacker, has written President Roosevelt, asking for a Federal investigation into the affairs of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny, and stating that the bank had among its deposits $1,030,000 of the moneys of the commonwealth.

Pains in the Chest

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had severe pains in my chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have been very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Fishermen Should Be Careful.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—While the most critical points in the Newfoundland fisheries controversy apparently have been settled, a letter from Secretary Root to Secretary Shaw, made public yesterday, points out that there is still ground for possible friction and expresses a wish that, pending negotiations now in progress, American fishermen and local officials avoid any precipitate action in the assertion of what they conceive to be their rights. The promulgation of the letter followed a conference between Secretary Root and Sir Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador.

Italian Consulate Changes.

Montreal, Oct. 27.—Count Mazza, the Consul-General here, has left on ten months' leave of absence for Italy and may not return to Canada again. Jerome Internoscia, advocate, has been appointed acting Consul-General for Italy. Marquis Marco Bambo Doria has been appointed special commercial commissioner, whose functions are to co-operate with the Consul-General for the improvement of the trade relations between Italy and Canada.

Laborers Threatened Strike.

Quebec, Oct. 27.—Workmen in the employ of the Messrs. Davies, at Levis, threatened to strike yesterday morning if they were not paid bigger wages and permanent, instead of temporary, repairs made on the vessels entrusted to the firm to repair. The threat was not general, and a settlement was effected without much difficulty.

Treaty Signed.

Stockholm, Oct. 27.—Representatives of the Swedish and Norwegian Governments last night signed the treaties involved in the Karlstad agreement.

Great Sale of Bulbs by Mr. Cobb.

Another fresh consignment of bulbs has been received by Mr. Jos. H. Cobb, of the Aylmer street greenhouses. These all come direct from the producers, in Holland, Messrs. M. Weldhuyzen van Zanta & Sons, and are all first class bulbs, no second class. They consist of tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, etc., every one accurately named. Mr. Cobb can afford to sell 25 per cent. less than regular.

Henry McCormick, who said that he was a sheep buyer and had recently come to America from New Zealand, called at police headquarters in Jersey City, and left with Detective Sergeant Close $1220, as he was afraid that he might lose the money or be robbed if he carried it with him when he visited New York.

The Surveyors Celebrated Thanksgiving

High Old Time At Crawford's Grove.

Splendid Dinner at the Camp—Euchre Was the Post Prandial Game.

"By the livings did you see that turkey? It was a monster, by the great sweeps."

These and sundry other exclamations of surprise were given vent to in the vicinity of Crawford's Grove yesterday. The inhabitants saw a mammoth fowl drawn by a team of horses and lifted from the truck by three stalwarts, unloaded at the Trent Canal Survey Camp, Crawford's Grove. An Examiner representative sampled the bird and while he can swear it was a turkey, and a tender turkey, too, a fleeting phantom whispered into his ear that it was a pre-historic bird of the dark ages and had been preserved to the present time by an ancient Egyptian process of cold storage lost to the present generation of capitalists and financiers.

It was a large and hungry crowd that clustered around the festive board, a happy band that would have done credit to the good yeomen of Robin Hood's doughty band that sampled the tender steaks of the king's venison under the old greenwood tree in Sherwood forest, in the days of the old. That touching ditty, "It Was Not Like This in the Olden Days" from the Yankee Consul Opera, and sung and played so much by this musical party, would have been strangely out of place in their Thanksgiving festivities yesterday. Even the oldest inhabitant vowed that the mammoth fowl was larger than any that ever wended its tortuous way through the early wilds on the banks of the Otonabee.

But to return to the feast, enough of reminiscences of ancient history. In the absence of Mr. G. L. Law, chief engineer of the party, Mr. "Pat" Murphy very ably filled the role of toastmaster. "Pat" was a very happy choice and his witty remarks and sparkling answers lent a cheery glow of humor to the gathering. After the toast to the King had been honored, "Our Guests" was posed. Messrs. Filling and Atcheson responded and cordially thanked the party and cook for the very appetising repast provided. The Examiner representative also arose to speak, but was informed that he was out of order, and for that matter he was, for he was to a great extent responsible for the disappearance of the turkey, and was told by the toastmaster that if he didn't wait till the press toast was proposed he would be ejected bodily. The cook, who is a big, husky fellow, scowled scornfully down upon the diminutive scribe and he deemed it wise to stem his eloquence until later in the evening. "The Ladies" was honoured by Mr. C. Christopher Malloch. Mr. Malloch has established an enviable reputation as a ladies man, and he handled the delicate topic to perfection. The camp in the frequent scene of pilgrimages of the fair sex and they always received polite and courteous treatment at the hands of its polished occupants. "The Cook" brought Mr. George Scriver to the front, and in a few well chosen words—see page 265 of "After Dinner Speaking," expressed his delight at being honoured by such a gentlemanly lot of "devourers." Several present took objection to this but George explained that he did not mean to insult any body and that he had deemed the word he used as most appropriate. He would not withdraw the offending term and everybody thought that he was too athletic to tackle, and his presence was needed anyway. "Our Chief" was responded to by Mr. Stan Dingwall and he feelingly referred to and dwelt upon the sterling characteristics of the absent member.

Mr. Archie Rogers next rendered the Holy City. Mr. Rogers, who is studying engineering, and who originally hails from Pittsburg, received the undivided attention of a cultured audience. Mr. Rogers possesses a beautiful tenor voice of excellent range, strong and very musical. This was one of the most enjoyable features of the evening's entertainment. In response to a hearty encore he sang "In the Vale of Shenandoah."

"Mr. Michael Ashburne" was championed by the Reverend M. J. Barrie, of Hastings. Mr. Barrie referred to Mr. Ashburne as a very devout and learned man and stated that it was a great pleasure to converse with him. He also expressed great regret that the "toasted" gentleman was an absentee.

After the celebration of the turkey's untimely end a very interesting programme was presented, the talent being members of the party alone. Although generally far away from the softening influences of culture and refinement the gentlemen that comprise the party retain to the fullest all their gentlemanly instincts. Progressive euchre was also indulged in and the merry swish of the cards could be heard till the wee sma' hours of the morning. Mr. Arthur Morgan, of Peterborough, was the luckiest competitor and now possesses as a souvenir of the evening's entertainment a very elaborate and handsomely decorated soap box.

I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

VOL. XXXIX NO 99 PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY OCTOBER 28 1905 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE COMMITTEE DECIDES

THAT AT PRESENT THEY CANNOT MAKE PURCHASE

The Fire, Water and Light Committee Met Last Night With the Representatives of the London Fire Engine Manufacturers—Several Propositions Submitted by the Latter—The Fire Engine Demonstrated the Usefulness in a Fire—The Question of a Purchase Fully Considered.

Last night the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council, met for a conference with Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Watts, the representatives of the Canadian Fire Engine Company, of London, the company which manufactures the engines which were tested here yesterday.

Naturally, of course, the company was anxious that the engine should be kept in the city, and the secretary-treasurer of the concern requested that the meeting be called in order that he might submit some propositions to the members of the committee.

The result of the conference, however, was that it was practically unanimously decided that at the present time the council was not in a position to purchase the engine, no matter how strongly inclined they might be to make the purchase, since the people had not yet sanctioned the expenditure of the money which would be required to buy the machines.

Mr. Pritchard submitted a number of different propositions to the committee.

He referred to the fact that the engine had been tested, and he was satisfied that it had fully demonstrated that it was all that was claimed for it. The fact that they had come down to Peterborough, at their own risk, and expense, showed that they had confidence in the capabilities of the engine, and they would be prepared to make reasonable terms of payment. They would either lease it to the city on terms by which each year for a term of ten years, the city might pay a certain sum, which at the end of that time would pay for the cost of the engine. Mr. Pritchard made it plain to the committee that if the city decided to buy the engine the company would be prepared to make easy terms of payment. If they liked the engine but were not prepared to buy until next year, they would take it away, and would build another its exact counterpart.

On the other hand, if, after considering the matter, the council decided that they do not want to buy the engine now, or at any future time, the company will take it away, but, in the meantime, they asked the privilege of allowing it to remain in the fire hall, until Monday, when the president of the company will be in the city, and if in the interval there should be a fire, the man left in charge of the engine might be considered under orders from the fire chief, and the engine might be used.

In reference to the price of the engine, the tender was $5,280, which was the price they would accept.

The chemical engine, he stated, they had brought down without being asked, but in order that they might demonstrate what it could do. The price of this engine was $1,500, and if the city kept it, the payments could be made at the rate of $300 per year for five years.

The impression seemed to prevail, however, that the straight chemical engine was not as desirable as a combination engine; the chief stating that he would rather have a 30-gallon cylinder engine than one of 50-gallon capacity. He believed that a combination hose and chemical wagon would be more useful.

Mr. Watts explained some details in connection with the steam engine. He stated that its capacity was 590 imperial gallons or 950 U.S. gallons per minute. Or in other words, it was nominally a 1,000-gallon machine. He explained that in taking the water from the hydrant the pressure had been 58 pounds, and it had been increased to 200 pounds.

The chief was asked his opinion on the question of the usefulness of the steam engine, and he stated that under any condition the steam engine would be able to more than double the hydrant pressure. If at a big fire six or seven streams were taken from the hydrants there would be very little pressure left, and if a high mill should take fire there would be no water to reach it, unless there was a steam engine on hand.

He would not say that he could use satisfactorily more than five streams from the hydrants.

Considerable discussion then took place and the question was thoroughly considered. It was decided, however that it was impossible for the council to purchase the engine until after January, at any rate, when the ratepayers would vote on the by-law. All the members of the council present, Mayor Best, Aldermen Johnston, McIntyre, Hicks, Tovey and Crowe spoke, expressing themselves along this line, and all agreed that while an engine might be a necessity they could not buy one now.

It was finally decided to call the meeting of the Joint Committee on Monday night, when they could meet Mr. Pritchard and also consider the matter further.

A DOURO DISCOVERY!

HAS MR. FORSYTHE OF THAT

TOWNSHIP STRUCK OIL?

Many Evidences of the Presence of Petroleum Upon His Farm--Discovery Made While Drilling an Artesian Well--Many Lucrative Offers Have Been Received--Well Contains Natural Gas in Large Quantities.

A discovery made on the farm of David Forsythe, lot 5, concession 1, Douro Township, has for some time been the cause of no little speculation and comment among those who have visited the spot. To use a current phrase Mr. Forsythe has "struck oil"—or what appears to be oil.

The discovery, which was made accidentally while boring an artesian well, has revealed the presence of natural gas in large quantities, and from the analyses made, there is excellent reason to believe that the property contains petroleum in large quantities.

Mr. Forsythe was in the city yesterday, and in speaking to the Examiner, explained briefly the manner in which the "find" was made, and the subsequent events, with which many of the people in his section of the country are conversant.

Some years ago, Mr. Forsythe states, while drilling the well mentioned, the first evidence of the gas was found. The well was drilled to a distance of 82 feet, with a two inch drill. A pump was lowered but it was found that the well was not of sufficient size to allow of pumping, and a second one was sunk at a distance of about 18 inches.

In the first well, the peculiar odour of the water was at once noticeable, and gas escaped in such quantities as to ignite and burn freely for hours. A small pipe was placed beside the pump, and from this was allowed to burn for many nights in succession.

On the removal of the pump from the well which was first drilled, this was plugged, and when the plug is removed the water gushes forth freely.

Mr. Forsythe has had a number of samples of the water made, a report upon an analysis made in Belleville by a competent authority expresses the opinion that with further drilling oil would be secured. Upon the surface of the water taken from the well, oil is noticeable in considerable quantities.

Mr. Forsythe has had a number of lucrative offers for the mineral privileges of the property, the most recent of which was one of $8,000 and a royalty, which, however, was not accepted. The offer was received from Mr. Johnston, the gentleman, who, it will be remembered, purchased the large marl deposits near Allandale. A Pennsylvania gentleman, interested in oil properties in that State, also visited the property. He was most enthusiastic over the prospects, and wished to secure a lease for a ten year period, offering the owner a percentage of the net profits.

It is probable however, that Mr. Forsythe will himself proceed with a careful examination of the property, though he makes an offer of a syndicate proposition, as the expense would of course be a heavy one. Many residents of the vicinity express a desire to contribute in case the drilling is commenced in this way. The owner is at present in communication with a Petrolea firm with a view to the proposed drilling, and developments will be keenly watched by many who have for some time been deeply interested in the matter.

Peterboro's Drinking Water.

The recent test of the water supply in the City of Peterborough makes it advisable that all water for drinking purposes should be boiled. To make assurance doubly sure it would be better to use for drinking some of the good mineral waters, such as the Hamilton Water, bottled in Arnprior, for which A. Beaupre

Bride Was A Peterboro' Lady

Miss Mary Moore Married in Fernie, B.C., to Mr. Foster Ambery.

On Wednesday morning, October 18, the marriage of Miss Mary Moore, daughter of Mr. W. H. Moore, barrister, of Peterborough, to Mr. Foster Ambery, son of the late Dean Ambery of Toronto, was solemnized at the residence of Mr. George Lindsay at Fernie, British Columbia. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. E. R. Bartlett, of Christ Church, in the presence of a large number of friends. The bride, who was given away by Mr. Lindsay, was attended by Miss Mawson, of Ottawa, while Mr. Ambery was supported by Mr. Rochfort. In the absence of Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. McEvoy (wife of the Land Commissioner for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company,) received the guests and proved a charming hostess. After the ceremony a dainty dejeuner was served, when Mr. Lindsay proposed the health of the bride, to which Mr. Ambery happily responded. The bride's going away gown was a becoming creation in navy blue with hat to match. They left on the morning train for Spokane and the coast, and on their return will take up their residence in Fernie, on Baker avenue.—Globe.

Working for Dickson Co.

—A party of sixty-five Englishmen arrived on the C. P. R. noon train yesterday from Montreal. They all put up at the Pym House, and proceed on their way to the Dickson lumber camps east of Kinmount, in the afternoon.

NAME THIS GENTLEMAN.

The above picture is that of a Peterborough business man as he looked 25 years ago. He has carried on a successful business, and is still in harness. Years have dealt so kindly with him, and time has written such light traces upon his face, that the reader may have little difficulty, looking through the veil of a quarter of a century, to identify the picture with the original.

Difficult though it is to believe, our pretty Peterborough maidens will for a fortnight be compelled to "waste their sweetness,"—for masculine hearts there are other, and dearer, or, at least "deer" charms.

Diana, the Chase Goddess, she of the crescent bow and quiver, has the call, and the annual rush of her devotees to pay homage before her throne in the wildwood, will commence on Monday.

Every indication points to an unprecedently large exodus to the hunting camps, and the auguries are ill-indeed for His Majesty, the "Antlered Monarch." On all sides is heard the cry of the hound, eager to burst from his leash and enter into the excitement of the chase. Business men are no longer haunted by day and by night, by the stock market bear. This one is tame indeed, and in exchanging the ticker for the trigger, the counting house for the camp, a long breath of relief goes up.

A local gentleman was this morning observed in the act of equipping himself with seven-league boots, and after a thorough course in musketry, is convinced that he knows the business end of a gun. Time alone will reveal the result, but his breast heaves tumultuously in the hope that he may by some lucky accident add a deer to the trophies of the chase. The usual tiresome complaints upon the part of backwood's agriculturists, will doubtless be heard ere long, and the same old demands for damages made of city sportsmen—but what of that? The shooting of a few cows, or the maiming of a few guides, are merely incidents, that serve to add piquancy to the glorious sport of the chase.

The preparations are in many cases most elaborate, and the nimrods are careful to make ample provision for their comfort while located in the woods. Everything indicates that the number who will leave Peterborough will be larger than in any previous season. From the country, on all sides, also come the evidences that each village will send more than its usual quota. The number of licenses already sold has been large, and these, before the opening day, will doubtless be greatly increased.

Many parties have prepared to leave on Monday, in order to have camp and equipment in "shipshape" for the opening day on Wednesday.

The following hunting licenses have already been issued by Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, and the number is being increased very rapidly to-day:

PETERBORO'S OPERA

HOUSE NEARING COMPLETION;

CREDIT TO THE CITY

Will Be One of the Very Best Houses in Canada and Better Than Any in the Smaller Cities—Citizens Will be Given Pleasant Surprise When House is Opened—Every Precaution Taken to Secure the Comfort and Safety of its Patrons—Practically Completed Except for Decorating.

The dream of years is at last about to be realized, and Peterborough is to have an opera house of which the citizens will have no reason to be ashamed, but on the other hand will be proud of.

For years the need of an opera house has been felt keenly, and the people have been lamenting the fact that they have had no place to which they could go to spend an evening but, with the opening of the Grand Opera House which will be in the course of about two weeks, this want will be supplied.

Yesterday the Examiner sent a representative to the new play house, and what he saw there was a revelation. Instead of the house being second rate, as some have stated it would be, it was seen that the new opera house would be in many respects equal to the best, and the statement of the proprietor, that he would have one of the best opera houses in Canada, would seem to be warranted.

Practically Completed.

The work is practically completed now except the decorating and placing in the seats and scenery, and although the inside scaffolding is still in place to allow the painters to reach the ceiling, a good idea of the general appearance of the house may be gained.

That it was planned by men who know their business is evident from the excellent interior arrangements, nothing apparently being lacking which would be conducive to the comfort or convenience of the patrons. Entrance is secured through a wide hall direct from George street, the box office being at the left near the front doors. From this entrance one goes to the parquette and balcony, while the "gods" are entered from the south side. The interior arrangements are such that from any seat in the house an unobstructed view of the stage is given. On the parquette and balcony there will be chairs, while on the upper gallery, comfortable benches are provided.

Ample Capacity.

The seating capacity of the new house will be 1,500, and not only has provision been made for the comfort of the patrons, but for their protection as well. The entrance, as has been stated, are wide and easy, while for cases of emergency exits are provided (which should be sufficient to empty the building with safety to the patrons and with speed. On each side of the building six wide doors are provided, two to each floor, which, in addition to the entrances, are deemed ample. On the upper floor these doors are connected with the ground by iron stairways.

Not only are easy means of exit provided, but every reasonable precaution is taken to prevent fire. In the dressing rooms below the stage, the ceilings are all of iron, while the furnace room is bricked in.

A Splendid Stage.

The stage of the new house is described as being the best in any of the smaller cities in Canada, and is not surpassed anywhere, in the Dominion. The dimensions are:—

Width from wall to wall, 57 feet.

Width between fly galleries, 43 feet.

Height from stage to fly gallery, 28 feet.

Height from stage floor to rigging loft, 56 feet.

Rigging loft to roof 5 feet.

Depth from curtain line to back wall, 34 feet.

Depth from footlights to curtain line 6 feet.

Width of proscenium opening, 30 feet.

Height of proscenium opening, 28 feet.

It will thus be seen that the stage will be large enough to accommodate any show which may come this way.

The date of the opening and the attraction have not yet been announced, but the public may be assured that it will be the best possible.

It is safe to say that when the public pass the opera house on the opening night there will be a pleasant surprise in store for those who have held the opinion that the house was to be one of the ordinary kind.

Mr. W. A. Buchanan Leaving For The West

Mr. W. A. Buchanan, of St. Thomas, where he occupied the position of managing director of the Journal, has many friends in this city, where he is well known, and where he began his journalistic career, as Norwood correspondent of the Examiner. In view of this fact, the following references to his departure from St. Thomas, will be of interest. The Journal says:

"The Journal staff this afternoon presented Mr. W. A. Buchanan, formerly managing director, with an as a token of the esteem in which he address and handsome gold locket, is held by former employees. The presentation was made by Mr. Robert Haines, and the address read by Mr. J. A. Killingsworth. Mr. Buchanan made a suitable reply, and expressed his appreciation at the good will evinced by the address and gift, and paid a high compliment to those who, he stated, had given him such excellent service in the past."

The Simcoe Reformer pays the following tribute:

"Mr. W. A. Buchanan, whose retirement from the editorship of the St. Thomas Journal, followed the sale of that paper by Mr. Brierly to Mr. Smith, will leave shortly for a trip to the west coast, with the idea of looking over the newspaper field, and possibly taking up newspaper work somewhere in the new provinces. Mr. Buchanan has a number of friends in Simcoe, who will wish him good luck on his voyage of discovery. He is a clever, energetic young man, who is sure to come to the front wherever he may decide to locate."

Lord Tennyson Was Subject Of Fine Essay

Read by Miss O'Connell at Ladies' Literary Association.

T. A. S. Hall Well Filled Last Night—A Delightful Programme.

Last evening the Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T. A. S., held another very successful meeting when Miss M. A. O'Connell read an excellent paper on "Tennyson," to a large and appreciative audience.

The essay was couched in most beautiful language, showing that this clever essayist possesses the faculty of conveying intelligence to the mind and pleasure to the ear, by the delightful way in which the paper was read.

Miss O'Connell, in a clear and concise biographical sketch, dealt with the early life of Lord Tennyson; his birth in 1809, at Somersby, a small village of Lincolnshire; the careful attention given by his scholarly father to his education; the influence of his gentle and refined mother, and the deep impress made by the scenery of Somersby and its neighborhood where he spent his youth and early manhood, all illustrate the truth "that a poet is what his environments make him. "His deep love of nature was shown at an early age, and his thoughts and fancies took shape in short poems; but is best expressed in his address to the "Little Flower in the Crannied Wall."

Miss O'Connell first dealt with his minor poems, "The Lady of Shallot," "The Lotus Eaters" and "The Two Voices," which appeared on his return to Somersby, after his father's death. Of his great poems, "The Princess," "The Idylls of the King," and "In Memoriam," were spoken of, particularly his masterpiece, "In Memoriam." The essayist spoke of what led up to the writing of this poem—the death of Tennyson's friend, Arthur Hallam, "which plunged the poet for a time in profound sorrow, but was doubtless effective in maturing and deepening his emotional and intellectual life." His death, at the advanced age of 82, which no words can express better than his own, "Crossing the Bar."

The essay was interspersed by several apt quotations.

At the conclusion of her paper Miss O'Connell received many well-deserved congratulations.

Miss Mary Connor occupied the chair and the following programme was very well rendered:—

Instrumental Solo.....Miss Daisy Conroy
Vocal Solo... ... .Miss Elva Clancy

At the next meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 10th, Miss K. McGrath will read a paper on "Christian Womanhood."

Andy Fawcett Promised True

Does Not Send His Child to School.

Andrew Fawcett, charged with non-support, whose case was enlarged from last Wednesday, was discharged by His Worship, Police Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning.

"Will you promise to let whisky alone?" said His Worship.

"What's that?" said Andy.

The Magistrate repeated his question, and Andy solemnly promised not to hit the can any more.

Mrs. Andy Fawcett did not appear to give evidence against her husband.

Andy was told that if he did not send his little girl, ten years of age to school, he would have the child taken away from him, and entrusted to the care of the Children's Aid Society.

"That's just what I told her!" said Andy, referring to his wife, in corroboration of the Magistrate's retort.

The child is at present living with a farmer, and the chief decided to see him about the matter when he came to town.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Original Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ."

THE HUNTERS CAME TOO LATE!

Their Faithful Dog has pointed out the True Remedy to Prevent Baldness but the Hunters came too late—Chronic Baldness is Incurable.

HERPICIDE A "HAIR SAVER."

Newbro's Herpicide saves the hair by destroying the germ or microbe that is now known to be the cause of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. In chronic baldness the hair follicles are completely atrophied, causing the scalp to shrink and shine; little can be done in such cases except to save the remaining "fringe," and this is well worth saving, for it offers some protection against the cold.

The "Hair Grower" is a fallacy. It requires but a slight knowledge of Anatomy to know that the hair gets its life and strength from the hair-papilla at the bottom of hair follicle, and the papilla in turn gets its nourishment direct from the blood; therefore nature is the only true hair grower. There are enemies of hair growth that cause hair loss and baldness. Invisible microbe growths enter the sebaceous glands, situated at the top of the hair follicles (Dr. Sabouraud, of Paris, says the microbe usually enters the scalp in youth), where one colony after another is established, until finally, after months and sometimes years, there is dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. The Sebum also solidifies, causing dry, lustreless and brittle hair. Destroy this microbe growth with Newbro's Herpicide and protect the hair against re-infection, and it will grow as nature intended.

Newbro's Herpicide is a Twentieth Century Remedy. Its mission is to teach new rules for scalp cleanliness, new rules for hair preservation and to supply a germ-destroying solution that will enable careful persons to have beautiful and luxuriant hair. Almost marvellous results follow the use of Herpicide, and if it does not do MORE than we claim for it, your dealer will refund your purchase price. As a hair dressing, it is truly exquisite, on account of its dainty and refreshing odor, which is charbcteristic. It contains no oil, grease or sedimentary substance, neither does it stain nor dye the hair.

STOPS itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Found Beneficial

I have found your Herpicide beneficial in removing dandruff, which I have been troubled with for years. Besides, being a source of annoyance, it is very injurious to the hair. I have known others who used Herpicide with satisfactory result, and I take pleasure in recommending it. MRS. R. McDOWALL, Owen Sound, Ont.

Best Treatment Ever Used

About two months ago my hair started falling out and I bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, which stopped it at once. It is the best treatment for the hair I have ever used, and I have tried many. ALEX. WEBB, Alberta, N.W.T.

Rape Culture In Ontario

Upwards of forty-five acres of land were used for growing rape in Ontario in 1905. It is a crop easy of cultivation, abundant in growth, and rich in fattening properties. Owing to its broad, spreading leaves, rape has a wonderful power of smothering out weeds, and is thus one of the best crops obtainable for cleaning the land.

No less than eleven varieties of rape have been grown in the experimental grounds of the Ontario Agricultural College in each of the past three years. In 1905 the yields varied from four to twenty-one tons per acre, the lightest yielder being the German variety, and the heaviest the Large Seeded Umbrella. Rape. In the average of three years' experiments the Large Seeded Common, Large Seeded Umbrella, Buckbee's Wonderful Dwarf Bonanza, Dwarf Essex, and Dwarf Victoria varieties have given the greatest yields of green crop per acre. The Dwarf Essex is one of the most reliable varieties. The German Summer (Bird Seed Rape) should never be sown for agricultural purposes, as it seeds the same season as sown, thus furnishing a poor crop for feeding and introducing a plant which is difficult to eradicate. This point should be carefully observed, as serious trouble has sometimes resulted from sowing large areas of this variety.

The most suitable soils for rape are moist loams, rich in vegetable matter. Land should be prepared for rape similar to that for root crops. Soils deficient in vegetable matter should receive a coating of stable manure. A dressing of eighty pounds of nitrate of soda per acre when the rape was about two inches high increased the yield of the crop about two tons per acre in the average results of the co-operative experiments conducted over Ontario for a period of five years.

About the month of June, large plump seed should be sown at the rate of one and one-half pounds per acre in rows about thirty inches apart and to a depth of one-half to one inch. A thorough stirring of the first two inches of the ground between the rows every ten days or so increases the growth of the rape wonderfully. Flat cultivation is generally preferable.

Rape makes an excellent late summer and autumn pasture crop for fattening cattle, sheep and lambs. In one season upwards of six hundred lambs were pastured and fattened on the Experimental Farm at Guelph. It is grown regularly as one of the crops in the short rotation. When rape is pastured by hogs there is more waste than when pastured by sheep. Several varieties of rape were fed to milch cows and all produced a taint in the milk, there being but little difference between the varieties in this respect.

Animals should never be turned on rape when hungry or when the rape is wet or frosted. There is not much danger of animals bloating if they are turned on gradually at first, allowing free access to an old grain field, and furnished with plenty of salt. There is practically nothing gained by feeding grain to animals when on rape. Lambs gain in weight from eight to twelve pounds per month on rape alone.

If rape is cut and placed in piles in the field it will remain in good condition several weeks. Usually it can be hauled to the stable and fed to cattle, sheep and pigs until Christmas time with excellent satisfaction.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women.

Doctors generally prescribe their own remedies.

They haven't a good word to say for liquid preparations and people who know what these preparations contain, don't blame the doctors.

But it is different with Dr. Hugo's remedy.

Honest physicians are obliged to admit its merits.

They themselves prescribe many of its ingredients. Some give our Tablets to their patients (see testimony below) knowing that

They Make Healthy Women

After consulting my physician and being told that I was suffering from a run-down condition which accounted for many other ills, with which I was suffering, I was presented with a box of brown tablets. I took these and in less than a week began to improve, and before two weeks had elapsed was so much better that I felt congratulations were due my physician. Upon complimenting him I was honestly informed by him that I had been taking Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. It is of little consequence how I obtained the medicine, but of one thing I am certain, I have received greater benefit from it than any other medicine I ever used. SMILE AND BE HEALTHY.

Latest London Society Dictum Willingly Obeyed By the Beautiful.

Smile and be healthy is the latest society dictum, and the least conservative among doctors are strongly recommending smiling as an alternative to tonics and drugs.

"There is no doubt about it," said one London West End physician in discussing the matter, "that laughter is more beneficial to health, and there are psychological reasons why smiling is beneficial, which may be comprehended by the lay mind—for one thing it accelerates the circulation, and so aids digestion.

"It relieves the brain by quickening the movement of the blood through the veins and vessels; moreover, even an artificial smile produces considerable increase of vital activity, because it heightens the nervous stimulation."

This is reflected in photographers' show-cases, which reveal the fact that the grave, statuesque beauty has disappeared, and the vivacious damsel wearing the most bewitching smile reigns in her stead.

A couple of seasons ago smiling was almost prohibited by the code of proprieties, which only recognised the soulful, pensive style of feminine loveliness, but with sudden ease for lightness and brightness the smile has recovered its old power, and dignity and solemnity are consequently at a discount, so women are assiduously cultivating the most delightful smile they can.

The studio of the fashionable photographer had become an art gallery of laughing faces, suggestive of dentifrice advertisements.

Another pictorial barometer to fashions in feminine expression is the picture postcard, makers of which have discovered that a smiling beauty is far and away the favorite with the public.

Three of the most popular postcard beauties at present are Ellaline Terriss, Marie Studholme and Zena Dare.

Another craze which society women have adopted, or rather revived, is the wearing of nightcaps, but not the weird, old-fashioned kind; they are rather exquisite creations of muslin and lace, elaborately trimmed with ribbons.

Seven Babes in the Wood.

The Daily Express publishes the following: An extraordinary story of seven modern babes in the wood comes from Colchester.

Nearly a fortnight ago a man and woman living in a poor part of the town sold their effects and left the place. They were the father and mother of seven children—five boys and two girls—and no suspicions crossed the minds of their neighbors that they had not taken the little ones with them.

Then, a few days ago, the police were informed by a woman that three ragged half-starved little urchins had come to her house to beg, and when she questioned them, told her that they had been deserted by their parents and were camping out in the vicinity of the town.

The police, after a long search, found the seven, huddled together asleep under an old carpet in the depths of Donyland Woods.

Almost naked, half-starved, and dirty, their hands and legs and, faces scratched and torn by the briars through which they had scrambled in search of blackberries and other wild fruit, the children were in a deplorable condition. The youngest was a baby of three, scarcely able to walk, the eldest a wizened child of thirteen.

For days they had lived on berries—a scanty fare only occasionally varied by a crust of bread which they had begged during their daily wanderings.

Four have been admitted to the infirmary, and the remaining three have been taken in by charitable people in the town.

Town Bells Ancient Pile.

A sale has taken place at Birmingham recently which would remind one of the speculation of a western boom town, except for the antiquity of the object sold. The entire village of Abberton, near Worcester, and a large part of seven other parishes put up for auction a chapel.

The assertion is that it is of extreme antiquity, dating back prior to the Norman conquest. In the Doomsday Book it is called Merlbroc. Originally it was a chapel dating from the twelfth century. It stood there dedicated to Sidburga, the daughter of the Saxon king, Edward the Elder.

It is said many miracles were wrought there. The hall has many fine old rooms, with paneled walls and oak floors, and figures in the well known novel "Mary Lynn," the character of Mr. Carlyle being that of the former owner of the hall and rector of the old church.

Field Telegraphy.

Field telegraphs for use in military operations have been open to the objection that a cumbersome apparatus has been required to lay the cable, the insulated wires being wound upon a large drum and slowly paid out as the carrying wagon advanced.

Capt. Howard Mulgeny, of the East Indian service, has perfected a device for laying a very fine cable from horseback, and in practice marches it has been found possible to keep in telegraphic communication with other divisions even while on the move.

The wire can be paid out while the mount proceeds at a hard gallop, and may be reeled in again as rapidly as it was paid out.

Wireless devices are coming rapidly into use, but there are many features to be overcome before such appliances will be found thoroughly practicable, and the invention like submarine navigation will serve many valuable ends.

GREAT FEAT AT NIAGARA.

This Time Now Across Below the Devil's Hole Rapids.

Power development at Niagara Falls has been productive of many deeds of daring on the part of divers, sub-builders, miners in the tunnels and other workmen, but none more daring than that performed recently by James Wadsworth, who cross the river in a boat at the foot of the Devil's Hole Rapids.

The Ontario Power Co. is building a transmission line across the gorge at this point and was long unable to devise a scheme to get the first line or rope across the stream. The point is just below the Devil's Hole Rapids and the river runs rough and unsteady and with great swiftness towards the rapids below. Old river men said no boat could cross there, and offers of large sums of money to attempt the crossing were refused.

The Buffalo live-saving station was offered $150 to shoot a line across but refused to take it.

Finally James Wadsworth of Queenston, known as a daring and skilful boatman on the lower river, offered to make the attempt. He had a boat conveyed to the point of crossing and loaded with coils of light rope. With three companions—W. Aldous, J. Humphries and W. Humphries—all experienced river men, he pushed off from shore and in the presence of an excited gathering of power company officials and others successfully made the perilous passage, paying out the line as they went.

The four powerful oarsmen used every ounce of strength they possessed in forcing the light craft across the turbulent, rushing stream, and, after a long period of anxiety and uncertainty, succeeded in striking the shore current on the other side and made a landing in safety. No one ever crossed the river there before and no one is anxious to try it again. Wadsworth and his companions are now regarded as the most daring of all the lower river boatmen.

Just Social Visit.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—"The visit of Premier Gouin was of a purely social nature. He said he did not wish to leave Toronto without seeing us," said Mr. Whitney after the visit of the first Minister of Quebec and his confreres yesterday afternoon. Hon. Mr. Gouin was accompanied by H. Champagne, M. P. P. for Two Mountains; A. Bergevin, M.P.P. for Beauharnois; J. N. Desjarie, M. P. P., Hochelaga; J. F. Mullarkey, Montreal; Dr. J. N. McKay, Quebec, and L. P. Geoffrion, private secretary to the Premier. Premier Roblin of Manitoba was also in town on his way to visit his father in Prince Edward County, and saw Mr. Whitney.

The King and the Vowels.

Robert Christy, a venerable Britisher now visiting Washington, reminiscently told of his long acquaintance with the Prince of Wales, now King Edward, and narrated the story of his christening when a baby. All the stores of the Empire were illuminated that night, and Albert Edward's initials, "A. E.," were displayed in all of the windows, when one of the courtiers remarked:

"Before he wears the crown the lad 'll need the other three vowels."

His Seniority.

A deputation of Australian unemployed called recently on Mr Carruthers, the premier, at Sydney. Two of the leaders wanted to speak first. Said one, "I claim the right to speake before you on the grounds of seniority."

"On grounds of what?"

"Seniority. Why, I have been connected with the unemployed for fifteen years!"

Sir F. W. Borden May Retire.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—(Globe Special.)—The report that Sir Frederick Borden is to retire from the Cabinet and become Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, is again revived. The same rumor was current last summer, when Sir Frederick gave it an emphatic contradiction.

THE DAWN OF PEACE.

Put off, put off your mail, oh, kings,
And beat your brands to dust!
Your hands must learn a surer grasp,
Your hearts a better trust.

Oh, hand aside the lance's point
And break the helmet bar;
A noise is in the morning wind,
But not the note of war.

Upon the grassy mountain paths
The glittering hosts increase.
They come! They come! How fair their feet!
They come to publish peace.

And every tender living thing
Shall feed by streams of rest;
Nor lamb shall from the flock be lost
Nor nursling from the nest.

—John Ruskin.

FINANCES OF GIBRALTAR.

Some Interesting Figures Contained in Recent British Blue Book.

The official report on the annual Blue book for 1904 for Gibraltar, just issued, shows that the financial transactions for the year 1904 ended with a surplus of £12,871, the revenue having been £87,845, and the expenditure £84,961. Exclusive of the receipts under land sales the revenue for the year (£84,757) was £9,728 in excess of that of 1903 (£77,665). The increased receipts from the duty on tobacco furnished £7,751 of this excess. The port dues returned £301 more than in 1903, a greater number of vessels having entered the port. The investment of surplus revenue produced an increase of £1,227.

The receipts from crown rents were less than in 1903, as arrears of revenue amounting to £1,109 were secured in that year. The expenditure of 1904 (£84,924) was less by £545 than that of the previous year (£85,469). The year ended with an asset balance of £97,357, the liabilities amounting to £4,611. The amount of the invested funds increased from £87,649 at the end of 1903 to £87,631 in December last. While the ordinary revenue had increased from £81,418 in 1900 to £87,787 in 1904, there had been but a small increase in the total annual expenditure, the ordinary current expenditure, in fact, having decreased. The extra duty imposed on tobacco in 1902 largely contributed to the assets, and in 1903 special receipts amounting to £15,276 were obtained from land sales.

How Sir Henry's Son Died.

It is difficult to conceive a more shocking suicide than that of the scapegrace eldest son of Sir Henry Blake, Governor of Ceylon, says the Marquise de Fontenoy. The unfortunate man, obviously crazed, filled his belt with dynamite or gun cotton or some other kind of explosive, and then went out riding on horseback along the favorite ride in the suburbs of Perth, western Australia, where he made his home. He seems to have attached a coil of fuse to the saddle, to have lighted that while riding, and then to have allowed himself to be literally blown to pieces from the hips upwards, the horse sustaining such injuries that it had to be shot.

Irwin Blake was a fine-looking man of commanding appearance, who had ruined his own career and seriously embarrassed his father by contracting an unfortunate marriage—a marriage, indeed, which led to his being shipped off to Australia, where his wife added to her notoriety in such a manner that when his father, Sir Henry Blake, was appointed about ten years ago to the lucrative governorship of Victoria, with its salary of $50,000 a year, besides its allowances, he was compelled to decline what was then the blue ribbon of colonial governorships on account of the presence of his son and the notoriety of his daughter-in-law in the dependency in question. Irwin Blake was the son of a marriage with a girl of humble parentage contracted with Sir Henry Blake in the earlier stages of his career.

One Thing At a Time.

Robert Jaggsby's countenance was not at any time remarkable for indications of intellectual brilliance, but now, as he stood before the camera for the purpose of "being took," his expression was so inane that even the polite photographer was moved to protest:

"You'll excuse me," he remarked, "but do you want this photograph for a beauty competition or an advertisement for a new rat poison? Because if it's for any other purpose you'd better try to look a little more pleasant."

"That's just the trouble," exclaimed Robert. "You see, I've the misfortune to be a trifle handy, and I'm trying to hold my knees so that it won't show. When I smile I forget all about my knees, and when I pay attention to my knees I forget to smile."—London Express.

England's Military Canal.

It is not generally known that England has a "military canal," started a century ago as part of the scheme of defence propounded by Mr. Pitt in view of a possible invasion of the French under Napoleon. The canal was to have been thirty-six miles in length, running from Rye to Hythe, the idea being that it would serve as the means of conveying stores and also act as an obstacle to the enemy's advance once he landed. Now, a hundred years after its inception, money is proposed to be voted for putting it in a state of repair.

THE MIRACLE OF DAWN.

What it would mean for you and me
If dawn should come no more!
Think of its fold along the sea,
Its rose above the shore!
That rose of awful mystery,
Our souls bow down before.

Think what it means to me and you
To see it even as God
Evolved it when the world was new!
When Light rose, earthquake shod,
And slow its gradual splendor grew
O'er deeps the whirlwind trod.

What shouting then and cymbalings
Arose from depth and height!
What worship-solemn trumpetings,
And thunders, burning white,
Of winds and waves and anthemings
As Earth received the Light!

That line of rose no more be drawn
The dawn, that comes each day!
What if the east should ne'er grow wan,
Should never more grow grey!
That line of rose no more bedrawn
Above the ocean's spray!

AGAINST STEEL TRAPS.

Another Cruelty That King Edward Sets His Face Against.

King Edward, who already, both personally and also through his master of the horse, the Duke of Portland, has come out flatfooted against the bearing rein for horses and against live pigeon shooting, impelled thereto by his well known affection for animals, has now taken a stand against the use of steel traps, which hitherto have been used for catching rabbits and other ground game, but which from henceforth are no longer to be used either on the King's private estates or in any of the royal domains and parks. Peremptory orders to this effect have been issued by the King to the Government office of works, and his wishes that his views about the matter should be made as widely known as possible, says the Marquise de Fontenoy.

Incidentally, it may be mentioned that King Edward lately has purchased a particularly fine specimen of the French bulldog, for which he paid $1,200, and which now has become his chief pet. Attention also has been attracted to the fact that, on the day when it was announced that the Franco-German crisis on the subject of Morocco had reached a settlement, Emperor William bought at Paris a pair of French bulldogs for the price of $2,400. King Alfonso likewise had a particularly fine specimen of this breed presented to him by Senor Canyangos, from which it would appear that the vogue of these small dogs, far from being on the wane, is, on the contrary, still at the high water mark.

Gigantic Clock.

A novel clock costing £250 has just been erected in the tower of the new Dartmouth Naval College, England, which is shortly to be formally opened by the King.

Unlike all other large clocks in the world this giant timepiece does not strike the hours from one to twelve in consecutive strokes, but sounds the "ships' bells" as is customary at sea. It has four illuminated six-foot dials, which show the time. These dials are automatically illuminated by electric apparatus, and the lighting-up time varies according to the season of the year.

The clock's motive power is generated by weights of 1,792 lbs. It is wound up by hand once a week. The bell which strikes the hours is made of pure copper and tin and weighs half a ton. The hours are struck by four hammers each weighing 28 lbs., and the bell can be heard under favorable circumstances four or five miles out at sea.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY BEHIND,

The County of Peterborough should look to its laurels, or Victoria will outstrip it in enterprise—if it has not already done so. On Wednesday last, Victoria County's new House of Refuge in Lindsay, was formally opened. It cost $47,250, and is said to be a splendid building, admirably adapted to its purposes. And Victoria County will, doubtless, begin to experience the benefit in a decreased cost of caring for its indigent poor, and also a decrease of the number of such persons. It has been proven that many persons, who will quietly allow themselves to be placed upon the charity roll of their municipality, will decidedly draw the line at entering a House of Refuge—they prefer going to work, to earn their own living. The law says that counties must erect Houses of Refuge, and it would be a disgrace if the wealthy and intelligent County of Peterborough should be forced by the Government to comply with the requirements of the the law. At the opening of the Victoria House, Hon. Mr. Hanna said that every county in the Province, but nine, had Houses of Refuge, and that Lindsay's new building was the finest of them all. Victoria County Council is to be congratulated upon its enterprise and public spirit. It is pretty certain that they will never repent the action they have taken in providing their county with the best House of Refuge in the Province.

It Was a Very Narrow Escape

Street Car Knocks a Man Off His Wheel.

A local bricklayer, Smith by name, had a very narrow escape from being seriously injured at the Charlotte street crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway on Thanksgiving Eve. He was crossing the track on Bethune street on a bicycle when a passing horse and buggy obstructed his view of street car No. 7. The car struck him and he was knocked off his wheel and rolled by the fender for about ten feet. Motorman Legrandeur immediately stopped his car and went to the assistance of the injured man. Besides being rather badly shaken up and receiving a somewhat bruised leg, no serious injuries resulted. The spectators of the accident were horror stricken when the car struck Mr. Smith, and feared that a fatality would result. They were very much relieved, however, when they saw him mount his wheel and ride away, though under somewhat painful conditions, from the scene of the accident.

Mr. Ball At Lindsay C.M.B.A.

At the banquet given by the Lindsay C.M.B.A. recently Mr. George Ball, of this city, was present, and he responded to a toast, and sang a song as well. The Post says:—

"Sister Branches," elicited responses from Bro. R. O. Gunn, E. V. O'Sullivan, Geo. Ball, D. Bennett and D. Scully, Bro. Gunn of Orillia, makmaking the speech of the evening. Messrs. E. V. O'Sullivan and D. Bennett each making a few well chosen remarks. Mr. Ball said that he had accepted the invitation to be present because he wished to see how things were done in Lindsay; for there was always a certain amount of rivalry between the two towns, and he had to confess, although a hard thing for a Peterborough man to do—that the Lindsay Branch had them beaten to a standstill.

ACCOMMODATION NOW IN CHARLOTTE STREET SCHOOL FOR ABOUT 800 PUPILS

The Enlarged Charlotte Street Sunday School Will Be Officially Opened To-morrow—A Modern Building Modelled After Akron, Ohio, Plan—Increased Facilities for Teaching the Scholars—Mr. A. B. Cunningham Prepared the Plans for Enlargement.

Still upward, is the tendency and fact, of the condition of the Charlotte street Sunday school, in relation to its home, as is exemplified in the completed work of its enlarged and beautified Sunday school building, which will be formally dedicated to its special work, and occupied for the first time, on Sunday next.

Long previous to last autumn, the need of larger premises to answer the rapidly growing demands of the school, was seriously felt. At that time the question of enlargement was a matter of the greatest solicitude to the friends and officials of the school, and it was feared by many that they had reached an impasse, to which there was no outlet. Most of them could, owing to the contiguity of the church building, and the parsonage, see no way of expanding, without taking a new site. At this juncture, Mr. A. B. Cunningham, a warm friend of the school, came to the rescue, as the Moses to lead from the wilderness of cramped conditions. He pointed out that there was one way of expanding, and that was the right way for a Sunday school — to expand, so to speak, upwards. Last winter Mr. Cunningham got out plans, an adaptation of the Akron system, which appeared to meet the difficulty, as the completed building shows that they have done in an admirable manner.

The main feature of the proposed plan was to raise the roof of the Sunday school building six feet, and thus provide for a gallery around the sides of the existing auditorium. This has been done — the plans were adopted, and the contract awarded to Messrs. Rutherford Bros. to carry out, as they have done, in a most satisfactory way, both as to the quality of the work done, and the resulting conditions.

Changes Effected.

As the Sunday school building now stands, on passing the vestibule one enters the chief room, or auditorium, 40 x 60 feet in area, and with the primary class room added, 40 x 90 feet of ground floor space.

The auditorium, or junior intermediate class room, is seated for 350. The south side of this room is, in part, occupied by a platform, recessed in an alcove, which will contain, in Sunday school working hours, the orchestra, which, at present, is led by Mr Gregg. Mr. Jos. Legg is in charge of the singing. In front of the orchestra space is provided for the superintendent, and within his reach are four electric bells, communicating with the gallery and other parts of the building. From this ascends a supplementary flight of stairs, to the southern end of the eastern gallery.

Primary Department.

The Primary Department is at the eastern end of the auditorium, and has a capacity for 120 infant pupils, who occupy chairs in graded ranks arranged in amphitheatre form. By means of folding doors, of the accordeon type, set with murance glass, this room can be completely separated from the auditorium, or made a part of it, and it is so arranged that by bringing the low set chairs of the children to the edge of each platform ledge, they can be used by adults on occasions of large gatherings.

The Galleries.

The galleries are the new features of the building, and are placed around three sides of the auditorium. While they double the capacity of the Sunday school building, they in no way, interfere with the auditorium. They are of the depth of, on the west side 20 ft., and on the two other, 15 feet, and the under surface is ten feet above the auditorium, a height which permits of the use of every foot of floor space, with no obstruction to light. As mentioned, the galleries surround three sides of the room. The main stairway is on the left of the main entrance. The gallery is enclosed by a continuous balustrade in swell form. Inside this balustrade is a passage provided with chairs, to be occupied by the pupils in the gallery class rooms, at the time of the opening or closing services. Behind, and concentric with this, is another elevated platform, which can also be seated for similar purposes, and forming an entrance to the stalls which constitute the class rooms.

Class Rooms.

The galleries provide for twelve class rooms, six for Bible classes and six for senior intermediate classes. These class rooms are in the form of stalls, and each is lighted by its own window, having a swivel, so that, when needed, outside air can be admitted, both above and below. These class rooms are seated for 350 pupils, making with the auditorium, provision for 700. On the ground floor there are five additional class rooms, which, with the infant class rooms, make the seating and therefore working capacity of the enlarged school building 800. The present enrolled membership is 500, but it is expected that this will continuously and largely increase; so that, though the Sunday school authorities are, in part, building for the future—that future promises to be a brief one and the time is expected to soon come when they will again be confronted with the problem of insufficiency of accommodation.

Immediately to the left of the main entrance is situated the admirably arranged library, fitted with shelves to accommodate the present list of 900 volumes and other necessary conveniences, but the shelving space can be increased to about 1,300 or 1,400 volumes. The upper half of the entrance door is of glass bearing in ground letters the legend "Library." The pupils are served with books at a wicket alongside the entrance door.

General Result.

The general result seems to be exceedingly satisfactory and the changes, enlargements and improvement effected make the Charlotte Street Sunday School quarters abundantly ample for present purposes and admirably adapted to the special work to which they are to be devoted. All concerned seem to be well satisfied, and very pleasantly surprised at what has been accomplished by dealing intelligently and ingeniously with the unpromising and, to some, impossible original structure. Not only will the new building serve, as its primary object intends, the purposes of the Sunday school, but the auditorium and gallery afford ample accommodation for minor church services, mid-week prayer meetings, Epworth League and similar meetings, concerts, etc.

The ceiling of the auditorium is twenty-one feet in height and of wood, painted a warm, soft neutral tint, and divided into panels by moulded members with a central boss from which will hang the elegant electroliers, which will be the principal lighting fixture of the room.

The Lighting.

This electrolier, together with other electric light fixtures, constitutes the artificial system of lighting. Every class room is, besides, provided with a drop lamp and brackets are fixed at regular intervals to the whole length of the architrave of the balcony.

The woodwork throughout, except the ceiling and the enclosing walls of the class room, is grained in oak. Altogether the effect of the improvements is excellent, the whole presenting a light, bright and cheerful aspect, with the walls plentifully decorated with illuminated Scripture texts.

The contract for the whole work was given to Messrs. Rutherford Bros., who did everything that has been done and in a very satisfactory manner, except the painting and heating. The lighting was done by Reid & McGregor, and the committee are satisfied that they have received a first class installation. The heating, which was put in by Messrs. Adamson & Dobbin, is done by two furnaces, one new one. The work mentioned so far has been done by the Sunday School Board, but the Trustee Board have done their share by providing several conveniences, such as lavatories, drinking fountains, etc. Though anxious to get pupils into their Sunday school, the authorities have provided several exits, one in the front and three in the rear, besides renovating and greatly improving the church kitchen.

Ways and Means.

When the plans had been decided upon an appeal was made last March to the Sunday School to provide the funds and the result was that through the children over $3,000 was contributed. The cost of the rebuilding and improving will be about $8,500, and the complete furnishing, which includes 200 new chairs, will swell the total cost to about $4,000, to the casual observer a small price to pay for a commodious, complete, convenient and elegant Sunday school building. This leaves a liability but not an alarming one, for the church is in the happy and rather anomalous position of being without a debt.

The Men Behind the Guns.

The building committee, who deserve so much credit for the successful execution of the work are Mr. R. J. Kidd, chairman; Dr. Morrison and Mr. A. B. Cunningham; and Mr. Wm. Blackwell, superintendent of the carrying out of the plans.

The men who are responsible for building up in the new building a successful Sunday school are the following officers: Superintendent, Mr. R. J. Kidd; Assistant Superintendents, Dr. Morrison and Alderman Tovey; Secretary, Mr. Percy Hamilton; Librarian, Mr. Wm. Hamilton.

Thus stands the reconstructed, enlarged, embellished and every way improved Sunday school of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, which will be first used on Sunday, October 29th. In connection with the opening services Rev. D. O. Crossley, of Whitby, former pastor of the church, will be present with others at the opening services in the Sunday school room at 2.30. On Monday evening a grand entertainment in aid of the Sunday school will be held, particulars of which are to be found in our advertising columns.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

S. R. Armstrong Was Elected To Superintendency

Of George Street Methodist Sunday School.

In Succession to Mr. T. W. Robinson —A Wise Choice.

Last night the adjourned meeting of the teachers and officers of the George street Methodist Sunday school was held, when the election of a superintendent in succession to Mr. T. W. Robinson, who has filled that position for the past eight years, giving consistent effort to the advance of the work of the school.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Elected Superintendent of George Street Sunday School.

Mr. S. R. Armstron, who has for years been associated with the school, and who has been teaching the young men's Bible class was unanimously elected superintendent.

Mr. Armstrong is one of the best informed Sunday school men in the church, and his selection for the position of superintendent was a wise one, and he will bring to the duties of the office his years of experience in practical Sunday school work. He assumes his duties after November first.

The meeting last night was held in the Sunday school room, and was largely attended.

Mr. R. N. Joliffe's Singing Admired

Last night Mr. R. Norman Joliffe sang at the recital given by Master Campbell Weeks, in Toronto, and won warm praise. The Globe speaking of it says:—

"The assisting soloists were Miss Cornelia Heintzman, pianist, who played Henselt's study, "Si oiseau j'etais," and the famous octave study of Leschetizky with surprising facility of execution, and Mr. Norman Joliffe, baritone, who sang a couple of numbers with a fine sympathetic voice and smooth, finished style."

The Mail and Empire pays this tribute:—

"Mr. Norman Joliffe sang with admirable skill and good taste a rarely heard lyric from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and Schubert's ever beautiful ballad, "The Wanderer."

D. H. Moore Has Accepted A New Position

Will Act as Peterboro' Agent for Home Life Association.

A New Agency Being Established in This City—A Progressive Company.

Mr. D. H. Moore, for many years connected with the Crown Lands Department in Peterborough, has resigned this position and has accepted the Peterborough agency of the Home Life Association of Canada. Mr. Moore will assume the duties of his new office on Monday, which, it is understood, is a much more satisfactory position than that which he occupied in connection with the Department. Prior to Mr. Moore's accepting that position he was for some years in the life insurance business, and was one of the most successful life insurance representatives in the district, and it is certain that his return to this business which he thoroughly understands will result most satisfactorily to himself and the association which he represents.

Although only a few years in existence, the Home Life Insurance Association has prospered to a remarkable extent, and has to-day nearly seven million dollars business in force, with an income of nearly $300,000 per annum.

The officers of the association are capable insurance men. Mr. R. H. Matthison, who has recently been appointed Superintendent of Agencies, has had thirty years' experience in life insurance business, and is now in Peterborough in the interests of the Home Life.

Mr. J. K. McCutcheon, for many years connected with the Federal Life, is Managing Director of the association, and Mr. J. H. Kirby, who is Secretary of the association, is a gentleman of large experience in life insurance business.

The President of the association is Hon. J. R. Stratton, and Vice-Presidents, J. S. King, wholesale boot and shoe manufacturer, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Briggs. The latter two have been connected with the association since its inception.

Mr. Moore's many friends predict for him a very successful insurance career.

Mr. J. K. Jerome Is Entertaining

Mr. Jerome went on, in a voice that occasionally betrayed a lisp, to tell of the day when all women would be made beautiful by the beauty doctors, and the only difficulty that they would be confronted with would be that of picking the style of beauty that they think would be most effective. Then Mr. Jerome read some familiar sketches from his books, the most delightful of which probably was his account of the first trip to the theatre from Stageland.

It was an afternoon of what some people might call English humour, but we must confess a personal addiction for that same importation, and what is more important than anything else, the very intelligent audience that was present certainly liked it and would probably be glad of an opportunity of hearing Mr. Jerome again.

This is what the New York Telegram says of the Jerome's platform work. He will be here Wednesday evening next. Plan of hall at Ormont & Webb's.

THE STEAM FIRE ENGINE
AMPLY DEMONSTRATES CAPABILITIES IN A FIRE

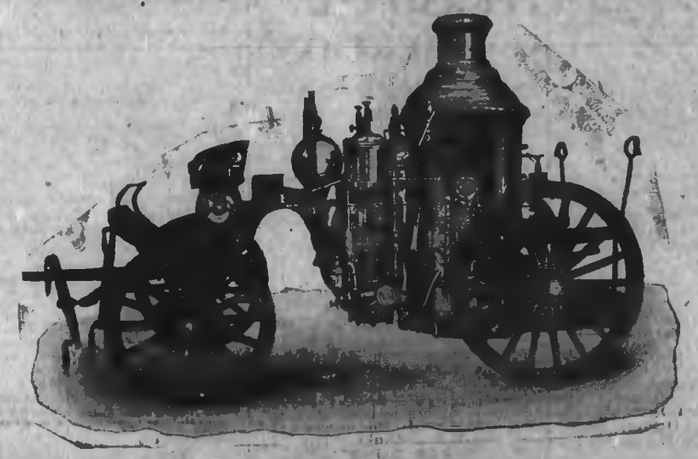
A Most Satisfactory Test Made Yesterday of the Canadian Fire Engine Company's Machine—A Practical Exhibition of the Engine's Work Under Any Conditions—A Large Number of Citizens Saw the Tests Yesterday—Engine Won Many Friends By Its Work.

The members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee particularly, and the citizens generally, yesterday learned some things about steam fire engines which they did not know before, and the representatives of the Canadian Fire Engine Company were their educators.

Recently there has been a conviction in the mind of some people that there was no need for a steam engine in Peterborough, but those who saw the demonstration yesterday were given an eye-opener in this regard, and at least as far as they are concerned there is little or no doubt that even with the waterworks system in the city there are likely to occur times when a steam engine would be needed, and needed badly.

The Canadian Fire Engine Company's engine was yesterday submitted to tests which completely satisfied those who had charge of the test and those who were most deeply interested in it, that the Canadian engine is capable of meeting all ordinary demands which may be made on it. The tests yesterday cannot be described as being other than perfectly satisfactory, and the aldermen who saw them freely expressed themselves as being most favorably impressed with the engine and its work.



Steam Fire Engine, Made by The Canadian Fire Engine Company, Tested Yesterday Afternoon.

Who Made the Engine.

The tests were under the direction of Mr. Robt. Watts, the mechanical superintendent of the works where the engine was made and designed. Mr. Watts had had a long and varied experience in the manufacture of steam fire engines, and there are in Canada to-day one hundred and eleven engines of which he was the designer, having been in the business for thirty-seven years.

For years Mr. Watts was with the Ronald Engine Company, and designed its engine, which was awarded second place at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, when for five days thirteen engines were tested side by side. The Ronald engine was the only foreign engine in the competition, and that it should have stood its test so well against all the other makes of engines is considered as a tribute to its capabilities.

Again at Chicago, at the time of the World's Fair in 1893, Mr. Watts submitted an engine, and this time it was given the award, and this identical engine is to-day doing service at Regina, Sask., where it was sold some years ago. The people of that city took great pride in their engine, and the representative of the Examiner saw it in the parade on the occasion of the inauguration ceremonies on Labour Day.

It will thus be seen that the designer of the engine tested yesterday has had some experience in building engines, and should know something about this engine too.

Satisfactory Tests

That the tests were satisfactory was admitted by the Chief of the Fire Brigade, the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and the aldermen who saw them.

Two separate series of tests were made, that of pumping still water and taking water from the city's hydrant. In both of these, particularly the latter, some results were obtained which warranted the assertion that a fire engine is a necessity.

Considerable interest was aroused in the tests, and as a result there was a large crowd present when they were made. The novelty of having in the city a real fire engine which would work was so great that it attracted a large number of persons.

In the first place the engine was taken to the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets, where preparations were made for the first test. Some little time was taken in making the preliminary preparations for the trial run, and at 3.22 the match was applied to the fire, and in five minutes the guage showed that steam was being generated. The engine was started to work with forty pounds of pressure, and the time required to generate that pressure and other pressures, was as follows:

Steam generated at 3.27
10 pounds of steam at 3.28.
20 pounds of steam at 3.30.
25 pounds of steam at 3.30 1-2.
30 pounds of steam at 3.31.
40 pounds of steam at 3.32.

It will thus be seen that within ten minutes after the fire was lit, the engine was running.

The first test was made with two lengths of hose, 500 feet long, with one inch nozzle. Steam pressure was gradually brought up to 100 pounds to the square inch, and with 232 piston strokes to the minute, there was 150 pounds water pressure, which threw two good streams.

At four o'clock the engine was stopped, and another 500 feet of hose added, thus throwing three streams. 110 pounds of steam were generated, and the water pressure was 140 pounds. With this streams were thrown several feet above the high chimney on Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald's stable. This test was made pumping the water from the creek, for about thirty minutes, and this, too, was made to the satisfaction of the local authorities.

The second test was made taking the water supply from the city hydrants, and for this purpose the engine was taken to the market square, where, in the first place, the suction pipe was connected to the hydrant, and the water allowed to circulate through the pumps, the engine standing still. There was the ordinary domestic pressure on, and on the main to which the hydrant was attached the pressure was 58 pounds. This threw two fairly good streams.

Afterwards the pumps were started, and with 110 pounds of steam, the water pressure was increased to 200 pounds and two magnificent streams were thrown, at least twice as high as those with the waterworks pressure.

Later the two lines were siamesed into one, and a still better stream resulted.

The results which followed the addition of the steam pressure to the hydrant pressure were truly marvellous, and those who were somewhat skeptical as to the necessity for a steam engine before were convinced after they had seen the great improvement.

It was pointed out that should there be a big fire, at which there were five or six streams playing, the hydrant pressure would be reduced to such an extent that it would not be sufficient to throw a stream to the top of a high building, but if the engine were attached to one of the hydrants this could easily be accomplished. Mr. Watts intimated that he was throwing the stream 225 feet in the air on this test.

Test Concluded.

This concluded the work of the engine, which was afterwards taken to the fire hall, where it is at the present time.

The mechanical men who witnessed the tests, and who examined the engine, give the pumps great praise. They state that she has an elegant pair of pumps, which, of course, is most important in a fire engine, when all other qualificatiino count for nothing, unless there is the ability to throw the water. These qualifications the engine tested yesterday evidently possesses.

Mr. Watts evidently understands the fire engine question from the ground up, and in the fire engine which was sent here he has apparently introduced a great many excellent features.

It is an interesting fact that an engine, the exact counterpart of that sent here, except for the fact that the latter is a little larger, in London was run for 17 hours straight at a fire, without stopping, and she came out of the ordeal perfect.

The engine will remain in the city for a few days, but Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Watts left for London this morning. They express themselves as being highly pleased with the work of the engine and, of course, hope that the council will see its way clear to keeping it.

BRIDGENORTH TEAM RESENTS INSINUATION

Secretary of the Football Team of That Village Writes to Defend the Position Taken By It—Claims That the Hall Trophy Was Won Honourably—There Will Be No More Games for the Trophy as far as Bridgenorth Team is Concerned.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In 1904 Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., in his kindness and munificence and in his desire to encourage one of Canada's best outdoor games, presented to the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition a silver trophy for competition among the football teams of this County and on condition that the team which holds it for two successive years shall retain permanent possession of it. One year ago Bridgenorth won it by default, and this year they met the Quakers, an aggregation of almost every vocation and from all quarters of the community, and the game resulted in a tie. Feeling justified in so doing, Bridgenorth took possession of the cup. The Directors and Mr. Hall were willing that it should remain so, but the Quaker manager wore out a pair of boots sprinting around the city and then resorted to the use of the telephone till, as a final relief to get rid of this ever-present spirit, they consented to order a new game on Oct. 21st. The secretary of the Bridgenorth Club received notice and replied, giving their claims and stating that there would be no game, as it was not necessary.

Then recourse was made to the columns of the Examiner, and it is a most deplorable fact that such a controversy has arisen. On Oct. 19th there appeared a very much inspired and disrespectful article about "Noble Kelly's Pets" who "flunked." It is indeed a rather remarkable fact that the Quaker management considered it a wise act to steal a pair of these "Pets" from the Bridgenorth club and pay their expenses for games in the Midland League in a vain endeavour to land the Stratton Cup in Peterboro.

On Oct. 21st came a letter from one signing himself "Bridgenorth," who made a mild and reasonable reply, and the affair would have been ended, but one of those real small boys took a "t'row" and the issue of the 23rd was graced or rather disgraced with a letter which is not of the highest order and makes much ado about nothing. He calls himself "One Interested," and we have no doubt of it whatever. He writes two paragraphs trying to tell people that Bridgenorth was not "in shape" on the 21st, but he forgets to remember that at the Exhibition, Bridgenorth made no excuses about physical condition and asked for a regular one hour game, and that his team played for a 40 minute "go," and that Bridgenorth showed the fine quality of pity and consented to a fifty minute contest. He speaks with great contempt of the "Noble" bunch of timber wrestlers, but as comparisons are odious we will forbear from making any remarks about the porridge-makers. He also rises to remark that "perhaps there may be a game yet this year." If it will not hurt his feelings too much, we will now break the news to him that there is no "perhaps" about it, but it is a sure certainty that there will be no more games this year for that trophy and that Bridgenorth shall still retain it as honorably won and defended.

It is to be hoped that this debate may now be ended as it will be of no avail to continue it and the Bridgenorth team bears no enmity towards the Quaker team, but it should be understood that we are not to be scoffed at or abused through the public press without a protest.

ERNEST R. BRUMWELL,
Secretary Bridgenorth Football Club.

10 OFF DRESS GOODS

and Dress Material

Here's some of the Good Luck that comes to shoppers from a backward season. During the month of November we have decided to allow 10 per cent. off on all purchases of Dress Goods and Dress Material intended to be made up in our Dress-Making Department.

If the weather conditions had been different, we would not think of making this offer. As it is, we imported an unusually extensive stock of Dress Goods for early Fall wear, but the remarkably mild weather of the past six weeks has delayed the volume of buying of heavy Dress stuffs. The result is that our stock is heavier than we care to carry at this late date.

Just as the weather is becoming colder, we hold out the above extra inducement and feel sure of a business that will double the sales of November.

We have increased our dressmaking staff and strengthened our selling capacity---commensurate with our growth in trade.

Horrible Deed Of Crazy Man Two May Die

"I Am Going to Have Your Heart's Blood," He Said.

THEN STABBED SON TWICE

Murdock Macdonald Then Knocked His Father Down Injuring Him Badly, While He Himself Is In a Dangerous Condition Owing to the Knife Wounds Near Kidneys and Heart—Father Arrested.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 28.—What may prove a double fatality occurred Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Peter Nicholson of Lorne Valley, near Cardigan. A potato-digging frolic was held on Thanksgiving on the farm, and while the company were enjoying themselves in the house Mrs. Nicholson's brother, John Aban Macdonald, aged sixty, supposed to be demented, was seen sharpening a knife on his boot. His son Murdoch asked him why he did so, and the old man, replying "I am going to have your heart's blood,", sprang at the young man, stabbing him twice just above the kidneys and in the region of the heart. Murdoch knocked the old man down, injuring him badly. Both are in a dangerous condition, especially Murdoch.

The old man has been arrested, but will likely be taken to the asylum if he can be removed from the house. He has been living with his sister, but on using threats against the family he had been ordered out, and had not been invited to the potato-digging, hence his revenge on his son.

DEATH ON A TRAPEZE.

Fatal Outcome of Boyish Play In a Pembroke Hay Loft.

Pembroke, Oct. 28.—A very sad accident occurred here about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Geo. Delaheye, aged 14 years, was accidently strangled to death while playing on a trapeze in the hay-loft.

The boys have been in the habit of placing a strap around their necks and seeing how long they could hang that way. Yesterday in some way the strap tightened and the boy was strangled before his companions noticed him. He was dead when released. The accident has cast a gloom over the community. The deceased was a son of Gideon Delaheye, barrister, of this town.

Buried In Gravel Pit.

Comticooke, Oct. 28.—Three men named Joseph Reckney, Jean Richard and St. Cyr. were instantly killed Thursday afternoon in the gravel pit belonging to the corporation. The overlying bank gave way, precipitating about two tons of coarse gravel on them, and burying them completely. They were dug out in about an hour's time, but life was extinct. The body of Richard was terribly mangled. All of them were married and leave large families.

Knocked Off a Train.

Hamilton, Oct. 28.—Robert Almas, a G. T. R. brakeman, was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital last evening. He was knocked off his train by a bridge near Clarkson, and was very seriously injured.

Teacher's Narrow Escape.

Galt, Oct. 28.—The assistant principal of Victoria public school was the victim of an accident at the school yesterday, which nearly cost him his life. He was addressing the pupils in his own room when the lath and plaster ceiling fell upon him, almost knocking him off his feet. Fortunately the greater part missed his head, but one large section struck him full on the crown, inflicting a scalp wound, from which the blood flowed in a stream until medical aid was obtained. It took ten stitches to sew up the gash. Mr. Baker has been laid off and is in the hotel, suffering acutely from the pain and shock.

Race Exhausts Contestant.

Brantford, Oct. 28.—Berney Boo, one of the contestants in Thursday's foot-race between Paris and Brantford, is in the hospital unconscious and in a critical condition.

Given Up For Lost.

Detroit, Oct. 28.—All hope for the safety of the steamer Kaliyuga and her crew of 17 men have been abandoned. She without doubt went down in Lake Huron in the big storm of last week. Among the crew was Charles Beaugrand, a Canadian, whose residence was not known.

Spanish Ship Wrecked.

Island of Heligoland, Prussia, Oct. 28.—The Spanish steamer Zuria from Rosario for Hamburg is ashore off the south rocks and is a total wreck. Nine of her crew were drowned. The survivors were rescued by the Government steamer Triton.

Took Strychnine.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Henry Montressor, a foreman in the C. P. R. round-house, foot of John street, attempted to end his life by taking five grains of strychnine yesterday afternoon. Montressor, who is 23 years old, came to Toronto about a month ago from London, Ont. It is stated he and his wife had a disagreement. She came to Toronto first and obtained employment in a cigar factory. He followed her and they were rooming together at 123 1-2 Church street. When she returned from work at 5.30 she found him suffering from the poison, which he had purchased from the druggist across the street. Dr. Adams was summoned. He used a stomach pump to such good advantage that the would-be suicide is coming around all right in St. Michael's Hospital.

Bereaved Husband Suicides.

Arthur, Oct. 28.—The body of Frank Girott, a resident of Guelph, was found three miles below here yesterday on the Owen Sound road. The unfortunate left here at 10 a. m., ostensibly to go to Guelph, and was found about 1.30, lying dead on the roadside. An empty bottle, labelled carbolic acid, was found in a vest pocket. He had taken the deadly dose. Three photographs were found in a pocket, one of his dead wife and baby and one of himself, upon which was written the pathetic inscription: "Good-bye to you all; I am gone."

HALIFAX FORT ON FIRE.

Flames Were Put Out Before They Reached Explosives.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 27.—Fire which suddenly broke out in the oil rooms of the Imperial Government Stores Department on George's Island, situated in the harbor between Dartmouth and Halifax, and used as a fort, created excitement in the city last night occasioned by the fact that a tremendous amount of war material and explosives are stored on the island in connection with the fort but barring a few pounds of gun-powder none exploded. No person was injured though a large lot of dynamite in close proximity to the fire was cast into the harbor shortly after the fire broke out. The flames were fought by the men in charge of the fort, comprising the Royal Garrison Regiment, sailors from the ships of the cruiser squadron. At 1 o'clock the fire was under control. The estimated loss, roughly, is $10,000.

Fire In Brampton.

Brampton, Oct. 28.—Early yesterday morning fire broke out in the Stork Block and did considerable damage before extinguished by the brigade. Harry Stork, who occupied the first store, lost all his stock, which was covered by insurance. T. Taylor, flour and feed, damaged, partially covered by insurance. Wood, barber shop, completely gutted, small insurance. Ritchie's shoe store, gutted. Bell Smith's dwelling-house, total loss, furniture uninsured. The gents' furnishing department of Robinson & Stork was flooded, almost total loss, fully covered.

SHEET METAL UNION CASE.

Counsel Asks That Verdict For $7,500 Be Quashed.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Judge MacMahon refused at Osgoode Hall yesterday to give immediate effect to the verdict of $7,500 obtained by the Metallic Roofing Co. against the Sheet Metal Workers' Union. Whether this verdict will be carried into execution depends upon a series of appeals.

In moving that the verdict be quashed, J. G. O'Donoghue argued that it would be an infringement upon the rights of wage-earners to strike. With the right to strike was accompanied the right to announce the strike. He argued that the defendants had merely engaged in a strike and the announcement of a strike.

Judge MacMahon, in reserving judgment, declared his intention of getting certain information from the Court of Appeal.

Mr. O'Donoghue thinks that the case will likely go to the Privy Council for adjustment.

Bishop of Seven Islands.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Monsignor P. G. Blanche, the present prefect apostolic of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, will today be consecrated bishop of the region which has been erected into a vicarate. The ceremony will take place at Chicoutimi. The seat of the new bishop will be at Seven Islands.

Gives Satisfaction to Japs.

Tokio, Oct. 28.—The announcement that King Edward has charged Prince Arthur of Connaught to proceed to Tokio early in 1906 on a special mission to bestow the Order of the Garter on the Emperor of Japan has caused the greatest satisfaction among all classes here.

Russia's New Loan.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—The negotiations for the new Russian loan advanced yesterday. The amount is practically fixed at $250,000,000. The international bankers are apparently relieved by the knowledge that Count Witte will be the head of the Government.

Russians Are Now In The Throes Of Reform

Situation There Cannot End Without Bloodshed—Future Martyrs To Be—Trepoff Powerless To Prevent Assembly Of Revolutionists—Police Instructed To Close Their Eyes To 20,000 Dead-in-Earnest Russians And The Troops Were Withdrawn---Meeting War-Breeder.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—That the present situation cannot end without bloodshed is the conviction prevailing in the higher Government circles which momentarily are expecting a conflict between the troops and the revolutionists here, and news of trouble in the provinces here, especially at Kharkoff, which has been declared in a state of war. The Governor of Kieff has been instructed to take all necessary measures to restore order, which the local Government and the commander of the troops are unable to maintain.

Looks on Prospect With Tears.

One of the most prominent members of the Emperor's Council received the Associated Press yesterday and said with emotion:

"The situation is a grievous and painful one, and I see no way out of it except by the employment of armed force. Please do not misunderstand me. I look upon the prospect with tears, but it is becoming more and more evident that troops will be compelled to fire. I can see no other possible outcome. The revolutionists and terrorists are absolutely bent on forcing a conflict upon us, and nothing we can do will satisfy them. The extension of the suffrage and the right of assembly will be nothing to them. They are determined to have bloodshed, and we cannot avoid the issue. It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering, and, sad and painful as it is, the Government must act with force."

Witte Premier.

The Minister said that the law creating a responsible Cabinet probably would be promulgated, and Count Witte's nomination as premier announced to-day. Under the statute the premier may or may not hold a special portfolio. Count Witte spent almost the entire day with the Emperor at Peterhof, and he has not confided to his colleagues whether he intends to take the Ministry of the Interior or the Ministry of Finance or no portfolio at all. The whole of the ministerial body also is in ignorance as to whether they will retain the important places under the new leader.

Eyes Closed to Assembly.

Realizing that any attempt to interfere with the monster meeting at the university will inevitably lead to a bloody outbreak, Gen. Trepoff, who announced during the afternoon that he intended to prevent the assembly, instructed the police to close their eyes to the fact and the meeting, which was attended by between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, passed off without a conflict. The troops stand around the building withdrawn, but in the court, the city bourse and other near-by buildings, half a dozen companies of Cossacks and strong forces of infantry and dragoons were in readiness to sally forth.

Big meetings were also held in the Technological and Art Institutes, and in two of the engineers' schools.

The students of either of these meetings took a prominent part in the deliberations, yielding the hospitality of college buildings without attempting to cloak the meetings with the guise of student assemblies.

With the hope of avoiding further meetings at the university, Gen. Trepoff later placed halls in three different parts of the city at the disposal of the people for meetings, thus practically conceding the demands of the agitators of the right of assembly.

Breeds War.

The scenes inside the university beggars description. In the great open air court, with no light except a few flickering candles on a hastily constructed tribune, from 4,000 to 5,000 workmen, students and professional men, stood wedged together in the cold and a wet snow fall, listening to revolutionary harrangues.

Stop All Work.

Another great meeting was held in the central hall of the university and scores of small meetings of separate trades and professions were held in the other rooms of the building. Halls were set aside for teachers, physicians, bank clerks, journalists, printers, Chinovniks, pharmacists, women, engineers, lawyers, tailors and persons of other callings and trades and a room was even set aside for non-commissioned officers of the army, but only a half dozen of these were present, in all the sections a strong minority urged conservatism, but these were carried from their feet by the general enthusiasm and resolutions for a general strike in every branch of social activity were adopted with a hurrah. Even the Chinovniks in the Government service whose meeting was largely attended, were possessed of the same spirit and passed resolutions to stop all work in the Government departments to-day. Another resolution which was generally adopted notified the authorities that the Assize Court buildings in Litania street must be opened for a universal meeting of all classes at noon to-day, at which measures will be adopted against any person who is reported as not adhering to the general strike.

A remarkable feature of all the speeches was the spirit of confidence that the success of the movenrent was at hand and the manifest intention, as the Minister quoted in the first part of the despatch said, to force an armed conflict upon the Government. The meetings continued far into the night.

In the city, in spite of the absence of disorder, there is a condition of actual panic. Half of the population is compelled to rely on candles or kerosene lamps for light, while the street lamps in a large part of the city have been extinguished.

The streets practically are deserted except for the squad of infantry and cavalry which are everywhere.

The shops began to close in the afternoon in even the Morskaia Nevsky and other central streets. Many of the inhabitants shut themselves in their houses, scarcely venturing out to make necessary purchases of food, which has almost mounted to famine prices.

Garrison on Salt Meat.

Owing to the railroad strike, the garrison has been placed on reduced rations of salt meat.

The "coalition council" of the St. Petersburg University, comprising representatives of both the students and the teaching staff, have issued a manifesto calling on the students to exert their whole strength in work both night and day for the revolution, to place themselves completely at its service, and especially to hold the doors of the university open to all political meetings. Twenty representatives of the revolutionary committee visited all the banks yesterday and demanded the cessation of work. All of them were arrested in the Russian Bank of Foreign Trade. The Siberian and Azov Bank were closed.

A ukase has been issued, restricting the conditions governing public meetings. It is reported many persons were wounded during the dispersal of a meeting of Novocherkask, the capital of the Province of Don Cossacks.

Russia In Ferment.

Odessa.—The university building was surrounded by Cossacks and police to prevent a meeting of 8,000 students announced to occur last night. The city continues in a ferment. The schools are closed, but there was no serious violence yesterday.

Kieff, Russia.—The treasury and aqueduct are under guard and the whole city is in possession of the military.

The president, Rev. L. H. Wagner, of Berlin, reviewed the year's work as a very satisfactory one. The president intimated that a resolution would be presented to Parliament by the convention asking for the authorization of the international lessons to be read in public schools.

Meeting of Mining Men.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 25.—A meeting of mining men was held here last evening in response to a call from the Ontario Department of Lands and Mines, asking for an expression of public opinion in anticipation of a proposed change in the mining regulations. PRUDENT MOTHERS.

The prudent mother will never give her child a sleeping draught, soothing medicine or opiate of any kind, except by order of a competent doctor who has seen the child. All soothing medicines and sleeping draughts contain deadly poison; an overdose will kill a child, and they never do good, as they only stupefy and do not cure. Sleeplessness in little ones usually comes from teething troubles or derangements of the stomach or bowels, that can be speedily cured by Baby's Own Tablets. And the mother should remember that this is the only medicine for children that gives a solemn guarantee that there is not a particle of opiate or harmful drug in its composition. Mrs. A. Scott, Bradwardine, Manitoba, says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for diarrhoea, teething troubles and constipation, and find them just the thing to make little ones well and keep them well. Sold by all druggists or by mail at 25 cents by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

It had a rough trip from Toronto, having met with stormy weather on Lakes Erie, Huron and Superior. Had she been a less strongly constructed boat, Capt. Seaget says, she would have gone to the bottom.

10,000 MILES OF EGGS

WHAT IT TAKES TO FEED LONDON EVERY YEAR.

Ten Million Sacks of Wheat, 2,000 Tons of Coffee, 65 Million Gallons of Milk, 80,000,000 Pounds of Butter, 450,000,000 Eggs, and a Great River of Beer Are Among the Startling Figures.

"Two butters, one bread," repeated the waiter, glibly, as he made a hasty hieroglyph on my bill, handed it to me with a yet more hasty "Thank you, sir—much oblige," and darted away in response to a regular customer's imperious "Albert!"

The scene was a busy restaurant in the heart of London's business "city," and the time that rush-and-scramble hour when every "city man" may be found taking in food, says The Edinburgh Scotsman. All around were silk-hatted men intent on nourishment, darting here and there and everywhere were perspiring waiters bearing dangerous piles of dishes; much rattle of knives and forks and human voices. Dishes were emptied and seats vacated. A hasty flick by the waiter disposed of the last customer's crumbs; a clean knife and fork, more bread and a fresh customer filled the vacancies, and hey, presto! off they go again.

I checked my bill, in spite of "Albert's" hasty figures. My bread I saw was responsible for a modest penny, my butter for two more. From what distant countries I wondered had come these two to meet through the medium of the waiter's introduction upon that city table?

Ten Million Sacks of Wheat.

The supplies seemed plentiful enough, but my imagination took me to piles upon piles of penny rolls and circular pats of butter, one for each inhabitant of that huge county, and imagination staggered. Russia, India, Canada, Hungary, the States and Austria all aid under contribution to make penny rolls! What a capacious mouth has this London which consumes more than ten million sacks of wheat yearly. Look at it in figures—10,000,000. 'Is it not a portentious meal?

I would sit awhile and ponder, and so ordered coffee, of which your Londoner takes increasing quantities, while the imports for the country remain almost stationery. Anon, Albert brought me a little share of London's annual coffee heap—some 2,500 tons, equivalent to about 1 1-2 lbs. a head. I poured in the smallest drop of a dubious-looking bluish fluid — London's milk. Its annual milk pail holds some 65 million gallons of milk—no, I checked the base interrogation as to water; that is only used to make up some seven million gallons of the fluid resulting from "condensed."

"Butter," called my near neighbor, briefly. I watch the waiter dive a fork into a bowl of water and extract a slab of oleaginous yellow—quaint fish, indeed, for such queer fishing. Fifteen pounds a year is a conservative estimate of a Londoner's need in that direction, making the total amount of butter consumed 30,000,000 lbs., nine-tenths of which is foreign. And what of substitutes? Margarine, "cooking" butter? I gasped at the mere thought.

Ten Thousand Miles of Eggs.

From butter to eggs. New-laid eggs, fresh eggs, cooking eggs, and — eggs, as the lamented Dan Leno used to say. Here provision must be made for an extraordinary appetite, because each inhabitant of London County, man, woman and child, accounts for some 80 annually—450,000,000 eggs of all sorts—four hundred and fifty millions—or, if laid (apt expression for eggs) end to end, upwards of 10,000 miles of eggs annually, and equivalent at a penny each to a total egg bill of nearly £2,000,000—enough to strike terror into the heart of any housewife.

I sipped my coffee reflectively. Oh for the chance of supplying this wonderful customer for but a day.

I saw my fishermen collecting the daily portion of the twenty million oysters, the 25,000 boxes of salmon, and the 200,000 tons of fish which stray to the London fish markets at Billingsgate and Shadwell yearly. I pictured myself with lands, herds, and wealth of all kinds. I grew expansive; I ordered a second coffee.

Half the salmon consumed in the Metropolis is Scottish, about one-eighth Irish and about one-twentieth English, the remainder being supplied by the useful foreigner; good profit there, I thought. The foreigner only sends about 20,000 tons of fish, but a greater portion of the 80,000 tons of potatoes. Evidently there must be more Irish in London than the census returns allow! But what a glorious profit I would take out of that quarter million pounds butter bill, or the £650,000, which was to pay for some 7,000,000 bushels of fruit.

Evidently the city dweller knows of the health-giving properties of fruit. Does he neglect that other healthy exercise, the cold bath? Could I be blamed for assuming that he didn't, with a water total of one hundred and twenty thousand million gallons? Surely they don't drink this, notwithstanding the infusion of 35 million pounds of tea? If tea drinking is a vice, as some people would have us believe, London must have a very bad attack!

And a River of Beer.

And yet so huge a mouthful of that dry commodity, cheese, as 30,000 tons must need some washing down.

But, stay how would beer fulfill this last duty? 'Tis a thirsty London, for it needs, according to Mr. Charles Booth, six million barrels of beer each year to quench its thirst, and a barrel holds thirty-six gallons — seventeen hundred million "pints of beer." What a river!

The city men around me were devouring steaks, joints, fish, chops, all with a healthy disregard for digestion. The huge needs of London troubled them not so long as immediate individual necessities were satisfied. Roast beef of old England—from America; Southdown mutton—from New Zealand; "Surrey" fowls—from Russia, butchered to make a London luncheon hour.

"They served up salmon, venison, and wild boars
By hundreds, by dozens, and in scores,
Mutton and fatted beeves, swan and bustard"

—150,000 tons of meat in short they serve up, only half of which come from the British Empire, and none of which comes from Europe outside of these islands.

It was a pleasing picture I had conjured up: The world paying tribute in meat, meal, and malt for the hungry satisfying of great, over-grown London. How seldom does this question of supply enter into the minds of visitors to London. How vividly do these figures bring home to us the unwieldyness of this Empire City.

But now I had wandered far away in thought from my city restaurant. I was picturing vast armies of cows, of sheep, pigs, and fowls marching on London as if to overwhelm it, and yet being devoured as fast as they arrived. Anon I pictured all London laid out as one tremendous cornfield and its five and a half million people singing the words of R. D. Blackmore:

"The corn, oh, the corn, and the yellow mellow corn,
"Thanks for the corn, with the bread upon the board";

and yet quite futilely, for the whole area of London if cultivated would only produce about one-eleventh of the amount required to feed the singers for a year. So little spare room is there that everything capable of being imported ready for consumption is so imported. Yet commodities are cheap compared with many Continental cities.

I saw a picture of armies of butchers, bakers, milkmen, and waiters ministering to London's needs. The picture seemed to fade and finally resolved itself into "Albert" bringing me a supplemental bill for my coffee. The restaurant was nearly empty. The workers had returned to their hives. My phantom armies of cows, sheep, butchers, and bakers had disappeared, and my last coffee was cold.

"Was it indigestion, or have I slept?" I asked myself as I paid my bill.

A MAN OF THE DAY.

"A Descendant of One of William Shakespeare's Ancestors."

Mr. W. A. Hamar Bass, the present proprietor of The Era, is, it appears, "a descendant of one of William Shakespeare's ancestors," says The London Star. As everybody knows, Shakespeare's mother was an Arden—Mary Arden, the great-grandmother of Walter Arden of Parkhall, Warwickshire. Emily Jane Arden, who married Michael Thomas Bass, M. P. for Derby, in 1835, was directly descended from this Walter Arden; and their eldest son was Michael Arthur Bass, now Lord Burton, their second son being Hamar Bass, the father of Mr. W. A. H. Bass. His wife, Lady Norman Hastings, is the daughter of the thirteenth Earl of Huntingdon. The Peerage changed hands in 1819, when it was successfully claimed by Hans Francis Hastings, then a simple post-captain in the navy. The story of the claim, written under the title of "The Huntingdon Peerage," by Henry Nugent Bell, reads like an amusing romance. A nobleman in the captain's neighborhood had a favorite fox, which the sailor killed. This led to a quarrel, in which Hans challenged the nobleman, who refused to meet him on the ground of inequality in rank. On which Hans retorted that if he troubled to put in a claim he would be even higher in rank than his opponent. His friend, Henry Nugent Bell, struck by the remark, started a search after evidence, which culminated, after many droll adventures, in the discovery in Doctors' Commons of documents conclusively establishing Hans' claim, which was allowed, with the support of the great Sir Samuel Romilly, in 1818.

A Sad Sight in India.

No sadder sight is to be seen in India than the spectacle of "The Men With the Planks," staggering along under their burden. Here is a grimly pathetic picture of them, drawn by Sir Frederick Treves:

"They are hillmen of the poorer sort who carry planks of sawn wood into [illegible] these planks are from twelve to fourteen feet in length, and two or three make up a load. The men are ill-clad, and the sun and rain have tanned them and their rags to the color of brown earth. They bear the planks across their bent backs, and the burden is grievous. They come from a place some days' journey toward the snows. They plod along from the dawn to the twilight. They seem crushed by the weight of the beams, and their gait is more the gait of a stumbling beast than the walk of a man. Their long black hair is white with dust as it hangs by each side of their bowed-down faces. The sweat among the wrinkles on their brows is hardened into lamentable clay. They walk in single file, and when the path is narrow they must needs move sideways. . . . . The path is in a solitude among bare and pitiless hills; the road is as old as the world; and in the weary dust of it many hundreds have dropped and died. Along it steals this patient line of groaning men, bending under the burden of the planks upon their backs. Behind them a rosy-tinted light is falling upon the spotless snows, and it needs only the pointing figure of Dante on one of the barren peaks to complete the picture of a circle in Purgatory."

A Costly Error.

The want of punctuation in telegrams has sometimes been followed by serious complications. A notable case occurred some time back when a certain nobleman, while at his house in the west end, despatched a wire to a celebrated Edinburgh physician, the favorite doctor of his wife. Almost immediately following the despatch of this telegram another followed it stating that the doctor would not be required in the following terms:

"Don't come. Too late."

The telegraphist made the message: "Don't come too late."

The medical man, construing this as urging him to the greatest haste, arrived in London, claimed his fee and expenses, amounting to £200, and by legal proceedings obtained that sum.—London Tit-Bits.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old form" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE WEAK WOMEN

To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritious. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substitutor who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

Many Bitter Cares go With King's Crown

King Oscar Gives Them Up With the Throne of Norway.

MOST PATHETIC EPISTLE

His Letter to the President of the Storthing Finally Severing His Connection With Norway — Will Not Permit Prince of His House to Contest the Election For King —Prince Charles Ready.

Stockholm, Oct. 28.—King Oscar has definitely and formally declined the offer of the Norwegian throne to a prince of the House of Bernadotte, and in a letter to the President of the Storthing finally severs his connection with Norway. The letter follows:

"After having in the name of Sweden recognized Norway as a state completely separated from Sweden, I inform you of my decision to relinquish the Crown of Norway which, notwithstanding all my good intentions, has given me in the course of years so many bitter cares. Moreover, I could no longer wear it to the benefit of the country now that the illegal decision of the Storthing has rendered illusory even the suspensive veto of the king.

KING OSCAR OF SWEDEN.

But I desire only the welfare of the country, and the nation towards which I have entertained a sincere affection ever since my youth, to the happiness of which it has always been my heart's desire to contribute so long as the means to that end could be reconciled with the duties entailed by my position of king to both countries of the Scandinavian peninsula. In view of the turn the mutual relations between the two countries have taken I cannot think it would be conducive to the happiness of either Sweden or Norway that a prince of my house should accept an election to be King of Norway. Assuredly there would not fail to arise in both countries a feeling of distrust which would operate as much against him as against me. This distrust might only too easily become an obstacle to the improvement of the mutual sentiments of the two nations, unfortunately separated henceforth, whereby I hope to see pacific relations assured between them, in a not too distant future. I cannot, therefore, accept the Storthing's offer. I thank you with all my heart those, who, during my reign of 33 years, have faithfully served me and Norway, and who may even now entertain affection for their former king. In now bidding them farewell I cherish sincere good wishes for them."

Prince Charles Will Accept.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Information reaching the highest quarters here shows that definite arrangements have been made whereby Prince Charles of Denmark will accept the Throne of Norway, following a plebiscite occurring Nov. 12. Prince Charles will leave Denmark to assume the royal functions immediately after the official notification of his election is conveyed to him.

WANT THE FRANCHISE.

W. C. T. U. Pass Resolutions on Various Phases of Temperance Question.

Brockville, Oct. 28.—The final sessions of the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. were held yesterday. After the adoption of a few minor reports, the committee on resolutions reported, the recommendations being taken up clause by clause, and discussed. A few of the more important ones are summarized as follows: That the convention endorse and encourage the local option movement; that the franchise be granted to women; that scientific temperance be taught in the schools, and that prizes be given for the subject; that the use of alcoholic flavoring in the preparation of food be discouraged, and that the members of the W. C. T. U. will not patronize grocers when the dealer sells liquors also, etc., etc.

License Reduction.

This recommendation called for much discussion, but was finally adopted: "Whereas the Government under which we were for many years living and working declined to fulfill its pledges, and the Government in power has given no promises, and whereas the best way of stimulating dormant sentiment and creating conviction is to engage in campaigns that have a definite and attainable goal; recommended that we urge upon our societies the prosecution of license reduction and local option contests, and a stringent effort to enforce the existing law. Further recommended, that we appeal to the Government to effect legislation that will permit of local option contests in wards and subdivisions; that wherever 25 per cent. of the electorate petition for a local option, or license reduction campaigns, that the vote be compulsory, that as a majority petition of the electorate can establish a license, a 60 per cent. petition should revoke such license."

London was selected for the next annual meeting in 1906.

HE'S BEEN WELL EVER SINCE

A. D. Miller has an experience with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets That's Worth Remembering.

"I wish to state that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicine anyone can take for dyspepsia." The speaker was A. D. Miller, of Tomstown, Ont., and when he was asked for his reason, he continued: "I had been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia and during the summer of 1900 my doctor treated me for Liver Complaint, but I kept growing worse.

"My appetite was very irregular and I would bloat after eating, and I also had palpitation of the heart. Sometimes I could not sleep at night on account of my heart beating so hard.

"I was hardly able to get around when I started using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using half a box I felt better; by the time that I had used two boxes I was well."

You can't have dyspepsia if you use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

What Are Piles? You May Ask.

And Why are They Always Relieved and Cured by the Use of

Dr. Chases Ointment?

The itching, burning sensations of piles or hemorrhoids, the feelings of uneasiness and discomfort, and the loss of blood, are familiar to many who may not know the name or nature of their ailment.

Piles are small tumours, which form at the opening of the rectum, and are described as itching, bleeding or protruding, according to the symptoms that is most prominent.

The cause of greatest suffering is the intense itching, which is an almost constant symptom, while the greatest danger arises from loss of blood. You can scarcely imagine one in greater misery than the victim of a severe case of piles.

By reason of its remarkably soothing effect Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost instant relief from the dreadful itching. It heals the ulcers, stops the loss of blood, and makes a thorough cure of this obstinate and loathsome disease.

The old idea of a surgical operation, with all the accompanying pain expense and risk, as the only cure for piles, has given way before the extraordinary success of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which has demonstrated its power in thousands of cases where operations have failed.

W. E. Marbot, of Talbot Bros. tobacco merchants, 362 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for itching piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease and through I tried very many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It was highly recommended to me and I find that every word of praise is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured and knowing the misery that the ailment produces I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Do not make the mistake of dropping this treatment as soon as the itching stops. Make the cure lasting by persistent use. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

It was pointed slightly away so May did not receive the full force of the charge. A few small pellets entered his arm, but he was otherwise uninjured. The shot was extracted.

$7,500 Damages For the Company.

Justice MacMahon will hear the motion for judgment at Osgoode Hall to-day. In charging the jury he warned them against being actuated by prejudice; said that the company was justified in refusing to discharge non-union employes; that the men were at liberty to strike, but that the union was not to be allowed to coerce men to quit work. The jury found $7,500 damages for the company.

Irish Fear Canadian Butter.

London, Oct. 27.—(C. A. P.)—The large imports of butter from the colonies seems to be causing some concern to the Irish producers. A despatch to The Freeman's Journal states that Canadian exports since the end of June were 1,750 tons more than the corresponding period of 1904, and 5,175 tons above those of 1903. Irish producers are agitating for their representatives in Great Britain to protect them against adulterated butter.

A DESPATCHER'S MISTAKE.

Two Trains Came Together and Four Lives Are Lost.

Fairfield, Iowa, Oct. 27.—In the hills, half a mile to the south of here, yesterday a head-on collision took place between two trains of the Rock Island Kansas City passenger service, resulting in the death of four and the injury of twenty-five. The injured have been taken to Eldon. The accident occurred early in the morning. Both trains had clear orders and the collision is believed to have been caused through a mistake of the despatcher.

Both trains were going at a rapid rate when they met. Two cars of each train were thrown off the track and both engines were locked together by the force of the collision. The engines remained on the track.

NOV. 8 INQUIRY BEGINS AGAIN.

Insurance Investigation in New York Halted Till After Elections.

New York, Oct. 27.—The feature Wednesday in the insurance situation was the announcement by President Richard A. McCurdy of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., that a committee of the board of trustees of his company had been appointed to investigate the company and its methods. The committee comprises Wm. H. Truesdale, Effingham B. Morris and John W. Auchincloss, all prominent in the financial and business world.

Still another interesting development was the statement by President Morton of the Equitable Life, showing that the receipts of that company for nine months of this year exceeded the expenditures by $16,728,197, an increase of over $500,000 compared with the same period last year. Receipts from premiums on policies for the third quarter this year were over $1,000,000 less than in 1904. The expenses of the third quarter of this year were $839,913 less than last year, but for the first six months there was an increase over last year of $424,943.

After the entire day given over to the examination of Emory McClintock, actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., and to the reading of figures, the Legislative Insurance Investigating Committee adjourned until Nov. 8, the day after election. Some of Mr. McClintock's explanations brought out the fact that his ideas were in many respects at variance with the established methods of insurance companies and that of his own company in particular.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Depends Upon the Richness and Regularity of Her Blood.

A woman needs a blood medicine regularly just because she is a woman. From maturity to middle life the health and happiness of every woman depends upon her blood, its richness and its regularity. If her blood is poor and watery, she is weak and languid, pale and nervous. If her blood is irregular she suffers untold torture from headaches, backaches and sideaches, and other unspeakable distress which only women know. Some women have grown to expect this suffering at regular intervals, and bear it in hopeless silence. But they would escape the greater part of it if they took a box or two of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills each time to help them over the critical period. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. They help a woman just when nature makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. They have done this for thousands of women throughout Canada—why shouldn't they do that much for you? Mrs. James Oandy, 25 Edith avenue, Toronto, says: "I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a medicine that should be taken regularly by every woman in the land. I suffered greatly from those ailments that only a woman knows. I had backaches and headaches, and a weary bearing down pain. I was very irregular, and was often forced to go to bed for two or three days at a time. I tried many medicines, but got nothing to help me until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they have given me new health and relieved from pain, and made me regular. I cannot say how thankful I am for what the medicine has done for me, and I would urge all women who suffer as I did to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest cure in all the wide world for all the weakness and backaches of anaemia, all the heaviness and distress of indigestion, all the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica, and all the other ills that come from poor, weak, watery blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood with every dose, and thus strikes right at the root of nearly every disease that afflicts humanity. But remember that the "just as" good medicines" that some druggists offer never cured anyone or anything. Insist upon the genuine pills with the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box. If in doubt send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

HE KILLED A GIRL.

Elliott Fitch Shepard Sent to Jail For Three Months, Fined $120 and Mulct In $4,000 Damages.

Paris, Oct. 27.—The ninth correctional tribunal of the Seine yesterday sentenced Elliott Fitch Shepard of New York, and a grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, to three months' imprisonment and $120 fine, and to pay $4,000 damages to the parents of Madeleine Marduel, who was killed by Shepard's automobile at St. Juen, April 14.

The judge, reviewing the circumstances of the accident, said the automobile exceeded the regulation speed limit of 25 to 30 kilometers per hour. Such excessive speed was a menace to the public and should be severely punished. The judge also pointed out that the girl killed was 13 years old and a useful assistant to her family. Therefore the family was entitled to pecuniary redress for her loss. He closed with pronouncing the sentence. Shepard will appeal.

IN OAK, NOT GOLD.

Freedom of London Conferred Upon General Wm. Booth.

London, Oct. 27.—The freedom of the City of London was yesterday bestowed on General Booth of the Salvation Army. The presentation was made in the presence of a distinguished company, including civic officials, several thousand citizens and many officers of the Salvation Army.

The address referred in glowing terms to the work of General Booth and his organization, not only in London but throughout the world.

The general, in reply, referred to the difficulties which beset him in his early days, and which are only now becoming officially reconciled.

Instead of the usual gold casket, the address was enclosed in an oaken casket, the remainder of the money voted by the Municipal Council being, at the request of General Booth, given in the shape of a cheque toward the funds of the organization.

NEW NAVAL POLICY

Concentration Is Now the Essence of British Strategy.

IS A NATIONAL EVOLUTION

Prince Louis of Battenburg Explains It for the First Time Officially and Gives the Causes Which Moved the British Admiralty to the Change —A Telling Personal Illustration — Togo's Tactics.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 27.—Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg was St. John's guest yesterday, and was royally entertained. In response to a toast to him at the luncheon given by the mayor yesterday afternoon, he expressed his appreciation of honor done him, and in turn honored this city by giving the first explanation ever officially made of the reason for his visit and the causes for the new policy of the British Admiralty which gave rise to it.

He took this last opportunity in Canada, he said, to correct misapprehensions he had found concerning Britain's new naval policy.

"Instead of a radical change, it was a national evolution. Concentration," he said, "is the essence of strategy, dispersion is weakness. Under all conditions, main forces are distributed in far outlying posts, stations beyond all means of direct communication. Consequently the Admiralty had to form squadrons which were sent away, and there they stayed and they worked their own sweet will, and as it would take a letter the best part of a year to reach them, nobody could interfere.

"Now take the squadron which I command. We can get up steam practically in an hour. We can get under way in about the same time. We can disappear in two hours beyond the horizon, and no man living can tell where we may turn up in a few days' time.

After quoting from Togo's tactics to prove minor importance of naval bases, Prince Louis concluded:

"Believe me, your interests have never been better looked after, the full disposition of the naval forces of Great Britain have never been so advantageously placed for safeguarding the interests of the Empire, not only on this side of the Atlantic, but everywhere else."

IS THE KOLIYUGA LOST?

Thorough Search of the Lakes Fails to Find Missing Steamer.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 27.—Telegrams were received by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. here yesterday from the captains of the steamers Centurion and Frontenac, which have been searching for the missing steamer Koliyuga, saying that they had covered the entire east and north shores of Lake Huron without obtaining any trace of the long overdue vessel.

It is now practically certain that the boat with seventeen persons went down in Lake Huron during the great storm of last week.

HORNS THROUGH A LUNG.

Hamilton Buck May Have Given Thos. Woodcock, His Death Blow.

Hamilton, Oct. 27.—Thos. Woodcock, 28 Jones street, received injuries yesterady afternoon that will probably prove fatal. He is about 75 years of age, and is employed at the Dundurn Park Zoo. While feeding a doe, he was attacked by a buck, which ran one of its horns through his lung. He was rescued with great difficulty, and was removed to the City Hospital.

LOSS OF THE MINNEDOSA.

Capt. Milligan Gives His Own Version of the Catastrophe.

Kingston, Oct. 27.—The steamer Westmount and consort Melrose arrived at the Montreal Transportation Co.'s elevator early last evening.

J. Cuttle of Montreal, general manager of the company, and the local officers examined Capt. Milligan of the Westmount with regard to the foundering of the schooner Minnedosa. Capt. Milligan states that he never made any explanation to anyone of the disaster before he reached Kingston, and that the Detroit papers' accounts were grossly untrue.

He believes that the Minnedosa must have been leaking for many hours before she foundered. At the time the Westmount was heading for harbor, only seven miles away, and Capt. Phillips probably thought it unnecessary to make any signals of distress, believing that the Minnedosa would reach harbor before the water gained too much on them.

It was clear moonlight and any signals could have been easily seen.

Watchman Drops Dead.

Brockville, Oct. 25.—Henry Bramley, watchman at the Canada Carriage Co.'s works, died suddenly while on duty last night. As he fell, the lantern he carried broke, and his clothing took fire. Fortunately, another watchman appeared on the scene in time to prevent the body being cremated, and probably averted another conflagration.

A MEDICAL TRIUMPH

An Ottawa Physician Unmasks One of Nature's Secrets.

A diamond is pure carbon. So is charcoal. Chemists say the difference is due to the arrangement of the atoms.

Fruit is good for you. Fruit juices help to tone up the stomach—act on the liver—keep the bile flowing—make the bowels move regularly. But when disease comes—when Constipation poisons the blood, when indigestion upsets the stomach, when the kidneys are not working right—fruit juices in themselves can't cure.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices in tablet form.

Fruit-a-tives are the diamond—fresh fruit juices are the charcoal.

Fruit-a-tives get their wonderful power just as diamonds get their brilliancy and value—by a peculiar arrangement of the atoms.

An Ottawa physician tried to change charcoal into diamonds—that is, he tried to change fruit juices so they would act quickly and surely on stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys.

First, he found that the combination of apples, oranges, figs and prunes contained the medicinal properties of all other fruits and in a more marked degree.

Then, by a lucky chance just as he was about to give up his tests, he succeeded in changing the atoms so that the medicinal action was intensified many times.

Now, Fruit-a-tives are not a mere cathartic or laxative. They are a bowel tonic. Where fresh fruit has only a slight action on the liver, Fruit-a-tives tone up and invigorate.

Fruit-a-tives or Fruit Liver Tablets.

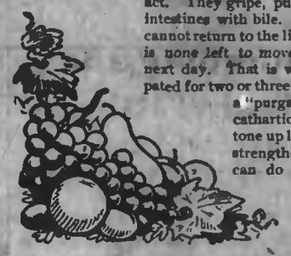
"I have much pleasure in stating that I have found "Fruit-a-tives" the best medicine I ever used for Constipation and Biliousness. I suffered from headaches of a severe kind for a long time, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives," I have become entirely free of them.

I can with every confidence, recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to any one suffering from Constipation, Biliousness or Headaches—and more especially that the tablets are exceedingly mild in their action—without producing any griping or distress."

Mrs. M. E. DEWAR, Ottawa, Ont.



You know how "liver pills," calomel, salts etc. act. They gripe, purge and flood the intestines with bile. This bile, which cannot return to the liver, is lost. There is none left to move the bowels the next day. That is why one is constipated for two or three days after taking a "purgative" or common cathartic. Fruit-a-tives tone up liver and bowels—strengthen them so they can do their own work without any help. They make the bile flow freely but do not exhaust the supply so there is plenty for the next day's work. Instead of the dose being increased, the number of Fruit-a-tives may be steadily diminished. From two at night, to one—then one every other night—and so farther and farther apart until stomach and liver and bowels are so strong and healthy that they need no further help.

Cure yourself with Fruit-a-tives. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. At all druggists, or sent to any address on receipt of price.

Review Called Off.

Halifax, Oct. 25.—Because of the delay occasioned to the gunnery work of the ships of the second cruiser squadron outside the harbor, through the heavy seas interfering with the moorings, and thus more time being taken up by the shooting, the naval review to have been held here has been called off.

MR. M. J. BUTLER.

Varied Career of New Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals and Chief Engineer of Department.

Mr. M. J. Butler, who becomes Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals and Chief Engineer of the Department, is a brilliant engineer, who has a rather oddly diversified career. He was born in Deseronto, Ontario, in 1856. His father was almost all his life in the employ of the Rathbun firm, rising to a high post in its service, and the son has spent a considerable portion of his life working for the same establishment. He was educated in the Public School and in the De la Salle Institute, Toronto. He left that school in 1872, and read the engineering course in Toronto University, finishing in 1877. For three years he was articled with Evans & Bolger, Belleville, a firm which did a general engineering, surveying and architectural practice. He became an Ontario land surveyor in 1878, and a Dominion land surveyor in 1879, and practised miscellaneous surveying work for three years before he began engineering work. His first work of this sort was the laying out of the mills and yards of the Rathbun Co. at Deseronto. His first railway work was about this time, when he was transit man on the building of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway.

In 1882 Mr. Butler went to Gananoque and built the Thousand Islands Railway. In the autumn of 1883 he took charge of the Napanee, Tamworth & Quebec Railway—a Rathbun enterprise—as chief engineer. He also did general engineering work for the Rathbun's and occasionally took Government surveys. In 1886 he went to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, having charge of the bridges and water service department in Kansas, Colorado, Missouri and Indian Territory. This employment he left in 1887 to engage in the pulp mills at River de Loup. He put these up and spent three years, incidentally exploring along the route now followed by the Temiskaming Railway. In 1890 Mr. Butler went back again to the Rathbuns, this time as their chief engineer. As such he erected the buildings of the Canadian Portland Cement Co., and also constructed an addition to the Napanee & Tamworth Railway. At this time he had a considerable consulting practice, acting for various towns and establishments.

In 1900 Mr. Butler went east again, becoming Mr. M. J. Haney's chief engineer on the contract for the great Hillsborough bridge in Prince Edward Island. He organized the plant for this work in 1901 and 1902. Then, in the autumn of 1902 he went to Montreal and designed and built the huge shops of the Locomotive & Machine Co. He was the chief engineer in this work, and it was a great success, the plant, shops, etc., being remarkably well designed. In September, 1904, he came to the Transcontinental Commission, where his good work was marked.

As a side issue Mr. Butler studied law, in 1897 taking the degree of LL.B. from the Kelt College of Law, Chicago, his purpose being to fit himself for the business side of his profession, in regard to such matters as the drawing of contracts, etc. He is an M. T. C. E., and also a member of the American and Canadian Civil Engineering Societies.

A GROUND HOG'S NERVE.

Has Taken Up His Abode in The Khan's Kitchen Garden.

A young ground hog who had been driven forth by his parents to make his own way in the world bade adieu to the old stone pile where he had spent his infancy; and where do you suppose he went? asks The Khan in The Hamilton Herald. Right into our kitchen garden, and took up his quarters under the summer firewood. And there he is now, living like a lord on the fat of the land, and he is the only safe ground hog on the farm.

The dog knows he is there, but takes it for granted that he is one of the family—part of the farm stock, as it were—and therefore he extends his distinguished patronage to the ground hog.

"Wouldn't that kill yeh?" exclaimed the rooster, in astonishment.

"No, he won't kill me," replied the ground hog, with a grin; "that fool dog thinks I am one of the family pets, and I'm right in clover."

And so he is.

There is nothing like putting a bold front on things. A great many successful men merely put up a cold bluff, and it went. A mighty thin piece of ice will carry you, but if you wait till it is a foot thick thousands will cross over with you.

That ground hog took big chances, but events have justified his nerve.

Unhappy Women!

No woman can be happy when her health is undermined. No woman can have good health while she suffers from female weakness, inflammation, ulceration or any disease of the delicate womanly organs. Nervous, sleepless, fretful, suffering in body and mind, she does not live but only exists.

More than a half a million such women have found a perfect and permanent cure for their diseased condition in the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Women cured by this remedy say it is a "wonderful medicine," so perfectly does it restore them to health and comeliness.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium, cocaine, nor any other harmful drug. It is in the strictest sense, an honest, temperance medicine. Its ingredients are purely vegetable, and it will agree with the most delicate constitution.

☞ Don't be hypnotised, or over persuaded, into accepting a substitute. This medicine has a record that's worth far more than any difference in price.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, either personally or by letter, absolutely without charge or fee, thus avoiding the unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments considered necessary by many local practitioners. All correspondence treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"FOR VARIOUS REASONS."

Sir Frederick Pollock's Verdict After Touring Canada.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—"I need not tell you that we have learned something in the course of our journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific," said Sir Frederick Pollock yesterday afternoon to a large gathering of the members of the Board of Trade.

"And one of the things which we have learned is that for various political reasons, which I need not now discuss, the time is not ripe for the formation of any new body to be styled an Imperial council, or to have any definite official character."

These were the words in which he summed up the results of the tour which he has made through Canada, with a view to ascertaining Canadian opinion on the proposal to form an Imperial council of the Empire.

Pains in the Chest

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had severe pains in my chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have been very serious if I had not used this medicine."

SANGUINARY RIOTS.

Import Tax on Argentine Cattle Responsible For Serious Disorders In Santiago, Chile.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, Oct. 25.—A despatch from Santiago, Chile, says that about 50 persons were killed and five hundred wounded during the rioting there. It was hoped that order would be restored yesterday.

Hundreds Under Arrest.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 25.—The disturbances here caused by the opposition of the people to the import tax on Argentine cattle continued all day Monday and did not cease until late at night, when a small detachment of troops arrived here and a few shots were fired. During the rioting almost everything which could be destroyed has been wrecked, including the city lamps, public seats, monuments and windows. Several hundred arrests have been made. The workmen declare they are not responsible for the rioting, which, they add, was organised by rowdies. The army manoeuvres have been suspended and the troops are expected back to their quarters here in a short time.

The officials of the street railways estimate the damage done to their property in the recent riots at about $250,000.

ONE MAN TO THREE LIONS.

British Officer Shot Two Dead, and a Third, Wounded Fatally, Savagely Attacked Him.

The Daily Graphic publishes the following: A correspondent at Nairobi, East Africa, writes:—During the latter part of August the little town of Nairobi was aglow with excitement at the marvellous escape of a British officer from a lion.

Capt. C. S. Stigand of the West Kent Regiment, and now seconded under the Foreign Office to the 1st Battalion of the King's African Rifles, had previously won fame as a "Chichari" in British Central Africa, where he shot many varieties of game.

On the transference of his native regiment to East Africa he decided to essay his skill at Simba, a lonely station on the Uganda Railway, and long famous for the vicinity of lions. Some two hundred yards from the station a water tank marks the spoor where the lions drink very frequently by night, and on this tank Capt. Stigand took up his post a few minutes after dusk, in the brilliant light of an African moon. The brief twilight ensued, and it was not long ere darkness had elapsed that a till many hours had passed since. Creeping lioness made her appearance. tank, the stealthily in rear of the by, brute made its way to a pool close and at this moment Capt. Stigand fired his first shot. The effort proved a successful one, for with a bound and a groan the beast dashed forward and fell shot through the heart, stretched at full length across the railway line. A short interval only had elapsed when a couple of lions emerged from the grass, evidently intent on their evening drink; but their progress was checked by seeing the lioness a few yards from them, and they at once proceeded to examine the body. One of them, evidently the mate, commenced scratching at the carcase, hoping the lioness was only asleep, and, meeting with no response, set up a dismal howl, which was quickly followed by a roar from the other.

For two hours Simba Station rang with the moaning and bellowing of these two fierce beasts, and during that time Capt. Stigand lay ready at the "present." At length they quitted the dead lioness and came slowly toward the tank. The leading lion had approached within fifteen yards when a well-directed shot caused him to bound in the midnight air. This was at once followed by a second ball, and spinning round in his agony he reached the long grass, where he lay a huddled brown mass. The other lion watched the scene without movement. In a trice the .256 Mannlicher was directed against him, and he was sent moaning into the cover, to be found lifeless in the early morning.

Seeing the beasts apparently dead, Capt. Stigand descended from the tank and walked towards the huddled brown mass. He was only a few feet off when the worst happened. The beast rose from the grass and sprang. With a mighty roar he leapt into the air and the whole surroundings seemed hidden by his massive frame. The sight was truly a terrific one. Every hair in its body stood out, and every vein swelled with fierce anger. A shot was quickly fired, but this only increased the ferocity of the attack, and then came a scene, the like of which has rarely been enacted. The lion seized the left arm of the hunter, and man and beast rolled over together. With his right arm free the gallant soldier caught his assailant by the throat and, fighting for his life, he struck the brute several times. Once again they rolled over, the lion, for the moment, on top, and then the man, and the fierce fight went on. At last there was an unexpected lull, for the lion, sick and wounded unto death, savagely shook his victim, and then, to Capt. Stigand's amazement, slunk off.

This encounter was not the first of Capt. Stigand's with wild beasts. Only a few months previously, while stationed in British Central Africa, he was fiercely attacked by a rhinoceros, which tossed him several feet into the air, having pierced his chest some inches. Leaving him for dead the "rhino" made off, fully satisfied with the damage he had done. This attack, curiously enough, was made without provocation.

Capt. Stigand lies in the Nairobi Hospital, where he is receiving unremitting attention, and where it is hoped he will recover from his terrible experience. All the three beasts were found dead at the break of dawn on the following day.

Toronto's Sham Battle.

Toronto, Oct. 27.—3,100 soldiers participated in the sham battle here on Thanksgiving Day, and the official report as given out by General Lake last night practically gives a victory to the attack. The men were six hours under arms. General Lake would give no official ruling, but was of the opinion that the attacking flank of the Queen's Own Rifles would have succeeded in turning the enemy's position.

BABY TODD'S CURE OF SORE EYES

Over Two Years of Awful Suffering—Eyes Stuck Together and Would Bleed When Washed Open in the Morning—Every Lash Fell Out.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"I feel it my duty to tell of two most wonderful cures of sore eyes by Cuticura Ointment. My little son had an attack of measles which left the eyes in a shockingly bad state. The lids became inflamed and sore and every lash fell out. For two years and ten months I tried many eye ointments and lotions, besides following every advice given me, but nothing seemed to do them any good. They would be stuck in the morning, and I had to bathe them in warm milk and water, which was a very trying duty, as the eyelids would always bleed, causing the child untold suffering.

"I had heard a lot about Cuticura Ointment, so I thought I would try it, and from the first application I have had cause to be thankful. Before I had used one box of Ointment the lashes showed signs of growing, and at the end of a few months he had a crop of lashes of which any person might be proud.

"I recommended Cuticura to a Mrs. Phillips for her child, who also had sore eyes, and her little one was cured with less than one box. I have advised dozens of people to use Cuticura Ointment, often stopping them in the street, as I did Mrs. Phillips, who was a total stranger to me. I have such implicit faith in it that I have written to relatives in England and Ireland telling them of its wonderful virtues.

"I am sending you this testimonial of my own free will, in the hope that others may be benefited as we have been. (signed) Mrs. C. Todd, Old South Head Road, Waverly, Sydney, N. S. W." Reference, Messrs. R. Towns & Co., Sydney.

JEREMIAH'S RAMPAGE

JOHN BURNS, M. P., NOW IN THIS COUNTRY, WRITES THINGS.

Race Suicide May Be Race Salvation—How the English Labor Member of Parliament Views a Vexed Question—A Plea for Quality Against Mere Bigness and Quantity — The Virtue of It All.

There is a shameless spirit of pessimism about everything just now. The Jeremiahs have been on the rampage; the dismal and the doleful wouldbe experts have all been regarding other people as melancholy and things as decadent as themselves. With them everything is wrong, from latitude and longitude to the Government. Not content with their universal wailing at the decay of home life, of mere man, and all conquering woman, they have started a crusade against the babies, actual, potential, and to come. Now babies are what their mothers make them. A man's reformation must begin with his grandmother.

The current standards of judgment of men—territory and birth rates—are wrong. Megalomania is a disease. Now else is everything; numbers are supreme test. This is nonsense. Bigness is not greatness; numbers are not quality, mere avoirdupois not strength—look at Russia. If so the Japanese, the Goorkhas, and other small but virile people are doomed, and in the megalemaniac's balance are tried and found wanting.

Personally, I am not, under all circumstances, for a desolating flood of babies. The number of a family is to me less than their quality. What is more, some regard should be paid to the mother, who too often pays needlessly for the price of excessive maternity, either by her enfeeblement or by her death. On the other hand, every healthy, marriageable woman ought to marry. Better a baby in her arms than a dog in her lap, bottles in her boudoir and vain regrets in her lonely childless life. Every married woman ought to have some children; but I disagree entirely that she ought to rear indiscriminately and without regard to fitness, means, home, and environment, all the children that, apart from choice, disposition, and sustainable capacity, she is capable of being maternally responsible for. I knew an instance of a man whose wife bore to him nine children in ten years. The mother died with the arrival of the ninth. He was a brute; she was his victim.

On the other hand, there are too many women here, and it is the same, or worse, in other countries, to whom sacred, enviable, necessary maternity is a burden, a social handicap, a domestic inconvenience. Poor, silly, foolish creatures! As the years go inevitably they will find, to their loss, cost, ill health, unhappiness, and shame, that they who never gathered, never garnered, never will enjoy.

There is no human joy on earth equal to the maternal instinct, duly satisfied, properly enjoyed. I never realise how much man has lost in perfect happiness than when I see, enjoy, and frankly envy the all absorbing ecstasy of a happy mother fondling a healthy child. And this joy to the individual, this duty to the race, this profitable investment for a healthy, middle, and happy feminine old age, is thrown away for the transient caprice of fashion, the dead sea fruit of society, and to preserve for a few fleeting months the mold of human form, the artificial symmetry of waist, and be the cynosure of silly eyes.

But we must be careful in generalising about the birth rate. We cannot dogmatise about the number there should be in a family—that is governed by the individual case of mother. And we cannot determine the number of children a woman should rear—that is governed by many things, mostly impersonal. The cheerful thing to note is that the marriage rate is either steady or slightly rising; and where it occasionally falls it is often due to economic and commercial, rather than social or personal reasons. The illegitimate births show a substantial decline, and there is a serious increase of births over deaths; and the fact is, a falling birth rate often indicates a rising increase of population. I believe that the small reduction in birth rate had been exaggerated, attributed often to wrong causes, is not the evil "large family" advocates assert, is, under certain circumstances, as beneficial to individuals as it is prudent for nations. The decline is a consequence inseparable from the townward drift of the populations of the world. I am afraid it cannot be resisted.

The causes for this reduction are numerous and difficult to define. The disproportionate growth of pleasure, properly disciplined, in itself is not bad. The economic emancipation of woman, her entrance into work previously done by men, mistaken views about matrimony, that wiser education will correct; in many cases young women do not marry because they have their parents to maintain. In these cases it is a social misfortune, as the great quality there displayed would, if diverted to maternity and motherhood, be a great gain to all children and the community. But it is foolish to blame these good women for a really generous act.

The neurotic tendency of some women, the pernicious habit of drinking, among others, the housing, and other restrictions inseparable from congested urban life, all these are contributory causes. The general raising of the standard of comfort is partly responsible, as "a rich man for luck and a poor man for children" expresses a social fact as well as a physiological law.

It is not an accident, nor due to personal regulation, that a wealthy London district should have an infantile mortality of 80 to 100 per 1,000, and its poor district ranging from 274 to 400 per 1,000 per annum; and that a similar difference in the same districts at the end of life at the same ages should prevail between rich and poor.

I believe that as the poor in that district socially improve and approximate towards their wealthy fellows, its infantile mortality will decrease, its age mortality lengthen; but its birth rate will correspondingly diminish; and I believe the three conditions go hand in hand and are good.

The reduction in the birth rate concerns me less than the salvation of the babies that arrive. The regrettable and criminal infant mortality after the lowering birth rate has been achieved must be stopped. It is a cruel, wasteful, and deplorable condition that is responsible for poor people marrying more than the rich, rearing up to a certain age double the children, and then, after the risk and burden of maternity has been incurred, having to lose from two to four times the number of their offspring up to the age of 5, as compared with their richer neighbors.

Celibacy is the crime, not the lower birth rate of a healthier, stronger, wiser, yet smaller family.

Marriage is the virtue, not the greatest progeny.

The punishment for celibacy is exhaustion, and worse in the man. The penalty to the woman for loss of maternity is loss of health, a diminished fund of dutiful enjoyment, a limitation of that inherent power to sacrifice that maternity gives, but also takes, and, in taking perpetuates the race, ennobles the mother, and exalts her to the highest pinnacle of social admiration.

To the bachelors, my charitable pity.

To the spinsters, my commiseration and regrets.

To the glorious mothers of not over large families, my compliments, respects, and everlasting homage.

It is not clear to us why Mr. Loring places "mouth" in this list. It seems to us to rhyme with "south."

THE BREECHES BIBLE.

Some Curiosities Found in the Famous Geneva Bible Which Bibliomaniacs Handle Reverently.

One of the books which a bibliomaniac handles reverently is the famous Geneva Bible, better known as the "Breeches Bible." This name is due to the rendering of Genesis iii., 7, where Adam and Eve are said to have "sewed fig tree leaves together and made themselves breeches."

This had been the reading of the first English Bible, Wycliffe's version, but later translators had substituted the word "apron" for breeches," and the Geneva Bible reverted to the original. The fact that only one edition of the Geneva version contained this sentence makes the limited number more precious to the book gatherer. The title page of this edition announces that it was "Imprinted at London by the Deputies of the Queene's Most Excellent Majestie" in 1599. The first edition appeared in 1560, and for sixty years this was the favorite Bible with the people, who reluctantly laid it aside for the authorised version of 1611. While it was more a revision of Tyndale's version than a direct translation of original manuscripts, it represented the work of the best years of the banishment of the Reformers who fled to Geneva during the dark reign of Mary. That Her "Most Excellent Majestie" Elizabeth accepted its dedication was a significant omen for the future of the Bible. It was of even greater importance than the scene which occurred three months previous on her royal entrance into London. The glittering procession had stopped at the "Little Conduit in Chepe" for a ceremony such as the people loved. An old man in emblematic dress stepped before the Queen, and she was told that he was Time. "Time," she said, "and Time it was that brought me hither." A white robed maiden at his side was introduced as "Truth, the daughter of Time." In her hand was an English Bible, on which was written "Verbum veritasis." This she presented to the Queen, who took it with both hands, raised it to her lips, and, laying it next her heart, thanked the city for its precious gift.

The Geneva Bible is not noted for its odd bit of translation alone. It was the first Bible in which the old style black letter gave way to the present Roman type. It was the first to divide the chapters into paragraphs, and the first to omit the Apocrypha, or books of doubtful authenticity appended to the Old Testament. It omits the name of St. Paul from the Epistle to the Hebrews, and uses italics for all words not occurring in the original.

The copious marginal notes are especially interesting as giving the authors' opinions on many temporal matters. Indeed, the tone of these notes was to a great extent the cause of the book being replaced by the authorized version, made under the direction of King James. For instance, in the passage where the Hebrew midwives "did not as the King of Egypt commanded but save the men children alive," the marginal note declares: "Their disobedience to the King was lawful, though their dissembling was evil." "It is false," said King James; "to disobey a king is not lawful. Such traitorous conceits should not go forth among the people."

At a conference of bishops and clergy, in 1604, the question of a new version was discussed. The idea was favored by the King, who was something of a scholar and felt that a translation made under his auspicese would redound to his glory. Then, too, there was his avowed dislike of the Geneva Bible. Whether or not his motives were all admirable, his method of carrying out the project was full of merit. The best scholars of the day, of all casts of thought, were enlisted, and all former English translations were used in connection with the original manuscripts. The result was a version that was accepted unquestioningly until the carefully revised version of 1885.

A LAUDABLE EXAMPLE.

Old English Nobility Formulate Rule Against Taking "Tips."

There are a few of the old nobility of England who set a laudable example by prohibiting their servants accepting gratuities from visitors or guests. The Duke of Devonshire, for instance, makes it an inflexible rule that no servant of his shall take a "tip." When, however, a party of Americans visited Chatsworth, the duke's Derbyshire seat, recently and were entertained to luncheon and shown over the beautiful grounds by the duke's steward, the leaders of the party thought the usual "shell out" must be the climax to the day's enjoyment.

The party consisted of four men and three women and among them $25 was subscribed. With commendable discretion the money was not offered to the steward, who, of course, is above accepting recognition of the kind, but to an underfootman, who saw the party to and from the railway station. But the footman pointed out that it was against the rules of the duke's establishment to accept gratuities "in money." That seemed to suggest a way of getting around the rule. The next day various articles of jewelry reached the steward from London with the request that they be distributed among the staff at his discretion. The leaders of the party were Edmund H. Abbot of New York and Alexander Cattanach of Salem, Mass., and both had introductions from Sir Thomas Lipton. The duke and duchess were not in residence at Chatsworth at the time of the visit, but the latter sent one of her maids specially up from London to look after the ladies. The beauties of Matlock, Buxton, and Bakewell were fully explored before they returned to town.

Some British-Made Jokes.

"The Earthly Paradise."—"What reason did he give for wising to break off the engagement so soon?" "He said the report that he was engaged to me had not extended his credit nearly as much as he had hoped for."—Punch.

After His Rejection.—He: Well, I suppose I have made a fool of myself. She: That remark greatly embarrasses me. He: Indeed; How so? She: Because it would be equally impolite to agree with you or to contradict you.—Judy.

Trifling Injuries—Football Player (feebly): Did we win? Sympathizing Comrade: We did, old fellow. Football Player (excitedly): Never mind that dislocated thigh, doctor. Take these broken teeth out of my mouth so that I can holler.—Pick-Me-Up.

"The Japs are a most repulsive people," as Kuropatkin remarked when they kept on driving him back.—Punch.

He: Do you remember your old school friend, Sophie Smytho? She: Yes, indeed I do. A most absurd-looking thing. So silly, too! What became of her? He: Oh, nothing. Only—I married her.—Illustrated Bits.

Bridge Below Stairs.—"Good gracious, James, whatever is the meaning of this extraordinary hilarity in the kitchen?" "Cook's just revoked for the third time, marm!"—Punch.

Cruel.—"I refused him because I want a husband who has known sorrow and acquired wisdom!" "But, my dear, if you had accepted him he would soon have met your requirements."—Sketchy Bits.

A Matter of Taste.—Gladys: Gus, dear, I wish you would try a different hair restorer; your moustache tastes like paraffin.—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday.

Not Guilty of Murder.

Stratford, Oct. 27.—Wednesday afternoon Magistrate Olean dismissed the charge against Nellie Recknor of murdering her infant, and a similar charge against her mother, Mrs. Ellen Recknor. He committed the latter for trial on a charge of concealment of birth. He took the view that the death of the infant was accidental.

Mr. Carnegie and Golf.

On one occasion Mr Andrew Carnegie consulted an Edinburgh bailiie as to whether he should go in for a golf course at Skibo. "Yes, by all means have the golf course," advised the bailiie; "and go in for the game yourself: it will add ten years to your life." "Indeed," replied Mr. Carnegie, "that would be worth while; if you will guarantee that it will really add ten years to my life I'll make you a present of two millions!" "Well," replied the bailiie, after some consideration, "I canna do that, but I'll tell you what, I'll play you for the two millions."—From M. A. P.

TIPPED WRONG MEN.

Three Stories of Nobles Receiving Monetary Recognition For Service.

Visitors at an English country house are allowed to do whatever they like during the forenoon. An eminent geologist, who was entertained at one of these houses, asked for coffee early one morning, and started out with a suit of old clothes and a bag of tools to make a special study of the rock ledges of the estate.

During the forenoon one of the country gentry came upon him by the roadside, and, supposing him to be a workman, entered into conversation with him. The geologist was seated on a ledge of rock, and was making vigorous use of a mallet and chisel.

The stranger talked with him in a patronizing way, and while not receiving an intelligible account of the work on which he was engaged, was impressed with the supposed workman's intelligence and good manners. Indeed, he fumbled in his pocket and brought out a half crown, which he tossed to the man with the mallet. The geologist seemed surprised, but picked it up and put it in his pocket after thanking the gentleman.

There was a dinner party at the country house in the evening, and the same gentleman was introduced to the eminent geologist, who at once began to laugh.

"I have the half crown," he said at once, "and I shall not give it up. It is the first tip I ever received, and I shall show it to my friends as a trophy of superior intelligence."

Lord James once had a similar experience. He was strolling through the Temple Gardens in London when a party of tourists encountered him, and asked to be directed to some of the most interesting places.

He volunteered to show them about, and took them first to the Temple Church and Goldsmith's grave, and finally to the famous Elizabethan hall of the Middle Temple. His explanations were lucid and interesting, and when he parted from his new acquaintances one of them gave him a shilling, and remarked that few guides were equally intelligent. The nobleman took the shilling demurely, and thanked the stranger. He is said to have kept it to this day, and to have frequently told the story of his experience with the innocent tourists in the Temple Gardens.

Another story is related of an English duke who was standing at the door of his house when a carriage rolled up. A near-sighted gentleman alighted, asked if it were the duke's residence, and on receiving a respectful nod from the supposed servant, gave him a shilling.

The duke, perceiving that he had been mistaken for a footman, kept the shilling, raised his hand to his forehead, and made the usual salute. The near-sighted gentleman went into the house, and in due time was presented to the duke, and never had a suspicion that he had tipped one of the highest members of the British aristocracy at his own door.

The duke could hardly have offered a more striking proof that he was a gentleman by instinct as well as by birth than by pocketing the unintentional affront to his dignity.

Pigeon Records.

Homing pigeons are the craze in England just now, and on one recent Saturday between 200,000 and 300,000 birds were released in various competitions. A number of these were raced to London from Retford and Branston. The distances are 127 and 113 miles, respectively, but no birds of the several thousand released made the trip in the traditional mile a minute, although every circumstance of wind and weather was favorable to record breaking.

Much better time was made in a contest from Templecombe to London, in which one bird made the 108 miles in ninety-four minutes, an average of sixty-nine miles an hour, and more than one hundred exceeded a speed of sixty miles an hour.

One of the oldest homers is a bird which makes its home around the railway station at Liege, in Belgium. There is a train from Liege to Waremme which starts every morning at 10 o'clock. As soon as the train pulls into the station the bird commences to circle in the air, and as soon as headway is gained follows the train to its destination, returning immediately home, where it flies about the station for the rest of the day. It pays no attention to any other of the trains and no one is able to offer an explanation as to why this particular train should be favored.

A Menagerie Menu.

Catering to animals requires both a plentiful and varied supply of foods, as can be seen from this report of material used at the London Zoological Gardens last year. For the flesh-eating animals there were supplied 144 tons of horse-flesh, nearly nine tons of goat-flesh, and 9,520 chicken heads. Fourteen and a half tons of fish, in addition to 1,260 pints of shrimps, furnished the waterfowl with their daily fare, while 297 loads of hay and 6,000 bunches of greens supplied the ruminants. Other items on the list were 272 pounds of grapes, 498 pounds of sugar, 6,252 loaves of bread, 5,024 quarts of milk, 302 pounds of crackers, and more than 13,000 eggs. The chicken heads were for the members of the rat family, the eggs for the birds, and the shrimps formed the easiest way to the affections of the flamingoes.

Merchants Rubbers

QUALITY IN RUBBER GUM

Good gum is requisite to make the highest grade of Rubber Footwear.

There are many grades of gum from which Rubbers are made—some is obtained from stocky plants in tropical zones; more of it from small trees in warm countries, but the best comes only from the great Para forests in Brazil.

Gum from plants and vines makes soft, spongy rubber, sensitive to weather conditions, lacks wearing quality. Para gum has body, life, solidity, combined with perfect elasticity.

Merchants Rubbers are made from Para gum that's why they are better than ordinary Rubbers.

If your Shoeman doesn't sell them let us know.

10 OFF DRESS GOODS

and Dress Material

Here's some of the Good Luck that comes to shoppers from a backward season. During the month of November we have decided to allow 10 per cent. off on all purchases of Dress Goods and Dress Material intended to be made up in our Dress-Making Department.

If the weather conditions had been different, we would not think of making this offer. As it is, we imported an unusually extensive stock of Dress Goods for early Fall wear, but the remarkably mild weather of the past six weeks has delayed the volume of buying of heavy Dress stuffs. The result is that our stock is heavier than we care to carry at this late date.

Just as the weather is becoming colder, we hold out the above extra inducement and feel sure of a business that will double the sales of November.

We have increased our dressmaking staff and strengthened our selling capacity---commensurate with our growth in trade.

Demise Of Old Resident Yesterday

Mrs. Matthew Bird Passed Away at Her Residence, Aged Eighty-two Years.

A Resident of Peterborough for Over Sixty Years—Death Occurred of Senility.

Last night at 8 o'clock the death occurred at her late residence, corner of Lake and Crescent streets, of one of Peterborough's oldest residents, in the person of Susan Nellis, relict of the late Matthew Bird. Death resulted from senility, the deceased having been ill for about one year, though not critically so till about two days ago.

The late Mrs. Bird, who was eighty-two years of age, had been a resident of Peterborough for over sixty years, and she will be remembered by all the older residents of the town. Born in Tyrone County, Ireland, Mrs. Bird removed with her parents at the age of sixty-one to Port Hope, where she was married one year later. With her husband she then removed to Ashburnham, residing on Lake street for about seventeen years, after which she took up residence at her late home, corner Lake and Crescent streets, where she had resided ever since, a period of over forty-four years.

The property adjacent to the home of the late Mrs. Bird in the southern portion of the city has, of course, undergone many changes since her removal there, at which time there were but two houses south of the present C. P. R. tracks. Crescent street was but a narrow lane running through a section of partially cleared Crown lands. The city was scarcely larger than village proportions at the time of her arrival, and was composed almost entirely of wooden houses.

Her husband, Matthew Bird, predeceased her by about twenty-nine years. Surviving members of the family are three daughters and two sons, viz.: James, Mrs. Wm. Hoenan, and Mrs. John Corcoran, of this city, and Michael and Maggie, of Toronto. A grandson, Bernard Heenan, also resides in Peterborough. James Nellis, a brother of the deceased, was killed in the battle of Fredericksburg, in the American Civil War, and another passed away some years ago in Ops Township. A sister, Bridget, resides in South Dakota.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Requiem Mass will be sung at St. Peter's Cathedral, after which interment will take place in St. Peter's cemetery.

An Interesting Literary Event

Mr. Hampden Burnham gave his lecture on "Indian Women of America," in Toronto early this month, and the Globe speaking of it says that it was "delightfully interesting and poetic." It will be given tomorrow night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, under the auspices of the Women's Art Association of this city. This association is to be congratulated upon securing the lecture for a Peterborough audience and doubtless there will be a large number of persons who will be anxious to hear it.

Gas From "Dutch Oven" WAS THE CAUSE OF Ambrose Sullivan's Death

Former Peterborough Man Suffocated Near Regina--Six Others Are Seriously Ill as a Result of Faulty Oven--A Distressingly Sad Circumstance --Deceased Young Man Was Well Known in This City--His Home Was in Emily.

The death of T. A. Sullivan and the partial suffocation of six of his companion, was caused by the escape of gas from a "Dutch oven," at the farm of Andrew Wolbaum, near Sedley, on Friday.

The deceased was a member of the threshing gang of A. P. Fergusson. The gang was threshing at the farm of Wolbaum, and seven men were sleeping in the room where the oven was built. The house, which is a mud structure, has the oven built into the wall, the only ventilation being through the chimney and door. The stove was filled up with the customary fuel, dried manure. Sarah Wolbaum, a member of the household, closed off the draft in the chimney, thus turning all the gas into the room instead out of the pipes. The result was that about ten o'clock, one of the men felt drowsy. He, however, was able to discern the heavy breathing and groaning of Sullivan, and suggested that he should get up and walk around a bit. Sullivan paid no attention, and the man who first woke, arose to light a lamp. As he rose to his feet he was overcome with the gas and fell. A second man attempted to rise to open the door, but he also fell, only partially succeeding in his object. The opening of the door, however, relieved to some extent the atmosphere, and one of the men arose. He threw cold water over his companions and lighted the lamp. All were now aroused but Sullivan, who, upon examination, was found to be dead.

The Mounted Police were notified, and Coroner Seymour summoned from Regina. A jury, composed of Henry Sems, foreman, Alsay Jacobs, Jno. Bates, Edward Helsa, O. C. Hesla and W. A. Scott, was summoned, and an inquest was held. The jury found the cause of death to be as stated above, and added the following rider to their verdict:

"While we do not wish to attach any suggestion of criminal intent to her (Sarah Wolbaum's) action in this matter of preventing the escape of gas from the Dutch oven, we think the public should be warned of the danger which exists in the use of this kind of stoves, without proper provision for ventilation."

The deceased man came from Frankhill, Emily, Ont., where his relatives reside. It is thought, however, that he has a brother in Moose Jaw, and Wright Bros. have opened communication with a view to finding out.

Pending instructions the body was brought to Regina on Sunday afternoon and will be prepared for burial.

The six other occupants of the room are progressing well towards recovery, but their escape from death is almost miraculous. Mr. Wolbaum, who is a Russian, states that he has known several deaths to have been caused by the use of such ovens in his native land.—Regina Standard.

The late Ambrose Sullivan was very popular in Peterborough, where he attended the Collegiate Institute and held a first class teachers certificate from that institution. Great regret for the bereaved family is being universally expressed at the loss of so clever and honourable a member. As stated in the Examiner of Wednesday the remains were brought east for interment.

The funeral cortege, which was the largest that ever passed through Ennismore, over one hundred and fifty vehicles being in the procession, left the family residence at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and proceeded to St. Martin's Church, and after requiem high mass had been celebrated by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, parish priest, the remains were interred in the St. Martin's cemetery. That the deceased was very popular during his lifetime is shown by the large attendance at the funeral. The pallbearers were: John J. Sullivan, Dennis Sullivan, Geo. Sullivan, John Sullivan, Patrick and John Hickey.

Citizens Had Better Lock Their Doors

Let the citizens lock their doors extra tightly these nights. Put your money away tightly in the best hiding place you have.

For the rumour goes that 3,000 tramps, vagabonds, pickpockets, and so forth, are making their way west from the north-eastern states, and probably not a few will pass through this city.

No one need be afraid for his on her person, however, for the army of vagabonds are not the kind that fight.

They only steal when you are not looking.

Here is the effect of intelligence from New York and other cities:—

Three thousand low class thieves are headed this way from New York city, where they have been driven out by the police.

Notices have been sent to all cities in the west to look out for an influx of these thieves. The police warn people to look out for suspicious characters and petty thievery.

All trains into this city from the east are being watched by police officers and suspicious looking characters will be instantly clapped into jail if they cannot give a satisfactory account of themselves or agree to get out of town. No arrests have as yet been made.

Of course, this latest Coxey's army will travel in widely scattered branches.

Will Not Stand For Destruction of Property

Chief Roszel issues a warning to boys and young men that the department of justice of this city will not stand for any destruction of property to-morrow night. He does not mind a little innocent fun but any one found destroying property will be dealt with to the limit of the law. He wishes to give fair warning on this matter so that there will be no excuse.

Resolution Will Be Voted On To-night

To-night in the city clerk's office the adjourned meeting of the joint committee to consider the question of fire protection will be held, when the resolution introduced by Mr. T. F. Matthews as a notice of motion at the meeting last week will be voted on. The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved,—That this joint committee recommend the expenditure of $25,000 in order to provide better fire protection appliances, such as:

"1—New fire hall.

"2—New steam fire engine.

"3—New chemical engine.

"4—New ladders and additional hose.

"5—A new fire alarm system, believing that improvements are absolutely necessary, taking into consideration the risks in, and the size of, the city; and that a by-law be submitted at the time of the next municipal elections for the above amount, and the committee pledges itself to support the council in their endeavours to carry the by-law."

At the meeting to-night it is expected also that the question of the purchase of a fire engine will be more fully discussed, in view of the probability of the presence of the president of the Canadian Fire Engine Company, of London, who will be here to urge the purchase of his steamer.

Rumour of a Business Sensation

It is understood that some rather startling developments in the business world in this city will be brought to light in the course of a few days. The Examiner is not at liberty at the present time to give the details of what will doubtless prove to be a sensation in reference to the hardware trade of the city, but it is expected that this week will see its publication.

Sunlight Soap is better than other soaps, but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Buy Sunlight Soap and follow directions.

Steam Tug "Lakefield" Was Burned

Formerly "Alert," of Lakefield, Destroyed Yesterday.

Was Owned by Messrs. Morin & Grey —Origin of Fire a Mystery.

Special to The Examiner.

Lakefield, Oct. 30.—Yesterday word was received here of the destruction by fire at Deer Lake of the steam tug Lakefield, owned by Messrs. Morin and Grey, of this village.

No particulars as to the origin of the fire, nor whether the boat was totally destroyed, have yet been received. She was engaged in towing operations in the north country, and has had a very successful season's work.

This boat was formerly the steamer Alert, which was burned at the wharf here last year. She was 85 feet long and was one of the best tugs on the inland waters. Nothing is known as to whether she will be rebuilt or not, but it is probable that unless she has been totally destroyed the hull will be built on again.

Cavanagh House Visited By Thieves

Despicable Operations of a Gang of Unknown Marauders.

Garments Stolen From Lines at the Rear of the House, and Windows Broken.

As reported in Friday's Examiner, some unknown sneak thief or thieves had upon the previous evening been operating at the Cavanagh House.

These depredations have, it appears, been followed by others of an equally contemptible character, including the breaking of windows, which, it is thought, was done by a catapult, probably from a considerable distance. Annoyances of this nature have been frequent of late, and are undoubtedly the result of the work of some maliciously disposed vandal.

A portion of the clothes stolen from the line at the rear of the house were recovered in the creek, the remainder having completely disappeared.

No clue to the personality of the perpetrators has as yet been discovered, but prompt prosecution will be the result if they are identified.

THE LOCAL TRAFFIC

IMPORTANT FEATURE OF THE TRENT CANAL

Utility of Waterway to Shippers Along Its Banks—Tapping the Oat Lands—Peterborough Finds the Canal an Important Feeder—Market Boats Used for Grain and Farm Produce--Large Quantities of Cordwood Shipped--As a Cheap Route for Coal Trade Outlet Desired to the South.

The Toronto Globe sent a special writer to Peterborough to prepare an article on the Trent Canal, and the following despatch tells his story:—

Peterborough, Oct. 27.—The Trent Valley Canal has so long been looked upon as a political channel of influence that there is still a lingering doubt as to whether the surveys now completed mean anything more than an extended horizon. Estimates are being made up for the cost of the routes surveyed for the north end of the canal to Georgian Bay, one by way of the Severn River, and the other direct across the country some twelve miles from Orillia. These calculations will be submitted to Parliament at the next session. Three different engineering corps have been have been at work on the south end, and will be able this winter to submit the cost of routes by way of Port Hope, Cobourg, and Trenton.

The canal so-called is open at present from Healey's Falls to Kirkfield, a total of 170 miles. Next summer, as soon as the lift lock at Kirkfield is finished, the canal will be open to Orillia and Barrie.

"It should never have been called a canal," said a gentleman officially connected with the work to your correspondent. "These locks are merely connecting links in a chain of lakes. The hardest part to build, Lakefield to Peterborough, is now finished. There are forty miles on the Trent River from Hastings to Peterborough without a lock, and one lock below Hastings takes traffic to Healey's Falls. The total length of the route unnavigable is 32.03 miles, and there is not above twenty miles of artificial channel in this distance to be finished. Nineteen miles of the thirty-two are on the south terminus, and thirteen on the north. The present expenditure is almost useless. It is like building a house and stopping before the roof is on. The present expense is great, and does not permit a quarter of one per cent. return."

This was approaching the crucial point of the canal situation. If a railway is not supported by its local traffic its long hauls are not enough to depend upon. The same principle is true of a canal. Should there not be sufficient local traffic to justify the existence of the canal arising from the exchange of products from its banks for manufactured or other merchandise the argument upon its value as a grain route from the northwest loses much of its force. At the same time the incomplete state of the canal restricts the local traffic to such narrow limits that allowance must be made in considering what the traffic would be worth having access to Lake Ontario.

Coal Barges in Demand.

There is no doubt that the coal traffic is the attractive feature in connection with the canal to all who come within range of its possible deliveries. At every point touched the A yearning for black diamonds was temperamental and climatic. At Peterborough the coal rate by both railways is $1.25 a ton, and coal is ten cents a ton dearer at Niagara than at Oswego or Fairhaven. From either of these ports the freight by water to Peterborough would be 75 cents. On this difference of 60 cents a ton Peterborough manufacturers are prepared to found a new era of civic prosperity, and kindred sentiment prevails from Rice Lake to Kirkfield, and from the limits of Scugog even unto Bobcaygeon.

In the absence of coal wood is a consideration, but at $7 a cord is considered too dear in Peterborough. There is, nevertheless, a large traffic in cordwood by the canal. The lumbermen have also taken to rafting timber through the locks instead of running the river. One of the big lumber firms here has brought down eighteen rafts, and another twelve or fourteen lately. On Tuesday last three rafts came down in this way. The cordwood comes chiefly from the northern lakes, where it is too remote from rail facilities, even were rates favourable, which they are not.

The cereal factories here make use of the canal, and would use it more freely if it gave access to anywhere. Freight rates, the president of the Board of Trade declared, had prevented the settlement of several new factories, and the existing ones feel the yoke. One of them has under discussion whether to grind grain in Peterborough, or in Hamburg in Germany. If the canal accommodation prove sufficient, oats would be brought in quantity, and the quality of this grain to the north of Peterborough is said to be superb. The farmers in many cases now team their oats twenty-five and thirty miles, and are glad to use the canal boats, by which they reach the market more cheaply than by team-hauling. A boat a day, laden with peas, wheat and oats, has come from the south from Rice Lake during the present season.

Building Barges For Oats.

Two years ago the output of Peterborough factories was calculated at $2,000,000. The American Cereal Company, it is stated, have this year brought four million bushels of oats and two million bushels of wheat here. They are now dredging basins for their own barges, which it is the intention to use while the canal is open, and load during winter with flour and cereals to be shipped out in the spring. The Peterborough Cereal Company have similar plans, in all of which the canal plays an important part.

The opening of the canal northwards would be a great advantage to the heavy machinery manufacturers, like the Canadian General Electric and the William Hamilton Manufacturing Companies, which are large shippers to the Northwest.

A fine grazing district to the north supplies cattle, which occasionally come through the canal, but most of this trade is for Toronto, to which the canal does not at present lead. From Hastings to Rice Lake the farmers use the boats for the weekly market traffic on Saturdays, and cordwood and dogs are brought in. This is a great hog district, and dairying is extensive. A big pork farm there gets hogs from the Northumberland district by the canal. It is said that stock loses less weight on the boats than on the cars.

During the summer the passenger excursions furnish a considerable item of the canal traffic. The 'City of Peterborough' carries 450 to 500 passengers and does a steady business.

The moribund beet factory was projected on an anticipated supply of beets from canal resources, and the incompleteness of the canal is held to be one of the occasions of the non-success of the sugar company. It is still hoped that the waterway may contribute to the establishment of the factory.

Through the Lift Lock.

The lockages over the lift lock this season were about 900, mostly passenger boat having gone through. The chief items of freight were cordwood, timber, grain and logs.

Another consideration that appeals to Peterborough people is the supply of water power through the canal channels.

"The back lakes form a great reservoir to hold water through the season," said a gentleman interested in the subject. "We have a steady control over the river at Peterborough, and this steady flow supplies the cheapest power in Canada today. Most of the factories here are paying $15 a horse power. There is power also at Healey's Falls and Burleigh. But the canal," he concluded, enthusiastically, "is far more a national than a local affair. Opening it through would mean a cent a bushel on wheat for every farmer in the Northwest."

Leon Lischinsky Passes as Count; A Boy Impostor

Passed as a Russian Railroad Magnate.

Working for $10 a Week, He Hoodwinked Society in St. Louis.

Just what designation "Count" Judah Leon Leschinsky best deserved can properly be left to the reader, but there is an anecdote bearing on it:

The "Count," who says he belongs to the Russian nobility and that he has millions to spend on locomotives and railroad equipment in this country, had just closed his first contract with a firm in the financial district of this city. Having an hour to spare in the middle of the day, the Count said to the manager of the firm:

"Suppose you come out to lunch with me."

The manager assented, and the two set forth.

"We ought to go to a fashionable place," said the Count.

"Well, ——'s is fashionable enough for me," answered the manager, naming a well-known down-town restaurant.

They went to ——'s and ordered a meal that cost something over four dollars. When paying time came the Count seemed to be making no effort to pay. In fact, he acted as though he had no money. So the manager politely paid the bill.

Considering the fact that he is only a high school boy who has lived nearly all his life in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, and has no more pretensions to royalty than "Chuck" Connors, Judah Leon Leschinsky probably takes the cake for monumental gall. He first started the "Count" game in St. Louis last year, where he had been employed for a short time as a Jefferson guard at the Fair. He found the game so entertaining that he married on the strength of it. Then he brought the game to New York and surprised his humble parents by blossoming out as a nobleman.

Posed as Railroad Magnate.

A letter from his uncle in Russia gave him a chance to expand on the story. His uncle wanted to know whether he could buy certain railroad equipment in America. Judah Leon made a trip to Europe, and when he came back on October 7 of this year he had become a full-fledged railroad president with hundreds of millions of dollars up his sleeve. He gave it out that he was the president of the Michael Leon Leschinsky Company, which was building 3,000 miles of railroad for the Russian Government, and that he was empowered to buy 500 locomotives and endless equipment. Incidentally The World printed an article remarking on the "Count's" tender years and his great claims. He gave his age variously as seventeen and twenty-three. His parents say that he is about twenty.

A reporter for The World called on the Russian Consul-General, Mr. Lodygensky, last week to inquire about the "Count." Mr. Lodygensky is a round, volatile gentleman, and looks somewhat like Victor Hugo. When the reporter asked him about the Williamsburg "Count," he jumped to his feet, opened his eyes wide with a scoffing brightness (and cried:

"There's no such person! He's an impostor! Absurd, Absurd!"

Then the Consul sat down and added in explanation:

"I know the names of all the nobility in Russia and there is no Count Leschinsky. Besides, when a member of the nobility comes to this country he first presents his passports and credentials at this office. And when anybody comes over to transact any important business he usually does the same thing."

To make doubly sure (having heard it from Judah Leon's own lips several times that he was a two-ply "Count," Russian and Polish) the reporter called on the "Count's" parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Leschinsky.

Denies His Parents.

Mr. Leschinsky has been successively a jeweller, a sewing machine agent and a real estate agent. He and his wife, and their family of five children, of whom Judah Leon is the eldest, have lived at No. 17 Moore street, Brooklyn, for nearly eighteen years.

"You are no 'Count'," they told Judah.

Judah Leon got around this perplexing difficulty simply by disowning his parents.

"You are not my parents. You don't know!" the "Count" told them.

"Has your son lived much of his life in Russia?" the reporter asked of the Leschinskys.

"No; he was born here, in Rostow Don, about twenty years ago, and we brought him over to this country when he was three years of age. We have lived in this one neighbourhood all these years, and there are half a dozen people here who remember when he was born.

"He lived with us until last summer. Then his mother gave him some money and sent him off to the World's Fair, at St. Louis, with a note to President Francis from Senator McCarren. In St. Louis he met a girl from Kansas City and married her. When he brought her to New York and set up housekeeping at No. 163 South Ninth street, Williamsburg, they used to come over and see us once in a while. His wife used to kiss us and call us father and mother. Then some months ago they stopped coming."

Wealthy Uncle in Russia.

"Is there a Michael Leon Leschinsky Company?"

"Yes; I believe so. I have a brother of that name in Russia, and he is actually a railroad contractor and is in partnership with another man who is a millionaire. Several months ago I received a letter from Michael asking what supplies he could buy profitably in the United States. I didn't have time to attend to the matter so I turned the letter over to Judah. Two months ago Judah sailed for Europe, and met his uncle in Berlin, where they fixed up some sort of a dicker."

"Has he travelled all over the world and made dozens of business trips to Russia, as he claims?"

"I don't believe that he got beyond Berlin, or has visited Russia since he was a baby. The trip to St. Louis and the one to Berlin are the only times that he has been away from home. He was going to school until last year, and we paid the money to have him have two and a half years in Erasmus High School."

"How does he earn his living?"

"By dealing in real estate."

Amusing stories are told of the Count's career in St. Louis. He rode in automobiles and went to society affairs on the strength of his nerve, and finally, after his pretensions to nobility had become pretty well known, he married Miss May Feist, of No. 4128 Troost avenue, who was visiting with her grandmother, a wealthy woman of St. Louis.

Called Him "No Account."

Judah Leon and his bride went to live with Miss Feist's relatives for the first three months after they were married. The Count seemed to have little money and Mrs. Tress Myers, an aunt of the "Countess," easily guessed that he was a fraud and began calling him "no account" to his face. Observing that his trousers were frayed about the edges she gave him an old pair that had belonged to another member of the family. The "Count" seemed very grateful and confided to his aunt-in-law that the tailor who was making him sixteen suits and eight overcoats was taking lots of time about it.

After losing his job as a Jefferson guard at the end of one week, the "Count" got a position with a trading stamp company at $10 a week.

"He was the most audacious mortal we have ever seen," said a member of the trading stamp firm afterward. "He introduced himself here as 'Count' Leschinsky about the first week in September, 1904. He informed us that he only wanted a position to kill time during the day, that he might keep his mind off the many social engagements that consumed his evenings.

"His nerve made a bit with the manager, and he was put on as salesman at $10 a week, with an allowance of $1.50 for carfare. He stayed a month, during which he didn't bring in enough to cover his salary. He had all his mail sent to the office and addressed to 'Count' Leschinsky. Most of the time he was in the office he spent at the telephone calling up various 'World's Fair Commissioners.

His Telephone Connections.

"When he wasn't having a time with some Commissioner he would call up President Francis and Mayor Wells. He always addressed them over the 'phone as 'Dave' and 'Rolla,' and would inquire the address of some lady to whom he was supposed to have been introduced to the night before at some fashionable affair.

"I don't know that his acquaintance with Messrs. Francis and Wells sent them anything.—New York World.

We Will Buy

You a Bottle of Liquozone, and Give It to You to Try.

We make few claims of what Liquozone will do. And no testimonials are published to show what it has done. We prefer that each sick one should learn its power by a test. That is the quickest way to convince you.

So we offer to buy the first bottle and give it to you to try. Compare it with common remedies; see how much more it does. Don't cling to the old treatments blindly. The scores of diseases which are due to germs call for a germicide. Please learn what Liquozone can do.

What Liquozone Is.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalising, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Liquozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Liquozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Liquozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

WHY DOCTORS FAIL

AND MRS. PINKHAM SUCCEEDS

Plain Reasons Are Here, Given to Explain Why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures When Doctors Are Powerless

A woman is sick; some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds something back, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and thus completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that the doctors fail to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician.

It was for this reason that years ago Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., determined to step in and help her sex. Having had considerable experience in treating female ills with her Vegetable Compound, she encouraged the women of Canada to write to her for advice in regard to their complaints, and being a woman, it was easy for her ailing sisters to pour into her ears every detail of their suffering.

In this way she was able to do for them what the physicians were unable to do, simply because she had the proper information to work upon, and from the little group of women who sought her advice years ago a great army of her fellow-beings are to-day constantly applying for advice and relief, and the fact that many thousands of them have been cured by following the advice of Mrs. Pinkham during the last year is indicative of the grand results which are produced by her unequaled experience and training.

No physician in the world has had such a training, or has such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills, from the simplest local irritation to the most complicated womb diseases.

This, therefore, is the reason why Mrs. Pinkham, in her laboratory at Lynn, Mass., is able to do more for the ailing women of Canada than the family physician. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own suffering who will not take the trouble to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

Anniversary Services At Park St. Church

Rev. A. H. Brace Preached Two Special Sermons.

Sunday School Honour Roll Was Unveiled in the Afternoon.

A large congregation attended the Thanksgiving service yesterday morning at the Park street Baptist church. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with harvest emblems and flowers, and the music of a special and appropriate character.

A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace. The subject was "Choice Things of Yesterday and the Responsive Chord." The sermon was a forcible and convincing one, and the subject was treated in an instructive manner.

Rev. Mr. Brace chose as his text Psalms 34; 1—"I will bless the Lord at all times."

This is David's second alphabetical song. The first twelve verses is a hymn, and the last twelve a prayer. It was the occasion of David changing his behavior before Abimelech. It was not to the credit of David though he did not parade it.

There are three thoughts contained in the text. First, a holy purpose.

REV. A. H. BRACE,
Of Park Street Baptist Church, Who Preached the Anniversary Sermons Yesterday.

Second, a delightful employment. Third, a seasonable exercise.

"I have a holy purpose, I will bless the Lord." Here is the recipe for a heaven upon earth. If the croakers were taken out of our churches and societies, what a heaven we would have. Another thought is that praise is about the only thing that has no self in it. It is gratitude without solicitude. Praise is overflowing affection. Prayer is prospective. Praise is the acknowledgement of the good that we have received. While prayer is prospective, praise has a wider significance. Prayer points to heaven, but praise is already in heaven. God wants to be praised by his people. The mouth or the heart that praises God will never lack mercies to praise him for.

For the sorrow that's dead, for the joy that is born;
For the promises sweet of a Thanksgiving morn;
For fertile fields; for golden grain;
For the music of the pattering rain;
For the song birds' voice; for flowery nooks;
For the low, sweet song of the babbling brooks;
For the cloudless days; for the bright blue sky;
For the happy hours of days gone by;
For the end of war; for the earth's increase;
For the hope of heaven's eternal peace.

As we sit down and think of the goodness of God, what evidences we see around us, and what responsive chords are touched by it.

David excelled in praise. Praise sweetens life and purifies the affections. An idea that will bring comfort-to-our hearts is that God's glory is infinite. By all our praises or eulogies we cannot add anything to His perfection. The reflex action comes down upon our own lives, and in our own hearts. We are quickened, comforted and refreshed.

When should we praise our Lord? Our text says, "I will praise the Lord at all times." Let us take a lesson from this. When friends are false and deceitful, and when we meet with grievous disappointment, are ready, like David, to say, "All Thy billows have aweps over me," then let us say, "I will praise the Lord at all times." Let us awake to it that God numbered the very hairs of our heads. What love is there!

There is such a thing as particular Providence. Let not our praises be transient. Did you ever think that praise is about the only thing that will be left of us when we depart? We have faith now, but this will not be needed. We have hope, but this will be lost in the grandeur of beautiful realization, but we will praise him with a glittering crown upon our brow.

The Honour Roll.

A most interesting event, and one which will go down in the history of Park street church, took place yesterday afternoon in the Sunday school room. It was the unveiling of the honour roll. Last March the Sunday school was divided for a contribution contest. One side was known as the reds and the other side as the blues. The object of the contest was to raise funds for the new church, and in this way every child in the school was enabled to help in the greater work.

Two years ago the Sunday school established a building fund, and the first day the sum of $36 was subscribed. That was the first money towards the present new church. Since that time the Sunday school has been most active and has handed over to the Trustee Board several handsome donations, including one of $200.

The last effort was made in the spring. The contest was organized in March, and three weeks were occupied in collecting. The side represented by the red won, and it is their names which appear on the honour roll. The total sum raised by the contest was $120.

Miss Maggie Mann, superintendent of the Sunday school, addressed the children, reminding them of the history of the building fund movement, and the active part they had taken in it. She was very glad that the school had been able to contribute so largely, and also that the scholars had taken such an interest in the work.

The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, followed with a short address in which he congratulated the scholars and encouraged them to keep up their interest in the church. It is a noble work and it will repay a hundred times all that you do.

At a given time the superintendent, Miss Mann, was called upon to unveil the honour roll to view.

The honour roll is a beautifully wrought address in old English type, and printed in water colours. The whole is surrounded by a handsome oak frame. On the roll are between forty and fifty names of the scholars who made up the red side.

This most interesting ceremony was concluded by an address by Mr. H. Drake, who congratulated the reds and also the whole school on the noble work they had done.

When you use Ozone use "Celery King" with it. Whatever kind of Ozone you buy you will need to use "Celery King" which is a companion remedy to Ozone.

The purest form of Ozone is "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind.)" Each bottle contains about twice as much for your money as other brands, besides which each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of 'Celery King' free. This is a great advantage as you save money on the Ozone and also get the "Celery King" which you would otherwise have to buy.

No other brand of Ozone contains these coupons. 'Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)' is fifty cents and one dollar at your drug store including the coupon for the package of "Celery King." Take no other kind and if your druggist does not carry it write to the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 11

The Work Of The Y.W.C.A. For Japanese

Miss Potter Spoke on This Subject Yesterday.

Gratifying Results Have Followed the Efforts of Young Women.

Mrs. E. P. Kennedy presided at the Gospel meeting at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday. Miss Potter spoke on the Y.W.C.A. work in Japan under Miss McDonald.

Four years ago the World's Travelling Secretary, Miss Reynolds, visited Japan and China. As a result Yokahama and Tokio both formed a promoting committee of the Y.W.C.A., and in 1902 sent a petition to the World's Executive asking that secretaries might be sent to Japan. The United States responded and Miss Morrison went out in the fall of 1903. The next year the Dominion Council of Canada sent out Miss McDonald to work in conjunction with Miss Morrison. It is the life of the church to have outside interests. We feel that already the Canadian work has made greater progress from the inspiration coming from the knowledge of larger and deeper interests. Miss McDonald writes us that there never was a more opportune time for Christian work. The suffering and misery resulting from the war have opened the hearts of the people to the need of the all-sufficient Saviour. The Y.M.C.A. found great opportunities. It was the only religious institution — Christian or non-Christian — allowed to go to the front.

There are now 20,000 girls in the Government schools. In Kyoto alone 50,000 girls work in factories. Now that so many bread-winners have lost their lives, the number of working girls will greatly increase. One problem is to develop Japanese workers. Miss McDonald's first work was to form a Bible class of six Christian Japanese women, who could speak English, from the schools. The next move was to begin an English class amongst the telephone girls, of whom there are 300 in Tokio. The class meets twice a week, and is attended by about twenty. This is the work that the local associations of Canada are supporting.

November 12 to 18, is the world's week of prayer. Five meetings will be held in our association; each member is asked to give five cents towards the support of the world's work. Miss Lancaster gave an appropriate solo.

For Anaemia You Must Have Iron

And Anyone Can Use Iron, as it is Combined With Other Ingredients in

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Anaemia or bloodlessness is indicated by paleness of the lips, the gums and the eyelids, and is most frequently found in girls and young women.

Other symptoms are deficient appetite, impaired digestion, irritable temper, shortness of breath, dizziness, fainting, headache, easily fatigued, depression and despondency.

The blood is lacking in the life-sustaining power which is necessary to the proper working of the bodily organs and can only be restored by the use of iron as any qualified physician will tell you.

But iron alone cannot be taken into a weak stomach. In Dr. Chase's Nerve Food iron is combined with certain nerve restoratives in such a way as to be easily assimilated into the blood, and thus afford immediate and lasting benefit to the system.

And more than this, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, through its action on the nerves, sharpens the appetite and aids digestion so that help is also afforded in deriving the full nourishment from the food taken into the body.

On account of these two ways in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the system, it is beyond doubt the most effective treatment of anaemia and similar wasting diseases that was ever compounded. Note your increase in weight while using it.

Mrs. M. A. McCrea, Tory Hill, Ont., writes: "My system was all run down when I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was weak and very nervous and felt so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about the house. It seemed impossible for me to get rest or sleep at night and I felt that I was gradually growing weaker and more nervous and irritable. Since beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel altogether different. It has gradually strengthened my nerves and built up my system wonderfully. I sleep well now, and am being thoroughly restored to health and strength. I believe it is the best medicine to be had for the nerves."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, is on every box. 4

The Home Life Gains Services Of An Expert

Mr. R. H. Matson Joins the Home Life Association.

One of Canada's Leading Life Insurance Men—Is Superintendent of Agencies.

There are few men in Canada today in the life insurance business who can look back upon a thirty-two-year successful record in that trying field. Such a man is our friend, Mr. R. H. Matson, who last week accepted the position of superintendent of agencies of the Home Life Association of Canada, and who is spending a few days in this city. The Toronto World in the course of an appreciative sketch, says:—Mr. Matson commenced his insurance career in 1873, as general agent of the Confederation Life Association of Canada, afterwards being promoted to the position of inspector of agencies for the same. In 1878 Mr. Matson took over the general agency for Ontario of the Standard Life of Edinburgh. In 1882 he was appointed to the important position as superintendent of agencies for the Union Mutual of Maine, obtaining a wide and useful experience with that company in Canada and the United States. In 1889 the late Shepperd Holmans selected Mr. Matson for the position of general manager for Canada of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Company of New York, which field they had just entered. Much success attended Mr. Matson in this position for the following ten years, at the end of which time he resigned with the regrets of that company's officials having to his credit about five and one-quarter millions insurance in force. In 1899 Mr. Matson organized and established the National Life of Canada, filling the position as managing director, from which position he retired early in this year, leaving over four and a half million insurance in force, with a premium income of over one hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars. Mr. Matson's reputation for economy of management, conservatism in government and probity of character is acknowledged by the leading insurance men of Canada and the United States. The Home Life Association of Canada has shown excellent judgment and keen business foresight in acquiring the services of Mr. Matson.

CANADIAN EXPORTS.

The decrease of Canadian exports abroad, furnishes party pessimists an opportunity to carp at the fiscal management of our affairs by the Liberal party, and it is argued that if the Chinese wall policy of the Conservative party — mis-called the National Policy — prevailed, such things would not have been; but the facts are against them, for there has been the largest increase in foreign exports, in the department of national activity, which the "N.P." is erroneously supposed to promote — manufacturing. These critics do not have the frankness to explain that the drop in our exports last year, is due entirely to our exporting a smaller quantity of agricultural products. The falling off in cheese alone was $6,816,157. In 1903 we exported wheat to Britain to the value of $22,999,745, and last year only $9,474,870, and our total exports of wheat and flour were in those years about 29 millions and 18 millions respectively. Our exports of manufactures shows the largest increase, and the exports of the products of the mine and the fisheries increased. Under the narrow-guage N.P., as understood and applied, by the Conservative Government, our manufacturing exports, after eighteen years of coddling; in the very best year, fell far short of ten millions a year. Under the eight years of rational policy, as understood, and administered, by the Liberal Government, our agricultural exports have leaped to over twenty millions. What does that mean?

It would appear that Russia, in concluding peace with Japan, jumped from the frying pan into the fire. Russia has peace abroad, but the most truculent warfare at home. The whole country is seething with the raw material of rebellion — almost universal strikes of the working classes, to which, in some places, is added the horror of incendiarism. St. Petersburg, the capital, is as much isolated from the world as if she were surrounded by a beleaguering army of Japs, owing to the complete tie-up of the railways by the strikers, and there is general disorder and practical anarchy. One cannot be surprised at the conduct of the people. The masses have been ground down for centuries. The bow that is too strongly bent will relax with a vengeance when the tension is withdrawn. When a crushed people kick off their bonds, they don't show the good temper that makes for peaceful conditions.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any antiole, and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the capilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clean, pure, and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

RE-OPENING SERVICES IN CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH WERE MOST SUCCESSFUL

Rev. D. O. Crossley Preached at Both Services Yesterday --The Enlarged Sunday School Building Was Re-opened--The Great Work of the Sunday School Spoken of by the Former Pastor--The Open Meeting in the Afternoon.

The services in connection with the re-opening of the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school, after having been closed for some months, to allow the improvements and enlargements to be carried out, were held yesterday, and were both interesting and successful, a number of causes contributing to these highly satisfactory results.

The progress which the church and Sunday school have made during recent years has been a matter for self-congratulation, and has been a source of surprise to those who have witnessed that progress. No sooner is it found that certain improved conditions are desirable, than a decision is reached to effect these improvements, until, at the present time, there is probably not a better appointed church property in the city, than that owned by the Charlotte street congregation.

In the summer it was found that the size of the school room at that time was becoming too small for the needs of the growing shool, and a decision was reached to enlarge,

REV. D. O. CROSSLEY,
Whitby, Former Pastor of Charlotte Street Church, Who Preached There Yesterday.

which was accomplished at a cost of about $3500 for the building, and $700 more for furnishings. This was not undertaken, however, until the cost had been counted, and until there was good prospect of that cost being amply met, for the Charlotte street church is a church of business men, who do not undertake to do for the church what they would not do in their own business.

Consequently, at the present time, with the improvements completed, those in charge find that $3000 of the cost has been provided for, and with the reputation which the members of that church have for raising money, there is little doubt but that the whole cost will be met easily.

A description of the new building, which will give accommodation now for 800 pupils, was given on Saturday.

Yesterday the congregation was delighted by the return of a former pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley of Whitby, who preached at both the morning and evening services, and addressed the public gathering in the Sunday school in the afternoon.

The church was filled at both the preaching services, and the day as a whole was eminently satisfactory.

Another pleasing feature was the fact that Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, formerly soloist of the church, but recently of Toronto, was here for the day, and sang at both services, his solos being much appreciated by the congregation.

The Morning Sermon.

At the morning service, Rev. D. O. Crossley preached on the question of child training, and his sermon was particularly appropriate to the services of the day. His text was in Exodus ii. 9, "Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages." Some decidedly pertinent facts in connection with the training of the young were brought out in the course of the sermon, which was of a practical character and struck at the root of the matter under discussion. The speaker held that the duty of training the child devolved primarily upon the parents, and the Sunday school was simply an adjunct to the home training, and was never established, as some parents apparently thought, to supplant it. The importance, from a national standpoint, of giving careful attention to the instruction which the children are given, was emphasized, the speaker pointing out that in half a century's time, every judge now on the bench, every lawyer now pleading, every doctor now ministering to the ills of his patients, every minister preaching the Gospel, and every member of Parliament, will have left the scene of action, or will have become incapacitated for work, and the men by whom these duties will be filled are to-day in the formative period of life, and since the world fifty years hence will be what they will make it, the importance of giving these young persons proper conceptions of life, is obvious.

The speaker ventured the assertion that the men and women who fifty years hence would be occupying the prominent positions in the land, are now in the Sunday school, and that those who would be the most prominent are now giving the greatest attention to the instruction being given them there.

He held the opinion that the 20th century was the age of righteousness, and his prophecy foretold the realization of this fact.

There were he said, two mighty spirits in the world, influencing our hearts for good or evil; so there are two ways in which we may live, either with tendencies towardss the good or towards the evil. Experience has taught, however, that the young are more likely to take the wrong road than they are to go right, if left to themselves.

To save them from going wrong, therefore, must be a noble work, and it is committed, first, to the Christian parent, and, secondly, to the church.

A child's knowledge of religion should be gained from the parents. This is God's plan, and His method of perpetuating religion in the world.

The speaker recalled the fact that the words of the text were spoken to a woman, and he referred to the great influence which the mothers exert in the land. He was almost inclined to believe that it was true that "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

It was an unfortunate fact that all the parents are not Christians; hence the need of the Sunday school; and, in this connection, the speaker defined some of the work which the Sunday shcool was intended to perform.

Mr. Crossley's sermon was a thoughtful exposition of the truth, and was most appropriate to the occasion.

Yesterday afternoon the Charlotte street Sunday School met for the first time in their enlarged school room, after having held the weekly sessions in the church for the past four months. There was a very large attendance of school members and visitors who were delighted with the splendid accommodation and attractive appearance of the room.

The session was an open one, presided over by the superintendent, Mr. R. J. Kidd. Several short addresses were given, the first speaker being the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe. He congratulated the school upon its enterprise in making such a vast improvement in connection with the school and felt assured that the Sunday school work, which was an important factor in the advancement of the cause of the church, would be promoted with more zeal and with a hearty co-operative spirit which would bring results, the influence of which would be long felt.

Rev. D. O. Crossley expressed his delight at being present at the re-opening of the school and he thought Charlotte street church had every reason to feel proud of its Sunday School. The most successful work of which the church was capable was being carried on in the Sunday School in the winning of the young for Christ and in the moulding of character. He wished to impress upon the minds of the scholars two matters—to be obedient to their best thoughts and highest impulses, and to watch the lives of others and imitate what was good and noble in them. He congratulated the superintendent and all in connection with the school and wished them every prosperity in the great work which they were so successfully conducting.

Mr. J. J. Jeffries of the George street Sunday School, and Col. E. B. Edwards, of Murray street school, were present and made a few congratulatory remarks. Both were greatly interested in Sunday School work and were delighted with the enterprise shown by the Charlotte street school in the completion of such an excellent building. They expressed the hope that the work carried on their would result in great good being accomplished among those which attended the school.

At both the morning and evening services yesterday Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe sang solos, and delighted those those who heard him. The complimentary references to Mr. Jolliffe's voice in the Toronto press were, in the opinion of those who heard him yesterday, well meritted, and it was a distinct treat to hear him once more.

His morning solo was "The Penteost," by Van der Water, and in the evening, "The Ninety and Nine," by Campion, in both of which he gave evidence of the training which he has been taking. He will be heard again to-night with pleasure.

St. Peter's T.A.S. Were Received At Communion

About 250 Members of the Society Attended Mass Yesterday.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Gave Communion—A Large Attendance.

Yesterday morning the members of St. Peter's T. A. S. to the number of about 250 received communion at the cathedral at the 8 o'clock mass.

The members gathered at the convent hall, and, marshalled by Mr. P. O'Donnell, assisted by Mr. Harry Gainey and Mr. W. Ritsdale; they marched to the cathedral, where His Lordship Bishop O'Connor celebrated mass, and, assisted by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Rev. Father Kelly, His Lordship gave holy communion to the members of the society in a body.

After the mass they marched to the T. A. S. hall, George street, where they renewed their vows and pledges.

The attendance yesterday at the communion was the largest in the history of the society, and was evidence of the fact that the organization is growing.

Were Received As Elders

Messrs. R. Lees and J. Hill Received at St. Andrew's Yesterday.

Mr. R. Leys, County Public School Inspector, and Mr. John Hill were received as elders at the morning service at St. Andrew's church yesterday.

Both gentlemen have recently removed to Peterborough, and in their former residences occupied similar positions, Mr. Leys in Knox church, St. Thomas, and Mr. Hill in Moonstone, Ont.

"Thanksgiver" Was Mixed

Tried to Reach East City via the Park Street Sewer.

The beery "Thanksgiver" was plodding his way down Park street on Thursday evening, when he encountered the sewer, now in course of construction near the C.G.E. Works. The street evidently was not sufficiently broad at this point to accommodate his erratic ecourse, and the weary one fell in.

A number of good Samaritans who were passing by, lent their assistance, and the unfortunate was rescued. No sooner, however, than he had safely regained a place on the street level, than he burst forth into a torrent of scathing criticism anent the local aldermanic stupidity, which was displayed in the fact that "they had not placed a railing on this — — bridge." "How do they expect a fellow to get to Ashburnham," he continued in an explanatory manner, "over a bridge with holes in it like that?" With which remark he passed on his erratic course into the gathering darkness.

To Dredge The Trent River

The new dredge, Emmerson, in tow of the steamer Empire, left for Hastings, where she will be engaged in dredging below the dam there.

The sum of $2,000 has been voted for the purpose of deepening the river immediately below the lock, where there has been some little trouble in low water in navigating safely.

Largest Tea In Twelvemonth

The monthly Strangers' Tea at the Y.M.C.A. last night was more largely attended than for over 12 months. Mr. Harding presided and welcomed the men to the fellowship of the Association. Among those present were strangers who have recently came from Manchester, London, Durham, Reading and Yorkshire, England; two from Cork, Ireland; Lindsay, Vankleek Hill, Toronto and Kingston, also from the United States and New Brunswick.

How Will They Flood The Rink

Mr. Ernie Poole, the energetic chairman of All Saints' rink committee, is experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining an adequate system of water supply for the rink.

Mr. Poole says the Water Commissioners are very reluctant to provide a hydrant that will not be permanently used. To connect with the Reid street main, would be altogether too expensive; and the system used last winter, that of attaching the hose used for flooding the rink with the tap in the church basement, proved very unsatisfactory.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly for objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

By no means the least enjoyable of the many pleasant little social entertainments given on Friday last was that given by Mrs. Bertram and her daughter at their cosy home on Dalhousie street. The hostess and Miss Bertram welcomed those who had been bidden to take tea, in the drawing-room, while the Misses Anderson, Miss Belle Morrow, Miss Laura Davidson and Miss Frieda Johnston, of Toronto, dispensed dainty refreshments in the tea room. Miss Morrow poured tea at the richly polished table, which had been moved to the corner of the room, the table decoration consisting of a large china jar of regal white chrysanthemums placed on a lace centre. The dainty hand-painted china dishes, the work of the artistic daughter of the home, used in serving the good things, made them more tempting. Miss Johnston, who, by the way, was a thanksgiving visitor in town, also added much to the pleasure of the occasion by the rendering of several well chosen instrumental selections. Everything was so cozy and comfortable that the many guests who, despite the wet, cold, disagreeable weather that prevailed that day, had come to see the hostess and to share the hospitality thus provided for them, were loth to say good-bye, and many lingered on until the last minute.

Mrs. (Dr.) Halliday was the hostess of a charming at home Friday afternoon at her residence, Water street. About sixty ladies were present, and a delightful hour was spent. The hostess, Mrs. Halliday, assisted by Mrs. Vernon, received her guests in the spacious dining-room, which by a judicious and plentiful decoration of pink chrysanthemums, was turned into a veritable scene of beauty. The large drawing-room was most tastefully embellished by a free use of yellow chrysanthemums, which accorded beautifully with the permanent rich, but homelike, tout ensemble of this most comfortable apartment. Refreshments were served in the back drawing-room, the hostess' assistants being Mrs. (Rev.) J. C. Davidson, Mrs. P. Campbell, Miss Drummond, of Toronto, and the Misses Edith Barlee and Banks Clementi. Among those present were Mrs. J. C. Davidson, Mrs. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. J. H. McClellan, Mrs. P. Campbell, Mrs. Mutins, Miss Clementi, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Grubb, Miss B. Hall, Miss Moore, the Misses Barlee, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Miss Hutton, Mrs. R. E. Wood, Miss Lundy, Miss A. Hall, Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Miss Eardley-Wilmot, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. W. J. Sherwood, Miss Rose, Mrs. Hammond, Miss Mulholland, Mrs. C. H. Clementi, the Misses Collins, with visitors from Toronto: Mrs. Rupert Bradburn, Mrs. Geo. Rubidge and others.

Ex-Member Of Parliament Passed Away

Late Mr. Geo. Campbell Died In Cavan.

Formerly Represented East Durham in the Legislature.

Mr. George Campbell, ex-M.P.P. for East Durham, and ex-Warden of the Counties, passed away at his home near Millbrook yesterday evening, while lying on the lounge reading his paper. Although his heart was not strong, he had been up on the last attending to his usual farm duties.

The late Mr. Campbell was one of the best known men in the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, having had a long and most successful municipal experience. During the Equal Rights movement of some years ago he was elected to represent that party in the Ontario Legislature, defeating the Conservative party candidate, Mr. T. B. Collins, by a small majority. Mrs. Campbell gave a general support in the house to Mr. W. R. Meredith. He was for many years treasurer of the Township of Cavan, which position he held until his demise. He was also a member of the Millbrook School Board for many years.

He was 67 years of age and was the son of the late Thomas Campbell, of Garden Hill. His mother, who still survives him, resides at Garden Hill. Mr. Campbell is also survived by his wife, formerly Miss Walsh, of Cavan, two sons, Thomas, at home and Arthur, attending the School of Practical Science, Toronto, and one daughter, Miss Margaret.

In religion the late Mr. Campbell was an Anglican.

Mr. Robert Fair, of Peterborough, is a cousin of the deceased and the late Wm. Walsh, of Peterborough, was a brother-in-law.

Mr. Campbell was a model farmer and a man of unusual mental grasp, and will be very much missed by the whole community.

Associates at C. G. E. Works Presented Him With Fountain Pen.

Popular Young Man Will Leave This Week for Sydney, C.B.

A pleasing event took place on Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. N. E. Bell, 223 Sherbrooke street, when a number of the members of the test department of the C. G. E. Works assembled. The occasion was the coming departure of Mr. Archie Lang, who for several years has been connected with the test department.

The young men, after doing ample justice to an appetizing spread of refreshments, presented their associate with a handsome fountain pen. The presentation was made in an informal manner, and Mr. Lang replied briefly, thanking the donors for their kindness in thus remembering him.

The young men present were:—Messrs. A. R. Webster, W. Madill, J. Lowes, Lou. Boland, W. VanNorman, S. Caniff, E. Hooker, H. J. Fairweather, W. Hamilton and N. E. Bell.

Mr. Lang's departure will create a widespread feeling of regret among his hosts of friends in the city, he having been a general favourite in social circles, as well as a most popular young man about town. He will leave this week for Sydney, Cape Breton, where he has secured a lucrative position.

A Personal Letter.

The following letter has been received from the manager of the Jas. P. Bond Lyceum Bureau, of New York:

"My Dear Sir, — I feel that I must write you a few lines personally about your coming engagement with Jerome K. Jerome. As I made the contract with you, I am naturally anxious that you should make a success of it, and I want you to know what a big attraction you have on hand.

"I have been with him from the start. In Schenectady two thousand tickets were sold; and I assure you that he pleases, even enthuses, his audiences. He had to go back and bow seven times after finishing in Boston before they would let him go.

"You have a big attraction in Mr. Jerome. Make your people realize it.

Yours truly,
W. H. WRIGHT.

PETERBORO' TURF CLUB

ENCOURAGES LIVE HORSEMEN

TO BREED GOOD STOCK

A List of Horses Owned by Men in Peterborough and Vicinity—Splendid Record of Mr. Chas. Pife, Otonabee—Turf Club Has Competent Turf Men as Officials—Good Purses for the Fast Horses.

The Peterborough Turf Club is an association that has done a great deal towards encouraging horse breeders in this district to raise the very best stock they can. Before the Turf Club was organized there was not a horse in Peterborough that could do the mile much better than 3.00 flat, but now there are several first class horses in this district that give great promise of becoming very speedy, and for that matter that are very speedy, as is shown by their performances upon the track. Mr. Jas. Elmhirst, Otonabee, has a likely little filly, Little Girl, by Directum, working out on Chas. Fife's track, Otonabee. Little Girl has no mark but the wise ones say she can step the mile in about 2.30. Mr. Elmhirst is preparing her for the Midland circuit. Blucher, owned by Mr. Martin Connors, does the mile in 2.23 1-4 and Lady Gothard, another of Mr. Connors' horses, with no mark, gets under the wire in 16 1-4. Expelled and Little Jap, owned by Mr. R. J. Munroe, can cover the mile in 2.24 and 2.29 respectively. Miss Paisley, the property of Mr. G. Lipsett, does it in 2.3 1-4. Mr. Chas. Fife, of Otonabee, is a very enthusiastic turfman and is a breeder of fast horses. Maud Keswick, the phenomenon of the Grand Circuit, was first owned by Mr. Fife and she now can go in 2.03 3-4. She is the greatest mare ever bred in this district and one of the fastest that Canada ever turned out. Dolly Keswick and Jim X. were also bred by Mr. Fife, and both have made a name for themselves. Both can do the mile in about 2.4. Mr. Sam Charles, of Madoc, paid a thousand dollars for Dolly Keswick, and Jim X made Mr. Fife the richer by eight hundred. Jim X. is a half sister to Maud Keswick and Mr. Fife has a three-year-old unnamed filly who is a full sister to Jim X. and therefore a half-sister of Maud Keswick, who can step along in about 2.30. Mr. Fife goes about breeding in the proper way. He has an excellent brood mare on his farm and always secures the services of a good sire. On his half-mile track he is able to work out his horses and get their time, and when he starts them over the race track he knows just what they can do.

It is asserted that Mr. Jackson Reid, Port Hope, has sold his fast mare Minnie Bell, with a mark of 2.14 to parties in Orillia. Prior to the sale Mr. Cook had her on his training string.

It is very fortunate for local horse breeders that the Turf Club was organized. It provides suitable purses, and with good horsemen as officials gives great satisfaction to the owners. A man who now possesses a horse that he thinks has any speed can soon find out whether he is right or not. And it further encourages good breeding by providing suitable purses and the long green is what prompts breeders to raise blue-blooded stock.

Prrctice In Rink To-night

The rugby team will practice in the Brock street rink to-night at eight o'clock. Capt. Hurtubise requests every man to be on hand in uniform. On Saturday Brockville defeated the Limestones in Kingston by a score of 5 to 3, and thus winning the round by 13 to 5. The Brockville aggregation is reported as being very speedy and play as well away from as on their own grounds. Dundas is also to be seriously considered, having trimmed the Hamilton Tigers II. in Hamilton by 10—7 on Saturday. Peterborough has made a gift cared showing so far, and is now recognized by the Toronto press as likely winners of the championship. But there is an old rule that has no exception: "Practice makes perfect."

Professionals Are After Some Fast O. H. A. Players

The Soo News has an interesting article on the prospects for the International Hockey League this season. It says:—

Loughton will need at least four new men; Calumet about three; the Michigan Soo a similar number; the Canadian Soo, five or six, and Pittsburg probably four.

Of the last year's Houghton team it appears as if only Hern, goal; Holden, cover point, and Lake, left wing, would wear the green and white again. Doctor Gibson, the famous point player, who did so much to introduce the Canadian game into the United States, announced his retirement at last season's end. His place will be a hard one to fill. It is stated that Bruce Stuart will transfer his allegiance to Calumet, while it is also said that "Grindy" Forrester of Barrie and Thessalon will take his place on the forward line. Fred Whiteroft of Peterborough and Midland may also play on the Lakes forward line. Forrester is said to be the greatest wrist shot in the O.H.A. Whiteroft is well recommended.

Calumet will need two new defence men to replace McMillan at point and "Hod" Stuart at cover point. Bellefeuille of pleasant memory in the Canadian Soo and last year with the Rat Portage western champions, is spoken of as one of the two new men. Jimmy Gardner will captain Calumet and the forward line that scored enough goals last year to win championship will be little changed.

The Michigan Soo will also probably have two new defence men. Hauell is away and Hamilton may only play spare defence. "Joe" Stephens on the forward line may not play again. The management has announced the signing of "Reddy" McMillan.

Players under reserve from last year by the Canadian Soo are Brown Ward and Clifton. This town is about the only one in the circuit looking for a new goal tender. If "Bouse" Hutton should be procured as eastern papers say is likely, the Canadian Soo nets will be well guarded as Hutton is a player of Stanley cup quality. If Roy Brown does not remain with the very doubtful professional team that Brantford is dreaming about he will be here to play point again as only Brown can play it. The management will make every effort to fill last year's weak spots, which was cover point, with a good man and from present indications will doubtless succeed. For the forward line, Clifton and Ward are available, though neither is a certainty as a regular member of the team. Ward will be given a chance at left wing, his regular position and the only thing that makes it doubtful for him is his lack of weight. Clifton's ability to play any position and that in a quite capable manner makes a season's job almost sure for him. A number of good men are in view for the other positions.

Pittsburg has Arthur Sixsmith, Campbell, Baird and Winchester. Outside of that quartette little is known at this end of the circuit as to what the prospects are for the smoky city team.

Mr. A. Rountree Buys Stallion

It will be welcome news to local breeders to know that Mr. A. Rountree, secretary of the Turf Club, has purchased from Rev. Father O'Gorman, Gananoque, Gradicator, a beautiful black stallion by Agradator. Mr. Rountree takes an active interest in the breeding of good horses and his connection with the Turf Club has done a great deal to make that body the success it is. Besides being a very showy animal and a getter of symmetrical stock, Gradicator shows a fine turn of speed, having gone half a mile over the New York speedway in a road wagon, in 1.07 1-2 with 225 lbs. up. Gradicator will be in his own stable at the Munro House every day in the week. One hundred dollars is held by Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, to be awarded in purses of $60, $25, $15 as prizes for the best foals sired by Gradicator in the year 1906.

BASKET-BALL.

The Kingston News and Times says the following of the Queens-Brownies game, played at Kingston on Thanksgiving Day:

In basketball this speedy "Brownies" of Peterborough defeated a team from Queen's by 23 to 22 last evening. The game was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium before a fair audience. Queen's played well, but not with the snap the Peterborough men showed. Fitzpatrick, a flashy man, on the visiting team shot 14 baskets on fouls, and four or five of them from the field for two points each. At half time the score was 17—14 in favour of Peterborough, and at full time 23 points to 22. The teams were:

Brownies—Defence, Hall and Boucher; centre, Fitzpatrick; forwards, Miller and Gillespie.

Queen's—Defence, J. S. King, J. L. King; centre, Sands; forwards, Duncan and Sully.

Referee, R. Beale; umpire, Gordon Miller, Peterborough.

RUGBY.

The Toronto newspapers are wise ones. They have discovered that Argos II. beat the game to Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day by inferior play. The locals didn't suffer very much from "stage fright."

• • • •

The Toronto News, referring to the game on Thanksgiving Day, with Peterborough vs. Argos II., says it was as clean an exhibition of rugby as any played in Toronto this year.

• • • •

The Toronto Star says: "Peterborough played a kicking game almost entirely. Shaw and Crowley punted the ball to the weak spots and gained considerable ground. Their touch down was due to a muff by Hutchins of an easy catch behind the line. Mulhern and Ford caught well, and the former ran back punts very well with zig-zag touches. Gilbert, Hurtubise and McDonald were the pick of the wings."

• • • •

Toronto News: "The Peterborough team is a much better one than that of last fall, and should be well up at the top when the season ends."

• • • •

It's dollars to dimes that Varsity wins the Intercollegiate championship.

• • • •

John D. Rockefeller, the enthusiastic golfer, with all his oily millions, can't qualify for a rugby player. He has no hair.

• • • •

Mr. W. H. Peterson, outside wing of the Toronto Argonauts, seniors, was in the city Saturday. In discussing Rugby with an Examiner representative, Mr. Peterson said that he was of the opinion that the success of the Hamilton Tigers was due to a great extent to the fact that the employers in the Burlington Bay city took an interest in rugby and encouraged their employees to play the game. It's just the opposite in Toronto, and for that matter in Peterborough, too. Did you notice the crowds at the matches this fall?

• • • •

The Toronto Star says: Peterborough makes played a clean, steady game, although the Tor-Argo wings were on top of them most of the time.

Toronto Saturday Night's Star contains a photo of the Peterborough Rugby team, champions of Intermediate District No. 2, O. R. F. U.

Wonder if any other teams will think Hurtubise is rough. Most French-Canadians, retaining as they do the polished manners of their old country ancestors, are generally considered particularly smooth.

• • •

In the intermediate series Peterborough is qualified for the semi-finals, and Dundas looks like the winner in the West, either Brockville or Limestones will represent the East. If the Peterborough players do as well as they did in Toronto they'll be hard to beat for the championship.—Toronto Star.

HOCKEY.

Judging from current hockey gossip Dr. Clarke, formerly of Kingston and now of Toronto, is a strong candidate for the O. H. A. presidency.

• • •

The good old winter game seems to be on the boom. Many new clubs have organized and the O. H. A. will probably be very generously represented in both the intermediate and junior series. There doesn't yet seem to be many senior teams ready to get after the trophy.

• • •

Peterborough should have a good forward man in "Barney" Edwards, of the local Ontario Bank staff. Edwards has played with Collingwood and other places, and last winter figured on the line up of the Intermediate St. George's, of Toronto.

• • •

A. W. Macpherson, formerly of this city, and now a medical student at Varsity, will again try for the treasureship of the O. H. A. There's no reason on earth why "Mac" shouldn't get there with both feet. He is getting there with both feet and hands in intercollegiate rugby.

• • •

The intercollegiate hockey schedule for the coming winter has been arranged. How is that for getting ahead of time? It's time Peterborough thought of organizing.

• • •

Duluth, Minnesota, will have a hockey team in the International League.

CANOEING.

Mr. Geo. Scriver, of the Trent Canal Survey party, would like to arrange a race with any Peterborough paddler, while there is no intention to discourage the Little Lake Braves, George looks like a gilt edged proposition at 2 to 1. And Scriver requests the sporting editor to add that he isn't paddling for his health.

SPRINTING

Eddie Williams, of the Ottawa Citizen, only succeeded in getting fifth in the Hamilton Herald road race. Williams probably is one of the fastest five mile runners in Canada, but when he came to over mid-on he found the grade a little steep. Michael Spring, of the Pastime A. C., was the first man to cross the tape.

• • •

The Examiner of Saturday stated that Stewart was badly beaten by Barrie in the road race Saturday afternoon. The report received by the Examiner was premature, however, and Barrie only won by a few yards.

BOTH FOOD AND MEDICINE.

We like best to call Scott's Emulsion a food-medicine. It is a term that aptly describes the character and action of our Emulsion. More than a medicine—more than a food, yet combining the vital principles of both. It is for this reason that Scott's Emulsion has a distinct and special value in all wasting diseases. There is nothing better to remedy the troubles of imperfect growth and delicate health in children. The action of Scott's Emulsion is just as effective in treating weakness and wasting in adults.

THE GENTLE KIDNEY CURE

Hundreds of people, who have been cured of Kidney Trouble by Bu-Ju, were first induced to try this wonderful remedy by friends who had themselves been cured. Here is what a Picton man says about Bu-Ju:—

"I have used Bu-Ju with great benefit to myself, and cheerfully recommend it to all who, I think, are suffering from Kidney Troubles and Rheumatism.

"I think Bu-Ju the best remedy made."

Annual Rifle Matches Of The 57th Regiment

Most Successful Day's Sport At The Ranges.

The Average Scores Were Good—Large Number of Men Shooting.

The annual rifle matches of the 57th Regiment were held on Thanksgiving Day, at the ranges and were very satisfactory. There were three matches, the general, tyro and extra series, and about seventy men were at the ranges, participating in the different events.

The general scoring was good, though the individual work was only fair, no very high scores being made, but the average was higher than in 1904.

There was a light right wind blowing, and the light was good, though the air was rather chilly.

The possibles in the different matches were: General, 75; Tyro, 50; Extra, 50; the count being made up as follows: Bull's eye, 5; inner, 4; magpie, 3; outer, 2.

Major Stevenson was the range officer and directed the shooting, while the following officers were in charge of the different ranges:—200 yards, Capts. Clegg and Hounsell; 400 yards and extra series, Capts. Bennett, McLean and McWilliams; 500 yards, Capt. Mills and Lieut. Wilson, 600 yards, Capt. Cluxton and Lieut. Clarke.

The scores in the different matches were:

FROM HEAD TO FOOT

you feel the good that's done by Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cleanses, regulates and invigorates Stomach, Liver and Bowels and so purifies the blood. And through the blood, it cleanses, repairs, and invigorates the whole system.

In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other exhausting diseases, nothing can equal it as an appetizing, restorative tonic to build up needed flesh and strength. It rouses every organ into natural action, promotes all the bodily functions, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease that comes from foul or Weak Stomach, a torpid Liver or impure Blood, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is a sovereign remedy. Don't be hypnotized, wheedled, or over persuaded into accepting a substitute only that some selfish medicine seller may make a greater profit on the inferior article. The "Discovery" has a great record of nearly forty years with thousands of cures behind it.

Dear Sir—Several years ago my blood became impoverished and I became run down in health. I had no appetite, could not sleep, and was practically unfitted for work. Suffered from innumerable boils and was in bad shape. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery relieved me of my wretched condition. The medicine built up my system and restored me to a normal condition of health. I can speak most highly also of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as it has been used in my family for years in cases of female trouble.

Good News If The Report Is Found True

Czar's Tardy Action May Yet Avert Revolution.

ACCEPTS LIBERAL PROGRAM

Appoints Count Witte Premier, and Grants Legislative Powers to the Representative Assembly—All Sections to Have a Voice in National Douma—Martial Law Abolished Throughout Empire.

London, Oct. 30.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent, telegraphing Sunday night, says:

"I am informed that the Emperor has just accepted the Liberal program, appointed Count Witte premier and given legislative powers to the representative assembly, allowing representatives from all sections of the population to be elected to it, and abolishing martial law throughout the Empire. I am further informed that the Emperor will issue a manifesto to the people tomorrow."

In earlier despatches the Daily Telegraph's correspondent describes the autocracy as like "a bulb of mercury fallen from a height and shivered into little globules," and Russia as having become "an archipelago of political islands independent of the others all dealing with public affairs with hardly any reference to the will of the once all-powerful monarch.

Anti-monarchial sentiments, the correspondent goes on to say, which would have been a terrible crime two months ago, are now in everybody's mouth. The Russian people, suddenly educated by events and sobered by a sense of responsibility, is able, willing and determined to manage its affairs in its own way and without interferance from above.

"My belief is that if the authorities abstain from violence the strike will terminate next week, because the Socialists are waiting till the end of the year for any armed insurrection, when they will be fully prepared."

Baseless Rumors.

Among countless, baseless reports, which received credence to-day, were that the Emperor had embarked on a vessel and fled to Denmark, that Gen. Trepoff had been killed by a bomb, and Vice-Admiral Birileff had been assassinated by mutineers in the Black Sea.

With a strike in the Government postoffice last night, communication with the interior practically ceased. Government troops were placed in the telegraph office, but only a few lines are working. Many lines, including the land lines to the continent, and to Libau, where they connect with the cable, have been cut. At 10 o'clock, however, the cable by way of Nystad and Sweden was still open. This is now the only thread connecting Russia with the outer world.

Like an Armed Camp.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—The Russian capital is like a city in the possession of a foreign army. Last night again the soldiers, of whom there are 90,000, are bivouacking in the darkened and otherwise deserted streets. The Nevsky Prospect alone is flooded by the glare of the great searchlights fixed on the spire of the Admiralty building. The curious are drawn there like moths to a candle, and the sidewalks are thronged, while the Government clerks scurry along the roadway threading their way through the infantry and cavalry patrols. Although there were rumors of bloody encounters during yesterday none of them could be authenticated.

Troops Shoot at Odessa.

Odessa, Oct. 30.—Cossacks have commenced firing on the crowds of workmen and students, who had barricaded street corners with street railway poles and furniture. At one point a volley from the Cossacks killed one student, three workmen and a girl, and wounded eighteen persons. Rifle and revolver firing is heard all about the town.

27 People Killed.

London, Oct. 30.—A despatch to a news agency from Odessa says there has been two serious conflicts there between the troops and a mob in which twenty-seven persons were killed and ninety wounded. The despatch adds that quiet was restored at 7 o'clock last evening.

Anarchy at Tiflis.

Tiflis, Oct. 30.—Complete disorder reigns here. There is rifle-firing against the patrols in many quarters of the city. A bomb was thrown at a policeman. A military train has been derailed outside the city, and a number of Cossacks killed. The strike is complete on all railroads in the Caucasus. All the stores and offices are closed. Even the employes of the state institutions and the headquarters of the vice-royalty have struck.

Moscow Quite Isolated.

Moscow, Oct. 30.—Nineteen wounded men have been brought to the University Hospital as the result of an encounter between students and royalists. The Governor-General has issued a proclamation warning the royalists who wish to attack the Liberals that this will not be permitted. The city is entirely isolated. Prices of food are mounting higher and higher.

Brigands Hold Up Train.

London, Oct. 30.—A despatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says the following telegram has been received there from Vladikavlas, Northern Caucasia:

"Brigands derailed a mail train tonight near Grozny. They fired on the passengers, killing 12 and wounding 20, after which they looted the train and decamped with the mails."

Cossacks Raid Socialists.

Warsaw, Oct. 30.—Cossacks arrested 120 Polish Socialists at a Jewish bund meeting in a forest near Pabianice, in the Government of Petrokoff, Saturday morning.

When the news reached Pabianice workmen attempted to rescue their comrades.

The troops fired and one workman was killed and 28 were wounded.

To Assist Mail Service.

Stockholm, Oct. 30.—The Russian Government has requested the Swedish Government to facilitate the transmission of the most important mails for the Continent, but another steamer is not available. A small Finnish pilot boat arrived here yesterday, bringing mails from St. Petersburg.

Gapon Returning.

Stockholm, Oct. 30.—It is reported that the Russian priest, Father Gapon, has left Christiania for the Continent.

Order Restored at Reval.

Reval, Russia, Oct. 30.—Order has been restored here on the Governor promising to withdraw the troops from the streets and to liberate those who have been arrested.

Crisis Exaggerated.

New York, Oct. 30.—The Herald prints the following from Berlin:

"The impression is gaining ground here that the newspapers, especially the English ones, are once again exaggerating the condition of affairs in Russia.

"A startling instance of this is The Standard, which insinuates that the Czar is preparing for flight, which is the furthest degree possible removed from the truth, which is that St. Petersburg of all points in the Empire has been the town in which law and order have been fully maintained.

"In the best informed circles the conviction is felt that Russia, with a combination of concessions, coupled with energetic measures, will successfully emerge from her undoubtedly serious position."

The inquest into the case of an employee of a firm of wool-combers of Bedford, England, who died from anthrax, revealed the fact that a great part of the human hair used artificially is imported from China. There was no guarantee that it had been cut from healthy persons. It might come from those who had suffered from the plague, or some contagious disease.

Pleasant Evening Was Spent

At Home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Braden, of Smith Township.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Thompson Braden, of lot 20, concession 6, Smith Township, Friday night, when about forty of the neighbours assembled there.

The occasion was the coming removal of Mr. Braden to Lakefield, where he has purchased the residence formerly occupied by Mr. Samuel Wallace.

The evening was spent in music, games and other amusements, after which an oyster supper was served, and needless to say greatly enjoyed by those present.

On their departure the guests united in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Braden their best wishes for a happy and prosperous future in their new home.

Good Music At St. John's

The musical features of the services at St. John's are becoming very satisfactory under the very effective direction of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot. At the morning offertory Miss Henderson, of Belleville, late soloist of the cathedral, Hamilton, sang with splendid effect the "Rest in the Lord," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Her treatment of this beautiful solo was artistically and expressionally satisfying. At the offertory in the evening, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," scored as a duet and chorus, was sung, Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot and Mr. Morphet taking the duet with exquisite harmony and expression. The piece is quite simple, but melodious, and well adapted in devotional spirit of the theme, and when sung as beautifully as was done last night is exceedingly pleasing. The chorus work of the choir was also excellent.

125 Men Are Licensed To Shoot Deer

Large Number of Parties Left This Morning.

Many Will Go This Week—List of Licensed Holders.

The departure of the hunters was heralded this morning at the local railway station, and, in fact, in all sections of the city by the commotion incident to the shipment of hounds, guns, provisions, and the motley impedimenta, which go to make up a hunting camp. The number of nimrods who have left for the woods is much larger than ever before.

One hundred and twenty-five licenses have been issued in Peterborough, and this number will undoubtedly be greatly augmented during the present week. In addition to the list of those who have already taken out licenses, are the following:

D. Baptie, Geo. E. Williamson, George Morrow, Wm. Cavenat, A. Rigger, A. Kinnan, Sam. Wainwright, Ernest Mason, M. D. Wallace, Dr. McClelland, J. H. Kendry, D. Walker, J. E. Henderson, J. H. Mr. W. B. Warne has, it is understood, purchased the lease of the store, at present occupied by Mr. Douglas, the George street shoe man, and as soon as the latter has disposed of his stock, will take possession of the two stores, enlarging his present business. He has found the store he has occupied since he opened business too small for his expanding business, hence the necessity for acquiring the adjoining store. An archway between the two stores will be made.

The Y.M.C.A. orchestra led the song service and added not a little to the life and impressiveness of the meeting.

Brighton Now Wants Outlet Of The Canal

Reeves of Brighton and Percy Want Proposed Route Surveyed.

Claim That it is the Cheapest and Shortest Route.

Brighton, Oct. 30.—It is reported that the Reeves of Brighton and Percy have made application to the Minister of Railways and Canals to have a route inspected from the River Trent, near the village of Hastings, or the east end of Rice Lake, to Brighton, on Presque Isle Bay. It is claimed that this would be the shortest and cheapest route for the terminus of the Trent Valley Canal, as there is a deep valley, some time, no doubt, the bed of a river, all the way from Presque Isle Bay to the River Trent and there would be no rock to excavate.

10 OFF DRESS GOODS
and Dress Material

Here's some of the Good Luck that comes to shoppers from a backward season. During the month of November we have decided to allow 10 per cent. off on all purchases of Dress Goods and Dress Material intended to be made up in our Dress-Making Department.

If the weather conditions had been different, we would not think of making this offer. As it is, we imported an unusually extensive stock of Dress Goods for early Fall wear, but the remarkably mild weather of the past six weeks has delayed the volume of buying of heavy Dress stuffs. The result is that our stock is heavier than we care to carry at this late date.

Just as the weather is becoming colder, we hold out the above extra inducement and feel sure of a business that will double the sales of November.

We have increased our dressmaking staff and strengthened our selling capacity---commensurate with our growth in trade.

Another Old Cavan Resident Passes Away

Thomas Grandy Died in Millbrook Yesterday.

Most Prminent Public Man in Cavan Township.

Another of the prominent residents of the Township of Cavan has passed away in the person of Mr. Thomas Grandy, a native of Cavan, and one of the most highly respected citizens. The deceased was about 60 years of age, and had for the past two years been ill, having been confined to his bed for months with paralysis. He was a son of the late John Grandy, also of Cavan Township. Mrs. Grandy was a daughter of the late Charles Cathcart, of Cavan, and she, with a family of three daughters and two sons, survives him. Mr. Grandy's death occurred yesterday at his home in Millbrook, where for some years he had resided.

The late Mr. Grandy was some years ago president of the East Durham Conservative Association, and was a prominent member of that party. His death removes another of the old landmarks of the Township of Cavan.

Hardware Prices Will Be Reduced

The important business deal, in connection with the hardware trade of this city, which was referred to briefly yesterday is, it is understood making good progress and while the Examiner is not at liberty to give the details, it is understood that there will be a radical reduction in the price of certain lines of hardware in the city in the near future.

ST. PETERSBURG REJOICES
OVER THE MANY NEWLY GRANTED LIBERTIES

All the Troops Have Been Withdrawn From City's Streets--Workmen by Thousands Have Flocked Back to the Shops and Factories--DeWitte Modest Over His Success--Advises His Admirers to Wait.

Special to The Examiner.

St. Petersburg, October 31. — All the troops have been withdrawn from the streets, and the city has assumed its normal appearance. Workmen by the thousands have flocked back to the shops and factories. The authorities are doing all in their power to encourage the spirit of rejoicing over the newly granted liberties. Count Witte has been showered with congratulations, but he says, "Wait; reserve your congratulations until I have succeeded." The Social Democrats are urging their excited followers not to be tricked by the Government but to keep up the fights.

Clothes Line Thieves
ARE MAKING DEPREDATIONS In Peterborough

Two Local Residents Lost Considerable Property Last Night—Mr. Thorndyke Had Fifteen Articles Stolen —Mrs. T. D. Mulholland a Heavier Loser—Childrea's Wearing Apparel the Choice of the Thieves—Police Are on Track of the Guilty Parties.

There seems to be a gang of clothes line thieves operating in the city, and a number of persons have been reporting articles taken from their lines during the past few nights.

The depredation commenced at the Cavanagh House have already been referred to, and it apepars that last night some further thefts were made. Mrs. Thorndyke, 459 Stewart street had a line full of clothes out during the night, and this morning when she went to take them in she found that she was minus about fifteen articles, principally children's clothing, though towels and other articles were taken.

She heard nothing unusual during the night and knew of nothing out of the ordinary happening, until she went out this morning.

It is rather a singular fact that while Mrs. Thorndyke's neighbours, Mrs. Sutcliffe on the north side, and Mrs. Emmerson on the South, had clothes on the line also, they lost nothing.

Mrs. T. D. Mulholland, who lives in the same vicinity, however, was not so fortunate, and she lost almost the whole washing which was allowed to remain out over night. Her loss will be more serious than that of Mrs. Thorndyke, since almost everything on the line was taken.

The thieves, whoever they are, seem to have a special liking for children's apparel, since they confine their takings to those garments almost entirely.

The matter has been reported to the police department and the members of the force will do all in their power to discover who the guilty parties are.

The Machine Telephones
WILL SHORTLY BE Installed In Brantford

The Telephone City Will Follow Peterborough in the Adoption of the Automatic 'Phone—The Deputation From Brantford to This City Greatly Pleased—Recognize It As An Almost Ideal System—Unique and Popular—The Company Intends to Put Plant in Brantford Next.

(Brantford Expositor.)

"Brantford will be the next point at which we will seek a franchise."

This was the statement of Mr. M. McPherson, of the Automatic Machine Telephone Company this morning. Brief as the statement is it is one of the most important that has been been made in the telephone line in Brantford in some time.

As will be seen by another item in the Expositor to-day the officials of the company, which has considerable local capital involved in it, paid a visit to Peterborough last week and inspected the new system that has just been installed in that city.

To say that they were delighted with the manner in which it is working is putting it mildly. The system is now in operation although, of course, there are not yet very many subscribers. But these will come in time and the outlook is decidedly bright, according to the statements of the officials.

An inspection of the plant and the system in the working order proved very interesting. The people are well pleased with the new invention and declare that it works with greater promptness and precision than any other they have ever seen.

"We intend to get things running well in Peterborough," said Mr. McPherson, "and then we will come to Brantford. It is certainly our intention to put in a plant here. When there are more subscribers in Peterborough a local deputation will be taken down to inspect it.

A peculiar point of interest that was mentioned by Mr. McPherson was the device for notifying a subscribthat a number which he wants is "busy." By some mechanical triumph the company has succeeded in humanizing the machinery. If a subscriber tries to call up a line which is being used the machine automatically responds with the word "busy." This is a wonder to Peterborough people.

It should be remembered that this new system is automatic. The subscriber calls up the party to whom he wishes to speak by means of a device in his own home. There is no central in the business at all. The system is at once unique and popular.

Mr. N. D. Neil, who is also interested in the invention and the installation of plants in other cities, is now in Europe, but will return to Brantford by about the first of the year. It is likely that some move will be made by the company early in the year with a view to getting a competitive franchise in this city and installing a plant and system during 1906.

Campbellford Looks With Jealous Eyes

The Campbellford Despatch says:—"Industry after industry is coming to Peterborough, while Campbellford gets nothing. The former town is destined to become a great city some day if we are to judge by the manner in which it is growing at present. Campbellford with all its superb natural facilities for manufacturing is the cinderella among Ontario towns. There seems to be little or no effort on the part of our business men to relieve its forlorn condition. Apathy and indifference are to a great extent responsible for this condition of affairs. If the business interests could only realize the commercial possibilities of our water power they would not be long in finding a way to develop them."

St. Majestic Runs Foul Of Locks Gate

No. 2. Lock Injured by Collision Last Night.

The Injury Will be Slight and Will be Repaired To-day.

Yesterday afternoon about dusk, an accident occurred at No. 2 lock, south of Lakefield, when the Majestic, towing a scow load of wood to Peterborough, ran foul of the lower gate on the lock, and displaced it from its hangings.

Word was sent to this city to the canal officials and divers were despatched to the scene of the accident to repair the damages to the lock.

The steamer was uninjured, and it is expected that the lock will be repaired and ready for use again by to-night, so that navigation will not be interrupted to any appreciable extent.

An Anstruther Youth Was Touched For $5

Laid the Money on the Bar and it Mysteriously Disappeared.

W. Stevenson Acquitted of the Charge of Stealing It—Not Strong Enough Evidence.

As there was not sufficient evidence against him, Wm. Stevenson was acquitted on a charge of stealing five dollars from an Anstruther youth.

The young man walked into the City Hotel bar last evening and was there accosted by Stevenson who asked him to buy a ticket on a raffle for a horse and buggy. He pulled out five dollars and laid it on the bar. His attention was attracted by something else for a moment, and when he turned, presto change! the money had vanished. He accused Stevenson of the theft, and the latter, resenting the accusation, ejected him. There was not sufficient evidence to convict the prisoner and the case was dismissed.

Semi-ready tailors do but one thing—but they do that perfectly.

Merchant tailors cannot tailor by the Semi-ready method ---clothing manufacturers won't, it would cost them too much.

Semi-ready garments are tailored by teams of experts. Each tailor is a specialist, working only on that part of a garment at which he is a master.

Thus each Semi-ready garment passes through the hands of about 35 different experts. Each tailors only that part which he can do best, so that the completed garment is the perfection of high class tailoring in every detail. 514

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those perse s who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $ 300, to $ 8000, for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $ 1000, to $ 3,00. Farms also we have for sale. Do not overlook the fact that we buy and sell any listed stock on any Exchange and that our present Correspondents are J. R. HENRY & CO. of Buffalo, N. Y. Established in 1873.

LINDSAY EXISTS BY THE TRENT CANAL

Example of Town Depending on Canal Supplies for Trade--No Hard Wood in South--Lumbermen Driven North for Maple and Birch--Geperal Traffic at Fenelon Falls and Young's Point--Types of Lock Stations on Trent Valley Canal System--Reduction in Railway Rates Through Canal Competition.

The Globe correspondent, continuing his series of articles on the local aspects of the Trent Canal, says:

Lindsay, Oct. 27.—No point on the whole Trent Valley Canal system is so dependent upon the inland waterways as this thriving town.

"Without the canal," said one of the chief lumber merchants to your correspondent, "we would have to shut down the mills, and that would kill Lindsay." Lindsay, it may be said, supports 7,000 people, and has no intention of being killed. As in Peterborough and other places, the completion of the canal southwards is expected to bring about a revolution here in freight rates, and the chief bearing of this remark is on its application to the coal trade. Canal competition with the railways, it is believed, will prove beneficial all round, for the traffic at present is taxed all it can carry, if the testimony of the merchants is to be accepted.

The backbone of Lindsay enterprise is its lumber milling industries, among which the Baker Brion, the Rider & Kitchener, the Kennedy and the veneer factories are chief. They cut 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of lumber and 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 shingles, besides 100,000 to 125,000 railway ties and 60,000 to 70,000 fence posts in the season, and six or eight thousand cords of wood. All the good timber adjacent to the railway lines has been cleared out, and the lumbermen have to go north for a hundred miles for logs of a quality they want. An agitation is afoot to open the Gull River. A lock at Coboconk would open this route to Midland, and the feature of this connection with the canal system is the innumerable lakes that are strung together in the north land in a far-reaching network which encloses one of the richest and most extensive lumber regions in the Province. Cordwood is to be had on the Gull waters in immense quantities. The hardwood of the district is very valuable, but as it does not float, and it does not pay to haul on the cars, the canal barges are the only means to make it available.

"There are millions and millions of feet of hardwood timber there," said an official of the Lindsay Board of Trade. "It would cost very little to open Gull River, which would then form a reservoir for the whole canal." As it is, logs are brought from away north down by Bobcaygeon from the Squaw River and other points on the vast territory which could not be reached otherwise than by the canal.

When the timber was all cut on the lower lakes it was thought that Lindsay would soon be defunct, but these northern forests maintain the vitality of her trade, and she continues to flourish. One of the aldermen who comes from Oxford County expressed his opinion:

Converted on the Spot.

"When I was down in Oxford County I was like all the men there, and thought the canal was a political dodge. I have been converted since coming to Lindsay. The town depends on it, and for the country generally there is nothing more important."

During the season the locks are opened from 25 to 50 times a day. The passenger trade is large, Lindsay being the beginning of the canal for this trade, tourists either coming here or to Lakefield to go north through the lakes. From the south there is no heavy traffic, Port Perry, on Lake Scugog, being the only shipping point of importance. A new lock is needed in this direction, as it is complained that the leaking of the old one lowers the water level. The boat runs twice a week from Port Perry, carrying grain, peas, and farm produce, and the trade is increasing. The Beall Leather Company, who have the only tannery on the lakes, use the canal to collect tanbark. They would use the Gull River resources, where tanbark is very plentiful, were that source available.

Mr. Alex. Horn, who has travelled extensively over the northern territory, describes Haliburton as the best grazing land he knows. There is no finer sheep farming country in Canada than back on the rocks of this country, and fine wool is produced. Wolves and bears are unknown. This wool trade contributes in some degree to the canal traffic, and is of importance at Young's Point.

Farmers Own Launches Now.

Launch traffic is increasing on the canal at a great rate, and even the farmers are getting launches to come to town in preference to teaming. The gasoline or other launch enables the farmer to live in a quite out-of-the-way place and yet have convenient access to town. Mr. William Mackenzie's fine launch, with headquarters at Kirkfield, is seen in many directions. Stone is brought down to Lindsay from Kirkfield, and lime also comes on the canal. There is a small local fish traffic, and cement is shipped by the barges.

It is believed that a big mineral traffic will eventually be developed from the north, especially when the coal trade is open. Mr. Horn is enthusiastic about the quality of the iron ore on Scrabble Lake, Digby Township, capable, he says, of making the best razor steel. From Scrabble mountain, where the ore is obtained, a view of a dozen lakes is to be had, but there is no outlet yet by rail or canal for the natural wealth of the district. On Mud Turtle Lake molybdenite is found in paying quantities, and asbestos, mica and other minerals are plentiful. The beauty of the scenery on these innumerable lakes is already well known, and Killarney is said to be reflected in an endless chain of picturesque sheets of water which spread through the region.

While some electric power is developed at Lindsay, the town gets its light and power from Fenelon Falls, which bears a similar relation to Lindsay that Young's Point does to Peterborough. The distance is fourteen miles, and with about 22 feet head 1,600 horsepower is developed out of a potentiality of 2,000. Fenelon Falls has a power house of its own capable of 600 horsepower, only a third of which is in actual use. A rate of $18 a horsepower for one, five or other small quantities of power offers advantageous manufacturing opportunities, and for blocks of 25 horsepower or more even better terms are promised.

Freight Biggest Factor.

Freight rates, however, play a more important part in manufacturing than the cost of power, and canal communication is consequently a matter of consideration at Fenelon Falls. The furniture factory established there ships large quantities east, and would prefer the water route, not only on account of rates, but because there is less knocking around of the goods. The granite quarries on Burnt River ship four cars a day by rail, and will use the canal when it is available. The chemical company at Fenelon Falls, whose product goes to Antwerp via Montreal and Quebec, ship a car every two weeks of wood alcohol, or 600 barrels a month, besides acetate of lime and charcoal. The company use 25 cords of wood a day, and a car a day of soft wood, ash, pine and hemlock, for fuel. Timber which is too far from the railway could be brought down in barges to their docks when the route is opened. The chair factory, which uses hardwood, birch and maple, and turns out a car a day, is also looking to the north lands for timber. Engineer Walsh of the Department of Canals, when surveying the Gull River route from Coboconk to Minden, believed it would suit the hardwood trade by giving access to a region where the timber is plentiful.

Besides the forest products and the considerable passenger traffic, on which a steamer passes the locks three times a week, Fenelon Falls has not at present much canal trade. The want of an outlet is given as a reason for this. Peterborough would buy oats. Toronto would take farm stock. Hay and straw in good years are shipped at present. Beaverton has a peat factory looking for transportation.

But lumber and timber are the chief traffic, rough lumber coming down, and the dressed product going up. One to two hundred thousand bricks are taken up in a season, and this year two scows of chop, about 50 tons, went up from Lindsay, while 1,200 cords of wood came down. More wood goes through the Bobcaygeon locks for Lindsay, and a lot from Harvey township.

Only one or two shipments of grain have passed through Fenelon in ten years, and this was for the local mill during the wheat famine. It is believed that the local grain traffic will never amount to very much for the canal, as navigation closes down before the farmers are done threshing, and they prefer to wait for the snow and the sleighing to Lindsay, and avoid the extra handling.

Cheese Shipped at Young's Point.

At Young's Point, five miles beyond Lakefield, the lockage is fairly representative of the canal traffic. In the seven months' season over 2,000 lockages are recorded, the figures being: May, 89; June, 303; July, 440; August, 401; September, 400, while October will be about the same, and November about one-fourth. The low water in September, which has the minimum depth for the year, is over six feet on the sill. Here, as at other points wood is the principal freight. Basswood headings for cheese boxes, hard wood, soft wood, for fuel, and wood for a Deseronto chemical company, were the main items. Of firewood there were 4000 cords this summer, and 500,000 feet of lumber. One shipment of grain a year is recorded. Two cheese factories ship in alternate weeks four tons a week each from the opening of the season, and there will be three or four factories next year. One factory ships to Glasgow, transhipping at Lakefield. The first shipment of hogs came down this year from Buckhorn, in one scow load. Granite paving blocks are made at quarries seven and fifteen miles north of Young's Point, and the canal if opened would encourage this industry.

"They ship blocks from Graniteville, Quebec, to Toronto, and an open canal would let us into that market," said one who was interested.

None of this trade comes from north of Burleigh. Three steamers in the passenger business account for sick lockages a day during the season, and yachts, launches, lumbermen's tugs and eighty scows of wood make up most of the remainder.

Effect on Railway Rates.

"The people to the north depend largely on their cattle and more sheep are raised than hogs, as was also stated in Peterborough. There were five shipments of wool this year by Young's Point, but wool usually goes by rail from Coe Hill. The farmers are alive to the value of the canal and would like to see it completed. Before it was opened only 300 or 400 cords of wood a year were shipped. This has grown to 4000. Telegraph poles and cedar and hemlock ties will be shipped with the opening of through traffic. Mica mines at the head of Stony Lake are to be opened this year.

The effect of the canal on freight rates is proven by the reduction made from Lakefield to Peterborough. The rate was 2 1-2 cents a hundred for wood before scow competition and is now 1 1-2 cents. Among the general store merchandise — flour, feed, salt and a little coal shipped north from Young's Point on the canal — an example is mentioned of a Clydesdale storekeeper who finds it more profitable to ship by the canal by way of the Point to Mount Julian and team his goods about 25 miles beyond that in preference to taking the railway lines to Coe Hill and teaming ten miles.

Life Would Have More Happiness

If The Liver Were Kept Active By the Use Of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Most people realize that, if they could only avoid the suffering of indigestion and keep the bowels regular and active life would have for them much more of comfort and happiness.

We believe that these results are best accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and let us tell you why.

It is the liver, which, by filtering bile from the blood and passing it into the intestines, ensures good digestion, and the natural, healthful action of the bowels. Keep the liver active, and you are sure of the proper working of the digestive and excretory systems.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver. By invigorating this great filtering organ they guarantee the collection of bile from the blood, where it is poison, and the passing of it to the intestines, where it is necessary for digestion and a proper action of the bowels.

It is not as a mere relief from indigestion and constipation that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are recommended, but as a thorough and lasting cure. Put them to the test. The dose is one pill at bed time, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels regular.

Mr. J. Edwards, of Colborne, Ont., and who is employed by the Kennedy and Dow's Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., states:—"I have been taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for some time, and can positively say that they are the best medicine I ever used. I was troubled very very much with my kidneys and had dreadful pains in my back, which were increased by leaning over.

"I can testify to the exceptional merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills because they have cured me, and shall gladly recommend them to anyone enquiring about them."

Tea Flavor and Strength

THE greater body and richness of Indian tea when combined with the delicately flavored but thinner tea of Ceylon, produces that "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea—a tea that is strong and goes further—requires less to make a cup of equal strength than any brand of Ceylon tea alone.

Red Rose Tea combines the strength and richness of Indian tea and the delicacy and fragrance of Ceylon tea.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Speaks On "Civic Christianity"

Former Peterborough Clergyman Gives Views on Live Questions.

The Duty of Citizens—Standard of Riches a Perverted View.

"Civic Christianity" was the theme of a thoughtful and able address delivered last Sunday by Rev. Dr. Symonds at the service in Christ Church Cathedral, says the Montreal Star. In choosing this topic Dr. Symonds said that he felt that he spoke in a two-fold capacity—as a minister of the Gospel seeking to explain the principles of Christianity so far as they applied to our acts as citizens, and, again, as a citizen to citizens, with the simple desire that whatever might be said might be in the best interests of the city. With the great growth that has come to the cities with the changed social and industrial conditions of the last century new conceptions of the possibilities of the city, of the duties of citizenship and the functions of those who governed the city were arising.

The city was not a mass of isolated units, but its people had common interests, rights, needs. There were all classes in the city—rich, poor, learned, ignorant, all varieties—and all were called upon to behave worthily as good citizens and aid in the upbuilding of the city. There was a need among men for a truer and loftier idea of well-being. In the mind of the majority the standard was riches, a perverted view which had destroyed many rich and noble cities in the past. To-day it was degrading many great and noble cities also, and it would at the last result in their destruction.

Dr. Symonds dwelt on the importance of imbuing the mind of the rising generation with the honour and dignity of citizenship, its duties and responsibilities. The city was a family and each citizen should seek to promote the family interest. That the strong should help the weak, the rich the poor, was the ideal of every Christian city.

In the course of his remarks, Dr. Symonds said: "The spirit of Jesus Christ is displayed, not of necessity in words or in form, but in honest endeavour to carry out high and holy ideals. We who are strong ought to bear the burdens of the weak. Guided by that lofty ideal, we may rest assured the affairs of the city and of other cities will be so ordered and settled upon the best and surest foundations, that not riches only but peace and happiness, truth and justice, religoin and piety, may be established among us for all generations."

Were Wedded In Kinmount

Daughter of Rural Dean Soward Married to Mr. G. V. Lancaster.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. James' Church Kinmount, on Wednesday morning, Oct. 25th, when Miss Beatrice Maud Soward, youngest daughter of Rural Dean and Mrs. Soward was united in marriage to Mr. George V. Lancaster, of Bobcaygeon.

The ceremony was conducted by the bride's father. The Church was very prettily decorated with flowers; Miss Bertha Hopkins played the wedding march in her usual exquisite style. The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. H. E. T. Soward, of Minden, wore a pretty gown of white silk colleano, with accordeon pleated chiffon, and a tulle veil caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by Miss Edith Wellstood, who looked charming in a dress of pale green crepe-de-chine with embroidered chiffon. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Howard Lancaster, while Miss Beatrice Train, niece, and Master Clifford Soward, nephew, of bride, carried small baskets of flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the parsonage, where about fifty guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. Afterwards the happy couple left on the afternoon train for Peterborough and Ottawa, and on their return will reside in Bobcaygeon. The bride's travelling suit was of grey ladies cloth, with blouse and hat to match.

The widening of Piccadilly has been the means of showing the enormous value of land in the centre of London, the sum paid by the London county council for a small area, which, of course, was built upon, working out at $170 a square foot. This is believed to be the record, but as it included compensation for disturbance it cannot be compared with the prices paid in Cornhill, which is the highest rented spot on earth, a single room having been let recently for $10,000 a year.

Italian newspapers state that a judge of Ascoli has requested the Italian consul general in New York to take the sworn evidence of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and Dr. Roversi, secretary of the Metropolitan Museum, New York, with a view to discovering the original vendor of the Nicholas IV. cope, which, it will be remembered, was purchased by Mr. Morgan and restored by him to Italy when he learned it had been stolen.

Mr. Fred. Ray Has Returned

After Year and a Half Residence in Manitoba.

Mr. Fred Ray, brother of Mr. S. Ray, tobacconist, Hunter street, returned on Saturday from Glen Allen, Man., where he has resided since the departure from Peterborough about a year and a half ago.

Mr. Ray is in particularly good health after his sojourn in the west. Speaking to the Examiner this morning with regard to western crop conditions, he states that though the harvest has been a phenomenally large one the wheat prices are somewhat below the point reached last year. The price at the time of his departure was 72 cents per bushel, whereas last year it was in the vicinity of 85 cents. Though the yield has been enormous the railways have so far experienced comparatively little difficulty in moving it, owing to the many line extensions, and increased facilities.

Mr. Ray's brother is a successful business man in Glen Allen, which is situated upon the Canadian Northern Railway.

Mr. Ray naturally finds wonderful development and many startling changes in western conditions since his previous visit to the country, a quarter of a century ago. He will probably remain in Peterborough during the winter months.

Yearly Festival At St. John's

St. John's Annual Parochial Festival will be held during November — the seventieth anniversary of the opening of St. John's church and the twenty-third anniversary of its re-opening after complete restoration on Nov. 1st, 1882.

Three special preachers will assist in the celebration of the festival. On Sunday, Nov. 5th, the preacher will be Rev. T. W. Powell, M.A., Toronto. On Nov. 12th the preacher will be Rev. C. E. Ryerson, of Tokyo, Japan, and on Sunday the 19th Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, will be the preacher. He will also give a lecture on Monday night, Nov. 20th, on "Leading Ideas in the Life of Lord Beaconsfield."

RUSSIA.

The latest news from Russia is more revolution — but this time a benign revolution. If the news received is reliable, the reign of tyranny is at an end, and the rights of the people to self-government, have been recognized.

The reports state that the weak-kneed Czar has issued a manifesto, has nominated Count Witte president of the ministry, and granted civic liberty, legislative authority to the national assembly, and extension of electoral rights. The Czar deserves no credit, if he has taken this step; he was forced to it, in order to save his weak head, and prevent the total overthrow of his tottering throne. That this concession will pacify Russia is not so certain. The Czar's concessions may be regarded by the people as unsatisfactory half measures, and the popular ignorance is so dense — the people are so brutalized by centuries of oppression, that they may not understand what is offered, and the threatened revolution, which has been hovering over Russia, may become a bloody reality. Once let the Russian people, with the semi-dormant Tartar instinct, taste blood, and he would be a wise prophet who would venture to predict what the horrible results would be. If the Czar has really, as reported, granted some sort of constitutional government to his people, the latter have to thank Japan as the indirect instrument. The humiliation of Russia in the late war, and the rottenness of the Russian bureaucracy it brought to light, lit the smouldering embers of popular discontent, and signalized the present as an opportune moment to demand popular rights — when the autocracy was demoralized and smashed.

Russia is the target of the world's gaze to-day, and we may expect for some time to come the most gruesome intelligence. It is not probable that so great a revolution can be accomplished in an hour, or peacefully, either, and no doubt the cable, from this time onward will be burdened with reports of grave disorders and loss of life and suffering. The birth of a nation will doubtless be attended with labour pangs, and it will be a mercy if the new nation comes into being without a baptism of blood and fire.

To Celebrate The Re-opening

To-morrow Will be the 25th Anniversary of St. John's Re-opening.

To-morrow, All Saints' Day, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the re-opening of St. John's church will be celebrated. At 10 o'clock holy communion will be celebrated, while at 8 o'clock p.m. in the church a special service will be held. This service will take the form of a memorial, and will be a preparation for the communion.

Miss Rosa McAhan, of 211 West Quartz street, Butte, Mont., says: "Herpicide has thoroughly cleansed my scalp of dandruff, with which it was entirely covered; and it has stopped my falling hair. I have tried many different preparations in the past two years, but none took effect except Newbro's Herpicide." Dandruff is a germ disease and Herpicide is an infallible destroyer of the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Kill the dandruff germ. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It is a delightful dressing; allays itching; makes the hair soft as silk. THE ANGLICAN CHURCH AND ITS ATTITUDE UPON THE DIVORCE QUESTION

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preached Sunday Night on "Modern Society and Marriage"--Modern Tendency is to Look Upon Marriage as a Mere Contract--Two Kinds of Divorces--Inclination to Think Only of Personal Convenience and to Ignore the Laws of God--A Large Attendence at Sunday Night's Service.

Sunday night in St. Luke's church, the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M. A., preached the third of his series of sermons on "Modern Society," the subject of his discourse being "Modern Society and Marriage." The church was well filled, an evidence of the fact that the public interest in this seriess of sermons is increasing. The text on the sermon was,—Ephes. v; 32—"This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the Church."

In part the speaker sai: The subject on which I wish to speak to-night is Holy Matrimony, and there is no subject on which in the present day, more might be said and needs to be said. With the limited time at my disposal it is impossible to deal with the subject adequately. I must content myself mainly with a statement of general principles, for details, which arise out of the subject, would scarcely be a fitting topic for a public utterance.

In referring to "Modern Society" I wish it to be clearly understood that I am not confining myself to the higher walk of life, nor to the humbler, but that the term implies all sorts and conditions of people of worldly tendencies.

The whole fabric of our social life rests upon the basis of the family, and that the basis of the family is, in a Christian sense, Holy Matrimony.

Matrimony is the oldest institution of the human race, instituted by God before the fall. When the Pharisees approached our Lord Jesus Christ with a question concerning the putting away of their wives. He answered them in words which threw them back upon the primeval marriage law given by God Himself to Adam, and added as His own Divine ordinance for the Christian church:—"Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore, God has joined together, let not man put asunder."

Thus we learn that the institution of the Holy Matrimony is coeval with the history of the human race, and that our Lord re-stated the fundamental principle of Holy Matrimony as one of the foundations of Christian society. Now, matrimony has been regarded by different people at different times in very different aspects. The point I wish to emphasize is that the only safeguard of society to-day, the only remedy for the scandals and abuses which shock the moral sense of Christians, and disgrace the annals of our country is to fall back upon the fundamental principle of Holy Matrimony that it is indissoluble; to recognise, to enforce, to reiterate the sacred character, the religious character of Holy Matrimony. To the Christian Holy Matrimony is an ordinance of grace. To quote the words of a great Bishop of the church: "The fact must be insisted on that as Christ cleanseth the Church by the Sacrament of Baptism, so marriage has a cleansing power over the individual lives, which absorbing to Christ's ordinance, enter into this sacred relationship."

"The true minister in every marriage is God Himself, the human minister is but the official witness on the part of the church to an act performed by God." As it is God who brought Eve to Adam, and gave her to be his wife, so now it is God who with invisible hand ties the knot of the marriage bond.

All this is too often forgotten by modern society, who look upon matrimony as a mere contract, which the parties who make it are at liberty to break, with the sanction of the State. From the fundamental truth, "They twain shall be one flesh," issues the necessary corollary, "Those whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder." This is the decree of God Incarnate for the Christian Church. It is forgetfulness of these fundamental truths, or deliberate disregard of them, which has permitted the successful inroads which have been made by the civil power upon the divine law of marriage more especially in the matter of divorce and subsequent re-marriage.

Divorce is of two kinds. There is the divorce which is recognised by the canons of the Church, which is nothing more than a judicial separation, with the understanding that both parties will not marry again during the life-time of the other. This is the unrepealed law of the Church of England, which is binding upon church people. At the recent session of the General Synod, the House of Bishops and the Lower House, passed a canon prohibiting the clergy to marry divorced persons while the other party was living.

Then, there is the divorce sanctioned by the State, which in defiance of God's law, pretends to dissolve the marriage bond so completely that either party can marry again. This is plainly opposed by Holy Scripture. St. Paul, in the Epistle to the Romans, says: "A woman which hath a husband is bound by the law to her husband, so long as he liveth; so then, if, while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adultress." The same principle must manifestly hold good in the case of the man as in that of the wife. There can be no escape from this position for those Christians who would be true to their faith. The Bible, the Church, the Prayer Book, all alike, declare the marriage bond to be indissoluble, because it is of the type of the indissoluble union between Christ and the Church. No matter what the civil power may do, it cannot undo the act. It can withdraw the consent, which, as the guardian of the social order it gave to the contract between the man and the woman; it cannot annul the moral contract made by that man and woman in the presence of God. The Church may recognise the need of separation between those whose union it witnessed; but the Church itself cannot dissolve the union of those whom God hath made one.

It is all part of the tendency of modern society to think only of its own convenience, and to ignore the laws of God; to adopt a low standard with regard to holy matrimony, and to regard it as a mere civil contract, instead of as a divine institution.

Mrs. Hubbard Believed To Have Won Race

Conviction That This Former Peterborough Lady Has Beaten Wallace.

Took Up the Work Started by Her Late Husband—A Plucky Lady.

Halifax, N.S. Oct., 30.—Last spring Dillon Wallace, of New York, and Mrs. Hubbard, set out in rival expeditions to carry on exploration work in far Labrador, in prosecuting which Leonidas Hubbard perished. A. R. Burgess, customs house officer at Rigolette, Labrador, who is in Halifax, said to-day: "Wallace's expedition is, I believe, a failure and possibly members of the party may meet the fate that overtook poor Hubbard. On the other hand, it seems as it Mrs. Hubbard and her party have reached their destination. When I came away from Northwest River she was at Ungava Bay, 350 miles distant, and 170 miles from Lake Michemachi, the objective point of her expedition. An Indian, who met both parties in the interior and brought the news to Northwest river, declares that Wallace's party was then on the wrong track, and that if they continued to follow it they would be lost or come out on the sea shore hundreds of miles away from it. On the way to Halifax from Northwest River, Mr. Burgess says he met three of Wallace's company at Rigolette, where they had arrived on October 15, and their story was that the Indian was right in at least one of his predictions. The party did get lost, and were in that condition for twenty-seven days. Then their Indian guide refused to go further and returned with Richards and Stanton to the coast, while Wallace, with Eaton pushed on, in the hope of reaching George's River at a Hudson Bay post, taking food sufficient for three weeks. That was a month ago. It took the Indian guide, Stanton and Richards several days to get to the coast. Experienced hunters, Burgess adds, express the opinion that the two men will never, at this season of the year, with snow beginning to fall and winter setting in, reach George's River.

Mrs. Hubbard secured the best guides and largely to this must be attributed her fortunate position and perhaps ultimate success.

Remember the Writing Class at the Business College on Wednesday evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock. Mr. Pringle is about to publish a System of Penmanship, prepared by himself, and before doing so desires to give a thorough test. This accounts for the small fee of $3.00 being charged. Anyone wishing to improve in writing should join the class.

When the evening performance at the Parisiana and the Folies Borgeres in Paris were timed to begin recently the orchestras refused to "strike up," and in consequence the services of the mandolinists and other stage performers had to be requisitioned.

Cressman's

Anniversary And Re-opening Last Night

Delightful Concert at Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

Attendance Was Large and Affair Most Successful in Every Respect.

The concert in connection with the anniversary and re-opening of the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school took place last night in the handsome schoolroom of the church, which, in its new and greatly improved interior, provided a most excellent auditorium for the holding of the event.

The building was packed to the doors by the audience which assembled, and the concert was in every respect a gratifying success. The programme was most pleasing in its character, and was selected and arranged with excellent judgment, the different numbers, varied as they were in character, being so pleasingly arranged as to avoid any semblance of monotony, and it is safe to say that throughout its unusual length of fifteen numbers every moment was thoroughly enjoyed.

The programme presented was as follows:

PART I.

1. Orchestral Selection, Greig's Orchestra.
2. Solo—First Song in the Singers' Contest, from "Tannhauser"—Wagner. Mr. R. N. Jolliffe.
3. Reading—"Her First Shopping"—Miss Pearl O'Neil.
4. Violin Solo—"Scene de Ballet"—Chas. De Beriot. Master Harvey Gahan.
5. Solo—"Tears of Dew"—Kathleen Mayor. Miss Clara Belleghem.

PART II.

1. Piano Solo—Prof. Milner.
2. Reading—"The Bridge of Sighs"—Hanton. Miss Pearl O'Neil.
3. Solo—"Three for Jack"—Mr. R. N. Jolliffe.
4. Violin Solo—"La Fille du Regiment"—Chas de Beriot. Master Harvey Gahan.
5. Reading—"How Flossie Entertains"—Miss Pearl O'Neil.

PART III.

1. Orchestral Selection—Greig's Orchestra.
2. Solo—(a) "The Parting Hour"—Ellen Wright. (b) "The Song of April"—Speaks. Miss Clara Belleghem.
3. Violin Solo—Air with variations—Master Harvey Gahan.
4. Solo—"There Let Me Rest"—Mr. R. N. Jolliffe.
5. Reading—Selected—Miss Pearl O'Neil.

The opening selection by Greig's Orchestra was rendered with excellent ensemble effect, and to judge from last night's performance the success of this new organization is already assured. A fine artistic sympathy was noticeable, and though the orchestration was somewhat incomplete, the performance was excellent in interpretation and execution.

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe's reputation in Peterborough as a vocalist is such that it will be unnecessary to more than state that he never appeared in better voice nor sang with better effect than at last night's concert, to evidence the appreciation with which his numbers were received. In his opening number the First Song in the Singer's Contest, from "Tannhauser," the rising young local baritone was given a reception tantamount to an ovation. A very considerable improvement is noticeable in Mr. Jolliffe's work since his departure from Peterborough. His enunciation was good, while his interpretation evidenced an artistic sympathy. In his voice quality a decided improvement is noticeable. His second number, "Three for Jack," was received with enthusiastic manifestations of pleasure. The character of the composition appeared particularly suitable to the voice of the vocalist, and the rendition of its rollicking cadences appealed strongly to the audience. Mr. Jolliffe's concluding number was "There Let Me Rest," which was rendered with splendid effect.

Miss Pearl O'Neil is another artist who never fails to win the hearts of a Peterborough audience. Miss O'Neil, whether in monologue or in vocal musical numbers, won last night an equal appreciation. Her impersonations were charming, these being particularly happy in the representation of infantile preciousness. Her initial number was "Her First Shopping," and in the contrast between this and the one which followed, "The Bridge of Sighs," her charming versatility was evidenced.

Miss Clara Belleghem's vocal numbers won a well-merited appreciation from the audience. Her opening number was "Tears of Dew," which was rendered with charming expression and effect, and the singer was forced to respond to a hearty recall. Her second numbers were in many respects even more charming.

Master Harvey Gahan, who has appeared in Peterborough upon a previous occasion, more than sustained the reputation made at that time. For an artist of his years, his technical abilities are somewhat phenomenal. This was combined with a sympathetic interpretation. His bowing was accurate, and tone production in higher positions excellent.

Part II. of the programme was opened with a piano selection by Prof. Milner, which was rendered with charming expression and much technical brilliancy.

The arduous duties of accompanist were performed with artistic sympathy and interpretation by Miss Mabel Clarry, organist of the church. The accompaniments, it may be said, in many of the numbers were extremely difficult, and the demands upon the player were most exacting.

A most enjoyable evening was brought to a conclusion by the singing of the National Anthem.

An Address On Mission Work

Was Given at St. John's Young People's Society.

Last night's meeting of the Young People's Society of St. John's church was one of special interest, made so by the lecture given by Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore, who spoke on Mission work in some of the American cities, speaking with special reference to the work of St. John's Mission, Syracuse. He also referred to the work in New York and Rochester. Mr. Howard-Moore's address occupied about forty-five minutes, and was one of great interest. Mr. J. Pattie, the president of the society, was chairman, and also addressed the meeting briefly, as did also Rev. J. C. Davidson and Mr. W. Harold Clanton.

The meeting was well attended, and deep interest was manifested in the programme. The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 13.

A Successful Entertainment

Under Auspices of St. Luke's Girl's Guild.

A delightful entertainment given under the auspices of the St. Luke's Girls' Guild was held in the schoolroom of St. Luke's church last night. An excellent musical programme consisting of vocal and instrumental selections was presented. A large number was in attendance, and the various numbers on the programme were well received by the audience. An enjoyable feature of the evening's entertainment were the ta[illegible] ided over by members of the guild. The sale of work was large, and the affair a great success in every particular. The pumpkin pie table was looked after by Mrs. W. H. Andrews and Miss Emma Gaskins; the fancy work table by Miss M. Rogers and Miss McWha; the candy table by Misses Edna Rogers and Vivian Bennett; and the fish pond by Mrs. W. Boswell and Mrs. Violet Whittaker and Tily Scott. The accompanists of the evening were Mr. John L. Armstrong and Misses Louise English and K. Calcutt. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector, was a most acceptable chairman. The proceeds will be devoted to the missionary fund of the guild. Before the programme was rendered several much-appreciated selections were given by Messrs. Wilson Brothers' orchestra. The following programme was presented, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem:

Instrumental, Miss Butcher.
Duet, the Misses Goldey.
Duet, Misses D. Langfeldt and P. Long.
Solo, Miss Wilson.
Reading, Miss L. Browning.
Solo, Miss R. Dawson.
Bass Solo, Mr. Walter Wesley.
Duet, Miss Dorothy Langfeldt and Prudie Long.

The Girls' Guild of St. Luke's is in a very flourishing condition, and all functions under their auspices are well patronized. It is very encouraging to the rector and members of the guild that this is the case, for they are performing a good work in a most worthy field of labour.

An Improvement Is Recognized As Needed

Best Interests of the City Demand That Fire Fighting Appliances Be Procured—Joint Committee Discussed the Matter Fully Last Night—A Sub-Committee Appointed to Collect Data—Mr. Pritchard, the President of the London Fire Engine Manufacturers, Did Not Meet Committee.

The Joint Committee last night met and discussed fire protection matters, though Mr. Pritchard, the President of the Canadian Fire Engine Company, whom it was intended that the Committee should meet, was unable to be present, a telegram having been received from him by Ald. Johnston to the effect that he could not reach the city until the midnight train.

The meeting resolved itself largely into an informal discussion on the whole question of fire protection, and the only business accomplished was the appointment of a sub-committee composed of Aldermen Johnston, Hicks, Crowe and McIntyre and Messrs. Robt. Fair and W. H. Moore to ascertain details of the cost of the proposed improvements to the system and report later to the whole committee. It was thought advisable to take this course and in the meantime the resolution introduced by Mr. T. F. Matthews at the former meeting, as a notice of motion is allowed to stand until after the sub-committee has presented its report.

The general feeling among those present, on the resolution, however, was one of hearty approval.

Those present at the meeting were: Ald. Johnston, chairman; Mayor Best, Ald. Hall, McIntyre, Tovey, Crowe, Hicks and Adams, Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Robt. Fair, H. LeBrun, W. H. Moore and Superintendent Henderson of the Waterworks.

The whole situation was thoroughly discussed in an informal way, and the unanimous conclusion reached was that the city was very badly in need of improved fire protection, but it was felt that nothing definite could be done until the ratepayers had voted the sum required to place the fire-fighting appliances of the city upon the basis where the best interests of the city demanded that they shall be placed.

Are The Milk Dealers To Raise The Prices?

It is reported that there is a movement on foot among the milk dealers of the city to increase the price of that commodity to the consumers. It is stated that at a meeting of the milk dealers, held in Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Friday night, this question was discussed and an agreement was entered into, drawn up and signed, by which all the dealers in in this association will, on a certain date, increase the price of the milk.

It is further understood that the dealers are arranging to divide the city into districts and allot the districts to the different dealers so that there will be no overlapping as has been the case in the past, when three or four dealers have been covering the same ground.

Just to what extent the price of milk is to be increased has not yet been announced—very probably to six cents per quart, but it is stated that the dealers find that with the increased cost of grain and other food stuffs entering into the production of winter milk, they will have to increase their price to their customers in order to meet this added expense.

Choral Society Practice To-night

The third rehearsal by the chorus of the Peterborough Choral Society, will be held to-night at the residence of Prof. Davies, corner of McDonel and Harvey streets. Rehearsal begins promptly at 8 o'clock. The singing membership of the Society now totals fifty with the tenor and contralto sections well filled. There is place for a few more basses and tenors. It is desirable in the interests of effective practice that no member miss a practice or even a part of practice.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN,—For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the Glasses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Peterboros' To Meet Brockville Team Next

The intermediate championship of the O. R. F. U. now lies between three teams, Dundas, Peterborough and Brockville, champions of their respective districts.

At a meeting of the sub-committee yesterday the semi-finals and final dates were arranged. Dundas drew the bye and Brockville got the choice of game on toss of the coin. Dundas is not scheduled to play again until Nov. 18, but will likely arrange games with Tigers and Victorias of Toronto for their off Saturdays. The dates:

—Semi-Finals—

Nov. 4—Brockville at Peterborough.
Nov. 11—Peterborough at Brockville.
Dundas, a bye.

—Finals—

Nov. 18—Winners semi-finals at Dundas.
Nov. 25—Dundas at winners of semi-finals.

RUGBY.

How is this for a fire engine test? Get the engine out on George street, when the next team visits here, with all the apparatus ready and when the crowd gathers around let somebody announce that there will be a rugby match at Riverside Park at 2.30 o'clock, general admission 25c. Some novel scheme must be adopted to attract the people on the grounds. There's simply something got to be done to make in the shekels. The quality of rugby is certainly good and the matches deserve good crowds. It's hard to say that the people of Peterborough are "no good" as sports. But the facts speak for themselves. Thirty-five dollars for a game in a city the size of Peterborough! Why a baseball match in Lindsay would bring in a bigger gate than that. It's all right to throw fire crackers at the sun and have the band playing "Uncle Sammy" on George street when the championship is won, but just now the team "needs the money."

• • • •

Brockville will play here next Saturday and the return game will be played in Brockville on November 11th. The winners will play Dundas at Dundas in the finals also on the 18th and the return game will be played here on the 25th. Here's to the Petes for the intermediate trophy.

THE TURF.

Rev. Father O'Gorman, of Gananoque, from whom Mr. A. Rountree purchased Gradicator, is a clerical sportsman of the right calibre. Father O'Gorman takes a deep interest in matters relative to the turf and kennel. He owns a fine horse, Billy G, with a mark of 2.18 1-4. There's nothing narrow minded about Father O'Gorman.

• • • •

Mr. H. Cooke will work out his training string on the Driving Park track this afternoon. Mr. Cooke has some likely horses in his charge and is giving them every attention. The latest addition to his list is Gradigator, Mr. Arthur Rountree's new stallion, which he is preparing for the track.

HOCKEY.

Last night's Toronto Star says:

Harold Armstrong, of last year's champion Marlboro team has been moved to Montreal by the Bank of Ottawa, with which he is now connected. He will be a good man for one of the Montreal teams.

• • • •

Guelph will have a team in the O. H. A. intermediate series this winter.

The Lindsay Post says:

Manager "Artie" Parkin has received about seventeen applications from outsiders asking positions of the junior O. H. A. team, two applicants from Orillia coming down and having a personal interview, but it was no go with "Artie," as he wants nothing but home brews and home brews they will be.

CZAR NICHOLAS II, THE LAST AUTOCRAT

"We Must Now Efface Ourself," Says Czar to His People---Freedom For The Russians---Nicholas II. Grants Freedom of Speech, Conscience And Union to The People---Outlines in The Imperial Manifesto How "Our Inflexible Will" is to be Carried Out---Count Witte Is Now Supreme.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The following is the text of the Imperial manifesto, which will forever end the rule of absolutism exercised by him and his Romanoff ancestors for 300 years:

"We, Nicholas the Second, by the grace of God, Emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow.

"The happiness of the Russian Sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the Sovereign.

"From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They

CZAR NICHOLAS II.

Who Grants Freedom of Conscience, Speech and Union to the Russians.

menace the integrity and unity of our Empire.

"The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourself and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central Government, and to assure the success of the measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well being of our people.

Imperial Directions.

"We therefore direct our Government to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner:

"First—To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civic liberty, based on the real inviolability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

"Second—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the State Douma, to invite to participation in the Douma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the Douma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things.

"Third—To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the State Douma, and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

Free Elections.

"The Government should abstain from any interference with elections to the Douma and keep in view my sincere desire for the realization of my ukase of Dec. 25, 1904. It must maintain the prestige of the Douma and confidence in its labors, and in no way resist its decisions so long as they are not inconsistent with Russia's historic greatness.

"It is necessary to respect the ideals of the great majority of society, and not the echoes of noisy groups and factions, too often unstable. It is especially important to secure the reform of the Council of the Empire on an electoral principle.

Asks People's Co-operation.

"We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty towards the fatherland, to aid in terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply all their forces, in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our native soil.

"Given at Peterhoff, Oct. 30, in the eleventh year of our reign. (Signed) Nicholas."

Czar Yields Everything.

A simple perusal of the manifesto shows how complete is the Emperor's abdication of his autocratic powers. It shows that the Emperor at last has irrevocably bowed to the inevitable. He does not even conceal the fact that the discontent and agitation of his subjects has driven him to take the step, and practically yields everything — civil liberty, the inviolability of person, and liberty of conscience, speech and assembly.

Revolutionists Still Belligerent.

The news spread like wildfire throughout the city. The revolutionists and active agitators generally, declared loudly that the Government's promises would no longer suffice, and that the strike must be continued. In fact an hour after the news became known the revolutionists took occasion to throw the first bomb in St. Petersburg used since the strike began. The incident occurred near the Polytechnic School, but there was no fatality. Practically all classes, except the Socialists and the extreme Radicals, however, read the document with delight and amazement, declaring that it could not fail to rally the moderates to support of Count Witte.

The Irony of Fate.

But the irony of fate, while the strikers are clamoring for a constitution, it has been impossible to persuade the striking printers to resume work, and, therefore, not a single newspaper except The Official Messenger will print the momentous document for distribution to-day.

Arrangements, however, have been made to placard the manifesto on every dead wall in the city, and the text will be telegraphed to-day to every city, town and hamlet with which there is telegraphic communication. It has also been ordered read in all the churches of the Empire.

Witte's Cabinet.

Count Witte has already tentatively selected the members of his Cabinet. He will himself hold no portfolio. All the present Ministers except those of war, navy and foreign affairs will be retired. Prince Alexis Obolensky, one of the count's former assistants in the Ministry of Finance, will become Minister of the Interior; M. Romanoff, another former assistant to the Minister, will take the finance portfolio; M. Koni, at present a senator and Russia's ablest jurist, will be Minister of Justice; M. Krosovosky, president of the St. Petersburg Municipal Council, will take the Ministry of Education; and M. Ziegler von Schaffhausch, chief of the Railway Department and Department of Ministry of Finance, will become Minister of Ways and Communications.

The Crowds Cheer.

Late last night, after the news got abroad, crowds began marching up and down the Nevsky Prospect, singing the National Anthem and hurrahing for liberty.

At all the fashionable restaurants champagne was drunk in toasts to liberty and the constitution.

The Municipal Council at its sitting last night, after reading the Imperial manifesto, decided to send the following telegram to the Emperor:

"The council welcomes with delight the long-desired tidings of freedom, firmly relying on a bright future for our dear fatherland. Hurrah for the Emperor of a free people.

No Mutiny.

There appears to be no foundation for the rumors of mutiny on the vessels of the Black Sea fleet, which are in circulation in Odessa, and which have been industriously propagated by the strikers here for several days.

A meeting of the strike committee was held last night, after the promulgation of the Emperor's manifesto was known. The question of calling the strike off was the discussion, but a decision postponed until to-day.

"We Have Liberty!"

The people displayed the utmost good humor towards the Cossacks. They surrounded their horses and petted their perplexed riders on the boots, shouting, "You can go home now. We no longer need you. We have liberty."

Then they bade the Cossacks toss their caps in honor of the constitution. After 2 o'clock all the patrols were withdrawn from the streets, which were left in charge of the ordinary night force of policemen.

Chants and Cheers.

Soon after midnight a crowd of several hundred persons gathered in the great square before the winter palace and sang a chant from the church liturgy addressed to the Emperor and the National Anthem, and finished with rousing cheers for His Majesty and the Imperial family.

The Pandora Reservoir

The Pandora is the only range with a reservoir stamped in one single piece of steel and enamelled. It is the only reservoir without seams, rivets or places to catch dirt. It has no sharp angles. All angles are made with rounding curves, and the whole reservoir is beautifully enamelled.

McClary's are the only range makers in Canada with a plant for making enamelled steel reservoirs, and that is why the Pandora is the only range that has a one-piece reservoir.

JAMES MURTY, Sole Agent, Peterborough.

THE grate of a range will get out of repair. If you let ashes accumulate in the pan until they come near the grate you are sure to burn it out or warp it. On account of the construction of ordinary ranges, repairing a grate means taking out the fire bricks and practically taking the fire-box to pieces. It is the work of a stove expert.

The Imperial Oxford Range has a patented draw-out duplex grate. By this construction the grate and frame is readily drawn out over the ash-pan without oven disturbing the linings. Repairs are thus easily effected even by one without experience.

The life of the fire-box-linings is thus prolonged, as they do not require to be moved to repair the grate.

Imperial Oxford Range

This is only one of the exclusive points of the Imperial Oxford Range which make it last long and reduce the necessity and expense of repairs. Though the baking and roasting qualities of the oven are the most vitally important features of the Imperial Oxford Range, we have forgotten nothing that will make it last long and add to the ease of its operation.

Write for some of our booklets and the name of the nearest dealer who can show you an Imperial Oxford Range. 19

The Norwood Junior Football Team strengthened by four seniors, journeyed to Campbellford on Thanksgiving Day, and defeated the team of that place in a very rough match by the score of 3 to 1. The Norwood team lined up as follows.

Goal, A. Stewart.

Backs, K. Kidd, J. O'Grady.

Halves, D. Ruttan, J. Power and F. Cummings.

Forwards, C. McNichol, F. Lemay, F. Doherty, C. Hendren, J. Rogers.

The Campbellford team, which was much heavier than the visitors, started in to "rough it," their intentions evidently being to put a few out of business, while the visitors determined to play "fotball," at which they played rings around their much heavier opponents. No scoring was done in the first half but as soon as the second half started McNichol made a fine rush and passed to Rogers, who scored by a neat shot. The next was scored by Doherty who dodged past the entire team and scored. The last was scored a few minutes afterwards, the result of a combination run by the entire forward line. Campbellford then scored their only goal. Stewart in goal did all that was required of him by saving his nets from a few dangerous shots; the one that got past him was only an accident. Kidd and O'Grady on the back division were a tower of strength, while Ruttan, Power and Cunningham played like veterans and it was utterly impossible to get past them. The forwards led a combination that would do credit to any senior team. Lemay and McNicholl were too much for their checks and were always dangerous. Doherty at centre was the best man on the field, his fine dodging being a feature. Rogers played a great game at outside left; while Hendren, the smallest man on the field, was as slippery as an eel.

Enjoyable Social Given By B.Y.P.U.

At the Park Street Baptist Church Last Night.

Address by Mr. Alex. Haddow Upon "Echoes of the Convention"—Large Attendance.

A social, or, in fact, anything which they undertake at the Park street Baptist church never fails to be a success, and in the pleasing event which took place there last night this reputation was fully lived up to.

The affair, which was in the nature of a social, given by the B.Y.P.U. of the church, was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed. The audience was by no means composed entirely of young people, many older people availing themselves of the invitation extended.

The chair was occupied by president Alex. Haddow, who delivered the address of the evening upon the subject, "Echoes of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec," which recently assembled at London. Solos were rendered with excellent effect by Messrs. Lonne Jackson and George Haddow. A pleasing variation in the programme was the intermingling of a number of selections from an excellent graphophone operated by Mrs. Jewett.

At the conclusion of the programme the young people divided into groups and refreshments were served, this apparently being one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, closed the proceedings with prayer at 10 o'clock. The accompaniments of the evening were played with musicianly effect by Mrs. Wright, organist of the church.

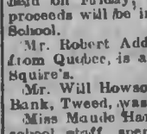
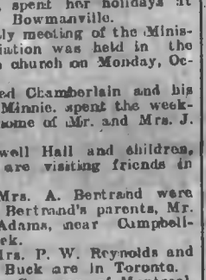
The Song of the Cradle.



Bye, bye! Hope rises high:
There's a sweet little cradle hung up in the sky;
A dear little life that is coming to bless;
Two soft chubby hands that will pat and caress!
A pure little soul winging down from above;
A darling to care for, a baby to love.

One of the grandest agencies which enlightened Science has discovered to relieve motherhood from excessive suffering is the "Favorite Prescription" devised by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y.



This wonderful "Prescription" imbues the entire nervous system with natural, healthy vitality; gives elastic vigor to the delicate organism specially concerned in motherhood, and makes the coming of baby entirely free from danger and almost free from pain.

"I wish to state that I have used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription with very good results," writes Mrs. Essie M. Annis, of Hudson, New Hampshire. "Had been in poor health for over four years and had been twice in the hospital. My husband brought some of your 'Favorite Prescription,' and it has carried me easily through my last two confinements. We are now blessed with two healthy children, and I am sure your medicine has done me more good than all the other treatment I have ever received."

BAD HEADACHES generally arise from bad stomachs. Foul breath, bitter taste, coated tongue, sour eructations or belching of gas, are common symptoms though not all present in every case. To cure, take small doses, only one or two each day, of old Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the Original Little Liver Pills, first put up by him over 40 years ago. One or two is laxative, three or four cathartic.

Offering On Sunday Over $70

Gratifying Progress is Being Made by Park Street Baptist Church.

Many Tangible Evidences of Steady Development During Rev. Mr. Brace's Pastorate.

"Continual Progress" appears to be the watchword of the members of the Park street Baptist church, and a mere glance over the work accomplished during the two and a half years' pastorate of Rev. Mr. Brace will suffice to show the strides which have been made.

The indebtedness of $550 which hung over the congregation at the commencement of that period was anything but a satisfactory or hopeful nucleus upon which to begin operations, but the liquidation of this, it may be said, has been, nevertheless, but a fraction of the work accomplished. A site for the erection of the prospective new church was, it will be remembered by many, purchased some time ago at an expense of $200.

Though the final offering of $325 for the Mortgage Fund was made but a month ago, another special offering was taken on Sunday last in aid of the Building Fund, which was responded to in a splendid manner by a contribution of $70.

This growing church has as probably the most satisfactory evidence of its expansion an increase in membership of over one hundred during the period of the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Brace.

A Rountree, the local agent for Sanitaris Mineral Water, which is bottled at the Diamond Park Spring in Arnprior, reports increasing trade for the water, and that many of our people are using it for drinking purposes exclusively until the danger of typhoid is eliminated from the town water.

To-morrow the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, will commence the construction of their waiting room at the open air rink at Jackson Park. This room will be seventy-five by twenty feet, and it will have a glass front for forty feet.

In addition to the waiting room there will be a tool house built.

"Hymns That Have Helped"

An Instructive Address Last Night at St. Paul's by Dr. Morrison.

An enjoyable meeting of St. Paul's Endeavour Society was held last night, at which an entertaining and instructive address was delivered by Dr. Morrison upon "Hymns that have Helped."

The attendance at the meeting was large and the speaker's remarks were listened to with close attention throughout. In the opening portion of the address a number of the most familiar of what are considered the best of a great many Sacred Songs were sung. This was followed by a short biographical sketch of the author, and a description of the circumstances under which the hymn was composed, and also numerous instances of it's effect under various circumstances. The hymns dealt with were:—Rock of Ages, Nearer My God to Thee, Lead Kindly Light, Jesus Lover of My Soul, Abide With Me, The Ninety and Nine, Onward Christian Soldiers, and Alexander's Glory Song.

THE GREATEST ENGLISH HUMORIST will visit Peterborough on Wednesday Evening. Secure your seats at Ormond & Walsh's.

Boys Placed In The Shelter

Enaismore Youths Existing Amid Squalid Conditions.

Two boys named Ernie Toole, and Willie McMillen, aged 8 and 4 years respectively, the natural children of a woman in a neighbouring township were placed several days ago in the Children's Aid Shelter.

The boys, who are bright and promising looking, have been existing, it appears, amid conditions of utmost squalor.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good, and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

RUGBY.

The team had a good practice in the Brock street rink last night, about a dozen being out in uniform. A rehearsal of signals took place, and running and passing were indulged in. Considering the handicap the team is practicing under, that of having to practice in a place where talking is impossible, and that of being patronized by crowds that would make an iceberg blush, their splendid efforts during the season are very gratifying and deserving of the highest commendation.

• • • •

There will be a practice every night this week except Friday. There is no alternative for the players but to turn out and get into shape, for the Brockville team is practically an unknown quantity, and judging from reports Dundas is pretty nearly up to any of the seniors except the Hamilton Tigers.

THE BARGAIN HOUSE OF THE CITY.

To-Morrow will be the first day of November. We expect to make the month hum with bargains from each department. Their are two things which constitute bargains with us. Firstly—Closing out remnant lines. Secondly—we often have to take more from a manufacturer of a line of goods than we need in order to get the lowest quotations. We then have to sell at ridiculous prices in order to reduce the stock so that it can be handled with safety and not have accumulation of bad stock. We will throw out one line of goods and ask you to investigate and compare. We welcome the test:

10 OFF DRESS GOODS
and Dress Material

Here's some of the Good Luck that comes to shoppers from a backward season. During the month of November we have decided to allow 10 per cent. off on all purchases of Dress Goods and Dress Material intended to be made up in our Dress-Making Department.

If the weather conditions had been different, we would not think of making this offer. As it is, we imported an unusually extensive stock of Dress Goods for early Fall wear, but the remarkably mild weather of the past six weeks has delayed the volume of buying of heavy Dress stuffs. The result is that our stock is heavier than we care to carry at this late date.

Just as the weather is becoming colder, we hold out the above extra inducement and feel sure of a business that will double the sales of November.

We have increased our dressmaking staff and strengthened our selling capacity---commensurate with our growth in trade.

Milk Dealers Have Decided To Boost Price

And This Morning Six Cents a Quart Was Charged.

All the Dealers Have Signed the Agreement to Increase the Price.

As was prophesied in yesterday's Examiner, the milk dealers who supply that commodity to the citizens of Peterborough have decided to increase the price from five cents to six cents per quart. A meeting of the local dairymen was held in the Foresters' Hall on Friday night, when the matter was informally discussed, and a decision arrived at to sign an agreement by which all the twenty-five or more dealers would, on November 1, increase their price one cent per quart.

Last night another meeting was held in the same place, when the agreement, which had been prepared in the meantime, was presented and was signed by the dealers, and, as a result, this morning the increased price went into effect.

This action has been taken by the dealers, according to their statement, as a protective measure, in view of the fact that feed has increased in price along with other products, and in order to make a fair profit they have been obliged to take the action referred to above.

It is stated that it is felt that in the spring possibly the price may be reduced to that originally charged, but during the winter months the increased cost of production has made the increase in price necessary.

This morning the change in price went into effect.

It was explained to-day by one of the dealers that the price to be charged here is not high, when compared with other places. He states that in Lindsay six cents is charged, and the same price in Port Hope, while in Toronto the dealers get seven cents.

A Delightful Evening Spent

Last evening the home of Mrs. Symons, 291 Reid street, was the scene of a novel Hallowe'en party.

At the witching hour of eight all the boarders assembled in the drawing room, which was appropriately decorated with pumpkins, candles, etc., and each in turn contributed "some humorous anecdote, the mirth to swell."

The evening was spent most pleasantly in Hallowe'en style and the party dispersed, after singing "Auld Lang Syne." Each one expressed the opinion that the evening was spent in a mirthful as well as a novel manner.

Before leaving a vote of thanks thanks was tendered to the hostess for the very pleasant evening spent.

Aftermath Of The Tragedy;

GOW'S ASSOCIATES HAVE Been Summoned To Appear

Before County Police Magistrate Edmison on Friday Next on Charge of Creating a Disturbance Upon the Public Highway—High Constable Cochrane Went to Dummer Township This Morning to Serve Two Murphys, Gallagher and Dewart With Summons.

The four young men, who accompanied Charles Gow, on the night of the shooting of Thomas Edward Hill, in Dummer Township, were to-day summoned to appear before County Police Magistrate Edmison, at the Court House, on Friday morning next, at eleven o'clock.

The charge against the young men, who are William and Stewart Murphy, George Gallagher and Edward Dewart, is that of having created a disturbance upon a public highway. The information was laid by High County Constable Cochrane, who left this morning for Dummer Township, to serve the summons.

The men charged, it will be remembered, were in company with Gow, and, it is alleged, created the disturbance while passing the Hill homestead on the night of the tragedy by shouting and otherwise disturbing the sanctity of the atmosphere.

The case naturally awakens considerable interest owing to its close connection with the Hill tragedy, and there is much speculation as to the outcome. It is thought in some quarters that further developments with regard to the incidents upon the night of the occurrence may be revealed.

The Opening Bill In New Opera House

Mr. R. H. Bradburn Wires to The Examiner That The New House Will Open on November 15th--"The Yankee Consul" Will be the First Play.

Two weeks from to-day the new Grand Opera House will open its doors to the public with the first attraction, that of the big musical success, "The Yankee Consul," one of the best comic operas that has ever been seen in Canada.

A telegram to the Editor of the Examiner from Mr. R. H. Bradburn, the manager of the opera house, who is in Toronto to-day making arrangements for the opening play, gives the information as above.

The statement made some weeks ago by Mr. Bradburn that he would wait for a good attraction before opening the house has been verified, and the opening bill should please any Peterborough audience.

"The Yankee Consul" was one of the best attractions given in Toronto during the last theatrical season, and Mr. Bradburn is fortunate in securing it for this opening bill here.

By the date mentioned the new house will have been completed and will be in readiness for the patrons.

A Delightful Evening At The Y. W. C. A. Building

About 150 young women of the city gathered at the Y.W.C.A. building last night for Hallow E'en frolic. The entrance hall was lighted by Chinese lanterns and Jack-o'-Lanterns neatly attired, graced the various nooks. The evening was largely given up to games, and the general laughter and good spirits gave evidence of abundant fun. Miss Adams called for members of her classes and gave a short exhibition of the gymnasium work; she also spoke of her work and the times of the physical culture classes. Apples and nuts and candies in plenty were then distributed. Afterwards all seated themselves in the gymnasium, and Miss Potter spoke a few words of welcome and of the aims and work of the association. As she finished the lights grew dim, and a ghost with a dreadful tale of woe made a short visit. Good-nights were said in good time, and the happy evening within the Y.M.C.A. walls was at an end.

Customs Receipts In Reality Show Increase

The receipts for the month of October at the local customs office amounted to $30,961.16, as compared with $31,464, for the same month in 1904. It must be remembered, however, that this year Thanksgiving Day came in October, while in 1904 the holiday was in November, so that taking this into consideration the receipts this year are really in excess of those of this same month last year, since they average more than $1,000 per day, consequently instead of their being a decrease of $503.20, as shown by the figures as above, there is in reality an increase of more than that amount, which is fairly satisfactory, and shows that the receipts are growing.

Board Of Works Makes Change In Agreement

With the G. T. R. in Reference to the Grade of the Lakefield Line--Water Mains Will Not Be Laid Along Tracks--Company Asked to Alter Sewer to be Constructed Along Right of Way to Bethune Street--Petitions for Sidewalks and Sewers--A Settlement of the Blodgett Suit.

The Board of Works held a lengthy meeting last night in the City Clerk's office, when some matters of importance were discussed. The proposed agreement with the G.T.R. in reference to the change in the grade of their Lakefield line was changed, in view of the fact that the Water Commissioners have decided to bring their main south on Water to Argyle, as originally intended, instead of going along the track to George street.

Those present were Ald. Adams, Chairman, Mayor Best, Ald. Tovey, Hall, Batten and Johnston.

Mr. J. H. Greer and others applied for crossings at the corner of George and Smith streets. Ald., Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the petition be granted, and that two concrete crossing be laid, one on the east side of George street and the other on the north side of Smith.

The G.T.R. sent copies of the proposed orders of the Railway Commissioners, re crossing, sewer, drains and water mains, under the railway tracks, as arranged for by the Board of Works at a previous meeting.

After some discussion the Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the city solicitor be instructed to apply for a modification of the proposed orders, to permit of vitrified pipes for sewer and concrete pipes for drains being laid under the tracks, instead of iron pipes, the modification suggested by the solicitor in the memorandum clause and also to get change in the order for water to cross under the tracks on Water street instead of following G.T.R. right of way. This motion was carried.

It was decided to recommend to the council that the resolution of Oct. 20th, re lowering the G.T.R. grade at Smith street be rescinded, and that the Board recommend that the council consent, so far as the council is concerned, to the G.T.R. changing the grade of the Lakefield line from Antrim street to above Barnardo avenue in accordance with the profile filed, provided the Railway Company agrees to permit the city to construct a sewer along their right of way from Smith street to Bethune street and agrees to permit the opening of George street north, 66 feet wide, across their right of way, and that the grades of the streets and provision for drainage at the street intersections where the railway grade is changed, be made to the satisfaction of the city engineer.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Batten that a sidewalk be laid on Reid street from Brock street to Hunter street, except at the point where there is a sidewalk now, provided a properly signed petition is presented, asking for the walk as a local improvement, and that the walk in front of lot south of Brock street be 7 feet wide provided the owners of the property pay the cost of sidewalks over the cost of a sidewalk 5 feet wide, motion was carried.

Ald. Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the petition for sewer on Simcoe street from Rubidge to within 70 feet of Reid street, as a local improvement be granted when sufficiently signed, and that the contract be given to John Robson at $1.10 a foot, and connections at $17 each and that the sewer be built this fall if possible.

It was decided on motion of Ald. Tovey and Hall, that the sidewalk be repaired on the south side of Hunter street, west of the G.T.R. tracks.

It was decided to grade Boswell and Pearl avenues, provided the stumps and brush are removed. It was also decided to grade William street.

Mr. Harry Long asked permission to remove an illuminated sign from in front of Jobe's former store, to his own store, and the request was granted.

It was decided that the solicitor should be authorized to settle the suit of Blodgett vs. City by paying $5 and costs, and if he does not accept that to pay that amount into court.

The meeting then adjourned.

Index Finger Was Jammed

Mr. John Cunnannon, foreman of the C. G. E. punch press department, met with a very painful accident a day or two ago. While engaged in his work the index finger of his right hand got caught in a grinding machine, with the result that the top of it was very badly jammed. Mr. Cunnannon had the wound dressed at once, and while the injury is not at all serious, he will probably be unable to use the injured member for some weeks.

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those parsons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $300. to $800. for choice sites and choice building. Also we have some very desirable homes from $1000. to $2200. Farms also we have for sale. Possibilities Of Navigation

FROM COBOCONK TO MINDEN

On The Gull River Waters

A Government Engineer is Now Making a Survey of the Proposed Extensions to the Trent Canal--Belief That the North Country Can be Connected With the Canal at Small Expense--Great Quantities of Hardwood Timber Which Will be Made Marketable.

Owing to the great interest that has been manifested for weeks by the people of the country tributary to the Gull River waters, at the time of the Hon. Mr. Emmerson's visit over the Trent Canal System a few weeks ago, arrangements were made with the Minister to send one of the engineers of the Department to report on the availability of these waters for navigation and the cost of dams, bridges, locks and other works to make these waters navigable, at least as far as the village of Minden.

Mr. E. J. Walsh, C.E., of the Railways and Canals Department, Ottawa, arrived at Coboconk on Tuesday, 17th October, and was met by Messrs. R. J. McLaughlin and G. H. Wilson, of the Post. The engineer first made an examination of the falls at Coboconk village. There is a fall there of about seven feet. A new dam would be required, a lock and a swing bridge, and it might be advisable to improve the navigation above, to raise this dam two feet or more.

From Coboconk to Norland through the Gull River, Little Mud Turtle and Big Mud Turtle lakes the party were taken by the Messrs. Phillips in their steam punt. Messrs. John Ham, J. P., Alex. Clifford and Geo. Stevens, leading business men of Coboconk, accompanied the party. The river between Coboconk and Little Mud Turtle lake is rapid and shallow. A continued series of soundings were taken by the engineer, the shallowest part of the channel being about 18 inches, and a mile or more averaging about three feet, the bottom being limestone rock. Navigation over this section would be considerably helped by the raising of the Coboconk dam, but in order to have a six-foot channel much rock would have to be excavated. At the foot of Big Mud Turtle Lake there is quite a strong rapid over a granite bar, and at this point considerable blasting would have to be done.

At Norland there is a fall of 14 feet, or perhaps 16 feet at high water. A new dam and locks would be required here, also a swing bridge. About a hundred rods north of Norland is the natural dam, a granite rock stretching across the river. This has already been blasted out to a considerable extent by the Raven Lake Portland Cement Co. for the benefit of their power at Elliott's Falls, three quarters of a mile above. There is now only about 18 inches of a fall at this point, which could probably be got over by raising the dam at Norland that much and removing sufficient rock to make the channel the required depth.

At Elliott's Falls there is a fall of 22 feet. There is a dam at this point in good condition, one-half having been rebuilt by the Raven Lake Cement Co., who have their power house there and are developing about 1,200 horse power, only about one-half of which is required to run their works. A double lock would likely be required at this point. About 800 feet of canal and a considerable quantity of granite would have to be removed below the falls to make a navigable channel and a swing bridge would have to be placed over the canal. Elliott's Falls is the most serious obstruction between Coboconk and Minden.

At Norland the party were taken in charge by Mr. John Perking, J.P., who drove the party to Moore's Falls. At the latter point there is only a fall of 22 inches over granite rock. The dam at Elliott's Falls could probably be raised enough to overcome this obstruction, and the further works necessary would be the blasting out of the channel to a sufficient depth. A swing bridge would also be required.

The party were met at Moore's Falls by Mr. Noice and Mr. Young, of Minden, and drove along the east side of Gull Lake and Gull River to Minden. Between Moore's Falls and Minden the only obstruction is a gravel deposit at the mouth of the Minden River, which would require to be dredged out.

At Minden the party were met by the leading citizens of the village, including, among others, Messrs. W. Hantle, J. H. Delamere, A. Mortimer, Reeve of Anson, Michael Bowen, who gave the engineer some valuable information about the country tributary to these waters.

Next day the engineer and party drove north as far as twelve Mile Lake, crossing the narrows between Twelve Mile and Mountain Lakes and returning on the west side of Mountain Lake and over the portage between Mountain Lake and the Big Eddy. From Mountain Lake north and east, over Twelve Mile Lake, the two Boshungs, Beach, Maple Grass and Pine Lakes, the obstructions to navigation are comparatively small, the difference in the levels of these lakes not being more than 7 or 8 feet in all. The greatest obstruction to the navigation of these northern waters is between Mountain Lake and Minden, where there is a drop of perhaps 80 feet, making a splendid succession of water powers, the largest being at Stinson's mills, where a head of 50 feet could easily be obtained. The water powers with proper communication, ought to make Minden an important manufacturing town. But the wealth of power is what creates the great obstruction to navigation, and a canal of something over two miles in length—not requiring much excavating, however—with some six to eight locks, would be necessary to reach the upper levels.

The trip back over the waters was then made, and further measures were taken.

The great amount of hardwood and other timber through all this country along these waters, and the abundance of water power, are both assets which, if properly handled, ought to make the country prosperous and productive, but improved communication is urgently needed, and indeed absolutely necessary. This communication the people should have, either by rail or water, and we trust that the efforts now being made will be continued until the desired end is obtained. The people have been exceedingly patient—they have listened to and endeavoured in a very docile sort of way a great deal of humbugging, perhaps even more than the people of any other section of this district. It is no wonder that they like others, are getting heartily tired of it. We think, with a good, strong-minded effort on the part of the people looking to their own interests, pressing their claims and insisting on their rights, that improved communication such as they require can be obtained—if not in one way, in another. — Lindsay Post.

How Bible Society Got Its Money

$12,000 Was Sent From British North America.

Greater Part, However, Has Been Received in Small Sums.

In view of the Bible Society's great Thanksgiving on Nov. 7th, for the completion of its Centenary Fund of a quarter of a million guineas, the following details as to the chief sources from which the money came, throw a curious sidelight on the attitude of various countries towards the Society and its work. Thus for instance £12,000 was sent by British North America; £6,600 came from Continental Europe; £4,000 from India; £5,500 from South Africa; £3,500 from New Zealand; £3,000 from Australia; £740 from Egypt; £720 from Russia; £6 from Japan; and £1,100 from China. The great bulk of the Fund, as much as £230,000 came from England and Wales. Among the more striking contributions to the Fund have been one gift of £10,000, one anonymous gift of £3,000, one gift of 2,500 guineas, one of £2,500, five of 2,000 guineas (one of which was anonymous,) one anonymous gift of £2,000, thirteen gifts of 1,000 guineas (two anonymous,) and ten of £1,000, (four anonymous.) By far the greater part of the Fund, however, has been raised by comparatively small gifts, often from poor people. The smallest separate contribution acknowledged at the Bible House was 1 1-2 d. from a domestic servant.

Pains in the Chest

Mr. John Clark, Port Hope, Ont., states: "Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had severe pains in my chest. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have been very serious if I had not used this medicine."

A Western Story.

—The Pilot Mound, Man., Sentinel, says: "An Ontario visitor in the west wrote home that during a high wind storm one day recently a sheep on a farm at Brandon was blown against a barn twenty feet from the ground where it was held by the continued force of the wind for four days and starved to death."

A Long Trip.

Theatrical men say that no such trip as that of Miss Ethel Barrymore and her company, to meet an engagement has ever been made in this country. After the play at Los Angeles, where Miss Barrymore appeared on Sunday, she started on a flying trip to St. Paul. Her full company accompanied her on the trip of 3,065 miles, and this is said to be the longest trip between playing dates ever made in America.

Big Order for Dirigible Torpedoes

Following the announcement that the United States Government has placed a $2,000,000 order for dirigible torpedoes with the E. W. It is doubtful if the Russian contract will be accepted.

The Hospital

Thankful are They Who Escape The Surgeon's Knife

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful—oftentimes they are not.

It is safe to say that certainly nine out of ten operations for female troubles might have been wholly avoided.

The most valuable tonic and re-builder of the female organism, the medicine with a record of thousands of cases literally snatched from the operating table, is

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Do not consent to an operation which may mean death until after you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Note what it did for Mrs. Robert Glenn, whose letter follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need any recommendation from me, but I am glad to add mine to the many which you have in its favor.

I suffered untold agonies from ovarian troubles for nearly three years, and the doctors told me I must have an operation; but I was unwilling to undergo this, and decided to try your Vegetable Compound.

I am so pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saved me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same. Please accept my hearty thanks and best wishes.

MRS. ROBERT GLENN, 434 Marie Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Thousands of women, residing in every city and town in Canada, bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills and creates radiant, buoyant female health. For your own sake try it.

Society Girls In A Barn Dance

They Raced Up and Down a Haystack and Drank Cider from Pumpkins.

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 1.—A trick or the electric lights made more jolly last night an elaborate barn dance given by Miss Lucy Cobb, daughter of J. B. Cobb, of the American Tobacco Company, at his summer home on Strawberry Hill, Stamford.

In the centre of the barn was an enormous pyramid of apples and pumpkins. From house to barn was an arched passage of cornstalks and sheaves of wheat, and in the centre of the yard was a great haystack, up and down which the young women run on ladders, pursued by the young men. Scooped-out pumpkins, brimful of sweet cider, were scattered about the interior, and the thirsty helped themselves from tin cups.

The girls wore pink and blue gingham gowns, with sun bonnets to match, and the young men were made up as farmers. The gardens were strung with hundreds of electric lights. It was intended to flood the gardens with light, but in the height of the merriment the lights went out for an hour. Pumpkin-head lanterns were substituted for the electric lights and the substitute proved better than the original.

The cotillon was led by Eugene Geary, of Manhattan, and Miss Cobb. The old-fashioned Virginia reel was led by J. B. Cobb and Mrs. Dale, of Manhattan.

Five coloured men played dance music on banjos and mandolins.

Successful Fowl Supper At Stewarts'

Union Sunday School Anniversary Took Place Last Night.

Chair Was Occupied by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.R.—Pleasing Programme Presented.

The 11th anniversary of the opening of the Union Sunday school hall at Stewart's, Otonabee, was fittingly celebrated last night by a well-attended fowl supper ,and entertainment. In fact the annual fowl supper at Stewart's, Otonabee, has been an event that for some years past, has been looked forward to with much expectancy by the young people of that neighbourhood. It must not be thought, however, that the interest in the annual fowl supper at Stewart's, is confined to the people of Otonabee alone, for it is well known that many young people from the city take in the event. Being on Hallowe'en, more than ordinary enthusiasm is in evidence, and any pranks that may be played by those attending the affair, are readily overlooked.

Last night's entertainment was a record-breaker in point of attendance, as well as the standard of the programme generally. A member of Parliament and three ministers of the Gospel, were present, by invitation, of course, to assist in the intellectual enjoyment of the young people. Six or eight large wagons from town brought a merry throng, whilst every young man of that community was there, with his best girl.

The supper was served in the basement of the school house, and every person appeared to emerge from the cellar with a greater degree of contentment on his face than before entering.

It was about nine o'clock, when Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., the chairman, asked the gathering to come to order. He told them of the delight he experienced at being present. He assured them, in a vein of humour, that so far the affair was a "howling" success. He dwelt upon the beauty of the ladies of that neighbourhood, and the young men in the audience applauded approvingly. Mr. Hall then launched out with a glowing description of the greatness of our country, the magnitude and variety of our resources, and the necessity of their proper and energetic development.

He then introduced the first artist of the evening, Mr. King. Regardless of the risk of being called an artist, he sang with splendid voice, a song entitled "Long Live the King." The number was so heartily encored, that Mr. King responded once again.

Little Miss Annie Christie, the auto little daughter of Mr. R. McCarthy, of Peterborough, rendered several recitations, in which she displayed marked ability. The little tor received much applause and was highly complimented by the chairman.

Miss Wilson, who possesses a voice which shows careful training, gave two vocal selections, whilst Mr. Vernon Morphet received much applause in his rendering of a vocal selection, "Sons of the Empire."

Other numbers during the evening were addresses by Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, Rev. Mr. MacKay, and Rev. Mr. Lewis. The theme of the addresses was the greatness of the possibilities of Canada, and the duty that devolved upon the youth of our country to make Canada a great nation.

The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for the chairman.

Oats Reached A Good Price

The American Cereal Company is now paying thirty-five cents per bushel for oats delivered at their elevator. This price is a very satisfactory one for this time of the year, and the prospects for the farmers of this country securing good prices for their oats this year seems excellent.

MONTREAL ALDERMAN

Praises Pe-ru-na as a Household Remedy

Alderman S. A. Lapointe, is now, and has been for several years past, a member of Montreal's City Council, also a leading member of the Finance Department, besides being secretary of the Licensed Victuallers Association. He writes as follows:

"I have pleasure in recommending Peruna for severe colds, and as an excellent tonic generally. It is a medicine that should be in every household."

The similarity of climate between Canada and the United States makes them practically one from a climatic standpoint.

The rigors of winter, alternating with the heat of summer, produces a variation of temperature which makes catarrh an everpresent affection.

This is why Peruna is so popular throughout the length and breadth of Canada and the United States.

Peruna has become recognized as a standard remedy for catarrh in Montreal and Quebec the same as in New York and San Francisco.

They Couldn't Bear To Part With The Money

So They Took the Sixty Days Handed Out.

Dan. Shanahan Found Guilty of Vagrancy—He and Wm. Stevenson Sold Lottery Tickets.

"Fifty dollars and costs, to be paid forthwith; in default of payment sixty days in gaol," was the sentence pronounced upon Wm. Stevenson and Cecil, alias Daniel, Shanahan, for selling lottery tickets for a horse and buggy. Neither one of them possessed the necessary "mahuma" so there was no other alternative than to accept "early to bed and early to rise" for the next two months. Shanahan, who according to his evidence, is somewhat of a woodsman, will be given an opportunity to learn further mysteries relative to his craft, while Stevens, who is a horseman of some note, will find employment in a new sphere; that of manipulating the horseless carriage.

Shanahan was first tried on a charge of vagrancy and was convicted of this offence, a long list of witnesses giving evidence. His Worship, Police Magistrate Dumble, suspended sentence on this charge, but Shanahan will have to leave the city immediately after term of sojourn at Nesbitt Castle has expired.

No witnesses, for the defence, evidence, spoke favourably of Shanahan and one hotelman stated that it would not be well for him if he ever entered his house. Mr. R. F. McWilliams, who appeared for the defence, put some of them through a rather severe cross examination.

Shanahan who has been working out of town for some time past, claimed that he only came home on a visit to his mother and was therefore not guilty of vagrancy. The court thought he was, however, and the sentence, as stated above, was accordingly pronounced.

On the second count both prisoners pleaded guilty. Mr. McWilliams expressed his opinion that the sentence was rather severe, and asked that the men be given time to pay the fine. His Worship said that he was going to punish all similar offenders heavily and do all in his power to stop men of this character from making money by illegal methods.

During the trial of Shanahan for vagrancy considerable ambiguity was felt as to whether he was the Jr., against whom several previous convictions are registered. Officer Stewart, the Chief, the Magistrate and Mr. McWilliams all figured in an argument concerning the identity of the Daniel Jr., referred to in the former convictions. "A Daniel has come to judgment," remarked His Worship when the controversy was at its merriest stage. At this the merriment became infectious and the spectators indulged in a hearty laugh.

A group of Russian actors produced a Russian Soldier Sketch at the Anarchistic Club, Charlotte street, W. London. The whole company were expelled from Russia a few weeks ago because they staged a play which was thought by the authorities to contain revolutionary ideas. All of them are first rate actors and have appeared in some of the leading theatres of Moscow and St. Petersburg. They have been engaged by a well-known London music hall.

Largely at the instance of the people in the iron and coal regions on the Rhine, German, an express train between Berlin and Antwerp was put on, with through cars. The latter belittle used, the leading business men of the coal towns feared that the train might be taken off, and the chambers of commerce united to pay the cost of advertising this train in the newspapers, hotels and otherwise.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1905.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

The milk dealers who supply the city with milk, in entering into an association, and advancing the price of milk, are quite within their rights. Combination and organization are characteristic of the day. If, to arrive at a reasonable profit, milk dealers advance the price, that is, on their part, good business. It is reasonable to suppose that the production of milk, when pastures are not available, is more expensive, and is is equally reasonable that dealers should have an advanced price. But while the dealers unite to protect their interests, there are others—the consuming public — who have equal claims to consideration.

The matter of inspection of milk, is one which has been most inexcusably neglected, and our city authorities are ignoring a plain duty. If the milk dealers combine, and raise prices they should be held to as strict responsibility as the law provides. The law provides for licensing and regulating milk dealers. It is in the power of the city council to take action in this direction. We now have the entire milk supply of the city at the mercy of the milk vendors ,who are subject to no inspection, and who may supply any kind of milk that suits their convenience, whether it is good or bad. Every milk dealer may be supplying pure and wholesome milk, but it is easily possible among forty or fifty dealers, there may be some exceptions, as there are in every other commercial class — men who are dishonest, or dirty, or careless, and to reach these the whole body must come under rigorous inspection and regulation, such as the law provides. Under the Municipal Act the city council have the power to license milk vendors, and provision is made for the inspection of dairies, and even of cows, under the authority of the Board of Health.

This is a matter that should not be neglected. It is very necessary to protect the users of milk, for no food product is so sensitive to deteriorating influences, no commodity requires in its preparation and treatment, so much care and cleanliness as milk. In these days of the stifling of the normal functions of motherhood, and making the reproduction of the race as perfunctory as possible, cows' milk forms a staple article of sustenance for infants, and there is great reason to believe that the terrible post-natal infant mortality which is prevalent, especially in congested city centres, is to a large extent due to the imperfect quality of milk used for infantile nourishment. Milk is extensively used as a food, or roborant, in the treatment of many forms of disease. It forms an indispensable article of daily culinary table use, and it is of the utmost importance in relation to health that it should be absolutely pure, unadulterated and wholesome. The consumer should have the assurance that the milk received and paid for, answers these conditions, and that value is got. Skim milk, which is not unfrequently palmed off upon consumers, and watered milk, are not necessarily unwholesome, but they are not what the consumer pays six cents a quart for. The matter of ascertaining the purity of milk and its freedom from adulteration is easy. Modern scientific appliances and tests are simple and easy to use and make, and it is the duty of the authorities to see that our milk supply is pure. Provision should be made that consumers get milk, not skimmed milk nor watered milk, nor milk on the edge of souring, nor milk treated with embalming fluid as a preservative. It is disgusting to think that the milk which we pour into our coffee or into the child's mug may seem sweet because the fermentative microbes are dosed with the same kind of fluid that undertakers use to pickle corpses. Brantford recently had experience in the case of several milk dealers using embalming fluid to keep their milk sweet. It is possible, perhaps, that some Peterborough milk dealers might yield to a similar temptation. Brantford vendors were licensed and detection made more easy.

The only way to guard against such gruesome possibilities is to license milk dealers and submit their milk, their premises and their cows, their vessels and even their vehicles to rigid inspection. It's the only way to guard against the possibility of our citizens unconsciously paying high prices for skim milk, watered milk, filthy milk or milk dosed with embalming fluid. The honest milk vendor has no fear of close inspection—it is only the man who contemplates "doctoring" his milk in some way who will object to license and inspection. Will the authorities take advantage of the law and pass a by-law looking to the securing of pure milk for our citizens? These remarks are not to be taken to imply that the milk dealers are dishonest, but as implying the necessity of preventing the honest body of milk vendors from having their reputations hurt by the acts of some unscrupulous dealer.

CASH OR LAND?

The Whitney Government announces that under no circumstances will land subsidies be given by the Government for promoting the construction of railways. This is somewhat of a reversal of the policy of the Ross Government, which, when it went out of office, had almost entirely abandoned cash assistance.

As evidence that cash subsidies were out of vogue, the following statistics of such aid granted during the premiership of Mr. Ross, may be quoted:

1900.

Toronto, Lindsay & Pembroke	$108,000
Central Counties	8,400
Central Ontario	120,000
Town of Parry Sound to Canada Atlantic	15,000

1901.

Bracebridge & Trading Lake	48,000
Bruce Mines & Algoma	39,300
Bolton Creek & Lanark Mines	75,000
Norwood & Apsley	75,000
Thunder Bay, Nepigon & St. Joe	60,000

1902.

Pembroke Southern	45,000
Bay of Quinte	150,000
Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa	210,000
From Dinorwic to Lake Minetakie	48,000
James Bay	95,000
Thunder Bay, Nepigon & St. Joe	20,000
Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool	57,000
Bruce Mines & Algoma	12,000
Nepigon	42,000
Lake Superior, Long Lake & Albany	30,000
Huntsville & Lake of Bays	10,000
Grand Trunk Pacific	400,000
	$1,579,400

Of the above, $784,400 is not likely to be earned, so that the financial obligations incurred for the construction of railroads, including the $400,000 to the Grand Trunk Pacific, only amounted to $795,000. What is more, during the period named, the portion of the above subsidies which was earned, was but $238,460, surely an insignificant amount for a wealthy province like Ontario.

As opposed to cash subsidies, which Mr. Whitney favours, we had a policy of subvention to railroads by means of grants of lands — lands situated along the route of the road for which aid was sought — and under conditions of settlement by which the companies only obtained about as much land as the persons placed on land by them would obtain from the Government under the ordinary regulations as to settlement. Practically, all these lands are absolutely worthless without a railway, and the construction of a railway through them not only promotes the settlement of the country, but gives value to the lands and timber retained by the Government. It may fairly be said that roads constructed in this way not only cost the Government nothing, but are in reality revenue producers.

Of course there is properly an aversion to handing over to railways or other corporations large tracts of land which they may tie up from settlement and hold for an increase in price, but with proper settlement conditions, so long as subsidies are given to railway companies, a very good argument can be made out for a land grant policy.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The man of the hour has arrived, to wit, Witte.

Sir William Mulock may be out of public life, and shut out from the sweets of office, but he is reaping some aftermath of his good works in office. The settlement of the G.T.R. machinists' strike at Stratford, is a feather in his cap.

The Conservatives tried hard to divide North York against Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Postmaster-General, but he got the unanimous nomination of the Liberals, and will, no doubt, be handsomely elected, in spite of the cold water, out of the Trent Valley Canal, the Mail and Empire is ladling upon his candidature.

Poor Russia is just seven hundred years behind Great Britain. Russia is just entering upon the enjoyment of the boon of the habeas corpus, which the barons squeezed out of King John in 1200. The nobles of Anglo-Saxon blood led the crusade in favour of popular liberty, which the British people have been enjoying for the hundreds of years that the Russian people have been ground down by a relentless autocracy, which to-day, in the language of sport, sees its finish.

Much credit is due Mr. Baker, the caretaker who executed the work.

The boys' Friday meetings will open on Nov. 3rd, with a Council of War. Boy members are invited.

An Interesting Lecture On Indian Women

Mr. Hampden Burnham Delights His Audience.

A Small Attendance at the Historical Society Lecture.

It is indeed a cause of deep regret that such an instructive and entertaining lecture as that given by Mr. Hampden Burnham in the Y.M.C.A. lecture hall last evening under the auspices of the Woman's Art Association was not listened to by a much larger audience than that present, and especially that so few of the members who had been instrumental in securing this favour from Mr. Burnham were able to attend.

Rev. J. C. Davidson occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Burnham's ability as a speaker is so well known that it is unnecessary to refer to the pleasure he gave in that respect, but when he deals with such an artistically interesting subject in the masterly way in which he treated that of last evening, then, indeed, it is a privilege that was very highly appreciated by those who listened to him.

He described the domestic side of the lives and habits of the former inhabitants of our country, bringing out many points in their character that were a revelation to at least some of his hearers. Among these was the fact that there were no rich Indians, neither were there poor Indians, all their worldly goods being, as it were, common property, a mode of life that would be highly commended by the socialists of to-day. Then again, he referred to the high position that the wife held in the home. Unlike the uncivilised inhabitants of Oriental countries, the Indian woman reigned supreme in the lodge or wigwam. In fact, she held such an enviable position that at one time, in the early history of the New England States it was a cause for alarm that so many white girls left their homes and people to become Indian wives, and afterwards led such happy, contented lives that they apparently forgot that they had ever been accustomed to any other manner of living. When his squaw's temper became ruffled the Indian smiled quietly to himself, and when it was his turn to be displeased he went away for a time, not presuming to interfere with her regime, acknowledging her sovereign right to rule absolutely in the home, but owing to the simple happy life they led there was seldom any cause of strife among themselves. The complete absence of intoxicants of any kind, which, of course, were unheard of until the advent of the white man, the lecturer attributed as one of the most important factors resulting in the quiet, happy, contented lives of the Red man and his family. Another very highly commendable trait of their characters was their great regard for the truth. Although they could be crafty and cunning when occasion required it, they despised a lie and had not become accomplished in the art of fibbing. In conclusion, Mr. Burnham gave a very picturesque description of the Indian maiden who inherited naturally the quiet refinement that many of their pale faced sisters have to cultivate, referring particularly to their soft musical voices.

Mr. Bennet, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Burnham at the close of the lecture, expressed the feelings of all those present when he said that he had been disappointed in two ways, first, that there was such a small number present, and in the second place, that the lecture had not been more lengthy as it had been so enjoyable. Miss Bentram, president of the association, expressed her pleasure in seconding the motion, and the appreciation of others present was manifested by their warm applause.

Wedding In St. John's Church

Miss E. H. Shuter Becomes Bride of Mr. T. J. Baker.

This afternoon a quaint wedding took place at St. John's church, when Mr. Thos. J. Baker, of Widdifield, formerly of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Emily Henrietta Shuter, of Rochester, also formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Davidson, in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was dressed in pale blue silk voile, and white hat with plumes, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Miss M. J. Shuter, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. W. J. Howden supported the groom.

After the ceremony in the vestry, congratulations were extended, and the bride was presented by the rector with a picture of the church given by the members of the Girls' Guild, while by the church a Prayer Book was given.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will leave on the 5.35 train for Detroit and other western cities, after which they will reside in Widdifield.

Train Wreck At Foxboro'

The Local G. T. R. Belleville Train Was Delayed.

A train wreck occurred yesterday afternoon at Foxboro' on the G.T.R. Belleville line, when the freight train which leaves Peterborough at 11.30 a.m., crashed into the rear end of a ballast train. The collision occurred upon the tracks at Foxboro' station and so blockaded the line as to delay the local passenger train that it did not reach Peterborough until almost four o'clock this morning.

The principal damage done was to the engine of the freight, though two flat cars were badly smashed.

Instal Lighting In North Bay

F. R. J. McPherson's Men Go to That Town to Work.

Mr. Fred Gibson, of F. R. J. McPherson & Co., went to North Bay this morning to complete the installation of the electric lighting and steam heating fixtures in St. Mary's church at that place. The contract is a large one and the cost will be approximately $1100.

Mr. McPherson has had a number of large contracts out of the city recently which speak in no uncertain tone as to the progressive character of the business. A new contract upon which work will begin shortly is a large one for steam heating in a Tweed church.

'Twixt Death And Duty!

THRILLING EXPERIENCES OF Members Of Survey Party

Nearly Met Death in the Cruel Otonabee—Narrow Escape of Messrs. C. C. Malloch and W. Rogers—A Fire in the Sleeping Tent—An Unprecedented Chapter of Accidents.

The Trent Valley Canal Survey party, up to last Sunday night, have been very fortunate in the matter of mishaps. But the wisdom of the old adage, "It never rains but it pours," seems to have been borne out on the last two evenings.

On Sunday night, while all the party were at church, except one, Mr. Archie Rogers, who was left in charge, a small blaze, that might have been very serious, started in the tent in which Mr. Rogers had retired to rest. It seems that some time after the rest of the members of the party who went to church, had left the camp, Mr. Rogers went into his sleeping tent to retire for the night. He started a fire in the tent stove, and when it had become sufficiently warm in his sleeping apartments for him to retire in comfort, he wrapped himself up in the blankets and was soon in the land of Nod. He awoke before the rest of the party had returned, however, gasping and spluttering for breath, the tent being full of smoke. His first impulse was to seek the open air, and as he was partially overcome by the dense fog of smoke, he reeled to the door of the tent and staggered out into the open air. The cool night air soon revived him, and it was not long before he was conscious of the critical state of affairs. He immediately ran into the tent and seizing the burning wood that was lying near the stove, and the smouldering garments, ments, hurled them out upon the ground. The rest of the party arrived upon the scene shortly afterwards, and with their assistance the fire was extinguished. The clothes that had caught on fire were immersed in the river, and while some were rendered unwearable by the flames, others may be worn again after the needle and thread have been used to good advantage. It is very fortunate that the flames did not spread to the tent, as the dry canvas is very inflammable and if it had caught the whole tent and its contents would surely have gone up in smoke.

There is only one way, but a very probable way, that the fire can be accounted for. It is thought that some sparks from the stove alighted upon the clothes near by, thus starting the blaze.

Nearly a Double Drowning Fatality.

On Monday morning shortly before seven o'clock, Messrs. C. C. Malloch and Walter Rogers were the principals in a narrow escape from a watery grave in the murky depths of the Otonabee. They had left the camp at Crawford's Grove in a canoe, bound for the other side of the river, when their bark capsized in the middle of the stream, throwing both occupants into the water. The remainder of the party who were on the shore at the camp were at once attracted by their loud cries for help.

"Walter can't swim!" cried one of those on the shore, and for a while confusion reigned supreme. Walter was able to swim, however, although by no means an expert, and after considerable difficulty he managed to reach the shore shortly preceded by Malloch. But it is very fortunate for him that he reached terra firma at all. When the canoe upset, he had been paddling, and was unable to get his knees from under the thwart and as he was not to be seen anywhere it was feared by those on shore that he had perhaps gone down and become tangled in the weeds. It was a great relief to them however, when his head appeared above the surface of the water. Mr. Stan. Dingwall, rear chainman, paddled out to his rescue. The proffered assistance was fortunately not needed and the struggling man clambered upon the shore much out of breath. The safety of Mr. Malloch was never questioned, as he is known to be a good strong swimmer and struck out for the shore immediately. Encumbered as he was by his heavy clothes, he too was very much exhausted by his struggle for life with the swift flowing river.

Both victims of the upset soon recovered, and re-commenced the interrupted trip across the river, without any further mishap. But it is very lucky for them that their capsize was attended by no serious consequences. The treacherous Otonabee nearly claimed two more unsuspecting victims for her dreaded death harvest. And now instead of being mourned for by friends and relatives they are being congratulated upon their fortunate escape from a perilous dilemma. Instead of having mourners sorrowfully assembling around their death beds, they will relate their thrilling experience to eager listeners at the farewell oyster supper of the party on Friday night at Crawford's Grove.

RUGBY.

While the weather is undoubtedly rather cold, from a spectator's point of view, it is probably unwillingness to "cough up" the money rather than the fear of catching cold that keeps crowds away from the games in Peterborough. But although the attendance at the matches this year have been very discouraging, so far, there is no reason to believe that the future games will not be well patronized. Championship aspirations, like the sun, are rising in the east, and the Brockville people have every reason to be proud of their team, but it is to be sincerely hoped that when the season is over the trophy will bask in the rays of the setting sun. The game here next Saturday will be of particular interest, as it is the first semi-final game the Peterborough Rugby team has participated in for some time. While Brockville may possess a first class team, it is not that aggregation the locals consider most seriously, but rather Dundas, which seems to have a very fine team this fall. The match on Saturday should be a corker, and while the homesters expect to win, Brockville probably has considerable confidence in its own ability. At any rate it will be a grand exhibition, and if Peterborough wins or loses it to the Island City on the 11th. And after that date Dundas. The bright glitter of the silver of the intermediate trophy is already seen through the drizzling mist of uncertainty.

• • • •

If you can't be on hand next Saturday buy a ticket and help the boys along. If you don't the members of the team and their friends may gather round your door next Hallowe'en and sing that popular minstrel hit "Shame on You."

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Fitzsimmons and O'Brien may fight for the middle weight championship about the middle of next month. This should be a good bout as these men boxed a six round draw a short time ago.

Somebody must be under the false impression that there's money in Lindsay. "Artie" Parkinson, manager of the junior O. H. A. aggregation of the Scugog town, has turned down seventeen outside applicants for position on the team. If Lindsay is as successful in hockey as in ten-ball they'll have to arrange a series of exhibition games with Loon Lake and Coboconk.

• • • •

The Toronto Globe says that Belleville will have a speedy junior O. H. A. team this winter is as good as settled. Sanford Barrows will manage the youngsters. Some of the best of last year's juniors are available. There are a number of new ones, one former member of Barrie team, and another formerly at St. Andrew's College. There is talk of an intermediate team, but not to enter the O. H. A. Things look promising for some lively hockey in Belleville this winter.

• • • •

Johnston, formerly of the Wanderers of Montreal, and now employed on the staff of the local Bank of Montreal, would be a valuable acquisition to the local line-up this winter. It is to be sincerely hoped that he stays here.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will probably be held at an early date.

Caboose Was Disconnected

Young Man's Carlessness at Charlotte Street G. T. R. Crossing.

The carelessness of some people at railway crossings is really deplorable. Last night a young man who was waiting for a freight to pass at the Charlotte street crossing of the G. T. R., walked towards the track to go towards George street, when his attention was attracted by the warning cry of a brakeman, who was on the disconnected caboose that was about three or four car lengths behind the rest of the freight, and following it up at a high rate of speed. He drew back just in time as the caboose whizzed by him, missing him by a hair's breadth. Too much care cannot be exercised by people crossing railway tracks, and the company should force pedestrians, as well as teamsters, to stay outside the gates while trains are going over the crossings.

From Edward Robins, of Philadelphia, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania has received a coverlet under which Benjamin Franklin died on April 17, 1790. Mr. Robins received the coverlet from Charles Godfrey Leland, his uncle, who died three years ago.

THE RUGBY TEAM IN CARICATURE

Mr. Eugene Hurtubise, the subject of the above sketch, first broke into rugby in 1896, when he figured in the scrimmage of the Maple Leaf city league team of Ottawa. In 1897 he also played scrimmage with the same aggregation in the same league. In 1898 he played with the Nationals, also of Ottawa. In 1899 business would not permit him to play the game. In 1900 he first played on the Peterborough team, and has done yeomen service with that organization, with the exception of one year, ever since. In 1901 he was in Kirkfield, the land that knoweth no pigskin, and neither is any horsehide nor hockey puck pursued in those wilds. In 1902 he was on the line-up of the locals when they won the intermediate championship of the O.A.F.U. In 1903 he played snap-back the first time the Burnside rules were played here. In 1904 he played inside wing. This year he is doing great work at snap-back, and according to the Toronto press has all the Hogtown devotees of the pig-skin "scared to death." Besides being a sterling rugby player, Hurtubise holds the amateur Canadian heavyweight wrestling championship, having for the last two years won with ease the wrestling laurels in the championship bouts held in Toronto. Hurtubise is a man of great muscular strength, and in his wrestling contests in Toronto has simply picked up his opponents and laid them down on the mat. He also played goal with the Old Country Wanderers association football team last year. He is a regular physical giant, standing six feet three inches in his stocking feet and weighing about two hundred pounds stripped.

The Appeals Were Dismissed

The Toronto Globe, reporting a case in which considerable local interest has been taken, says:

Keogh v. Brady.—Judgment (C.) on appeal by plaintiff from order of Street, J., in Chambers, setting aside order of local Master at Peterborough, directing the issue of letters rogatory to a court at Buffalo, N. Y., for the purpose of compelling the attendance of one of the defendants for examination at Buffalo. Held, that, apart from the jurisdiction of the local Master to make the order, no sufficient reason or necessity had been shown for its making. Orders of this kind are not granted unless absolutely necessary for the purposes of justice: Holmsted and Langton's judicature act, 3rd ed., p. 722; Ehrmann v. Ehrmann (1896) 2 Ch. 611. In the only two known cases in which letters rogatory were issued in this Province, viz., United States v. Denison, 2 Ch. 175, and re Kirstaffer v. Imperial Loan Investment Co., 7 O. L. R., 295, the witness had refused to attend and testify before the commission. Appeal dismissed with costs. Appeal from order of MacMahon also dismissed with costs.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 ROGERS BROS. TRADE MARK

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

No Sleep For The Kidneys.

Old people are especially liable to Kidney and Bladder Irritation. The organs are weakened by age. This starts up inflammation—blood is not properly purified as it goes to the kidneys—and the bladder is unable to retain the urine properly. Russians Lose Nervousness In Their New-Found Liberty.

COUNT WITTE CALLS IN PRESS

Russia's First Premier Asks Their Aid and Is Told He Will Get It as Far As Possible—The Strike Is Not Yet Over, and More Bloody Conflicts Have Occurred—Great Rejoicing in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The Russian capital blossomed out with flags and bunting yesterday. All the troops were withdrawn from the streets and the city presented almost its normal appearance. The nervousness of the people has suddenly disappeared. Workmen by the thousands flocked back to the shops and factories without awaiting the permission of the strike committee. The authorities did all in their power to encourage the spirit of rejoicing over the newly-granted liberties. It was by order of Gen. Trepoff that the regulation decorations were hung out, the troops were withdrawn to their barracks and the police were instructed to permit the people to vent their feelings. Before noon the celebrations began, and the city soon appeared to have gone mad. Such scenes had never before been witnessed in Russia. Unrestrained by word or deed the crowds said and did what they liked. Despotism seemed to have been replaced by license. Red flags are everywhere in evidence. In th churches devout men and women on bended knees before the image of St. Nicholas, the miracle worker, rendered thanks for the blessings of liberty, while at the corners of the thronged streets orators harangued the populace. The people assembled principally on the Nevsky Prospect. From the Kazan Cathedral to the Town Hall opposite the Hotel D'Europe, traffic was blocked.

Witte Asks Editors to Support.

Count Witte yesterday summoned a conference of the editors of all the St. Petersburg newspapers, and asked for their aid and co-operation in restoring normal conditions and securing the confidence of the people in the new regime, whose purpose was to give the fullest measure of liberty outlined in the manifesto. The count said he had telegraphed to many eminent Liberals to come to St. Petersburg and assist in putting the new administration on a solid and acceptable footing, but while the railroad strike prevented their arrival he was forced to rely on the sober sense of the St. Petersburg press, without whose assistance in calming the people the Government could do nothing positive, and would be obliged to content itself with negative and even reactionary measures.

The editors present expressed the fullest confidence in Count Witte, but pointed out that they could not publish their papers without the consent of the strike committee. The editors of the Radical papers said that to content the people it was necessary to give the fullest amnesty to political prisoners and remove Gen. Trepoff, the Cossacks and other military forces from the city. Count Witte said the Government intended to proclaim amnesty. A manifesto was being prepared, but everything could not be done in a day. He added that it would be madness to remove the troops from the city at such a juncture.

Procurator Resigns.

Constantine Petrovich Pobiedonostseff, chief procurator of the Holy Synod, has resigned.

Strike Continues.

The strike committee during the afternoon decided to continue the strike, joining with the students in their demand for the deposition of General Trepoff, general amnesty, the removal of the troops twenty miles out of the city and the creation of a national militia.

Fatal Disorders At Lodz.

Lodz, Russian Poland, Nov. 1.—The situation here last night was extremely serious. The general strike is still in progress. Several collisions occurred between the mobs and the troops on Piotrkowski street early last night. The infantry fired on the mobs, killing two persons and wounding three. An hour later on Monstantin street, two persons were killed and eight wounded. At the same hour a collision occurred in the suburb of Baludy, where three persons were killed and eight wounded. The military Governor has ordered the troops to mercilessly quell all disorders.

Strike in Finland.

Helsingfors, Finland, Nov. 1.—Before the news of the manifesto was received here the workmen's committees, which had been urging co-operation with their Russian comrades, had declared in favor of a general strike, which commenced yesterday. The entire train service east of Helsingfors ceased after midnight, and a general industrial strike began yesterday morning. The students joined in the movement.

Procession Shot At.

Pabianice, Russian Poland, Nov. 1.—Infantry fired on a procession of workmen here yesterday, killing eight and wounding 24.

Panic At Odessa.

Odessa, Nov. 1.—Something approaching a panic prevailed here last night. There is much indiscriminate shooting, and bands of roughs are prowling in various quarters looking for an opportunity to pillage.

It is openly stated that the police and military are indignant at the changed order of things resulting from the Emperor's manifesto, and are abetting the disorderly elements in order to give excuse for violence.

A SUDDEN TWINGE

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of rheumatism is found in impure blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisonous impurities which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism, because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous uric acid which is the cause of the disease.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me of rheumatism after I had tried a dozen remedies without relief and also gone West in search of health," writes Harry Kitter, of No. 1565 9th Street, Denver, Colo. "Only those who have suffered from this dread malady know the pain and misery I endured for over five years. Whenever the weather was damp or cold my troubles were increased and my joints would be so stiff and sore that I was hardly able to move about, and often unable to dress myself. I used a number of highly recommended medicines, but they had no effect whatever on me, and I came to Colorado hoping to regain my health, but failed to obtain the relief I had hoped for. A gentleman in the house where I lived advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and in four months and a half after I began using it I was a well man, and have had no touch of it for the past seven months."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets These tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor. Put up in vials; always fresh and reliable.

A QUESTION OF COST.

In any number of stores you'll see various preparations of cod liver oil at as many different prices. You'll wonder, perhaps, why Scott's Emulsion costs more than some other kind in as large a bottle. Hearing only one side of the question you may be led into buying the "just as good as Scott's" at the lower price. That's false economy. Scott's Emulsion costs more because its more expensive to make. Every ingredient is tested and guaranteed of the purest quality. No adulteration, no shaving of quality. There's no economy in bargain medicine. If you can afford to experiment with your health, substitutes may satisfy you. We take it, however, that you want a pure preparation, a reliable remedy and something that's going to help you. That's what you get in Scott's Emulsion. Thirty years the standard.

Bear Dropped On A Hunter's Back

Bruin Fell From a Tree and Made Things Lively for Two Nimrods.

Port Jervis, N.Y., Oct. 29.—George Nearing and Samuel Degraw, Sullivan County hunters, conceived the idea that trapping bears was better than tramping over the country after them and built a bear pen in a favourite haunt of bruin. The pen was completed Friday, and the hunters were wending their leisurely way home when they heard a racket in a tree.

In the top of a large beech were an old bear and two cubs. The surprised hunters were somewhat "rattled" at first, but recovering their wits proceeded to fell the tree, being armed only with axes. The work of chopping had not progressed far before the old bear, becoming nervous, decided to reach the ground. In doing this she fell, striking Degraw on the back.

The cubs followed the parent bear, and there was a mix-up of bears and men. Nearing buried the blade of his axe in the head of one of the cubs. Degraw regained his feet, and as the old bear put up a good fight the two men retreated. They made a record flight through the woods and later returned with lanterns and found one cub dead. The other two bears had disappeared.

Presentation Was Made To Dr. J. M. Shaw

By His Friends in Otonabee Township.

Was Given a Gold-Headed Cane—A Pleasing Recognition.

Special to The Examiner.

Keene, November 1. — A number of the friends of Dr. J. M. Shaw, met at his office yesterday and presented him with a beautiful gold headed cane as a slight token of the esteem in which he was held by his many acquaintances throughout the township. On the handle was engraved "Presented to Dr. J. M. Shaw by the citizens of Otonabee." The following address was read by Mr. Andrew Shearer, and the cane was presented by Mr. Alex. Anderson:

John M. Shaw, M.D.,

Dear Sir, — We, the citizens of the township of Otonabee, having learned that you propose removing from this municipality to another field of labour, desire to express our deep regret at your removal from our midst. We wish to convey to you the high appreciation in which you are held by us, not only in your profession, but also as a citizen. By your many kind and unselfish acts you have endeared yourself to the whole community.

We regret that circumstances of any kind should cause you to remove from our neighbourhood, but trust that in your new field of labour you and your family may have health, happiness and prosperity.

We would now ask you to accept this walking cane as a slight token of our appreciation of your many excellent qualities of head and heart. Signed on behalf of the citizens.

WM. WEDLOCK,
A. D. ANDERSON,
J. C. READ.

The doctor was also presented with a twenty dollar gold piece by the members of the Methodist church; and Mrs. Shaw was made the gift of a life membership by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church.

Pathetic incidents in connection with Sir Henry Irving's last hours continue to be revealed. A Bradford boy who had shown considerable ability as an artist, did a portrait of the great actor and asked him for his autograph. The breakdown of Sir Henry's health at Wolverhampton prevented his signing the picture, but on Friday night — the last night of Sir Henry's life — the boy was handed the portrait, with a bold, unwavering autograph—the last which the actor ever wrote.

—The George street Epworth League is giving an old time social on Monday evening, November 6th, in the school room. The programme will be a good one and will be presented in ye olde time manner, making a very interesting evening. Admission 15 cents. 4eod.

The Weather Conditions.

—Now demand that you buy a new Overcoat for the season of 1905-6. See our range. The newest; the nobbiest and most economical in price. Words can't tell. Come and see. Lang & Maher.

Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary.

—To-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the parlous of the Y. W. C. A. building the Ladies' Auxiliary will meet. Matters of importance are to be discussed, and a large attendance is desired.

Woman Suffrage.

—The question of extending the right of the franchise to women will be the subject of a debate to take place in the T. A. S. Hall on Monday night next. It should be an interesting evening's programme.

Of Interest to Piano Purchasers.

—Two beautiful Nordheimer Pianos are now on view at H. H. Edmison's Drug Store, George street. Inspection is requested. Satisfactory terms can be arranged, and liberal allowances made for old instruments taken in exchange.

Did They Get "Canned Up?"

—Some mischievous celebrators of Hallowe'en, evidently caught the "spirit" of the evening, and, recognizing the occupants' bibulous tendencies, left a large eight barrel tank at the front door of our evening contemporary's office.

A Highway Fountain.

—This morning while a sewer was being dug, on the corner of Brock and Downie streets, a pipe of the water works main was struck by a pick, and split for a distance of ten inches. The pipe, being under pressure, a perfect deluge of water, a regular Iceland geyser in fact, shot up into the air. The water in the main was shut off and people in that district will have to resort to some other means of water supply until the damage is repaired.

Tied the Harness Up.

—Some Hallow E'en pranks were carried pretty far last night. At the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets a little before midnight the occupants of a double carriage were forced to leave their conveyance. Their team was unhitched, and the lines, rugs and other parts of the harness were tied up in knots. It took them a long while to adjust matters again, and it was in the wee sma' hours of the morning before they were prepared to continue their journey.

A Lucky Escape.

—At the noon hour to-day, the wind, which was blowing great guns, dislodged the dead branch of a tall maple, on Hunter street. The limb, which was about an inch in diameter at the base, had been broken with a sharp point. It came down with great force, sharp and heavy end first and in its fall just grazed the tail of the skirt of one of three young ladies who was passing, and just escaped the nose of a gentleman who was walking behind them. Only a step in either case was between the pedestrians and perhaps fatal injuries. If that pious old sybarite, Horace, tuned his lyre to a hymn of praise for escape from a falling tree the young lady mentioned should be also grateful.

The Nurses Are Entertainers

A Delightful Evening Spent at Nicholls Hospital.

Last night the nurses-in-training at the Nicholls Hospital had a period of relief from duty, throwing the responsibilities of attending to the patients upon the regular nursing staff, and the former entertained about sixty of their friends in the very pleasant manner peculiar to Hollow E'en. Games were played in the parlours and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

Dainty refreshments were served by the charming hostesses, who were in masquerade costumes.

Mr. Richard Hall, chairman of the Hospital Trust, was one of the guests.

Test the Kidneys

As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy, there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

An American Welcome

WAS EXTENDED TO THE British Cruiser Squadron

Prince Louis of Battenburg Was Received at Annapolis To-day—Jack-Tars Were Royally Received by Their American Cousins—Rear-Admiral Evans Greets the Prince—The Programme of the Official Welcome Extended to the United States Great Naval Station—Enthusiasm Ran High.

Special to The Examiner.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 1.—The guns of the American squadron boomed an admiral's salute, every ship of Rear-Admiral Evans's squadron was gaily dressed and the rigging manned by Jack-tars in their best duds, when the British cruiser squadron, under the command of Prince Louis of Battenberg, steamed into the harbour today. It was a magnificent spectacle, which warmed the heart of every sea-dog and fanned the enthusiasm of the people of Annapolis to the highest pitch. First came the armoured cruiser Drake, 14,100 tons, the Prince's flagship, followed in single line by the Bedford, the Cornwall, the Berwick, the Essex and the Cumberland, each of 9,800 tons. The rules of naval etiquette were closely adhered to in the greeting passed between the two squadrons, and the strictness with which every detail of the formalities was observed made the reception of the visitors highly impressive.

After the British squadron had reached its anchorage, the steam launch of the American flagship, the Maine, took Rear-Admiral Evans and the officers of his staff to the Drake. On board the Drake the customary formalities demanded by naval etiquette were gone through. Rear-Admiral Evans welcomed the Prince and the members of his staff and then the usual introductions followed. After the official welcoming ceremony was finished, the Prince invited Admiral Evans and his officers below, where refreshments were served and the ceremonious character of the meeting dropped. After a short time Admiral Evans and his staff returned to the Maine, where they will entertain Prince Louis and his officers at dinner to-morrow.

Later in the day Admiral Evans exchanged visits with the commanding officers of the other ships of the British squadron, and the steam launches of the battleships and cruisers were kept busy all day carrying officers in dress uniforms from one ship to the other. There seemed to be the heartiest entente between the officers of the two fleets and the men on the American ships are impatiently awaiting the time when they will be given an opportunity to fraternize freely with the British visitors and give them substantial proof of the friendly sentiments which they entertain for their Anglo-Saxon brothers. There will be no further entertainment of an official character to-day, excepting a formal return of the visit of Rear-Admiral Evans by the commander of the British squadron.

The staff of Prince Louis consists of Flag Captain Mark E. F. Kerr, member of the fourth and fifth classes of the Victorian Order; Flag Lieutenant Gerald Sowerby, Secretary Edward P. Shearne and Engineer Commander William F. Pamphlett. The captains of the British ships are: Charles H. Robertson, the Cornwall; Richard B. Farquhar, the Essex; Richard H. Pierce, the Bedford; Charles H. Dare, the Berwick, and Herbert C. Kiggell, the Cumberland. The American squadron, under the command of Rear-Admiral Evans, which is now in this port, doing the honours of the occasion to the British visitors, consists of the flagship, the Maine, the Missouri, the Alabama, the Illinois, the Kearsarge, the Kentucky, the Iowa, and the Massachusetts, belonging to the North Atlantic fleet and the new armoured cruiser squadron, including the West Virginia, the Colorado, the Pennsylvania and the Maryland.

The programme for the entertainment of the visiting fleet is quite elaborate and includes many interesting social and spectacular functions. To-morrow Rear-Admiral Evans will entertain Prince Louis and the British officers at dinner on board the Maine. On Friday Prince Louis and his officers will go to Washington for a short official visit. At three o'clock on Saturday afternoon President Roosevelt will give a reception at the White House in honour of the visitors, which will be followed by a state dinner in the evening. While the Prince and his staff are in Washington, the American officers in this city will do their utmost to entertain the British visitors. There will be a number of dinners, receptions and other entertainments, including a football game between cadet teams.

Prince Louis will return to Annapolis on the night of the fourth or on the following day, and on Monday he and his officers will be entertained by Rear-Admiral Sands, superintendent of the Naval Academy. On the afternoon of Monday the American squadron, under the command of Rear-Admiral Evans, will start for New York, to be there ready to receive the British squadron upon its arrival on the ninth. A magnificent naval demonstration has been arranged in honour of the arrival of Prince Louis' squadron in New York.

Suburbanite Crowd Walked

A Cheerless Tramp Through Last Night's Storm.

It was a luckless crowd of suburbanites, indeed, which came down from the north end last night to attend the lecture by Jerome K. Jerome in the opera house.

After passing into the chilly shades of the night from the chillier influences of the jokes of Mr. Jerome, the party boarded a street car, and in the course of time arrived at Smith street, where the tracks are at present torn up, necessitating a walk to a point some distance further on, where a car (doing service sometimes) in the northern portion of the run, is stationed.

But here is where calamity overtook the travellers. The car unfortunately became derailed, and stopped, standing directly across the tracks in such a position as to preclude any hope of replacing it in its proper position. And the crowd walked.

Capt. Bennett's Handsome MONAGHAN RESIDENCE Was Reduced To Ashes

Disastrous Fire at 11 O'clock Last Evening Almost Attended by a Fatality—Captain Bennett Now at Ketchecum Lake With Hunting Party—Damage Estimated at Over $2,000--Insurance of $800 Upon the Building.

The residence of Captain G. W. Bennett, North Monaghan, about three miles from the city, was at a late hour last night reduced to ashes in a conflagration of which the exact origin is unknown.

Serious as are the results, it was only by the narrowest margin that a fatality was not a sequel to the distressing incident.

The origin of the flames remains a mystery. They were first discovered at about 11.15 o'clock by Mr. Samuel Bennett, who resides upon an adjacent farm. He, together with other neighbours, Messrs. Thos. Hensman and H. T. Adamson, arrived at the burning house about the same time. The only occupants of the building were Mr. Joseph Bennett, the aged father of Captain Bennett, and Mrs. Atcheson, housekeeper.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in rescuing Mr. Bennett, who is eighty-five years of age, from the burning house. He was, it appears, sleeping in an upper room, having retired at an early hour.

At the time of the arrival of the gentlemen mentioned above, the shods at the rear of the house had been entirely consumed, and the main portion of the building was wrapped in flames, which spread with a rapidity which precluded any hope of checking them. Some furniture was saved, but all efforts toward salvage were soon rendered impossible.

Captain Bennett is at present at Ketchecum Lake with a hunting party, and is as yet unaware of the destruction of the property.

The loss will be a heavy one. The house was a red brick structure and was one of the prettiest in the Township. In the sheds at the rear, where the fire evidently had its origin, was stored a number of light vehicles and other articles of value. 110 bags of potatoes in the cellar were destroyed. The furniture is practically a total loss, as well as many valuable papers and township records kept by Mr. Bennett in his capacity as clerk of the township. The barns and outbuildings were fortunately saved.

The dwelling was insured for $800 with Mr. W. H. Hill. The total loss will, it is estimated approximate fully $2,000.

It is thought that a possible origin of the fire was in a blacksmith shop at the rear of the house, where Mr. Bennett, Sr., was engaged yesterday afternoon. Nothing definite, however, is known.

TOWN OF CAMPBELLFORD TO DEVELOP AND SUPPLY ELECTRIC POWER

For That Purpose a New Dam to Cost $60,000 Will be Constructed—A Nominal Development of 3000 Horse Power Will be Secured by the New Dam—Application Has Been Made to the Government for License.

The municipality of Campbellford is going into the development of power extensively, and if the application which the council has made to the department of railways and canals is granted in the near future work will be commenced on a new dam which, it is expected, will develop 3,000 horse power. Many years ago a dam was built by lumbermen at the foot of Crown Bay, two and a half miles from Campbellford, and later this dam was taken over by the town and used to develop power for the waterworks and electric light. At this dam the fall is only about eight feet, and now that it is becoming in poor repair, the town has decided to build a new dam lower down the river, one and a half miles from the town, at a point where they will be able to get a head of 26 feet.

Application has been made for the right to build this dam, and it is expected that the Government will grant the request. The matter has been referred to the superintendent of the canal to report on, and he will recommend that the council be given the license asked for.

The new dam will cost in the neighbourhood of $60,000, and it will be constructed as a municipal enterprise.

The town of Campbellford is going into municipal power development extensively, and the experience is one which in the past has proven successful. With the erection of the new dam the town will have power to sell to manufacturing concerns, in addition to that required for the operation of the electric light and waterworks plants.

It is expected that as soon as the permission of the Government has been secured, work will be commenced on the construction of the dam, as the present structure is considered not in good condition. The banks of the river at the point at which it is proposed to construct the dam are high, so that there will be no danger from flooding by reason of the rising of the water.

Verdict of "Not Guilty" For Alexander Willis

Special to The Examiner.

St. Thomas, Nov. 2.—"Not guilty" is the jury's finding in the case of Alexander Willis, charged with having murdered Eliza Lowry on the night of April 18th, last.

At the close of the testimony presented by the Crown Justice Anglin decided there was not sufficient evidence adduced to convict, and took the case from the jury, directed a verdict of "not guilty" to be entered and ordered the liberation of Alexander Willis. Willis, accordingly received his liberty, and an ovation was given him by his friends.

Dredge "Trent" Commenced Work This Morning

To-day the Government dredge Trent commenced work in deepening the shallow part of the Otonabee River, opposite the Peterborough Cereal Company's mill. This is the first work in the general scheme for the deepening of the river, in the interests of navigation. When the work has been completed the whole of the river front between the Hunter street bridge and the C.P.R. will have been converted into a series of docks and as soon as the river is navigable the C.P.R. will have to place a swing in their bridge to allow the boats to pass beyond it.

Inspector Of Prisons Here

Dr. Bruce Smith, the Provincial Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities, was in the city to-day on his periodical tour of inspection, and visited the jail, where he found that everything was in a satisfactory condition.

Dr. Smith commented on the fact that Peterborough county has no House of Refuge, and stated that west of Toronto there were only two counties in which these houses did not exist.

First Fall Of Beautiful Snow; First Sleighing

Last Night's Snow Storm Ahead of the Record.

Some Interesting Official First Snow Fall and First Sleighing Statistics.

Last night's first-of-November snow fall of six inches, was a Hallowe'en surprise party. Though it measured six inches in depth, the snow was very wet and compact, and would amount to about ten inches of ordinary snow. Taking the average of the past seven or eight years, last night's snow-drop was about three weeks ahead of time, and is regarded by many blessed optimists as a curtain-raiser for a protracted spell of Indian Summer weather.

The dates on which the first snowfall came, and the dates also of the first sleighing, since 1897, inclusive, are given below, as supplied from the records of our "old-reliable" weather prophet and weather statistician, Mr. Walter Peters. The dates given do not apply to the first snow flurries, but to the first measurable precipitation of snow. Neither do the dates as given for the first sleighing mean that sleighing was continuous from that date forward, the first period of sleighing generally lasting but for a few days to a week:

1897 — First snow fell on Nov. 9, (King's birthday,) 4 inches.
1898 — First snow on Nov. 11th; first sleighing—poor—Nov. 12th.
1899 — First snow, 1 inch, on Sept. 28th; first sleighing, Dec. 15th.
1900 — First snow, Nov. 12th; first sleighing, Nov. 14th, fairly good for a few days. Thermometer registered zero on Nov. 16th of this year, being an exceptionally early date.
1901 — First snow, Nov. 14th; first sleighing, Nov. 25th.
1902 — First snow, Nov. 23rd; first sleighing—poor—Nov. 26th.
1903 — First snow, Nov. 19th — one inch; first sleighing — poor — Nov. 23rd.
1904 — First snow, Nov. 24th, two inches; first sleighing — indifferent —Dec. 6th.
1905 — First snow, Nov. 1st, six inches; no sleighing.

An Example Of Industry

There are some men in this city who should emulate the example of "Daddy" Taylor of the Customs House. At eleven o'clock last night Mr. Taylor was out shovelling the snow off his walk, when other men were in bed.

It is not for "Daddy" that the Chief's reminder that the snow by-law is still in effect is given.

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those persons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $ 300. to $ 800. for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $ 1000. to $ 2000. Farms also we have for sale. THE VERMILLION THE LATEST GOAL

Rapid Settlement Along the Canadian Northern Line—Towns While You Wait—The Soil and Climate Excellent for Crops—In a Very Few Years Three Lines of Railway Will Traverse the District—Some of the More Important Towns Springing Up.

Considerable local interest will be taken in the following article written by Mr. J. McCaig, formerly of this city:—

Edmonton, Oct. 21.—With the undoubted bounty of Alberta lands and the host of homeseekers from all parts of the world with looks turned Canadawards, it is plain that the only deterrent to settlement and heavy production is the absence of railways on which to carry in effects, lumber, implements and general supplies and to carry out the products of the farms. Pioneers, of course, have preceded the locomotive in all parts of the west, but their success is naturally limited. There is no possibility of expansion and large self-realisation to the ambitious follower of progressive agriculture apart from quick and efficient transportation and communication. Accounts of phenomenal development in western Canada are necessarily associated with districts upon or easily adjacent to railway lines.

The Vermillion Country.

There is no part of western Canada in which greater development has taken place or in which the basis for a great development has been laid during the present year than in the Vermillion Valley. The part of this valley included within the Province of Alberta is one hundred miles from east to west and about half as wide from north to south. It takes its name from the Vermilion River, which rises some distance south east of Beaver Lake, flows north easterly until within a few miles of the Saskatchewan, then turns southeasterly and follows an almost parallel line with the main river, and empties into the Saskatchewan 40 miles east of Lloydminster. The stream itself is not of great volume, and is comparatively unimportant, but the district is one of great promise. The building of the Canadian Northern has given rise to a wonderful growth during the present season. The fine natural advantages of the country give good warrant for its popularity.

The soil is generally of the deep humus quality that belongs characteristically to the Edmonton district, varied by stretches of sandy and clay loam of rather quicker habit in crop production, and suited to the growing of the greatest variety and abundance of all classes of grains, grasses and roots. The recent industrial fair at Vegreville brought out as fine a display of grains, field roots and garden stuff as could be found in any part of Canada. An index of the good class of farm enterprise that belongs to the district was an exhibit of twenty five Shorthorn cattle from the herd of a single exhibitor. Grain products include wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye.

Winter Wheat Growing.

Winter wheat is being introduced and good stands of this grain were to be seen in September. Rye is grown chiefly by the Russian inhabitants, of whom there are some through this area, but the characteristic settler is the Canadian or American. There are a good many from Ontario in this district. The land as a rule is not heavily timbered, but approximates to some extent to the prairie land somewhat farther south. There is usually on any quarter a large part of the land ready for the plough without preparation by a scrubbing, but useful timber for fencing is available, particularly towards the west. The climate is characterized by a dry, exhilarating and quickly absobent atmosphere, but with just the right amount of rainfall to produce heavy crops. The humus of the soil retains moisture well. There is no rapid leaching of moisture from an open subsoil. Subsoil is usually clay. The rain comes principally in May and June. The harvest season is usually dry, and this dryness continues well into the fall. Storing of grain crops is unnecessary. All crop is stacked and threshed outside. Good water is generally obtained at a depth of from twelve to thirty feet. The spring and summer vegetation is of a strong, heavy nature. Grasses do not naturally cure on the stem, as they do in the south country. This means, of course, that for successful stock-raising ample provision must be made for shelter, and hay for live stock in winter. For shelter pole sheds are usually built. In the first stages of settlement the chief interest of farming is the growing of grain. Up to the present there has not been any extensive shipments of meat stock to distant markets. Local demand has been almost equal to the supply. Last year a few trainloads of wintered cattle were collected about Edmonton for the Winnipeg market. Hogs to the extent of a couple of cars a week were also shipped out although there are a couple of packing houses in Edmonton. It is expected, however, that the business of finishing and feeding live stock will assume greater volume in the immediate future owing to the ease with which hay, grain and roots can be produced. It is only by this means that the producer can hope to take advantage of a satisfactory market.

A Country for Dairymen.

At present dairying offers larger returns than beef-raising, but this is only an incident to an undeveloped condition in agriculture. Dairying represents a more specialised and elaborate kind of production than beef-growing does, and is suited to a later stage in the country's growth. Butter ranges in price from fifteen to thirty cents a pound throughout the year. The greater part of it is sold at 20 or 25 cents. Dairying itself does not pay as well as it should owing to there not being sufficient care taken to sustain the flow of milk by supplementary feeding of a suitable sort in the fall. The productive season is short.

Towns on the New Line.

The laying of the Canadian Northern through this valley is approaching completion. The grading is completed to Edmonton, and also is being carried on along two or three important feeders or short lines through good country north and west of Edmonton. The laying of the steel has reached a point within twenty-five miles of Fort Saskatchewan, where a bridge is being built to carry it across. It will reach Edmonton early in December. Trains already run on schedule time on alternate days as far as the line has been completed.

Several town sites have been laid out and building operations are active. At Vermillion City, which is a divisional point one hundred miles east of Edmonton, lots have already changed hands at a thousand dollars each. Lavoie is another promising town site. The town of Vegreville, which had acquired considerable importance as a trading centre before the railway was surveyed, was four or five miles south of the line. It had half a dozen general stores, two banks, several implement firms, two hotels, blacksmith shops, real estate offices, doctors, etc. The greater part of it has been moved across the prairie to the new town site of Laverne. It is expected that it will grow rapidly, as it is the centre of a fine agricultural district. At this and other points arrangements have been made for the building of elevators, which will be ready in time to handle the crop of the present season. The line will be marked all along its route by busy and successful towns, as the whole country is progressing.

The present season has been a good one. Wheat, oats and barley are turning out well. The crop is not excessively heavy in straw, but the kernel is excellent. Yields have been generally high and no failures are reported. Land is worth seven or eight dollars an acre. Few homesteads are available, but prices must still be regarded as moderate in view of the natural advantages and near transportation facilities.

Railway Competition.

The next decade promises to be one of great progress in this district and in the country immediately south. The Grand Trunk Pacific will parallel the Canadian Northern at a distance of from thirty to forty miles farther south. It is expected that this line will enter Edmonton next year. The Canadian Pacific Railway are building east from Wetaskiwin and they cannot well afford to be at a disadvantage in point of time with respect to securing part of the Edmonton trade. They will build a high level bridge between Edmonton and Strathcona, and are at present acquiring a right of way to this end. It is not unlikely that the Canadian Northern itself will bid for a share of the carrying trade of the Wetaskiwin district by building a line from some point in eastern Alberta running in a gentle south westerly direction toward Wetaskiwin.

WAS BALD SIX YEARS

Three Months of the New Scientific Treatment Restored His Hair.

Baldness is caused by dandruff, which is caused by a germ. Kill the germ and it is almost certain that hair will grow again, if the follicle has not been totally destroyed. Nels Peterson, of Lime Spur, Mont., says: "I had been bald six years, and had tried all kinds of 'cures,' but without any benefit whatever, until I tried Herpicide, November 16, 1899. I began using Herpicide, and in three months a fine growth of hair covered my head completely." Ask your druggist for Herpicide. Everybody can have luxuriant, glossy hair, if Herpicide is used thoroughly. Take no substitute. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The bride has been living in Hamilton for some time, previous to which time she resided in Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Slingsby will make their home in Hamilton.

PETERBOROUGH NEVER EXPERIENCED AS MUCH BUILDING ACTIVITY

Ald. Johnston's Monthly Report to the Labour Gazette Tells a Most Encouraging Story—250 Houses in Course of Construction—Labour Conditions are Satisfactory—Many Industries Contemplate Additions to Their Works—A Gratifying Report for Last Month.

Alderman W. J. Johnston, the local correspondent to the Labour Gazette, reports to that journal, in this month's issue, as follows:

During September business was active in all lines, and the factories were never busier. The new shovel and tool factory has begun operations, and is turning out 100 dozen shovels per day. The company has a very up-to-date equipment. The American Cereal Company has begun the erection of a large five-story addition to its mill. The company has changed a large portion of its mill to a flour mill, and has found its capacity too small. A large force of men are already at work. The revival of the sugar beet industry appears to be imminent, but no definite decision in the matter has been arrived at. The new opera house was being pushed forward rapidly in order to be ready this autumn. The brickwork of the new Separate school building was completed, and the roofing was being pushed forward with all speed. The corporation of Peterborough is putting in about three and a half miles of sewer. It had been decided to try day labour on a part of the work, but it is now all under contract. Never in the history of the city was so much building under way. It is estimated that at least 250 new houses have already been erected, and these with other additional buildings will bring the total to at least $400,000.

Wholesale and retail trade was exceptionally good, several merchants making changes and additions to their stores. Banks reported business good. The Bank of Nova Scotia and the Bank of Ottawa have lately established branches here.

The street railway conductors and motormen received an increase of one cent an hour, the company voluntarily granting the increase.

Sewer contractors had much difficulty in securing men for excavating trenches that the wage offered was $2 per day.

The customs collections for August were $34,335.30, showing an increase of $7,898.11 over August, of 1904.

The plans for the new armoury have been submitted to the officers of the local regiment. It is expected that building operations will be commenced next spring.

The Elite fur and hat store has been refitted.

A new company has been organized under the name of the Prepayment Electric Metre Company, and capitalized at $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $100 each. The company will manufacture all kinds of electrical metres, motors, transformers, electrical fans and other electrical contrivances.

The general decision of the Railway Commission did not relieve the freight situation for the Cereal Company and the company has again made a request for better freight rates. The company will get the advantage of the reduction in railway freights from the mills to the seaboard, as requested by the Dominion Millers' Association.

The annual statement of the C.G.E. Employees' Benefit Society, showed that since its organization in 1902, 408 sick and nine death claims had been paid, representing an aggregate disbursement of $4,931.47. The cash on hand on August 1st was $844.66, being an increase of $158.51 over last year.

Condition of Local Industries.

Agriculture. — Farmers are now busy with threshing. There was an exceptional yield of all kinds of grain. The agricultural fair was successful; there was a very good display of live stock, poultry and roots.

Lumbering. — Lumbering was never more active; all the sawmills have been running to full capacity since the opening of the season, and will continue in operation, supplying the great demand for building material. Many lumbermen have left for South River to work in the camps.

Manufacturing. — The Peterborough Lock Company, the J. J. Turner tent and awning manufactory, Ackerman's harness factory, W. Hamilton Company, and the Peter Hamilton agricultural works, were all active. The four planing mills, and a cheese box factory were working to their full capacity. Matthews Company's packing house was very busy, heavy shipments of live hogs arriving daily, and the large export trade keeping a full force of men active. Curtis Bros., the G. W. Green pump and machine works, the Colonial Weaving Company, and the canoe works had a good month. A large creamery building is in course of erection and will be in operation this fall. The American Cereal Company, and the Peterborough Cereal Company were very busy, employing a full staff of men. The latter is building an elevator for grain purposed. The Central Milling Company were running night and day to keep up with orders.

Mining. — The shareholders of the Star of the East Gold Mine, representing 700,000 shares, held their annual meeting. It was decided to increase the assets by a subscription of one cent per share or its equivalent in personal stock. A large block of stock will thus be placed on the market at 35c per share.

Railway Construction and Employment. — The street railway company was busy overhauling its roadbed. The Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railway Companies were also busy lining up their roadbeds in preparation for winter.

Condition of Particular Trades.

Building Trades. — The building trades were very busy.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades. — Iron moulders, workers and helpers, machinists, engineers, electrical workers, linemen, metal polishers, blacksmiths, boilermakers, sheet metal workers, etc., were all busy.

Wood-working and Furnishing Trades. — Wood-workers, upholsterers, varnishers, polishers, car builders and coopers had fair employment. Carriage and wagon makers and pattern makers had an active month.

Printing and Allied Trades. —These trade report a good month.

Clothing Trades. — Journeymen tailors, garment workers, hat makers and boot and shoe workers were busy.

Food and Tobacco Preparation. — Bakers, confectioners and butchers, were very active. Icemakers and cigarmakers reported trade fairly busy.

Leather Trades. — Leather workers had steady employment.

Miscellaneous. — Barbers, broommakers, delivery employees and laundry workers were busy. Clerks, stenographers, hotel and restaurant employees, and furriers, were well employed.

Transport. — Railway workers have been busy, the tourist and freight traffic having been exceptionally heavy. Steamboat men and street railway employees, teamsters and expressmen also were active.

Unskilled Labour. — This class was in demand.

District Notes.

The Dairymen's Association will meet in Peterborough shortly. About one thousand delegates are expected to be present.

The river and canal, barring wood, was extremely heavy. A slight decline in the price of cheese took place, 11 3-16 cents being the highest paid; 1,665 boxes were boarded at one meeting. Other market prices continued about the same as in August. Good business was reported from the country stores, and saw and grist mills were doing a steady trade.

Fashionable Wedding In Port Hope

Daughter of Mr. Barlow Cumberland Married in That Town.

Many Guests From Out of Town—An Interesting Social Event.

Port Hope, Nov. 1.—One of the most fashionable weddings that ever occurred in Port Hope was solemnized at high noon to-day in St. John's church, when Miss Mildred Cumberland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Cumberland, was married to Mr. Hugh Wotherspoon, an old T. C. S. boy, now of the William Grace Co., Chicago, and son of Ivan Wotherspoon, K.C., of Montreal.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Broughall, who was assisted by Rev. E. Daniel, rector of St. John's church. The church was one mass of evergreens and chrysanthemums, and the choir of Trinity College School was present under the direction of Dr. Petrie. Mrs. T. G. C. Pepler presided at the organ. While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Pepler played "How Welcome Was the Call," and when the bride entered the church escorted by her father, the T. C. S. choir sang "The Wedding March."

The bride looked charming and was beautifully gowned in ivory liberty satin trimmed with trailing sprays of orange blossoms. The yoke of the corsage was in lattice work of pearls and satin ribbon. She wore a large diamond star, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cumberland, of England. The bridal veil was held with orange blossoms and heather, and the shower bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Miss Violet Wadsworth and Miss Nesta Mackenzie, of Toronto, and Miss Helen Hudspeth, of Port Hope. The two little flower girls, Miss Leslie Ward and Miss Virginia Bush, both of Port Hope, were dressed in white organdie. The bridesmaids wore pretty dresses in rainbow shades of pale yellow, blue and pink, caught up with small pink rosebuds; the corsages had shirred yokes and elbow sleeves. They wore hats of white panne velvet, trimmed with white feathers and wreaths of pink rosebuds. They carried shepherdess' crooks, tied with bunches of pink roses.

The ushers were Mr. Stewart Wotherspoon, brother of the groom, Mr. D. Brown, Montreal; Mr. Stanhope Williams, Port Hope; Mr. A. Creelman, Niagara Falls, Ont. Mr. D. McKean, Hamilton; and Mr. W. Wadsworth, Toronto. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a diamond and sapphire ring; to the bridesmaids, the groom's and bride's monogram in gold on a gold bar; to the ushers, a gold wishbone scarf-pin, set with the stone of the wedding month.

After the wedding a reception and wedding dejeuner was held at "Dunaff," the home of the bride's parents. The residence was elaborately decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums, smilax, ferns and evergreens. Mr. and Mrs. Wotherspoon left on the flyer for a tour through the western cities. They will return to Hamilton the middle of November, where they will reside.

There were nearly four hundred guests present and a special train from Toronto of 11.30, returning at 4 o'clock.

THE PRICE OF BREAD.

Recently the Examiner had an article on the price of meat—being able to make the pleasing announcement of a decrease in price. Yesterday an article on the price of milk involved the announcement of a rise in price. Now the price of bread demands the attention of the housewife, who in turn demands a reduction in price. When wheat takes an advance in price the housewife notices that the bakers don't lose any time in putting up the price of bread a notch or two. But it is noticed that there is no especial rush on the part of the bakers to bring the prices of bread to a sympathetic level with the price of wheat and flour when a drop occurs. Some time ago wheat was at a good stiff price—$1.00—and flour, in sympathy, stood at $2.70 per hundred. Wheat is now down to 75 cents and flour averages $2.30 per hundred pounds. Not long ago a two pound half loaf of bread was supplied housewives at 5 cents. Then wheat rose, and 5 cents for a pound and a half half loaf was considered fair—when wheat was $1.00 and flour $2.70. Now both are down—flour having dropped 50 cents per hundred, but there is no drop yet in the price of bread. We are paying, with cheaper wheat and flour, the same price for a one and a half pound loaf that were paid with dear wheat and flour and the same price we formerly paid for a two pound loaf. The average housewife wouldn't feel like making a fuss over so small a matter, except for the fact that prices are so outrageously high for everything else that enters into bringing up the cost of house keeping to an uncomfortable point of pinch.

CRAWFISHING.

The protest of the Examiner made some weeks ago against the action of the Whitney Government in incorporating a club with power to keep and sell whiskey in its rooms without regard to inspection, prohibited hours or Sunday, has had its effect. It will be remembered that some time ago the Toronto lodge of the society called Elks secured with their charter of incorporation as a club, the right to keep and sell intoxicating liquors on their premises—at all hours and on Sundays as well. The granting of such a charter by the Whitney Government, permitting the sale of whiskey without restriction, was hardly in line with the announced policy of Mr. Whitney, who in lieu of prohibition announced his policy as strict enforcement of the license law. The outrageous disregard of the spirit of the law implied in giving a club a wide-open whiskey license, aroused public indignation and the Government, forced like the Czar into the right course, have retreated from their position and are now refusing incorporation—"with a stick in it"—to Chatham and Ottawa Elk lodges. No doubt the deputations which waited upon the Government on Monday had some effect in influencing its action as showing that the Government's course in incorporating guzzling clubs, was contrary to public sentiment.

It is a little singular when we call to mind the extraordinary zeal manifested by some temperance organizations and individuals in Peterborough at the general election, of 1900, especially, that, no protest, no resolutions against the action of the Government, and demanding the banishment of the bar emanated from the good city of Peterborough. There is in Peterborough, as in other parts of Ontario, a rather plentiful crop of persons who talk temperance and moral reform with facile glibness, when they think they can embarass a Liberal Government, but when a Conservative Government comes into power are dumb as oysters, lest they should embarass their political friends. It is such advocates and hangers-on of a good cause that damn it more in the eyes of the unreflecting, than all the machinations of Satandom.

OUR CANADIAN BANKS.

The Canadian banking system is one which Canada receives much praise for from foreigners. It is worthy of it, too, for while it may not be perfection, it is probably superior in most respects to that of any other people. The importance of such a success is of the first order. A system like ours gives the maximum of safety to currency, and to depositors, and provides that elasticity in the circulation necessary to changing conditions, while it meets all the needs of a young and growing country. As long as we do not make the mistake of overdoing the chartering of new banks the Canadian system will stand all the tests. The New York Journal of Commerce, the leading paper of its kind in the United States, comments at length on the perfect adaptation of our system to the needs of a country like ours, and contrasts it with the makeshift legislation governing United States banking. It points out that our bank currency has existed, in volume increasing with the need for it, for more than a generation, and has proved to be absolutely sound and safe, while its elasticity is such as to adapt its volume to all the varying needs of the business, of which it is an essential instrument. After describing the main features of our banking system, it says:

The effect of this system is that the requirements for crop-moving produce no drain upon the currency resources of Montreal and Toronto, which are employed and needed there. There are no material transfers of cash from one part of the country where they are needed to another where they are temporarily needed more, but the banks increase their circulation and distribute the notes to meet the current needs of domestic exchange. They serve the purpose of currency perfectly well, and are profitably employed. The loans and advances upon which they are floated are secured upon actual values in products and merchandise, and they are absolutely safe in the performance of the service for which they are issued. When their purpose has been served, they come back to the banks of issue for redemption, and all in excess of continuing needs are withdrawn Crop-moving produces no disturbance whatever, and the currency of the country is constantly and automatically adjusted to the demands of business. Canada owes much of her rapid advance and steady prosperity in recent years to her admirable banking system, which departed widely at the start from that of great Britain, and adopted the best features of the best of our State banks as they existed before the national system rose out of the exigencies of the Civil War. With this object lesson before our eyes our financiers and statesmen obstinately refuse to learn anything from it, and our bank currency is deprived of its chief utility and made a clumsy and costly substitute for so much real money.

The Canadian Bank Act was not, however, the product of a day; it was the result of experience, and the combined work of our best bankers and legislators. The evils of a bad banking system are felt in the pocket, and the pocket argument appeals strongly to most people. We set about righting wrongs whenever we discovered them, and the result is a system that is the admiration and envy of the financiers and business men among our neighbours. Sometime they will imitate it, but not now; prejudice, and the influence of certain interests are too strong. Meantime their best men pay us high compliments, and wish they could enjoy the advantages it affords. It is to be regretted that all our laws are not up to the standard of the Banks Act.—Hamilton Times.

Examination In The Action For Damages

Which Mr. R. J. Kidd, of This City, Brought Against G. N. Kidd, M.P.P.

Defendant Tells How He Come to Read The Letter.

Mr. G. N. Kidd, M.P.P. for the County of Carleton, was examined before Mr. W. L. Scott, master in chancery, in Ottawa yesterday, in connection with the action for damages against him by Robert J. Kidd, of Peterborough, which will be tried at London.

Mr. Robert J. Kidd, a former clerk in the department of the Provincial Secretary of the Provincial Government, has taken action against Mr. G. N. Kidd, M.P.P. for Carleton County, for opening one of the former's letters which resulted in disclosing facts that led to R. J. Kidd being dismissed from the employ of the Government.

Mr. G. N. Kidd swore that the letter in question was brought to his desk in the Legislative Assembly one day last April, and, as near as he could remember, he asked the page to open it as was a custom among the members to enable them to get through their correspondence more readily. He did not see the address on the envelope until after he had found by reading a part of the letter that it was not for him. He did not remember noticing that the letter started "Dear R. J.," and said that he often received letters with the wrong initials. He read the body of the letter until he had made sure it was not for him. He then put it in the envelope and, as near as he could remember, sent it back to the office. Later it was returned to him. He did not know at the time there was a man by the name of R. J. Kidd in the building, and he sent a page to find out. The page returned with the information that he could not find a man by that name in the buildings. The defendant then handed the letter, which was dated April 6, to Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, since the letter was addressed to that gentleman's department. Mr. Hanna wrote on the envelope a note informing the owner that it was in Mr. G. N. Kidd's letter-box and opened by mistake, which the member for Carleton signed. Mr. Hanna is Mr. G. N. Kidd's deskmate.

He swore positively that he had received no other letter from Mr. R. J. Kidd previous to this, and believed that another came on the same day which, with this, was returned to the postoffice, and he did not notice it again. He swore he handed the letter in question to Mr. Hanna simply that it might get to the rightful owner, and with no intention whatever of causing Mr. R. J. Kidd's dismissal.

A Reduction In Price Of The Happy Thought

"The Secret is Out," and This Famous Stove is Cheaper.

Messrs. Best Stove Company Makes an Important Business Announcement.

During the first three days of this week, readers of the Examiner have seen articles, in which some sweeping changes in relation to the hardware trade of the city, were foreshadowed, and to-day the "secret is out."

Commencing to-day, the Happy Thought ranges will be reduced in price, $3.00 on each size of range, the announcement of this reduction being made by the local dealers, the Best Stove Company, who report that this year they have sold a greater number of Happy Thought ranges than in any previous year, and at the present time there are over 500 of these stoves in this city, which, in itself is sufficient proof of the fact that this range is the most popular and gives the greatest satisfaction.

MR. E. M. BEST,

The Buck Stove Company of Brantford, the manufacturers of the Happy Thought range, are the largest stove makers in Canada, their works, about equal in size to the C. G. E. Company's works here, being devoted exclusively to the manufacture of stoves, and more Happy Thought stoves are sold than all other makes of ranges combined.

At a recent meeting of the dealers in Toronto, the decision was made to reduce the price to the amount mentioned, and in accordance with this decision the local dealers in Happy Thought stoves make the announcement of this reduction, which goes into effect at once. This progressive firm is determined that the Happy Thought stoves shall maintain the lead which they have, by superior advantages, secured over other makes of stoves. Doubtless, many will avail themselves of this opportunity of securing a Happy Thought at the reduced price.

Bulletin Board Was Stolen

It may not be generally known, but it is stated that the cause of the bad weather of yesterday was that fact that on Hallow E'en some evil-inclined boy stole the weather bulletin board from the fron ot the G. N. W. Telegraph Company's office. Those who are unprepared for this touch of winter will be glad when the one who took it will return the bulletin to its rightful owners.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

"Mr. Jerum" Has Come And Gone

And the Natives Will Doubtless be Duly "Astonished."

Audience Exercised Considerable Patience at the Opera House Last Night.

As if we didn't have enough to bear! With milk rates increasing to six cents a quart, and face to face with the icy blasts of a cold and heartless winter, many a Peterborough paterfamilias was, with a smile of the forlorn hope variety, about to don his last winter's overcoat, with the explanatory observation that he was "very fond of the fragrance of camphor, anyway." But at this point the old saw, "misfortunes never come singly," must "butt in" with an immovable demand for its pound of flesh, and, already bowed low with our weight of care, we must strive to outlive the additional mental depression consequent upon a deep draught of the "jokes" of Jerome K. Jerome.

The much-heralded "Mark Twain of England" last night lectured to a fairly large sized audience in the opera house. The decorum of the audience was commendable in the face of the fact that the patent medicine almanacs, with specially exhumed "jokes," are about to arrive, and the solemnity of the occasion was marred only by several unaccountable outbursts of most unseemly levity in the form of a feminine giggle. These were on many occasions most malapropos, but this was excusable in view of the fact that no key to the witticisms was supplied to the audience, which, therefore, had no means of determining when these were revealed.

That Mr. Jerome should be called the "Mark Twain of England" bestows a small tribute upon the English sense of humour, and a very large one upon Mr. Jerome. It is to be hoped that the reputation of "Mr. Smiff," of the Bobcaygeon Independent, will not be likewise tampered with. "The Mr. Smiff' of England" would perhaps, however, look a trifle plebeian in print.

The audience "came up fresh" apparently after the first round upon the programme, which was a dissertation upon the restoration of faded feminine charms a la young ladies' journal advertisements. A subtle joke upon "cheek-bones being worn low this season" brought down a portion of the house. But even this effort did not appear to exhaust the resources of the humourist. This was followed by a rather quaint little ornithological conceit, but it was when a recitation of the woes of one of the author's masculine creations in putting up a picture commenced that the sturdiest braced his feet. The description of the melodramatic manner in which the hammer was passed back and forth to the operator, was given with an attention to detail worthy of a patent-office report. A number of young ladies were observed to indulge in merriment as the climax of the story, in which the wielder of the hammer hits his thumb, was reached.

A description of a ladies' shopping expedition, as given by Mr. Jerome, should, if judiciously handled, provide many of the invarinble guild social young gentlemen "cut-ups" with a valuable source of inspiration.

Personal impressions during a visit to Russia and Germany were narrated. In the latter country missiles were thrown at a cat. A number of anecdotes completed the lecture.

While there may be an underlying "subtlety" attaching to the witticisms of Mr. Jerome which renders them distinguishable to his fellow-countrymen, it is most difficult to conceive just where it lies. Viewed in conjunction with the work in humourous literature of Oliver Wendell Holmes, Mark Twain, Bill Nye, Artemus Ward, James Russell Lowell and our own Sam Slick, it can scarcely appear in a favourable light. The hall-mark of the underlying significant truths which accompanies the epigrams, has always been characteristic of our every great fun-maker who has won distinction. And it can scarcely be said that this philosophical gift shines forth in the work of Jerome. The vagaries of the festive stove-pipe or the picture-moulding have been pretty thoroughly turned over in the columns of the American daily, and this and kindred themes can scarcely be expected to survive the ages, even under Mr. Jerome's administration of the elixir of life. The best in the wide range of English humour never fails to find an appreciative public on this continent, and it is inconceivable that Mr. Jerome K. Jerome should be erroneously judged through a lack of understanding of insular conditions. If Mr. "Jerum K. Jerum," which, it appears, is the correct pronunciation, came to Canada with the patronizing idea of astonishing the natives, he achieved a signal triumph.

Quiet Wedding On Aylmer St.

Miss Isabella Miller Married to Mr. Charles Sidney Hetherington.

Last night at the residence of Mr. Alexander Miller, Aylmer street, a quiet wedding took place, when his daughter, Miss Izabella Emma Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Sidney Hetherington, a son of Mr. Stephen George Hetherington, of North Monaghan.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. F. J. Scott, of the Murray street Baptist church at 6 o'clock, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The bride, who was unattended, was very becomingly attired.

After the wedding the bridal party and guests sat down to a dainty wedding dinner, at which the health of the bride was proposed, and responded to in the usual manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington left on the 9 o'clock train for Lindsay, and on their return will take up their residence in the city.

All Saints' Boys Brigade

Decided Last Evening To Re-organize.

A preliminary reorganisation meeting of the All Saints Boys Brigade was held in the basement of the church last night at eight o'clock. A spirited discussion took place relative to matters concerning the Brigade.

The next meeting, at which officers will be elected, will be held on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

There were several Boys' Brigades in Peterborough two or three years ago, and all were in a flourishing condition, but interest in their welfare waned and one by one they gradually broke up.

The boys, in reorganising All Saints, are making a move in the right direction, and there is no reason why successful Boys' Brigades cannot be connected with all the Peterborough churches.

A Window Of Liquorice

Mr. H. H. Edmison, druggist, George street, has his south window dressed in an unique manner.

There are quantities of liquorice sticks in the form of wood piles and also a fence, the rails of which are made of liquorice root. Behind the fence is an elephant drawing a load of liquorice with a block and a box of liquorice cough tablets upon his back. In the foreground made up of letters formed entirely of liquorice tablets is the word "pure."

Brockville Team Will Be Here

Assurance of Saturday Game Received By Wire.

The Brockville rugby club has wired the local club that the team will be there on Saturday sure. This should set at rest the fears that there would be no game on Saturday.

Brockville Is A Good Town

Brockville, whose rugby team plays here next Saturday, is a good sporting town. It is represented nearly every fall by a splendid bunch of pigskin chasers, and last winter had a team in the Federal Hockey League. Rowing is a favorite pastime in the Island City and possesses many noble representatives of this grand aquatic sport. Successful regattas are frequently held there. But the locals won't try to do anything to add to the glory of its rugby team.

RUGBY.

Under the ambitious heading "The Coming Champions," the Brockville Recorder says the following:

Now that the Brockville football team has raised itself to the pinnacle of fame by qualifying for the intermediate O. R. F. U. finals, some material assistance should be lent the club to see the finish through. The club have had but one gate here this season, which, although fair, was not as large as it should have been, and now that the team have a long journey ahead of them to Peterborough on Saturday, considerable cash is needed, which has set the officials guessing. The team is practising faithfully and every man says he is out to win, but of course this cannot be done unless the necessary cash to accomplish this end is in sight. There are but one or two weak spots which will be remedied at once, and the boys will leave for Peterborough Friday evening confident that victory will be perched on their shoulders on the return.

* * * *

A despatch from Dundas in the Globe says: "The secretary of the rugby club has received word that the intermediate finals will be played between Dundas and the winner of the Brockville-Peterborough game, at Dundas, on Nov. 18th, and away from home on the 26th inst. The locals are badly handicapped in having their star half-back, Walker, laid up, but Kelly showed his ability to play that position in Saturday's game with the Tigers. And with McKay and Simons back on the wing line, the local club will again present the formidable line-up that won the championship last year.

* * * *

Over a dozen men turned out for practice at the Brock street rink last night. The boys had a good fast workout and they have new the signal plays down to perfection. The team will be in better shape for the game next Saturday than it has been at any time this fall. Brockville will probably be accompanied by a large crowd of supporters.

Eczema Known By Intense Itching

IF NOT CURED IT SPREADS AND BECOMES CHRONIC—WHAT TO EXPECT FROM

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The stages of eczema are marked by redness of the skin—heat and inflammation — swelling — watery discharges—formation of a crust or scale and a most constant itching varying from that which is simply annoying to that which is positively beyond human endurance.

The beginning is often neglected chaffing and skin irritation, or a small pimple or sore which has been poisoned by the clothing.

Too frequent washing is to be avoided but the affected parts should be thoroughly cleansed with Packer's Tar Soap and tepid water. After careful drying (not rubbing) with a soft towel, apply Dr. Chase's Ointment plentifully.

The ointment may cause a little smarting at first but this is necessary to a thorough cleansing of the pores for relief from the dreadful itching will come after the first few applications and thorough cure will be the reward of persistent treatment.

One thing you can be certain of and that is that you are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, salt-rheum, psoriasis, tetter and similar skin diseases. It has acquired its world-wide reputation by the positive cure of these very diseases, and while using it you can see that gradually and certainly it is allaying the inflammation and healing up the annoying and distressing sores.

Mr. Hiram Fry, Norwood, says: — "I was troubled for ten years with eczema on the leg. The itching was terrible and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors said they could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

"My little girl, two years old, has also been cured of eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clean of every sore, which the ugly sores made and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven itself to us."

T. A. S. Smoker November 22nd

Good Night's Sport Assured For All Present.

The T. A. S. have announced the opening of the local boxing and wrestling season, on the 22nd inst., when they will hold the first smoking concert of the year. The 18th of this month was the date first decided upon but as the "Yankee Consul" will appear here that evening it has been changed to the 22nd. There is considerable satisfaction in attending the smokers given under the auspices of the T.A.S. The talent nearly is all local and the contests are purely amateur; so the strife for the laurels is always keen and interesting. And another pleasing feature, lacking in pretty nearly all A.A.U. entertainments managed by outsiders, is that things are run off, when at all possible, as advertised. If any local society deserves credit for the promotion of good amateur sport in the St. Peter's T. A. S. it has more active athletes playing games in the city than any other club or athletic organization in Peterborough.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

How would "Monie" Wilson and "Chief" Hurtubise do for the principals in the main bout at the coming T.A.S. smoker?

THE TURF.

At Memphis, Tenn., Dan Patch failed to lower the world's trotting harness record held by Star Pointer. Judging from the time he made he failed to lower anything except his own colors. Dan's days for lowering records are about over.

HOCKEY.

Isn't it time to call a meeting of the City Hockey League?

* * * *

Currier, of the Bank of Ottawa, should be a good man for the combined bank's seven. He has played with Smith's Falls and the Nationals of Ottawa.

* * * *

Mr. T. R. W. Black, of Omemee, employed on the local Bank of Toronto staff, is a possible defence man if the bank team is organized. Like many others who have learned the game on the village pond he may yet figure on championship aggregations.

* * * *

The Toronto Star says that Bruce Ridpath will play with the Marlboros this year. It was thought they he might probably turn out with Peterborough, but it was only idle rumour.

* * * *

Like the people of Peterborough, the weather man evidently takes no interest in rugby. The ground's all covered with "hockey dust."

* * * *

A meeting of the combined bank teams interested in the game will be held in the Ontario Bank chambers next Monday night, the 6th of November, at 8 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of considering the advisability of organizing a team for the coming winter. All interested are asked to attend. There are several good players employed in the different local banks. In the Ontario there are Macfarlane, Muldern, Carmichael, Sawers, Edwards, Harry Rusk, point man, and others. Ferguson, of the Bank of Ottawa, is also an experienced puck-chaser, while Johnston, of the Bank of Montreal, is a particularly good man, having played with the Wanderers, of Montreal.

The Death Of William Phalen

Life-Long Resident of Ennismore Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Wm. Phalen, sixty-five years of age, whose late residence was on lot 16 concession 9, Ennismore, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital this afternoon about 1 o'clock. The deceased, who was a lifelong resident of Ennismore, had been suffering with a severe attack of pneumonia for the past two weeks. He was predeceased by his wife, and besides an aged mother with whom he was living, leaves a family of five children, two boys and three girls. The sons are Patrick, of Ennismore, and Edward, of Peterborough. The daughters are Mrs. P. Godfrey and Mrs. Heard, Young's Point, and Mrs. P. Maher, Duluth. Preparations for the funeral have not yet been made.

Debaters Believe In Fire Protection

Y. M. C. A. Debating Club Discussed Question Last Night.

Last night an interesting meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club was held. There was a good attendance present to enjoy the programme presented.

It included what proved to be a most interesting review of the life of Nelson, by Mr. E. Orr of Oradit is due Mr. Orr for the able manner in which he dealt with the life of the great sailor.

The chief item was the debate, "Resolved—That the expenditure of at least, $25,000 for better fire protection, was in the best interests of the city of Peterborough.

The debaters were, Affirmative, Mr J. Hardwicke and C. E. Coleman; negative, Mr. W. Downie and Mr. C. Shiner.

The speakers of the affirmative showed the inadequate and inefficient state of the present equipment; also the necessity of having the fire hall more central. They also proved that with an efficient equipment the insurance rates would be reduced 12 or 14 per cent, while the city rate to meet the cost would be very little. It was also pointed out that human life was at stake, although the speakers for the negative said there had been no loss of life for 15 years. It was also shown that if we wished the city to continue its progress the fire protection of the merchants and manufacturers must be considered.

The speakers for the negative dealt strongly with the advantages Peterborough had over some other cities in the matter of a good water supply, claiming that the hose affixed to a hydrant would throw a stream of water over the highest building, without the assistance of an engine.

The judges gave their decision in favour of the affirmative, but said credit was due to the negative for the way they had handled a bad case.

The next meeting of the club will be on Wednesday, Nov. 15th, when the right of franchise to women will be debated. This is a great opportunity for the men of the city, and it is to be hoped that many will avail themselves of the chances the club offers.

The Lift Lock Not Yet Closed

While the announcement was made that the lift lock was to be closed on November 1, the superintendent has decided that in order to allow some few belated boats to pass through with their cargoes, it shall be left open until a later date. The slight accident to the No. 2 lock has delayed a few of the boats some days beyond the time when they would have concluded their season's work, and, as a consequence, Mr. McClellan has decided that he will allow the lock to remain open a few days.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hamilcan, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

The Lock Gate Was Not Struck

Official of Str. "Majestic" Speaks as to Slight Accident of Monday.

It seems that a misunderstanding has arisen in connection with the dislocation of the gates of lock No. 2, on Monday last.

It was stated after the occurrence that the gate had been struck by the steamer Majestic, but the Examiner has been informed by one of the proprietors of the boat that such was not the case. The accident occurred just after the steamer had passed through, a snow which she had in tow being at the time in the lock. The officials of the boat state that neither boat nor snow struck the gate, but that the latter became unhinged either through a defect or by reason of the flow of water.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

The Cossacks Still Engage In Deadly Work

Attacks On Russian Crowds Results in Slaughter.

HEAVY TOTAL LOSS OF DEAD

Jews Murdered and Their Places Sacked—Reign of Terror at Odessa and Kazar — Rainy Weather Helped Trepoff to Cow Crowds Into Submission—Ukase Reorganizing the Council of Ministers.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—Though yesterday passed in comparative quiet here and in Moscow, despatches from all parts of the Empire report disorders in many cities with a heavy total loss of dead or wounded. The people, while celebrating their new found freedom, were in many instances set upon by Cossacks and police, while in other localities the spirit of mob violence broke forth and the lower elements of the population gave themselves up to pillage and destruction.

The most serious disorders apparently occurred in Odessa where hundreds of persons are reported to have been killed or wounded and where rioting momentarily is expected to flare into a repetition of the slaughter of last July, and at Kazan, where a three days' reign of terror was ended only by the retirement of all Cossacks to their barracks.

A deplorable feature of the news from the interior is that anti-Jewish uprisings have occurred in many places, especially in South Russia, where the populace vented its hatred of the Jews by sacking their stores and clubbing the members of the race, in some cases resorting to the torch. The attacks on the crowds are reported to be in most cases the work of Cossacks, who many times apparently were let loose upon the people without direction or authority.

In St. Petersburg, yesterday, Gen. Trepoff in accordance with his announcement of Tuesday night, prevented the resumption of the revolutionary demonstrations, by having the crowds dispersed whenever and wherever they gathered. Kazan place and the Nevsky Prospect were several times cleared by Cossacks and police and the crowds were driven from the vicinity of the university with whips and flats of sabres. Gen. Trepoff was aided by the weather, which was cold and rainy and which kept many persons off the streets.

Count Witte's task in securing a fair trial for the new experiment in constitutionalism is a most difficult one. He is disappointed at not securing the support of the Liberals on whose co-operation he counted.

An Imperial ukase dated yesterday reorganizing the Council of Ministers, states that the president of the council will be chosen by the Emperor and that the representatives of the chiefs of various departments to the Emperor will be communicated beforehand to the president of the council who will also receive communications regarding all measures taken by the heads of departments. The ukase further provides that all officials, except military, naval, diplomatic and court officers are to subject to previous approval by the Council of Ministers. Finally, all legislative bills presentd by the Ministers to the Douma for the State Council, must first be submitted to the Council of Ministers.

MURDER OF MISSIONARIES.

Thought to Have Been Killed at Lienchow, China.

Hong Kong, Nov. 2.—Five American missionaries have, it is believed, been murdered at Lienchow. Details of the affair have not yet been received.

Lienchow is a town of 12,000 people, situated in the western portion of the Province of Kwan Tung, at the head of the Gulf of Tong Kung, not far from the treaty port of Pakhoi.

Dr. Eleanor Chestnut, Mrs. E. C. Machie and child, and Mr. and Mrs. Peale are the victims of the disturbance at the Lienchow mission.

Occurred Oct. 28.

Hong Kong, Nov. 2.—Reports from Canton say that the murder of the missionaries occurred Oct. 22.

When life's autumn comes, woman, worn out by the burdens of motherhood, yet shrinks from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever. Many fear a change in form, in feature, in personal attractiveness. Such fears are largely warranted by the effects which this change produces in many women. But no woman need let these fears fret her.

Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not suffer from the change of life either in face, form or feelings as do other women. This fact is due to the intimate connection of the general health with the health of the organs peculiarly feminine. By preserving the health of these organs, and relieving the system from the debilitating drains, ulcers and inflammations which sap its health, "Favorite Prescription" paves the way for this natural change to come in Nature's way, without the loss of capacity to please others or personal inability to enjoy life.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' brought me safely through that difficult period, called 'change of life,'" writes Mrs Mary Ensminger, of 344 E. Ankeny St., Portland, Oregon. "This change made a very unpleasant disturbance through my entire system. I had hot and cold flashes, sick headaches, became excited, frustrated, nervous and irritable. My appetite was fitful and for days I was unable to eat a fair meal. My aunt recommended me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it made a great change for the better. Within two weeks the unpleasant feelings had disappeared. I have a husband and eight children so have the care of a large family but was able to attend to my household duties without any difficulty and passed the period without any more trouble. I can recommend your 'Favorite Prescription' as a grand medicine for women."

You may be willing that somebody else shall say that their baby is "just as good" as yours, but you don't want that baby substituted for yours. Let dealers say what they like about other medicines being "just as good" but don't let them substitute anything for "Favorite Prescription." It is absolutely unequaled.

Alex. Willis Is Not The Man Says Witness

The Rodney Murder Trial Now in Progress.

Mrs. Covell Says Now Man Who Searched for Her Didn't Look Like Willis.

Buffalo, Nov. 2.—The murderer of the unidentified woman, who was found murdered at Hamilton, Ont., is believed to be in hiding in Buffalo, and the local police have him under surveillance.

Chief of Detectives Taylor said last night:

"It would be an injustice to give out the name of the suspect.

"We believe he is the man wanted for the murder, but we are not sure.

"He has been here for the past week.

"I have notified the Hamilton police that we suspect a man here, and asked them to send witnesses to identify him.

"I have not seen anybody yet, and I think they are slow in coming."

Josie Carr Pleads Guilty.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The Grand Jury yesterday afternoon brought in a true bill against Josephine Carr, on the charge of manslaughter for causing the death of Baby Murray last May. When the indictment was read by the clerk she stood up and in a faint voice said "guilty." Mr. Robinette informed his lordship he would like to make a few remarks on her behalf before sentence was passed. Justice MacMahon replied he would not pass sentence at present.

True bills were brought in against Dominico Taberinti for the murder of Amos Marlowe at Mimico on Sept. 22, and Charles De Marco for the murder of John Hoban on Sept. 4.

Mrs. Diamond is Free.

Belleville, Nov. 2.—"No bill" was returned by the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon in the case against Mrs. Susan Diamond, accused of having poisoned her daughter-in-law.

REVISION OF THE TARIFF.

Indications Are That It Will Be Postponed Till Second Session of 1906.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—It is reported here that arrangements are being made to have Parliament summoned for Jan. 11. This plan, if carried out, will mean a short session and the postponement for a year of the proposed tariff reform.

Many of the Government's supporters in Parliament are urging that the forthcoming session should be called in January, and that if there is not time for the completion of the tariff inquiry and revision the subject should be left over till next session.

It is possible, therefore, that if the Ministers find it impossible to complete their tour of inquiry within a reasonable time they may accept this advice and postpone the revision till the succeeding session, which, according to present intentions, is to be called in November, 1906.

A Conservative Nominated.

Newmarket, Nov. 2.—About sixty North York Conservatives responded to the call for a mass meeting yesterday and nominated Mr. Arch. McCallum, farmer and County Councillor of King township, to oppose Hon. A. B. Aylesworth in the coming bye-election. There were two rivals for the nomination, Mr. T. H. Brunton and Mr. Danford Roche of Newmarket, and only on the second ballot did Mr. McCallum receive a majority, when his opponents moved that the nomination be made unanimous.

Wingham's Disstrous Fire.

Wingham, Nov. 2.—The Button Block was destroyed by fire yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. What is left is not worth $50. The total loss is $12,000, with $6,400 insurance.

Five families lived in the block. They had narrow escapes and saved nothing, getting out in their night clothes. Charles Swanson had to drop his wife out of the window one storey. Several jumped for their lives.

Those in the block were Mr. and Mrs. Aley and daughter, Charles Swanson and wife, L. Bisbie and wife, T. Fells, wife and two children and Mrs. McLean.

The Late Christopher Robinson, K.C.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The funeral of the late Christopher Robinson will take place on Friday, and will be as quiet as possible. Tributes to the great worth of the deceased were paid in the courts by Chief Justice Falconbridge and Chancellor Boyd, and W. R. Riddell, K.C., for the bar. In all circles tributes of respect are heard.

Town Hall Safe "Cracked."

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The safe in the Town Hall of Outremont, a suburb of this city, was blown by crackamen early yesterday, but they only got $10 for their trouble. It was apparently the work of professionals.

School of Expression.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Toronto University is to have another new building, a splendid structure that has been donated by a lady who desires her name withheld. It will be used as a school of expression. Chancellor Burwash made the announcement yesterday afternoon at the Willard reception. He, however, declined to give the exact amount of the beneficent lady's donation, but it was learned that the property had been secured for $4,000, and that the building would cost between $10,000 and $15,000.

Rev. F. J. Sawers Was Ordained In Montraal

Former Peterboro' Man Was Made Priest Yesterday.

An Interesting Ceremony—Rev. Mr. Sawers is Native of This City.

The ordination of Mr. G. W. H. Troop as deacon, and of Rev. F. J. Sawers, of Peterborough, as priest, took place yesterday at St. Martin's church, Montreal, of which the Rev. G. Osborne Troop, father of the newly ordained deacon, is pastor. The ceremony was performed by His Grace Archbishop Bond, assisted by Coadjutor-Bishop Carmichael.

In spite of rather threatening weather there was quite a large congregation present, and a number of the clergy of the diocese, among whom might be noticed Rev. Dean Evans, Rev. Archdeacon Norton, Rev. Dr. Symonds, Rev. Canon Baylis, Rev. Mr. Gompry, and Rev. Mr. Craig. The sermon of the occasion was delivered by Rev. J. M. Snowdon, of St. George's church, Ottawa, and was a thoughtful and eloquent description of the noble work to be done by workers in the sacred ministry in these latter days, with a warning of the greatness of the responsibility and the correspondingly high qualifications necessary for the work.

The Ordination Sermon.

The speaker took as his text the words of St. John, "Rabbi we know that thou art a teacher come from God." He then proceeded to show in what way this incident of the conversion of Nicodemus and the character of the man should be interesting to those about to enter the ministry. Nicodemus had to rid himself of his false impressions and false ideals before he could become one of those who teach the truth of God to the waiting people. He had to be able to answer the question and meet the challenge, which are proposed to everyone who comes forward in this work, "who are you? whence do you come? what do you teach?"

The candidate for the ministry must get rid of the idea that he is going to carry all before him by the ardor of his eloquence and the efficacy of his exhortation. He must also take care of falling into the mistake of preaching what are called sermons of the day and which are nothing more than the sweepings of the newspapers and magazines. It is not this which people want and cry out for. They are looking for the word and truth of God, and the message of the gospel. Never before, concluded the preacher, has there been such a yearning for light in the darkness and perplexities of the world, and this yearning the minister must satisfy, these perplexities he must solve, bringing his clear beliefs, his unshaken convictions, his power and authority, to combat with doubt and disbelief.

Father Had To Pay For It

Young Boy Broke Valuable Pane of Glass.

One Hallow E'en culprit, a young lad of about thirteen years of age, had to answer for his waywardness at the police court this morning. He was accused of breaking a pane of glass in an empty house on Park street, owned by Mr. John Giles. Mr. Giles, in his evidence, stated that every pane in the front of the house except one had been broken by boys who imagined that they were having a good time on Hallow'Een. His Worship stated that the outrages perpetrated by offenders of this class were simply intolerable, and that it was this intention to deal heavily with all found guilty of offences of this naute. The boy's father had to pay Mr. Giles $3.50, the price of the price of the pane, which was a large one, the dimensions being forty by fifty inches. The court reserved judgment until to-morrow morning.

IN the Imperial Oxford we have not only given to the women of Canada the most perfect baking and roasting range but we have also produced the most economical.

The oven of the ordinary range is raised to a baking temperature by the direct heat of the fire on the side of the oven. To keep that oven at a sufficiently high temperature to bake or roast by, you must be continually poking the fire and adding fuel to it.

As the oven of the Imperial Oxford Range is heated by our patented Diffusive Flue, the temperature of the oven remains steady until the baking is done, without the necessity of touching or adding fuel to the fire.

This fact is easily demonstrated. If, when an Imperial Oxford is going, you were to stop the inlet of this flue in the bottom of the range you would find by the thermometer that the oven was getting colder, and that to keep it at a baking temperature you would have to keep poking the fire and adding more coal just as with an ordinary range.

If your dealer doesn't handle the Imperial Oxford, write to us for catalogue and information as to where you can see it. 20

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used Without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of drying it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and that it was not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

Shareholders Of Cordage COMPANY RATIFY THE Issue Of $225,000 Stock

Annual Meeting of the Shareholders Held Yesterday Afternoon—The Operations of the Past Year Were Satisfactory—Additional Working Capital to be Provided—Will Enable the Company to Purchase Raw Material to Better Advantage—The Old Board of Directors Were Re-elected—Will Mean Much for Peterborough.

Yesterday afternoon the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, was held in the office of the company, and about eighty per cent. of the stock was represented. Among those present at the meeting were: Messrs. C. F. Mason, R. Smyth, R. A. Dixon, W. H. Jackson, R. L. Morden, N. Nash, Wm. Fair, J. N. Hortop, J. Waddell, Geo. Syer, J. Lang, ex-M. P., Henry Crane, T. G. Heaslip, Thos. Gibson, S. Wirch, J. Thompson, H. W. Wilcox, W. Oke, R. R. Hall, M. P.; A. Henry, E. G. Wolverton, W. H. Meldrum, N. Dyment, S. Dyment, J. Buckham and others.

The report of the directors upon the operations of the company during the past year was presented and adopted by the shareholders. The payment of the dividend of five per cent. upon the capital stock of the company was approved by the shareholders, and the directors were congratulated upon their excellent showing, having been able to bring the company through the most trying period in the experience of the cordage business in the country. The turnover last year was upwards of $1,000,000, and it is expected that this year it will reach upwards of $1,500,000.

The shareholders approved unanimously of the recommendation of the directors to issue $225,000 of new six per cent. preferred stock. The object of issuing this stock is to enable the company to have a large working capital in order that raw material may be purchased at the period of the year when it can be bought cheaply. The intention is to buy enough raw material at the time when it can be bought most cheaply to supply the mills for the whole year's output, so that they will be able to operate continuously during the whole year.

The shareholders recognized that with the issuing of the new stock, the company would be provided with ample capital to carry on the operations continuously, which was most important in order to make the best possible showing.

The management of the company during the past year, which had been in many respects a trying one, was the cause of extreme gratification on the part of the shareholders, who expressed confidence in the course of the directors by re-electing the entire Board of Directors for another year.

The directors for this year will be

MR. ADAM HALL,

Re-elected President of the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company Yesterday.

Messrs. Adam Hall, W. H. Meldrum, J. Lang, ex-M.P., J. A. Bennett, and J. S. Latimer.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. Adam Hall was re-elected president and general manager; W. H. Meldrum and J. Lang vice-presidents; G. L. Hay, auditor, and E. B. Fowler, secretary.

The importance from the standpoint of the city of having the works of the Cordage Company in continuous operation is not small, and it will be a source of gratification to the citizens to learn that the shareholders of the company have recognized the desirability of providing ample working capital, as evidenced by the unanimity with which they agreed to the issue of the new stock.

The fact that now the works will be able to give continuous employment to about three hundred hands is one which will be learned with satisfaction by all who are interested in the industrial progress of the city.

PORT HOPE PEOPLE ARE NOW ARRAYING THEMSELVES AGAINST PETERBOROUGH

Fourteen Members of a Deputation to Object to Healey's Falls Power Coming to This City Are From That Town—The Deputation Wants the Power Confined to Durham and Northumberland—If the Request is Granted No Power From That Falls Will Come to This City—Is Port Hope Giving Peterborough the Double Cross?

Is Port Hope giving Peterborough the double cross? Some few weeks ago a strong deputation from that town waited on the City Council to ask for the assistance of the latter to induce the Government to construct the Trent Canal to Port Hope, and yesterday six of the men who were on that deputation went to Toronto to support a proposal to shut Peterborough off from securing any power from Healey's Falls, should a company be formed to develop power there, and wish to transmit it to this city. Of the thirty-one men who comprised the deputation fourteen were from Port Hope, while the remaining seventeen were representing five other places.

The Toronto Star in reporting the visit of the deputation to the Cabinet says:—

Hon. J. P. Whitney, Premier, and Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines, to-day heard a large deputation from the counties of Northumberland and Durham applying for a power concession at Healy Falls, a picturesque water-fall on the Trent River, capable of developing some 6,000 horsepower. The application was made in behalf of the Northumberland and Durham Healy Falls Syndicate, which recently assumed the rights of J. A. Culverwell and associates, who applied for the concession in the year 1902. The syndicate includes the Crossen Car Company, the Standard Ideal Sanitary Company, Charles Donnelly, capitalist, of Pittsburg and Cobourg, J. F. Clark, Frank M. Field, ex-Mayor Huycke, Robert A. Mulholland, J. A. Culverwell, and others.

A Rival Company.

It appeared from the remarks of the speakers that the syndicate has a rival company in Peterborough headed, it was stated by Mr. Field, by one Rogers, an employee of the Dominion Government, who proposed to carry off the power to the growing young city of Peterborough. The deputation attempted to give this applicant a knockout blow by asking that the distribution of the power be confined to the Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

"Will these counties bind themselves to use all the power?" asked the Premier.

"I think so," said Mr. Field.

"It is a very unusual request," said the Premier. "It would hardly work out well if adopted all over the Province."

Ex-Mayor Huycke, in the course of an exhaustive explanation, said that the power works wouldn't interfere with the Trent Valley Canal in case it came that way.

"It may go to Port Hope," suggested the Premier, and the deputation laughed good-naturedly.

Mr. Huycke said that Rogers had no rights, having never complied with the requirements of the late Government. In reply to a question from the Premier, Mr. Culverwell stated that his application was filed in the Department of Crown Lands in the year 1902, and that by a ruling of the department it was the only legal application that had been made.

Mr. Huycke referred to the fact that the deputation represented the municipalities and united County Councils.

A Municipal Ownership proposal.

"Why do not the counties apply for this power and develop it themselves?" asked Mr. Cochrane.

Mr. Huycke answered that he represented the syndicate.

Mr. Eric Armour, Conservative candidate last November in West Northumberland, and several other gentlemen also spoke.

"You want this concession granted right away?" asked Premier.

"Yes."

"How soon would you develop power?"

"Immediately," answered Mr. Armour.

In conclusion, the Premier intimated to the deputation that they need not fear that the water power would fall into the hands of a rival company, whatever else might be done with it. The question of the development of electric power was rapidly increasing in importance, and was entitled to more consideration on the part of the Government in its capacity, he added emphatically, as trustees for the people.

These Present.

The deputation included Frank M. Field, J. B. McColl, M.P.; Eric Armour, Mayor W. J. Maher and Councillors Field, Kerr, Ewing, Pratt, and Ferris, of Cobourg; A. R. Dundas, R. J. Craig, ex-Mayor Huycke, K.C., also representing Cobourg.

Reeve Maybee and Councillor Davidson, of Hamilton Township.

Dr. Edward T. Adams, Toronto.

Reeve Snetsinger and T. L. Webb of Colborne.

Reeve Peebles of Cramahe Township.

J. J. Preston, Col. Ward, M.P., Col. McLean, Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham; Mayor Chalk and Councillors Long, Giddy, Outram, Ralph, Garnett, and Sam Purser; H. T. Bush, President Standard Ideal Sanitary Company; Robert A. Mulholland, J. F. Clark, for Hope Township, and E. C. Rook, J. A. Culverwell, engineer, all of Port Hope.

A Keene Couple's Sunday Episode

A young couple from Keene while returning from Norwood on Sunday afternoon with a livery horse, were ditched through the horse becoming disabled. The horse appeared to lose control of his head and feet and fell a few moments after being separated from the buggy. About a dozen appeared on the spot and after sizing up the situation the horse was pronounced to have the blind staggers. A knife was procured and some blood drawn from the horse's tail and in less than a half an hour he was able to continue his journey.—Norwood Register.

ALL AVENUES OF ESCAPE GUARDED BY QUARANTINE OFFICERS IN CHANDOS TP.

About Thirty Cases are Now Under Treatment in Small-Pox District--Exposed Cheese Will be Destroyed--Outbreak Has Been Caused to a Large Extent Through Schools and by Careless or Ignorance in Treatment.

Dr. R. W. Bell, Provincial Health Inspector, was in the city this morning upon his return from a four-day trip to the smallpox district in Chandos Township. The conditions, it appears, have not been exaggerated to any great extent in the reports current regarding it.

Dr. Bell, seen this morning by the Examiner, states that the total number of cases of which he is cognisant is twenty-eight, though there may be more in outlying districts.

A serious feature of the outbreak which has developed recently is the fact that a number of cheese in a Chandos Township factory have been exposed to infectious conditions, and it is possible that at least thirty-six will be destroyed at once.

A state of disquiet prevails in the whole surrounding district. Practically the whole section in which the disease has developed has been placed in quarantine, first through the foolhardy action of a number of those isolated in breaking the restrictions imposed, it has been found necessary to place quarantine officials upon every road by which escape is possible.

Though about two-thirds of the cases now under treatment are adults the spread of the disease has been to a large extent through the schools. In two schools visited by Dr. Bell, a case has developed in every family represented. Children were discovered in attendance at the schools with the rash plainly apparent, and even with pustules fully developed upon their arms. The cases are almost wholly confined to Chandos, and Faraday township, each family in which the disease has developed caring for its own cases.

Much carelessness and ignorance have been in evidence and a number of cases of well developed small-pox were diagnosed as chicken-pox, and even poison ivy rash.

A feature of the outbreak worthy of remark is the fact that about three years ago, when an epidemic broke out in the region now affected, practically all the residents in the township adjacent to Chandos and Faraday, were vaccinated, though in these townships it was not at that time considered necessary. In the twenty-eight cases which have come under the notice of Dr. Bell, only one had been previously vaccinated; and in the adjoining townships where it was resorted to few cases have developed.

The local Board of Health is giving the epidemic close attention, and it is hoped that its spread has been effectively checked. The district takes on a decidedly martial appearance, many of the quarantine officials being armed with guns.

"Forty-fives" For A Trophy

A "forty-fives" tournament will take place this evening at the Knights of Columbus rooms, Hunter street between fifteen representatives of that society and an equal number from the T. A. S.

The contest will be for a handsome trophy in the form of a picture now on exhibition in the window of Mr. Jas. Lynch, druggist. It arose, it appears, from a series of insinuations given vent to by members of the respective organizations with regard to their prowess with the pasteboards, and the outcome will be watched with interest.

ALD. CROWE'S OPPOSITION TO FIXED ASSESSMENTS CAUSED THE TROUBLE

Five Votes Had to be Taken on Proposal to Fix Assessment of Central Milling Company—In the End the Mayor Gave Casting Vote—The Amount is Set at $12,000—A Lengthy Discussion on the Question—Committee of the Whole Met Last Night—Snow Ploughing Districts Will be Changed—To Improve Victoria Avenue.

The question which engaged the attention of the Committee of the Whole Council last night was that of the proposal to fix the assessment of the Central Milling Company, application for which has been made persistently, and a motion to fix it at $10,000 introduced in the Council was defeated, and the whole question referred back to the Committee of the Whole for reconsideration. The opposition to the $10,000 proposition came from Ald. Hall, and the claim made by the company that they should be dealt with in a similar manner to the Peterborough Cereal Company was combatted by him by the assertion that on account of bringing a new industry to the city the conditions were not the same in the two cases.

The question was discussed at some length last night, when finally a motion to make the assessment $12,000 for ten years was introduced by Ald. Johnston and carried. Some peculiar situations developed in the voting. Ald. Crowe's determination to oppose any fixed assessment being responsible for the defeat of three motions. At the time those votes were taken there were nine aldermen present, and four supported the original motion to fix the assessment at $13,000, and five voted against it, likewise with the amendment to make it $10,000. The original motion was voted on again in the hope that the aldermen would agree to it as a compromise, but in the meantime Ald. McIntyre entered and joined the advocates for the smaller sum, and the vote stood four in favour and six against.

Another curious situation developed, when, after considerable further discussion, Ald. Johnston introduced a motion fixing the assessment at $12,000. Ald. Tovey did not vote either for or against the motion or Ald. Hall's $13,000 amendment, and the result was a tie vote, which the Mayor decided by voting for the motion. This the representatives of the company accepted as satisfactory.

Those present were Mayor Best, Ald. Tovey, Hall, Adams, Batten, Crowe, Johnston, Hicks, Scott, Begley and McIntyre.

Mr. L. Laplante waited on the Council in reference to securing a portion of the shore of the Little Lake, now used as an approach for the purpose of securing water for fire engines in case of fire, upon which to build a wharf, offering to rebuild the fire engine approach at another point. His request was granted provided he rebuilt the approach and maintained it.

A Fixed Assessment.

The main question was the discussion of the proposed fixed assessment for the Central Milling Company. Messrs. Mulhern, J. Stothart and Mitchell waited on the committee, representing the company.

Mr. Mulhern was the first speaker and referred to the fact that the policy of the Council for a number of years was that no industry should be given a bonus providing there was a similar concern in the town which had been given no such consideration. If the Peterborough Cereal Company had been in the city before his company and had been given no financial assistance he would never have come to the Council asking for fixed assessment, but since they had given this consideration to the Peterborough Cereal Company they felt that the same terms should have been given to them.

A Peculiar Position.

The Mayor explained that in the case of the Peterborough Cereal Company no application had been made for a fixed assessment until after it had been decided to instal the cereal plant, which was un after consideration.

Ald. Hall further explained that the Cereal Company undertook to employ a certain number of hands, and to spend a stated sum of money in the erection of buildings and plant.

Mr. Mulhern further urged that his company felt that they were not being fairly dealt with, and said that since the Peterborough Cereal Company had been given the fixed assessment the Central Milling Company should be given the same. The question of capacity was considered, and Mr. Mulhern stated that the output of his mill was 150 barrels per day, as compared with 100, the nominal capacity of the Peterborough Cereal Company.

Ald. Adams said that he was of the opinion that the Council was prepared to give the Central Milling Company a fixed assessment, the only question being as to what the amount should be. This was a matter which was to be considered.

A Question of Proportion.

Ald. Hicks, speaking of the matter, said that at the time the question first came up he communicated with both mills and found that the Central Milling Company was given at 200 barrels, and that of the Peterborough Cereal at 150. It appears now that this was given too high. He was in favour of fixing the assessment at the same proportion, which would make the Central Milling Company's assessment at about $13,000. The understanding at the time was that the cereal part of the Peterborough Company's mill was to be exempted, and the flour mill to have a fixed assessment.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the assessment of the Central Milling Company be fixed at $13,000 under conditions similar to those imposed on the Peterborough Cereal Company.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the assessment be fixed at $10,000 under similar conditions.

Ald. Crowe objected to the whole question, and was in favour of making the Central Milling Company pay their full taxes. He thought the matter was one of business, and no favours should be shown.

Ald. Crow's Negative Vote.

The amendment was lost on the following vote: Yea—Ald. Johnston, Begley, Batten, Tovey; nays —. Ald. Adams, Hall, Scott, Hicks, Crowe. On the same vote the motion was lost, Ald. Crowe voting nay, to both motions.

Ald. Hall requested that the original motion be again stated, and at this juncture Ald. McIntyre entered, and only four voted for the motion, Ald. McIntyre joining in with the forces of the opposition.

Finally Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Begley, that the amount of the assessment be fixed at $12,000, and Ald. Hall moved an amendment, seconded by Ald. Hicks, that it be fixed at $13,000. This vote was a tie, Ald. Tovey's defection from the ranks of those who advocated the $12,000 assessment being responsible for the tie. The Mayor had the casting vote, and he voted in favour of fixing the assessment at $12,000, which was accepted by the representatives of the company.

Snow Ploughing.

Ald. Adams introduced the question of snow ploughing, and suggested that the system of letting it by contract as in the past be abolished. The opinion was expressed that the present districts were too large, and the suggestions made that two or more new districts should be made.

Ald. Johnston moved that a committee composed of the Mayor, Ald. Adams and the city engineer, be appointed to consider the whole question of snow ploughing. He pointed out that there should be more vim put behind this matter, and the men should be compelled to get out early in the morning, or in the night, if necessary.

Ald. Adams pointed out that if there were to be more districts there would have to be more men to act as inspectors. One man was not able to inspect the work of five men, and he suggested that if the new divisions were made, Mr. Fitzgerald be kept in the employ of the city during the winter to assist Mr. Evans. The motion was carried.

Snow By-law.

Ald. Begley referred to the alleged invalidity of the present snow by-law, and asked if the city solicitor had reported on its validity. He had understood that the magistrate had refused to convict under the by-law, and the solicitor will look into the matter and report to the Council.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the city treasurer be authorized to advance money to pay the expenses of the police in criminal cases until the money can be received from the Government and County, and that a by-law be prepared to authorise this. The motion was carried.

The city clerk was appointed auditor to represent the city on the board to audit the criminal justice accounts between the County and city.

Ald. Johnston called to the attention of the Council the condition of Victoria avenue, and suggested that some improvements be made to the street this fall. The work the residents want done is the erection of a temporary bridge over the ditch on the street. Ald. Begley urged the erection of a temporary bridge on the street, which would cost, say $50, in the interest of the ratepayers. The feeling of the Council was that some redress should be given the people in the event of building the proposed bridge in the meantime. The engineer will prepare plans for the bridge, and the matter will be voted on at the next meeting of the Council.

The meeting then adjourned.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Earl Cadogan entertained about 400 employees and cottage tenants on his British estate to the annual harvest home. He said that this year's harvest had been more than an average one. Hay had been bad and barley was not very good, but the wheat crop was good and had been very quickly got in. The fact that wheat was many cents below the price of last year was not so satisfactory, but still they must be thankful for what they had got, and at a time of depression for agriculture they had on the whole very little to complain of.

Under the direction of the department of agriculture, shipments are being made of Delaware apples to European markets. A short time ago a shipment of the choicest apples of the Williams red variety was made from that state.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Uterine Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that Canadian women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Leiah Stowell, of 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Your medicine is indeed a Godsend to suffering women, and I only wish that they all knew what it can do for them and there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony. I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, extreme nervousness and excruciating headaches, but a few bottles of your Vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy and I do not know what sickness is, and I have enjoyed the best of health now for over four years. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has sent sunshine into thousands of homes and hearts."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

Horse Became Frightened at Gate Lying Upon the Road Near Locks Bridge.

On Hallowe'en, an accident, which almost resulted fatally, happened to Mr. M. Porter, the outcome of a foolish prank, executed by some thoughtless youths.

Mr. Porter was returning home from a concert held at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, when, nearing the Locks bridge, his horse suddenly became frightened at a large white object lying across the road, which was afterwards discovered to be a gate, the property of Mr. Jas. Rose, who lives near by. Mr. Porter was thrown violently from the buggy, sustaining some painful injuries, while the buggy was left in a much-condition by the roadside.

An effort is being made to detect the persons who placed the gate where found, and if they are discovered they will be called upon to answer for their misconduct.

Good Start In Card Writing

A good start was made in the show card writing class at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Mr. Meddo, the instructor, speedily gained the confidence of his class, and showed himself a master of the art. Men who need show cards in their business, should join this class. It is expected that a number of new students will be present next week.

The customs department will sell the tug, Bertha L. Cockell of Erie, at Port Stanley. She has been placed on dry land and is in fairly good condition. The boat is the last seized by the Vigilant for poaching in Canadian waters.

Give Fair Play to

A really reliable remedy for headache—Zutoo.

If you have got it into your head that Zutoo Tablets will hurt you, you are mistaken.

It isn't fair to us for you to judge Zutoo by the drug cures.

It isn't fair to yourself to suffer from headache, when this really harmless vegetable headache cure is within your reach.

The fair thing for both of us is—to judge Zutoo on its merits—to test it.

If you find it does not cure your headache, sick, nervous or otherwise, in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time—no bad after effects, then discard it.

But do not condemn it unfairly without a trial, and keep on suffering from headaches. You really do not have to, and one trial of Zutoo will prove it.

All we ask for Zutoo is fair play—that you give it a trial before concluding as to its merits or demerits.

Wont you do this? You'll be glad ever after if you do.

We'll send trial tablets for nothing, or you can buy them at dealers in 10c. and 25c. packages.

In Memory Of Late Dr. Buller

The following poem was written in memory of the late Dr. Frank Buller, who was well known in Peterborough, having studied under the late Dr. Burnham:

So pass earth's great. What use the the master mind,
The depth of knowledge, and the purpose pure;
The will of iron that could calm endure;
The power to strive—to see—to conquer all
The tyrannies of darkness? When to fall
Into the dark—death's dread and silent thrall—
Deaf to the suffering souls that grieving call.
What use to wear fame's garish glittering crown,
And then one day to have to lay it down—
What ulse? What countless souls still somewhere bless
The skill that saved them from a torment's power,
The strength that shielded in a sorrowing hour,
The gentleness that soothed in time of stress;
Such great and gentle deeds can never die,
Fired fast they mark the track of eternity.

—May Austin Low.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good, and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

"How Would You Like To Be The Ice Man?"

Possibility That Dealers in Refrigerator Material May be Compelled to Face a New and Perplexing Situation—Local Board of Health Decides Upon Bacteriological Examination of River Water, With View to Determining as to Cutting of Ice.

The familiar query "How would you like to be the iceman?" will probably be received with significant negative shake of the head during the coming winter if present prospects are fulfilled.

Though a specific did not materialize at the meeting of the local Board of Health, announced to take place last night a course of action was formulated which may create entirely new conditions for a local industry. The members present were Messrs. R. Neill (chairman), Dr. Boucher, Wm. Eyres, R. Parker, Chief Rossel and Town Clerk Armstrong.

It was decided that upon the order of the secretary that samples of water taken from the river be submitted for ones to Dr. Amyot, Provincial Analyst, for a bacteriological report. Three samples will be taken from a point some distance east and from a depth of about four feet.

The precaution, it must be said, is a wise one in view of the alarm created by the recent outbreak of typhoid fever. The course adopted has been necessitated by the approaching ice-cutting season, and should the examination disclose impurities in the water, the cutting and placing on sale of river ice may be prohibited.

If such should be the case the local ice-dealers will naturally be confronted with a new and perplexing situation, and, it is possible, will have to transfer the scene of the cutting operations to Chemong, which is probably the nearest point at which pure water will be available.

To Prevent Dogs From Running At Large

If Ald. Eagley has his way, the dogs in this city will have a miserable existence. It is his intention at the regular meeting of the Council on Monday night to introduce a by-law which will prohibit dogs running at large at certain periods of the year. This alderman from the north-west corner of the city will introduce this as a notice of motion in the first instance, and if the members of the Council approve of his plan the by-law will be passed.

His opinion is that dogs, during the hot summer days, should not be allowed to run the streets, and if his proposal is carried out, they will not.

Lift Lock Closed To-day For Season

To-day the Lift Lock was closed for the season, and the guard gates were placed in position. The construction of the coffer dam at the Norwood Road bridge will be proceeded with at once, and the reach drained from that point to the Lift Lock. The season has been a most satisfactory one, and no mishaps were recorded, the lock working perfectly.

Delightful Entertainment At St. Paul's

Christian Endeavour Society Scored a Success.

Miss Elspeth McDonald Proved a Charming Entertainer—Refreshments Served.

A delightful social evening was given last night in the Sunday school room of St. Paul's church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavour Society of that church.

The object for which the affair was held was to assist in defraying the expenses in connection with the recent repairs to the lecture room, which is most attractive in its new form. A new carpet has been provided for the room, as well as new picture moulding. The walls have also been kalsomined.

The chair at last night's event was occupied by Rev. Dr. Torrance, who made a few introductory remarks.

Miss Elspeth MacDonald, the gifted Toronto vocalist and elocutionist, greatly delighted the audience with her clever skits and charmingly rendered vocal solos, and was received with hearty applause.

A delightful number of the programme was a chorus by the following five little girls, who are pupils of Miss Williamson: Misses Jean Anderson, Agnes Carmichael, Georgina Lang, Wilma Wilson and L. Moore. The little girls did themselves great credit by their performance, and greatly delighted the audience.

The evening was concluded with a question and answer department in charge of Rev. W. M. Mackay. This was composed of riddles, and afforded much amusement for everyone.

Delightful refreshments were also served and greatly enjoyed. The tables were three in number and were of a national character—English, Irish and Scotch—each being decorated with flowers in an appropriate manner.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

An Expensive Pane Of Glass

Two Dollars and Costs for Being Drunk.

A drunk and disorderly was fined $2 and costs at the police court this morning.

The only other case was that of the young boy charged with breaking a pane of glass in a house owned by Mr. J. Giles. The court decided that the father would have to pay the costs, $3.40, and the case was dismissed. This case was enlarged from yesterday, when the father paid Mr. Giles $3.50, the value of the pane of glass.

Modest Requests.

—Ira Chadsey, a Prince Edward County farmer, who committed suicide by cremating himself in his barn a few months ago, left $1,000 to a friend in Ottawa to act as literary executor. One of his wishes, as expressed by will, was that a tower 50 feet high should be erected on his grave, with a figure holding an electric light, that Picton and all Prince Edward County might see what a man they had lost in Ira Chadsey. His literary executor is going to publish his works in due course.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did, what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine, and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Growers.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

The Wornout Nerves, The Weak Heart, The Tired Brain, The Wasted Strength.

What a multitude of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case. From early morn until late at night they have been on the go, year in and year out, attending to the daily household duties, looking after the wants of her children and spending the rest of her time attending to social and church work. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? The action of the heart becomes weak and palpitating, the nerves become unstrung, the brain feels in a whirl half the time and the usual force of vitality is lacking.

It is at this time a woman should look after herself. If she does not, serious female disorders may set in and often cause weary months and years of helplessness and miserable suffering. What she wants is something to build up her system. For this purpose there is nothing to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They are the women's friend in every sense of the word.

They will strengthen the weak heart, tone up the shaky, starved nerves, make the brain clear, and restore the lost vitality.

Mrs. George Lohnes, Stanley Section, N.S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with weak and dizzy spells and was so run down I could not attend to my household duties. I bought two boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after taking them I found that my trouble had all passed away. I am now strong and healthy again."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25. If your dealer does not handle them, send direct to The Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Warkworth's Troubles.

—The scarcity of houses in town still continues to be a burning question, and house hunters are as numerous almost as the proverbial flies in November. There are large numbers of retired farmers, and others in Warkworth who have large sums to their credit in the various banks, who could realise good returns by investing a portion of it in erecting cheap but comfortable and modern houses, which would be readily taken; and by this means they would enhance their own profits and promote also the growth and prosperity of the town.—Warkworth Journal.

STREET DRAINAGE.

Galt is spending about $45,000 in storm drains. The expenditure will doubtless be felt by the taxpayers, but if value be obtained, it will not be regretted. Galt is a clean and tidy town, and the ambition of its people to have a good sewerage system is a laudable one. The necessity of good drainage, in connection with good streets, cannot be too much emphasized. We have many streets in Peterborough which are disgracefully lacking in drainage, and the result is the discomfort and inconvenience of the public. A case in point exists on Gilmour street. In front of No. 18 for a year or two, there was, whenever it rained, a lake and a mud hole. A short time ago it was decided to deal with this wretched nuisance, which has been a source of annoyance for so long. What was done? What should not have been done, of course. Instead of deepening the gutter, to carry off the water to the depression farther west, the hole was simply filled up, with the probable result that the water will be backed up, and form a new mudhole in front of other residences. A man with a spade and pick and—a little brains, would have opened up the gutter to carry off the water to the drain on St. Joseph's street, in an hour, and the trouble would have been remedied for all time. At the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets there was a mud lake for years, and it was removed by raising the level of the street at that point, and opening a sluice way to Aylmer street. But it appears that the old mud hole could not be parted with so lightly, and provision was made to remove it farther south on Aylmer street. A culvert was put in in front of Downham's creamery, and the concrete culvert pipe is placed so much above the level of the gutter at this point, as to threaten to form another permanent dam, and another permanent mud-hole. These concrete examples are given upon the exuno-disce-omnes principle.

CHEAPER RATES.

Two cents a mile for railway fares may be an improbability, but the experience of the Montreal street railway shows that high rates for transportation are not necessary for successful business. At the annual meeting of the Montreal street railway company an excellent showing was revealed, with average car earnings per passenger of three cents. The experience of penny postage in Great Britain, and the experience of our own post office service, which, with a two cent rate has yield a larger revenue than with a three cent rate of postage, shows that increased business can more than compensate for a reduction of rates. Whether the same results would follow a similar treatment of railway rates is the problem, and the railway companies do not manifest any rash intention of trying the experiment. The increased travel that attends the periodical extension of reduced fares, indicate that the public appreciate the advantages of cheap travel, but whether that appreciation would permanently extend to a permanent reduction of rates, is a problem which only test can solve. The probabilities are that a lowered rate would result in vastly increased passenger traffic, with possibly as great a revenue as now comes from a three cent rate.

ALWAYS "KNOCKING".

The Mail and Empire inquires if Hon. Mr. Aylesworth seeks to enter Parliament as a "redresser of wrongs?" Mr. Aylesworth enters Parliament as a necessary condition of holding, and exercising, the office of Postmaster-General, and so far as his department is concerned there are mighty few "wrongs to redress." Sir William Mulock did not enter Parliament as a redresser of wrongs, but he became one in due course. The way in which he "redressed the wrongs" committed by the muddling blundering, go-as-you-please, policy and administration, of his Conservative predecessors, constitutes a record which is perhaps unsurpassed in the annals of constitutional administration. Mr. Aylesworth will find himself abundantly employed, if he keeps the Dominion Post Office Department up to the standard to which Sir William Mulock brought it. The Mail and Empire affecting an interest in redressing of political wrongs comes very near to Satan reproving sin. The organ finds its calling in thick and thin support of the wrongs committed by its own party friends, and thick and thin condemnation of its political opponents, no matter how greatly in the public interests their course of action may be.

NARROW GAUGE.

If the Geo. Matthews Company, Limited, is ever threatened with being limited in the supply of raw material, it can well count on the neighbouring county of Northumberland and Durham, which has recently developed a plentiful supply of—pork. The idea of the people of that county, as they have done, attempting to corner the Healey Falls power, and secure conditions that any electric power that may be developed, be confined in its distribution to the counties mentioned, is mere monumental cheek. This is a modest request, indeed, and one that Peterborough, against which its effect seems to be aimed, should resent. It does not seem at all probable that the Ontario Government to which the application for a parish franchise was made, will entertain the proposition. It should not do so, for its granting would establish a bad precedent, which would operate, if followed out, in seriously retarding development. It would be just as reasonable in principle for the county of Welland to demand that the power developed at Niagara Falls should not be transmitted beyond the bounds of that county. If power is developed at Healey's Falls to the capacity of the situation, it is not likely that Port Hope and Cobourg and other places within the county will use it all. If Peterborough should need additional power which with the present rate of expansion of its manufacturing industries it may easily do, this city is estopped from securing power at Healey's Falls that may be going to waste. Trenton just across the border would be in a similar position as would also be Norwood, and possibly other places. All these places in point of distance are nearer, or as near, Healey's Falls as Cobourg and Port Hope. It is only the accidental circumstance of these places being in the county bounds, that can in any way excuse the monstrous demand made, a consideration that is entirely overborne and extinguished by the demand of development of the country at large.

BRITISH POLITICS.

Contrary to expectations generally, Mr. Balfour, Prime Minister, is likely to hold out for another session. Should he succeed in doing so, the present parliament will have reached its statutory limit of seven years. No English parliament, since the days of Pitt, has remained so long in office. The Unionists, notwithstanding serious reverses at the bye-elections, have still a substantial majority, but there is a widespread conviction throughout Great Britain that when Mr. Balfour does appeal to the country the verdict will be unmistakably against him, and a Liberal ministry will be formed.

In a speech Mr. Gerald Balfour, president of the Board of Trade, and brother of the premier, assured his supporters that the present administration intends to present to parliament the bill for the redistribution of seats. It is contended that Ireland has a disproportionate share of seats, and the Conservative and Unionist administration is accused of the sinister desire of redistributing those seats so as to weaken the Irish vote in the House of Commons, and to provide a few safe seats in Ireland for Conservative land owners. If this is attempted there will be some lively scenes in the House of Commons early next year. It probably suits Mr. Balfour's purpose to be wrecked on the rock of redistribution rather than upon any other vote of want of confidence.

Unfortunately the Liberals are without an outstanding leader. Earl Spencer, who, although seventy years of age, was looked upon as the probable choice of his party for Prime Minister, has recently been stricken with paralysis. Lord Roseberry is considered an impossibility for a variety of reasons. Sir Campbell-Bannerman, the present leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, seems neither to command general respect, nor to appeal to the imagination. Mr. John Morley is never seriously contemplated for the office of Prime Minister, although he will undoubtedly have a seat in any Liberal Cabinet. The Marquis of Ripon is an eminent Liberal statesman, but he was not a success as viceroy of India. Only Herbert Asquith remains. He is in the prime of life, and was a very successful Secretary of State for the Home Department under Mr. Gladstone and Lord Rosaberry. But he is a lawyer, but while in Canada members of the bar usually take a lead in politics, the reverse is the case in Great Britain. There is a prejudice against lawyers in both Houses of Parliament. Lord Kairns very nearly became Prime Minister, but he was seated on the woolsack instead. Mr. Asquith, who is a King's Counsel, may probably become Lord Chancellor in a Liberal Cabinet, but he will only be sent for by the King to take the reins of government as a last resort. But there is no rule or custom without an exception, and the exception may be found in the Right Honourable Herbert H. Asquith, K. C., member for Eastern Fifeshire, in Scotland. He may after all become the next Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Among the great questions which will come before the country at the next election will be the redistribution of seats, a readjustment of the tariff, the vexing educational question, and perhaps the disestablishment of the church. There is a disposition on the part of the Liberals to shirk the question of disestablishment, and Mr. Sylvester Horne, a Liberal member, said the other day: "If the Liberals go back upon their word I will be the first to join a new revolt. If we leave the ship because she has turned back upon her course, and is pursuing a traitorous line we will fire such a torpedo as will blow the Liberal party sky-high."

THE TARRIFF QUESTION.

The Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, representing the great mass of trades unionists in Canada, has made the following pronouncement on the tariff question:—

"The Canadian Manufacturers' Association will seek an increase in the tariff. We will oppose any increase. It is not thought desirable, at the present time, to make any pronouncement upon the relative merits of free trade and protection. Our position simply is that the tariff is now high enough."

The Canadian workingman plainly does not desire higher customs duties. He is willing to take chances in respect of the continuity of his employment. He does not believe that the manufacturers who employ him would shut down their shops if they did not receive greater protection. He is content with the present tariff and apparently is convinced that all the available knowledge as to the incidence of tariff taxation does not lie with the master manufacturer. The resolution quoted was framed by a committee appointed by the Congress for that purpose, and was unanimously approved.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The editor of this paper, says the St. Catharines Journal, has always used whatever influence he possessed in his party, against the application of the spoils system, as some Conservative officials would no doubt testify, were they asked. Mr. Whitney's actions in this matter will make it difficult for Liberals to oppose the spoils system in the future. The doctrine in theory and application is bad. We believe that the English system of civil service by examination and promotion by merit, with permanency of office depending not upon political favour, but upon conduct, is the proper method for Canada.

The national revenue is still climbing. The collections for the month of October show an increase of $327,680 over the same month last year. The increase in the past four months has been $800,000. The outlook is that the prosperity which the country is enjoying, and has enjoyed for the past eight or ten years, will continue. This is our period of development, and we are just entering upon a tremendous expansion in this direction. Within the next few years a hundred million dollars will be put into circulation — the most of it British capital. The fact of such immense sums being injected into the circulating medium of the country, cannot but have a stimulating effect upon every department of national, commercial and industrial activity.

Want All The Power In The United Counties

A large deputation, representing the various municipalities in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, waited upon Premier Whitney to-day at noon, in connection with the application of the Healy Falls Power Company. They asked that in any lease that may be granted for developing the power, which is estimated at between five and six thousand horse, a clause be inserted that it shall be used entirely within the counties named. The Government owns lands adjacent to the water power, and the deputation endorsed the application of the company with the restriction named, providing fair terms are obtained.

Some years ago the power was used in connection with the lumbering interests, but the land having been cleared, there is practically none developed now. Campbellford is the nearest town to the power, but it would also be available for Port Hope, Cobourg and Colborne, all within the counties mentioned. In Cobourg and Colborne all the power used for electric lighting and manufacturing is now obtained by steam.

Late Redmond Carey One Of County's Pioneers

A Resident of Otonabee for 65 Years Passed Away Yesterday at the Age of 83 Years--Had Been Ill Only a Comparatively Short Time--One of the Most Hospitable Homes in the Township--His Golden Wedding Celebrated Five Years Ago--A Native of Ireland.

Yesterday morning one of the very oldest settlers of Otonabee, and another of the pioneers of the County passed away in the person of Mr. Redmond Carey, who had attained the ripe age of eighty-three years, and who, for sixty-five years, had been a resident of the township in which his death occurred, coming to Canada from his birthplace, Tipperary, Ireland, at the age of eighteen years, and settling in Otonabee on the farm where he died. Otonabee at that time, of course, was a forest, and Mr. Carey had to hew out a home for himself.

The deceased, though over eighty years of age, had, up to a few months ago, been in good health, and a year ago would think nothing of walking to Peterborough, a distance of eight miles. In March last, Mr. Carey was taken ill from the effects of a cold contracted while attending his wife's funeral, and since that time he had been gradually failing, though he had only been confined to his bed for a short time.

The deceased was the father of thirteen children, seven daughters and six sons, and eight of these are living in this County. Five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Carey celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and it is rather a remarkable fact that at the time of the golden wedding the thirteen children, constituting the whole family, were alive and well. The children who are living in this county are Robert and Agnes, of home; John, County councillor, Otonabee; Redmond, jr., Douro; Mrs. Wm. Hogan, Smith; Mrs. Patrick Torpey, Peterborough; Thos. Henry, Peterborough; Mrs. D. Moher, Peterborough; Mrs. Wm. Cleary, Douro.

Five years after coming to Canada Mr. Carey married Miss Ann Logan, who died last March.

The Carey home has always been looked upon as one of the most hospitable in the township, and many a weary traveller has found a welcome there when it had been denied him at other places.

The late Mr. Carey was a Conservative in politics, but singularly enough, his sons have not followed their father's footsteps in this respect as they have in emulating his industry and traits of good citizenship.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 8.30 o'clock from his late residence, lot 16 concession 9, of Otonabee, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

OVER 6,000 SQUARE FEET OF CONCRETE WILL BE LAID AT NASSAU POWER HOUSE

To-night the Power House Will be Closed to Allow a Reinforcement of the Bottom of the Forebay--Eight Inches of Concrete Will be Laid--Area To Be Covered is 135 by 62 Feet--Fifty Men Will Be Employed--Works Will Not Be Closed.

To-night at 6 o'clock the Canadian General Electric Company will commence some improvements at the power house at Nassau. The plant will be closed and a force of fifty men will be employed in placing a reinforcement of the bottom of the forebay with eight inches of concrete.

The size of the forebay, which will be covered is 135 by 62 feet, and about 6,500 square feet of concrete will be laid.

This reinforcement of the forebay has been made necessary by the fact that the height of the water has been increased by one foot, and in order to sustain this additional weight the concrete will be placed in.

During the time which will be required to complete this work—from to-night until Monday morning—the works will be supplied with power from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and will operate as usual, except that the test department will not be making any tests.

Current will be sent to the power house at 2,080 volts, and will be brought down to 104 by a transformer, and used to supply current for one hundred thirty-two lamps, which will be installed to enable the workmen to carry on the operations through the night.

One hundred and fifty yards of sand, twenty-five loads of stone, and seven hundred bags of cement will be required to do the work, which will be in charge of Mr. R. S. Cotton, the electrician at the power house, while Messrs. Finnie and Gordon will superintend the men.

From to-night until Monday morning the power house at Nassau will be a busy scene of industry.

It is in command of Mr. Frank Fairen, and will be engaged at Hastings from now on until the river freezes. It will be engaged dredging that part of the channel below the locks which has already been blasted. When that is completed blasting and other work will be continued until the weather interferes. THE CITY MUST BUILD, SAYS DR. BRUCE SMITH, AN ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Inspector of Public Charities Informs the Mayor That the Government Will Insist on Peterborough Erecting an Hospital in Which to Care for Patients Suffering From Contagious Diseases--Senator Cox May Be Asked to Help His Native City to Erect the Hospital.

The city is going to be up against it in the question of an isolation hospital, according to the information supplied the Mayor yesterday by Dr. Smith, the Inspector of Public Charities in the Province, when he was here on his regular tour of inspection.

He stated that the statute provided that each city should erect an isolation hospital, and in the event of a refusal or neglect to comply with this clause of the act, the Government may withdraw the grant which in the past has been given to the city's hospitals, and in that case the city will be called upon by the hospital authorities to supply the amount equal to the Government grant.

Dr. Smith was authority for the statement that the Government was determined to make the cities live up to the law in this particular, and if Peterborough does not erect an isolation hospital the local hospitals may find themselves minus their grant.

It appears, further that the Board of Health has jurisdiction in this matter, and if the Council will not erect the building the Board may have it built and the Council will have to pay the cost.

His Worship brought the matter up last night at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole, and asked for suggestions as to the solution of the difficulty which confronted the Council.

He stated that Dr. Smith had informed him that the isolation hospital could be built for $30.0, but Mr. Rich. Hall, who was present, when the conversation took place, was of the opinion that it would cost at least $10,000. The opinion of the members of the Council at the meeting last night, however, was that the latter figure was more than would be required.

The suggestion was made that since Hon. Senator Cox and Mr. E. B. Wood had contributed large sums towards the Toronto General Hospital these gentlemen should be communicated with and asked to help their native city to provide accommodation for their sick.

It was pointed out that while the cost for building the hospital might not be large, the cost of maintenance would be the greater burden, as it would require a staff in constant attendance, while during the greater part of the year their might be no need for the services. It was stated that this year from April to September there was not a single case of contageous disease in the city. The proposal is to build the isolation hospital on the Hilliard farm, where there is plenty of room to place it at the required distance from any other house, and at the same time it could be near enough to the Nicholls Hospital to allow the staff of that institution to do the work in the isolation hospital.

Nothing definite was done in the matter last night, but it is probable that in the near future the Council will deal with it and in the meantime Ald. Johnston moved that the clerk be instructed to communicate with clerks of cities in which there are isolation hospitals to ascertain the cost, etc., of these hospitals, which was carried.

Pay City Taxes Before Nov. 15th

Mr. W. J. Green, city collector of taxes, for the convenience of those ratepayers who neglect to read the extract from the bylaw printed at the bottom of each tax bill, states the following:

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15th, is the last day for the payment of the second instalment of taxes, without penalty.

After that date FIVE PER CENT. will be added to the amount of all tax bills that have not been paid.

Taxpayers are requested to govern themselves accordingly, to come early and avoid the rush, and also save the addition of five per cent. to their tax bills.

The tax office is situated on the second floor of 139 Simcoe street — over Mr. C. N. Brown's flour and feed store.

Kind Words For New Inspector

Mr. Lees, our new school inspector, was in the neighbourhood last week on his first official visit here and he spoke very favourably of the school. It is quite a number of years since Mr. Lees first came about Stony Lake. He was but a young man then. He has visited the waters of Stony Lake nearly every year since and the people here were always glad to meet him. Our County Council surely made a wise selection when they appointed him associate to Mr. Brown.—Stony Lake correspondent to Norwood Register.

Brockville Team Sure To Be Here

An item in yesterday's Toronto Star stated that Brockville would default the remainder of its games in the O. R. F. U. intermediate schedule owing to lack of funds, and consequently the game with Peterborough on Saturday would be called off. To this, the Brockville Recorder says, must be given an emphatic denial, for while the situation the first of the week certainly looked blue, the president of the local club has responded to the occasion and will guarantee the expenses of the team for Saturday's trip, and the boys will leave here on the early train Saturday morning.

An effort was made yesterday by the local manager to have a sudden death game in Toronto a week from Saturday, but to this the Peterborough team would not give their consent.

Oh! Dirty Kingston!

Under the most appropriate heading of "A Despicable Attack," the Brockville Recorder says:

"Although the game was played without any rough house tactics to speak of, Kingston's animosity, through suffering defeat, was shown in its true form when the teams and spectators were leaving the grounds. Of course the Recorder can only give a one-sided account of the affair, but from what could be gathered, it seems that Davis, one of the Limestone's wing men, came up from behind and unnoticed to Hilliard, struck the latter a terrific blow on the back of the head. Hilliard at once prepared to defend himself, which was the signal for the mob to join in, and before rescued, the Brockville player had received a bad drubbing from a dozen or more who joined in the fracas. His upper lip was split open, necessitating seven stitches before leaving the city. Other Brockville lads, who aided in his rescue, were also the recipients of some hard knocks. This action, to say the least, unsportsmanlike, was most unfair, considering the treatment the visitors received here, and ought to be dealt with by the union officials."

Kingston has a very unenviable athletic reputation. It will be well remembered the dirty treatment accorded by them to a Peterborough hockey a few winters ago, and this isn't the first time a Brockville sporting aggregation has been maltreated in the Limestoneville. Van Horne, one of their hockey players, made a most brutal assault on young Hayward last winter. He had to pay a fine, too! He should have been "pugged" for ten years without any option of a fine. The atmosphere of the penitentiary must have a deteriorating effect upon Kingston athletes.

When Physical Bankruptcy Threatens Build Up With

Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Gloomy foreboding, fear of the future, apprehension of something dreadful to befall you, worry over little things, restlessness, insomnia, irritation—these are the indications of an exhausted nervous system.

They tell more plainly than words, more plainly than pains and aches, that gradually, but certainly, the nerve force of the body is being consumed more rapidly than it is being created. They point to physical bankruptcy—to helplessness of mind—and body—to prostration, paralysis—or locomotor ataxia.

There are certain elements of nature which go to form new blood and new nerve cells—to create new nerve force, the foundation of life, energy and vitality. These elements are so combined in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as to be easily assimilated by the weakened human body.

Being composed of such ingredients, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cannot possibly fail to be of benefit to you, and its regular and persistent use will build up and revitalize the most exhausted and discouraged sufferer.

You cannot compare Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with any other medicine you ever used, for it cures by the building-up process, whereas most nerve treatments merely soothe and deaden the nerves. Test this treatment by noting your increase in weight.

Mrs. J. Hatcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton Foundry, states: "I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which left me in a very run-down state of health, and, in fact, my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep and at times the pains in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms I was unable to attend to my house work, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved of great benefit to me. I am able to do my own work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

The officials for next Saturday's game will be Hugh Hayes, referee, and F. C. Robbins, umpire, both of Hamilton. Their work in Toronto-Argos-Peterborough matches, in Toronto, on Thanksgiving Day, was gilt edged and we don't ask for any better.

• • • •

About eight or ten players were out in uniform last night at the Brock street rink. This practice, is the last one that will be held before the game to-morrow.

• • • •

A meeting of the executive and all players will be held at the Oriental to-night at 7.15 sharp.

• • •

The Crescents were to have played T.C.S. II. of East Hope at the Riverside Park to-morrow at the conclusion of the Peterborough-Brockville game, but owing to the unfavorable weather the game has been declared off.

• • • •

This is something like the weather that greets the final hockey matches.

• • • •

The following players are asked to be on hand at the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock:

Mulhern, Crough, Walkey, Dillon, Ford, Crowley, Hurtubise, Meagher, Gilbert, Fitzpatrick, Gillespie, Shaw, Regan, Sisson, McDonald, Craig, Quinlan.

HOCKEY.

Varsity will probably be represented by the strongest line up that it has ever put on ice.

• • • •

A. W. McPherson will be treasurer of the O. H. A. by acclamation. W. A. Hewitt has no opponent for the secretaryship.

• • • •

The O. H. A. will consider the advisability of having the games played in quarters. By all means have them played in quarters. It's a first class idea.

• • • •

"Reddy" McMillan, who played with Belleville against Peterborough a couple of years ago, will probably chase the puck with the American Soo squad this winter.

• • • •

While Armstrong did play for the Marlboros last year, he learned the game in Peterborough, and played on a faster team right here in this city than the Marlboros ever put on the ice.

• • • •

The Toronto Star says: This year the Ottawa Hockey Club will have in Armstrong and Garneau two first class men to fall back on. Both of these players are graduates from senior company in Toronto, and will assuredly catch a place on the Stanley Cup team.

• • • •

One of the local journals states that Bruce Richards turned down several offers to play professional and stayed with the Marlboros because he decided to play amateur hockey. Who knows but that the Toronto team may have offered bigger inducements than the international leaguers.

• • • •

Berlin may enter the senior O. H. A. All the western teams seem to fancy senior to intermediate this year. And there's no reason why they shouldn't. They turn out as fast puck chasers up there as in any part of Ontario.

THE TURF.

The winter schedule of the Midland Ice Circuit as arranged at present is: Christmas week, Chatham Park, Toronto; Jan. 2nd and 4th, Port Perry; Jan. 10th and 11th, Lindsay; Jan. 17th and 18th, Peterborough; Jan. 24th and 25th, Belleville the first week in February, Ottawa, Picton may come into the circuit and if it does it will probably be given dates between Belleville and Ottawa.

Over in Canada last year at the ice races and during the past season, there was considerable talk about the chestnut pacing mare, Orillia Belle, driven by Mr. Geo. Powell, of Orillia, in many races. A Rice Lake Hunter's Yarn

The other night a party of Rice Lake duck hunters were sitting in a hotel telling stories of famous shots and how many ducks and other birds had been killed at a single discharge. After listening for some time to what seemed a wilful exaggeration by different narrators, a man who was present volunteered his first experience of the fatal double barrelled gun. He began, "I went into a field one day to try shootin'. The only game discovered was an immense flock of blackbirds. I should say there were 10,000 in the flock. Yes, quite 10,000. Slowly I crawled up to them, and when not more than 30 yards the birds rose in a solid mass. I fired both barrels, and how many do you think I killed?" Different guesses ranged from twenty to one hundred birds. "Not one," said the stranger, "but I went out with my brother to look for the result, and we picked up thirty bushels of legs! I had shot a little too low." That was the last story told that night.

Canada Set A Noble Example

London Standard's Opinion Expressed.

London, Nov. 2.—Referring to the Newfoundland-American dispute the Standard criticises the indisposition of the home government to support the colony. "Though it desires to maintain good relationship with the United States it is not good business for the home statesmen to always see through the spectacles of the other side when questions involving Greater Britain arise.

"Canada," concludes the Standard, "set a noble example in imperial patriotism when she accepted the settlement of the Alaska boundary dispute, obnoxious as it was, in silence sooner than embarass the wider interests of the empire, but we rely on the self-abnegation of the colonies since too often their trust in the power of the mother country to protect them necessarily carries with it the expectation that they will be protected."

The recent accident to submarine boat A No. 4, whose crew of sixteen had a narrow escape from drowning off Spithead, England, on October 16, was due to a ventilator not being closed when the boat was being trimmed for diving. A court martial has assembled at Portsmouth for the trial of Lieut. N. A. Smyth, who commanded the A No. 4 at the time of the accident on the charge of hazarding the safety of the vessel.

SICK HEADACHE

Many varieties of headache exist, those most prevalent being sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, etc.

Headache is an effect of disease, the cry of the suffering body for relief from some oppressing disorder.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed in order to cure the headache permanently. Wrong action of the stomach, liver or bowels is responsible for nine out of ten cases of headache.

In sick headache (a very common form) there is sometimes nausea and vomiting and usually constipation.

In nearly all forms of headache

Burdock Blood Bitters

has proved itself a specific—a medicine that has cured where all others failed.

Keep the stomach, liver and bowels in perfect working order by the use of nature's regulator and tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters, which cures all forms of headache by removing the cause.

Miss L. Smith, Morrisburg, Ont., writes: "I desire to let you know how much good Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I was troubled with headaches all the time, and could get no relief, until a friend told me of your Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles of it, I can say that I am completely cured."

B.B.B. is for sale at all druggists and general stores. Do not accept something "just as good."

Where Is Lightning?

Mr. King Dodds, editor of the Canadian Sportsman, has written to Mr. R. J. Munro, president of the Turf Club, asking him for information about a stallion named Lightning. Mr. Munro doesn't know anything about the horse referred to and can not find out anybody else that does. Anyone who can enlighten Mr. Dodds the writer of the letter, would confer a great favour upon him by communicating to him any intelligence he may have concerning the animal in question.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Let the mother take Scott's Emulsion for the two; it never fails to benefit them both. One can eat for two, but nourishing two is a different thing. It calls for a degree of internal strength that the average woman lacks. People of luxury are not very strong by habit; overworked people are weak in some functions from exhaustion or their surroundings. Scott's Emulsion can be depended upon to overcome such conditions. It is a wonderful food for a mother and child.

A Dishonest Banker Works His Ruin

T. Hillhouse Brown of Hamilton Embezzled For Years.

WAS ARRESTED THURSDAY

Amount of Embezzlement Not Definitely Known But Amount May Reach $70,000 — Craze For Life Insurance and Unfortunate Speculation Cause of Downfall—Belongs to Respected Family.

Hamilton, Nov. 3.—The arrest yesterday of T. Hillhouse Brown, manager of the Bank of Hamilton branch at the corner of King and Wellington streets, on a charge of embezzlement came as a terrible surprise and shock to this city. The amount of the defalcation is not yet officially announced—bank officials say that they do not yet know themselves—but it is understood that, so far as discovered, it is in the neighborhood of $70,000, and may go considerably higher. The peculations have extended over a great many years, and the method of abstraction, which was altogether through the savings department, was skillfully concealed from the inspectors by the temporary closing of the accounts. What individual losses are is not yet vouchsafed, but yesterday it was said, in one account alone some $2,500 has been taken.

Under Surveillance Ten Days.

While the police last night said that Mr. Brown has been under surveillance for the last ten days, while an inspection of the books was in progress, it was not until the meeting of the bank directors at 12 o'clock yesterday that his arrest was decided upon. Surprise is expressed that his wealthy connections did not come forward to his rescue, but it is said little or no effort in that line was made. Brown is reticent, even to his closest friends.

A Nervous Wreck.

The prisoner is a nervous wreck. When placed under arrest by Inspector McMahon, he broke down, and appeared to be unstrung. "What shall I do? What do you want me to do?" he kept asking. He was walked to the cells at No. 3 police station, where he remained until 5 o'clock last evening. A cab was called then, and Detective Campbell drove him to the jail, where more comfortable lodgings were to be had. J. W. Nesbitt, K. C., and George S. Lynch-Staunton, K. C., have been retained to defend the prisoner. He will not come up at the police court Friday morning. It is said that matters have been arranged so that he will escape that ordeal, and that the preliminary examination will be waived.

The specific charge on which the warrant was made out dates back to July 7, 1903, and reads, "That Thomas Hillhouse Brown, being a manager of the Bank of Hamilton, did falsify and make false entry in a certain book belonging to the bank, to wit, a certain credit entry of $5,100 in a deposit ledger."

Thomas Hobson, of Lees, Hobson & Stephens, solicitors of the bank, was present when the arrest was made.

The bank handed out the following statement for publication:

"The Bank of Hamilton is sorry to say that systematic defalcations have been made at its East End branch by T. Hillhouse Brown, who has been its agent since its opening. The embezzlement has been going on for several years, and has been cleverly concealed. The loss to the bank, which will be readily provided for out of surplus current profits, is a small matter in comparison with the regret which is felt over the gross breach of trust by an officer so well and favorably known, and hitherto so highly respected."

Cannot State Amount Yet.

Manager Turnbull later said that examination of the books is going forward at the present time, and it is impossible to get an idea as to how deeply Brown's peculations had gone. As the inspection went on fresh discoveries of missing securities were being made. There was, however, said Mr. Turnbull, an amount which represented the maximum of possible defalcations. He declined to say what this amount was, or to give any idea as to whether $70,000, mentioned in one report, was likely to prove above or below the mark of the actual sum total of embezzlement.

STOMACHS ON STILTS.

The man who puts on stilts does not increase his actual stature. He only feels taller. Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them afterward.

The need of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It contains no alcohol or whisky. It cures the weak, foul stomach with its attendant bad smelling breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and kindred symptoms.

"In the year 1898 I had an attack of indigestion and got so bad that my home doctor said he could not do me any good," writes Mr. G. Trent, of Gordonville, Texas. "I wrote to you and you advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so bought six bottles, and when I commenced using it I was so weak I could hardly walk about the house. By the time I had used one bottle my stomach and bowels commenced to heal. There were strips of the lining of my stomach or bowels (I don't know which) as large as a man's two fingers passed and I had a good deal of misery in my stomach and bowels, and also in the rectum especially. I could not eat anything without having much distress afterward, but by the time I had taken eight bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was sound and well, and could eat anything I pleased without suffering in the least. Could also do as much work in a day as I ever could. I have not suffered from the trouble since, and it was four years ago that I was so sick."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

boldness to so adjust the bank figures as to cover up the evidence of fraudulent appropriation, the manager said, when reference was made to the success with which Brown had kept hid the true state of affairs, despite the regulation inspection of the books. Mr. Turnbull referred to a recent expression of opinion credited to Senator Fairbank, to the effect that no system of inspection, however minute and searching, could preclude the possibility of successful deception. "After all we must depend upon the integrity of our men," was the conclusion drawn by Mr. Turnbull.

"Some of the funds may be recovered," was suggested.

"A portion has been," he replied, but did not care to give details.

Craze For Life Insurance.

Looking for a sinkhole for the thousands which have been embessled it is not stock speculation but the payment of life insurance premiums that is given. It is said to have been a hobby with him. He was in receipt of a salary of $2,500 a year. He is known to have carried $30,000 worth of insurance, and there are some who place the amount at $48,000, and on this amount the premiums would be about $1,500. In addition to this drain, his friends say that he has been unfortunate in speculation.

Aged Father Prostrated.

Mr. Brown is about 40 years of age, son of Adam Brown, postmaster of Hamilton, and unmarried. He moved in the most exclusive social circles in the city.

The prisoner's aged father is prostrated. The family name has hitherto stood for everything that was honorable and upright. The father has friends in all classes of the community, and the sincerest sympathy is expressed on all hands for him.

Mr. Brown was in receipt of a salary of $3,500 a year. The arrest has placed some of the bank directors in a painful position, as the prisoner is related to some of them.

$8,000 IS TREASURER'S SHORTAGE

Allegation on Which P. D. Hamel of Montreal Is Arrested.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—Yesterday afternoon High Constable Cinq Mars arrested Philip D. Hamel, of Blue Bonnets, charged with having stolen within the past three years sums of money aggregating $8,000 from the Order of Railway Telegraphers. Hamel was assistant treasurer of division No. 7.

It is alleged that in September last he resigned the position of treasurer and declined to send in the books and records connected with the position from the beginning of 1902. It is charged that the stolen money was the property of division No. 7, which covers the whole of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Hamel, arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge Lafontaine, pleaded not guilty.

WILLIS FREE OF MURDER.

Judge Anglin Directed the Jury to Refuse to Convict — Affecting Scene In Court.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 3.—The examination of one witness yesterday concluded the case for the Crown in the Rodney murder case. Counsel for the prisoner, Willis, Mr. St. Clair Letch of Dutton, submitted to his lordship that there was absolutely no case to go to the jury and that the evidence was fully speculative and circumstantial.

The prosecuting attorney, Mr. Staunton, urged that the evidence adduced warranted the case going to the jury, but his lordship thought otherwise. In his mind there was nothing to connect the prisoner with the crime and he took the responsibility upon himself of directing the jury to find the prisoner not guilty. In dismissing the prisoner his lordship admonished him that this should be a lesson to him not to loiter about hotels and to cease his drinking habits.

The prisoner showed considerable emotion on receiving his discharge and was warmly congratulated by many friends. His meeting with his wife and family in the corridor was most affecting.

Willis has been stripped of practically all he possessed in conducting his defence. Accompanied by his wife and family he returned to the neglected little farm in Alborough, which is now no longer his. In the meantime the mystery of who killed Eliza Lowry is still unsolved.

Serious Riots at Vienna.

Vienna, Nov. 3.—Grave disorders, in which it is reported more than eighty persons were injured, occurred last night as the result of a great Socialist meeting in behalf of universal suffrage. The orators used fiery language, declaring that millions of workers were ready to follow the Russian example. It is alleged that the Socialists stoned the police, compelling them to draw their swords, and it is said that the police acted with brutal violence.

Grants Universal Suffrage.

Vienna, Nov. 3.—It is stated on good authority that Emperor Francis Joseph has decided to grant universal suffrage to Austria and has instructed the Premier, Baron Gautch Van Frankenthurn, to draft a measure on a comprehensive basis. The decision is attributed to the Emperor's desire to satisfy the Socialists, and to at the same time impress the Hungarian coalition.

Fishing Schooner Wrecked.

Lunenburg, N. S., Nov. 3.—Mayor Morash received word yesterday from Hawkesbury that the schooner Alhambra (Capt. Gilfoy) had been wrecked on McMillan's Point and was a total wreck. This schooner was one of the Clipper Lunenburg fishing vessels, and was out on a fall trip. She had 300 quintals when she was lost.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—The attention of the public should be directed to the bread combine of Peterborough, and some measures should be adopted to break it. Bread at six cents per loaf is too high for the quantity and quality given. It would pay a good baker to start a business and sell bread at reasonable and live-and-let-live prices.

ANTI-COMBINE.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—It is a matter of much regret that the lecture by Mr. H. Burnham, before the Woman's Art Association, was so poorly attended. It speaks volumes regarding the literary taste of the literati of Peterborough, but certainly not very favourably. The fact that so many of the members of the Art Association were absent is most regrettable. Courtesy, if nothing else, should have guided the absentees in this matter. Very soon it will be that no man or woman of literary talents can be induced to submit to such snubs as have been meted out to so many lecturers by the literary people of Peterborough.

O. W. W. T.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—We need a society for the Prevention of Cruelty to "Grown-Ups," and the chairman of last night's lecture is the very man to organize it.

If Mr. Jerome K. Jerome was as tired as he appeared to be, he ought not have been dragged on to the platform and compelled to talk and read for a whole hour or more—and part of the time standing up, too, while the chairman sat at his leisure throughout the evening and smiled. And even if the lecturer did not need the protection of the society, those of his audience who had to strain their ears to try to catch the good things he was saying to the front benches, would be thankful to see such a society started.

HUMANITARIAN.

Editor Post Card Column:

Mr. Editor,—There is trouble in my house, and it is all over my shirts. In the good old days an honest woman washed them at the house, but now they go to the laundry of Sam Lung, or Sam Something, and they came home with cuffs ground off, and button holes—Oh, Lord! they're not button holes, nice, decent little slits that would hold a button, but round and square and triangular holes — all shapes, with jagged edges and big enough to let my best gold sleeve link drop through and get lost. What am I going to do? There is coldness between me and my wife over them shirts. She can't put on new cuffs because the sewing machine won't do it alone, and the decent woman to wash or sew is in glory and will never be seen again. Can I sue the laundryman? They are all alike. One would think the shirts went through a threshing mill, the way they are ground and torn. If I cannot get a remedy I will put in six months in North Dakota and get a divorce, for so long as them shirts raise the devil in the house every Sunday morning it is no use going to church, and I get no good of my dinner, for we sit at either end of the table glowering at each other. Dear Mr. Editor, tell me, what will I do with the yellow sons of Belial and the white sons of Belial—ah sins—every one of them, to get compensation for my torn and ground shirts and my torn and ground soul.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

A HOUSE OF REFUGE FOR THIS COUNTY MUST BE ERECTED

This is the Ultimatum of the Government as Conveyed by Dr. R. Bruce Smith--The County Council Will Have to Grapple With This Problem--A Proposal Made That It Should Be Erected on the Hilliard Property at North End of City.

If the statement of Dr. Bruce Smith, the Provincial Inspector of Public Charities, is correct, the County of Peterborough will in the near future be compelled to erect a County House of Refuge, in accordance with the provisions of the statute. When he was here yesterday he intimated that this would be the case, so that the prospects are that both the city and county will have to go to considerable expense in order to comply with the requirements of the statute.

He stated yesterday that west of Toronto there were only two counties in which houses of refuge had not been erected.

The Government has the right by statute to compel the county to erect a house of refuge, and according to the information available this county will be made to comply with the law in this respect.

Mayor Best referred to this matter last night at the Committee of the Whole, and stated that it would have to be erected within the city limits because the statute provides that it shall be placed within a certain distance from the court house.

The suggestion has been made that both the house and refuge and the isolation hospital might be erected on the Hilliard property at the north end of the city.

The Opera House Is Nearing Completion

Interior Scaffolding Was Removed Yesterday--Mr. Bradburn Highly Elated at His Success in Securing "The Yankee Consul" For Opening--New Seats Being Shipped From Preston To-morrow--Stage Carpenter From Toronto Will Superintend Work of Installing Stage Fixtures.

Mr. R. H. Bradburn returned last night from Toronto, where he has been for the last few days making arrangements for the opening play at the Grand Opera House. He is much elated at his success in securing the "Yankee Consul," with which to open his house. It was not without considerable difficulty, however, that he secured this attraction for Peterborough. In fact, it had already been booked for Hamilton for that night, and it was only after pressure had been brought to bear upon the booking syndicate that it was secured for Peterborough.

That the public of Peterborough is fortunate in being able to have this, one of the very best farce comedies on the road, for the opening night, is evidenced by the fact that this is one of four cities west of Ottawa, in Canada, in which "The Yankee Consul," will be played. Next week it will be on the boards at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal. After that it goes to Ottawa and Kingston, for one night each, and Peterborough comes next, and after playing here the company goes to London and then to Chicago, missing Toronto and Hamilton Altogether on the trip.

Yesterday the main ceiling decorations were completed, and with the scaffolding removed, a good view of the splendid work of the decorators can be had. Mr. Cook's staff of workmen have made a splendid job, and the work is a credit to them. The work of installing the plumbing and heating fixtures is proceeding rapidly, and will be completed in ample time.

The seats, which are being purchased in Preston, will be shipped to-morrow, and the work of placing them in position will be proceeded with at once.

Mr. J. Embler, stage carpenter of the Grand Opera House, Toronto, will be here early in the week to superintend the work of fitting up the stage.

The guarantee list for the opening night is still in Mr. W. Stocker's hands, and will be kept by him until Monday. Anyone wishing to have their name placed on the list, may communicate with him by telephone, No. 87L. Announcement will be made in these columns in a few days as to when the sale of seats for subscribers will be opened, but it will be some days before those for the general public.

Since the announcement of the opening play and the general satisfaction at Mr. Bradburn's success in securing such a splendid attraction, the interest in the opera house is increasing, and that there will be a full house on the opening night is assured.

A Trade Better Than Profession

This Is The Opinion of St. Andrew's Guards.

St. Andrew's Guards held their regular monthly meeting last night at the home of the president. The programme for the night took the form of a debate, the subject being "Resolved, That a Trade is Better Than a Profession."

This created no little interest for those present, and the judges, who were out for forty minutes, brought in a verdict in favour of the affirmative, which was ably handled by Murray, Miller and Ernie Reid, while Thos. Donaldson and Johnnie Evans dealt with the negative in an equally able manner.

The Guards, who are to supply a debate to be given at the Young Men's Guild meeting on Tuesday night next, decided to use as their subject, "Resolved, That a city person is greener about country affairs than a country person is about city affairs."

Messrs. Fred Richardson and Harry McCullough will take the affirmative, while Thos. Donaldson and Ernie Reid will deal with the negative. Judging by the interest taken in last night's debate, this should be a very interesting meeting.

Dummer Men Pay The Costs And Go Free

Gow's Associates Appeared Before Judge Ddmison.

Costs of the Case Will Amount to About $15 in Each Case.

William and Stewart Murphy and Edward Dewart, of Dummer Township, this morning appeared before County Police Magistrate Edmison at the court house, charged with creating a disturbance upon the public highway, in front of the Hill homestead on the night of the tragedy.

The defendants pleaded guilty to the charge, which was laid by High Constable Cochrane, and were allowed to go on payment of the costs of the action amounting to $15.69 in two cases, and about $14 in the third. George Gallagher, the other young man who accompanied Charles Gow on the night of the tragedy, was absent owing to illness, and the case was therefore enlarged for one week.

M. Barrie, of the Douro Township man charged with using abusive language towards Wm. O'Brien, was assessed $2 and costs. The judgment will probably be appealed by Mr. E. B. Edwards, K. C., counsel for defendant.

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Entertainment In Ennismore Was a Success

Annual Thanksgiving Day Concert in St. Martin's Hall.

Bright Ennismore Young Lady Presented with Gold Medal.

Special to The Examiner.

Ennismore, Nov. 2.—The season for cheese-making has expired, and Mr. John F. Flood, the genial and deservedly popular proprietor of the Myrtle factory, reports most favourably on the results of the season's make.

Mr. Wm. J. Cavanagh, has accepted the contract of fencing the Lakeview Cemetery. Mr. Whibbs, of Douro, will furnish the wire and the gates. Three acres have been added to the old cemetery, and the whole plot will be enclosed with a substantial wire fence.

Miss Katie Gannon, of this Township, was presented last week with a beautiful gold medal, at the Lindsay Convent. Miss Gannon stood first among all those who wrote last June at the Collegiate Institute, Lindsay, for junior leaving. The medal, which is the work of Ryrie Bros., Toronto, is very pretty, and bears the inscription, "Presented to Miss Katie Gannon, for honours in junior leaving."

In the Examiner of October 31st, we notice that two children, Toole and McMillen, by name, have been sent to the Shelter from the township. Would the Examiner kindly inform us who these children are? Where in Ennismore did they live, and how long have they been here? We know of no such children, living as you say, in want and squalour. We would like to add that no children need suffer from want here, if there condition is made known to any of the people of the township.

Mr. P. J. Scollard has just completed his new stable and driving shed, and they add greatly to the appearance of the Orom.

Quite a number of local sports have journeyed north in search of the wild deer. We have no fear for the safety of the deer.

The "Continuation Class," under the guidance of Mr. J. A. O'Donoughe, is doing excellent work, and the parents are already realizing the great advantages afforded them to educate their children.

The concert last Thursday evening proved to be a great success, and Miss Gertie Maloney deserves much praise for the excellent programme which she presented to the public. Miss Maloney is one of Mrs. Morrow's bright pupils, and the thorough training she is receiving was evidenced by the faultless rendition of every number of the evening. The first of the series of lectures to be given during the winter months was delivered by the pastor, Rev. M. F. Kilpatrick, in which he indicated many ways by which young men might improve their present positions and amply provide for the future, especially by a wise economy of time and money, and a higher taste in improvement and neatness of their homes. Mr. J. A. O'Donoghue discharged the duties of chairman in a most satisfactory manner. The next entertainment will be on the evening of November 16, when the question of superiority of Wellington's generalship over that of Napoleon will be debated by four of the teachers from the township. The musical portion of the programme will be supplied by Miss Agnes Scollard, which fact alone guarantees an enjoyable evening.

Note.—The information printed in the paragraph referred to above by our correspondent was given the Examiner by officials of the Children's Aid Shelter. The Examiner was informed that the children came from the northern part of the township, and were brought from Ennismore in the Shelter by Mr. Geo. Cochrane, agent of the society. This is the information reported to the Examiner.

Northern Man 'Up' This Morning

Came in on a Car of Peas and Therefore Got "Canned Up"

A man from Cartwright, who is apparently "up in years," and who was "up in the air," last night, was "up before" the Magistrate this Saturday morning, but luckily for him, was not sent "up the hill," but was told to go "up home" at once. Seeing that he was "up against it," he realized that, in his own best interests, it was "up to" him to get back to the woods at once, even if he had to take his "uppers" for it. "Don't go near any grog shops," was His Worship's parting advice.

Fell Fifteen Feet From Ladder

Mr. Stephen Gaskins, an employee of Mr. Adam Dawson, met with a slight accident yesterday. He slipped and fell from a ladder fifteen feet to the ground. He sprained his ankle, and was attended to by Dr. Dodd.

Tariff Commission's Coming WILL PROBABLY Be At An Early Date

Secretary Bain Writes Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., Advising the Preparation of Representations in Order That Any May be Presented Upon Short Notice--Commission Will Sit in Toronto on Monday, November 13th--Dates Beyond That Not Yet Arranged.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., to-day received a communication from Mr. John Bain, secretary of the Tariff Commission, stating that it is as yet impossible for him to state definitely as to the date of the meeting in Peterborough of that body.

The secretary states that the Commission will meet in Montreal on Tuesday and Wednesday, and possibly Friday, of next week, and will commence its sittings in Toronto on Monday, November 13th. Beyond that date it is impossible to outline the arrangements, though the date of the Peterborough meeting will be made public as soon as possible.

The secretary expresses the wish that all parties who are preparing cases and desiring to make representations, be notified, in order that they may be ready on short notice, to present their cases.

It is expected that many will avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by the Peterborough sitting of the Commission, to present their desires. The painstaking efforts of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., in arranging for its coming, is, therefore, much appreciated.

Library Inspector Said To Have Accepted Fees

Dr. May, Well Known in This City, is Suspended on Charge of Taking Fees For Promoting Sale of Books --T. W. H. Leavitt is the Instigator of the Charges--For Years Dr. May Has Made Annual Visits to Peterborough.

Dr. May, who is mentioned in the following from the Toronto World, is well known in this city, where, for years, he has inspected the public library. The World says:

Accepting tolls for the promotion of the sales of certain books to the town libraries of Ontario is the charge which Dr. S. P. May, inspector of public libraries, is under suspension for by the Ontario Government. The suspension is only temporary, prior to a trial of the case by Hon. Dr. Pyne, the Minister of Education, which will be held shortly.

The amount involved in the case is considerable, some on the inside stating that it reaches over $10,000. The salary connected with the position, which he occupied for thirty years, is $1,700 per annum. He has acted in several other capacities for Canada at different expositions, among them the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893. While he was acting as secretary for the Dominion of Canada at the Paris Exposition in 1878 he was decorated with the order of the Legion of Honour and that of the Palm Leaves, constituting him an officer of the French Academy.

The charges made are the outcome of an investigation made by T. W. H. Leavitt, who is mentioned as the likely successor. Mr. Leavitt refused to state the result of his efforts, but in reply to a question acknowledged that $700 a year for a number of years past would be a fair estimate of the amount secured by Dr. May through his connection with the publishing houses.

The Government of Ontario, in return for the provincial grant to the library boards of towns, has the right to direct to a certain degree what books will be purchased by the boards. The lists of these books were sent out by Dr. May as the inspector of public libraries. It is stated that the lists sent out contained the names of books which should not have been there, and that Dr. May was given money for placing them on the list. The Government, however, could not direct the boards to purchase them at any particular publishing house. Yet the benefit to a publishing house which had the sole agency for a certain book was obvious. This was recognised and the inspector was approached on different occasions to place books on the list to the profit of the publishing house. In return for this he received different sums, according to the sale the book was likely to receive.

Conservatory 20 Years Old

Cardinal Gibbons Congratulates Mrs. Jeanett Thurber.

Cardinal Gibbons has written an autograph letter to Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber, congratulating her on the completion of the twentieth year of the National Conservatory of Music of America, which was founded by her on October 28th, 1885, and chartered in 1891 by special act of the Congress of the United States. "May it grow in strength as it grows in years," are his concluding words.

Inasmuch as some of the leading foreign music schools — those of Leipsic and Berlin, for instance — are only sixty-two and fifty-five years old respectively, twenty years is quite a respectable age for a Conservatory of Music in the New World. Probably the most important incident in the history of the National Conservatory, was the engagement by its president, Mrs. Thurber, of the eminent composer, Dr. Dvorak, as director of the institution. It was during his three years occupancy of that position that he wrote the immortal symphony, "From the New World," and several chamber music works that caused no end of discussion as to what constitutes American music.

Dr. Dvorak also conducted the National Conservatory Orchestra, which has been the means of giving hundreds of young men and women an opportunity to get free instruction, and secure places in the leading America orchestras. Since, this orchestra has been under the direction, successively, of Frank Van der Stucken, Emil Paur, and Leo Schulz. In 1898 the Musical Mutual Protective Union made a special change in its bylaws allowing members of the Union to play with the pupils, teachers and alumni of the National Conservatory, "provided that the receipts of the concerts be devoted to the furtherance of a musical education and the advancement of art."

In 1893 a notable concert was given by the Seidl Orchestra, and the National Conservatory Chorus. The programme was devoted to the compositions that had won the prizes, (aggregating $3,000) for compositions by Americans that had been offered by the National Conservatory. The judges were Dvorak, Dudley Buck, Gilchrist, Lang, Tomlins, Hamerik, Paine and Joseffy, America's leading pianiste, who, by the way has been the head of the piano department of the National Conservatory ever since its foundation. The recipients of the prizes were Henry Schoenefeld, Joshua Phippen, Frederick Bullard, Horatio Parker and Geo. W. Chadwick.

One of the leading prima donnas of the concert and opera stage here and abroad, Lillian Blauvelt, is a graduate of the National Conservatory, and president of the Society of Alumnae, founded in 1898.

With the beginning of its 21st season the Conservatory has moved from Seventeenth street to more commodious quarters at 47-49 West 25th street, New York, where it has entered into a most prosperous year.

The Egg Supply Was Limited

There Was a Fair Market To-day.

The market to-day was rather small, until about eleven o'clock, when the farmers began to flock in.

Eggs were much sought after and were scarce. Turkeys brought $1.25 to $1.75; eggs, 25 to 27c.; geese, 90c to $1.25; chickens, 40 to 75c; ducks, 90c to $1.25.

Two Canadian Firms' Product

Mr. Walter Stecker is posting today some exceedingly attractive paper for the Canadian Rubber Company. This poster, which advertises the products of the rubber company, was designed by the staff of J. J. Gibbons, and was printed by the Toronto Lithographing Company, the whole work, designing and printing, being done by Canadian firms, to both of which it is a credit, as well as to the firm whose goods are advertised, and also the local artist who so creditably displayed them.

If you need dress goods of any description go to Sutcliffe's Dress Goods Sale.

The Knights Won In Close Contest

St. Peter's T.A.S. Were Defeated in "Forty-fives" Tournament.

A pleasant evening was spent last night at the Knights of Columbus rooms, Hunter street, where a "forty-fives" contest took place between fifteen representatives each of the Knights of Columbus and the T.A.S.

The former society succeeded in carrying off the honours in a close contest, the score being 118—116.

A return match will be played on Wednesday evening next at the T. A. S. rooms, when the possession of a handsome picture, Her Majesty, "Queen Alexandra, Her Grandchildren, and Dogs," displayed in the window of Lynch's drug store, Hunter street.

Defective Walk Causes Injury

Mr. Fred. Tuggey Sprains Leg on Division Street.

One of the many holes in the sidewalk upon Division street was the cause a few days ago of a painful accident to Mr. Fred Tuggey. While walking upon the defective planksng, Mr. Tuggey stumbled and sustained a painfully wrenched knee. He has since been confined to the house with the injured member.

Residents upon the street are complaining of the inadequate lighting in that section, as well as of the defective condition of the walks. The two, in their opinion, being anything but a satisfactory combination. They believe that an arc lamp should be placed at a point which would to some extent at least illuminate the street.

Statuary At "The Framery"

Handsome Art Collection Attracts Much Attention.

Much admiring comment has been created among passers-by by the handsome display of statuary in the window of the Framery, Hunter street. It is undoubtedly one of the most comprehensive collections of high-class goods of this nature ever shown in Peterborough, and a tangible appreciation of the enterprise of Mr. Dunslow in securing a display of such wide scope has been shown by the rapidity with which many choice pieces have been purchased by art connoisseurs of the city.

The high standard of the statuary is shown in the fact that it is a genuine direct importation from the manufacturers, the Bartoli Co., of Philadelphia. It is composed of busts of great musical composers, vases, urns and replicas of such famous statuary as The Cherry Boy, and The Queen of the Vineyard. It also includes a number of small humourous pieces as well as sacred subjects, and notwithstanding the extensive nature of the collection, no two pieces are alike.

In purchasing a consignment of such size Mr. Dunslow was in a position to command the lowest prices and is selling them at a proportionately low figure. The prices range from 75 cents to $7.50 each.

Do not Forget

—When you are thinking of purchasing a piano, that Mr. H. H. Edmison is the Peterborough representative of the Nordheimer Piano Company, Toronto. Catalogues and full information regarding these celebrated pianos on application. Two of the latest model Nordheimers are now on view at Mr. Edmison's drug store, George street, and inspection is requested.

Independent Finds Fault With Proposal

To Ask Toronto Man to Help Peterborough to Build an Isolation Hospital--Suggests That an Appeal be Made to Citizens of Peterborough--Not Necessary to Beg of Outsiders--Calls for the Creation of a Fund.

To the Editor of The Examiner,:

Dear Sir, — I was genuinely interested to learn from last night's issue of the Examiner, of the probability of the early erection of an Isolation Hospital in Peterborough. We should no doubt, enjoy this protection against contagious disease, and the sooner, the better. But I regret to note a suggestion that pecuniary assistance be asked from two Toronto gentlemen, who "had contributed liberally towards similar funds in that city."

Now, I don't want to be a "kicker," but may I make a suggestion? It is this: why not appeal—if such an appeal is necessary—to the citizens of our own city? to raise the money, which, with the civic grant, may be sufficient to build and equip a hospital "all our own?" How often have I been called upon to contribute toward the assistance of any public benefit in Peterborough, and to what extent have the majority of our savings bank accounts been diminished by any local philanthropy—for such this would be, inasmuch as it protects the poorer patients in the public ward from the dangers of contagion? Surely, it cannot be necessary to beg of outsiders, even if we can claim them as natives of this city, particularly in so comparatively small an enterprise. Now, create a fund; give our own citizens an opportunity to demonstrate their generosity, and surely there will be little less than sufficient for the erection of the desired protection, without which we cannot feel to any degree secure against the terrible diseases to which we may at any time, even under the most perfect sanitary conditions obtainable, become victims.

Stay at home; build up our own hospital wards, and, with them, our own independence, and let us come forward, "Ad unum omnes," and do not ask others to do what we can do for ourselves.

Yours, it may be injudiciously.

INDEPENDENCE.

Intelligence received to-day from the hunting camps in the Ketcheeum Lake region is to the effect that the nimrods there have, generally speaking, been most successful.

Though literally speaking, "the woods is full" of hunters, almost every party heard from has been eminently successful in their quest, and besides the many "antlered monarchs" with which they will return, they will also bring in a supply of good stories, which will, during the coming winter evenings, undoubtedly enliven many a fireside.

The Winch party at Ketcheeum Lake has had splendid success, having secured two fine bucks and two does during the early days of the hunt. Mr. Stewart, of the American Cereal Co., has been one of the luckiest of the sportsmen, having secured a buck of almost elephantine proportions. Other members of the party who were successful in laying low one each were Messrs. Geo. Morrow, J. Audley Pearce and William Irwin.

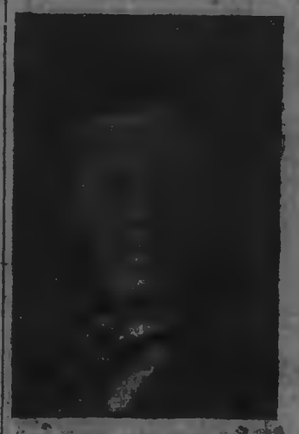
The Crawford party, of Lakefield, which is located in close proximity also opened the season by the destruction of three deers.

A "Phanton Ship".

The advance couriers of many good stories have already reached the city, one of which is "on" the genial district manager of the Sun Life Assurance Co., Mr. W. H. Hill.

Mr. Hill, unless he is the victim of a scurrilous libel upon the part of a returned nimrod, a few evenings ago, sighted amid the gathering twilight, a flag apparently approaching upon the lake, and with his characteristic hospitality, broke into a loud-voiced welcome to the guests, whom it was supposed occupied the boat upon which the fluttering standard flew. But the most strenuous vocal endeavours failed to bring a reply from the mariners approaching in the dusk, and the camp, which had now sunk into repose, the various members indulging in the happy dreams following a venison "rarebit," was promptly alarmed. Members rushed forth to the outer air, some clad in pyjamas, and many otherwise very much en dishabille. A deep feeling of disgust was the result when it was discovered that the flag was one which had been placed upon the shore a few hours earlier by a member of the party, and the party retired uttering motto-vocal maledictions upon the "phantom ship."

A PROMINENT CITIZEN



The above is a picture of a prominent gentleman, taken 25 years ago. He is still prominent, although not so much so in the matter of whiskers as he was when the photo was taken. He is a native of this county.

Remains Were Laid At Rest

Funeral of the Late Redmond Carey Took Place This Morning.

This morning the funeral of the late Redmond Carey took place from his late residence, Otonabee, to St. Peter's Cathedral and the Roman Catholic cemetery. Requiem Mass was sung at the cathedral by the Rev. Father Kelly.

The contege was very large, a great many friends of the deceased following his remains to the grave.

The pall-bearers were the four sons of the deceased, Messrs. John Redmond, James and Robert, his son-in-law, Mr. Hogan, and Mr. John Dickeen.

Captain Bennett Will Re-build

New Residence Will Rise Pheonix-Like From the Ashes.

Captain G. W. Bennett, whose fine residence in North Monaghan, was destroyed by the flames on Wednesday last, was in the city this morning, having returned from Ketcheeum Lake, where he was engaged in deer-hunting.

Captain Bennett states that he will at once re-build, and, in fact, is at present making arrangements with that end in view.

The loss will be a heavy one — much heavier than can be definitely determined, involving, as it did, the destruction of many documents, which cannot be replaced. Nothing definite can be learned as to the cause of the blaze, and there is a possibility that it may be of incendiary origin.

Art Culture Club's Officers

Last night's meeting of the Art Culture Club in the Conservatory of Music was one of the most enjoyable of the series of meetings. The attendance was large, and considerable interest was manifested in the programme, which was much appreciated.

Sheriff Hall read the paper on "Wordsworth," and Miss Campbell gave a sketch of the life of Corot, while Miss Winnifred Dobbin read a descriptive sketch of his paintings, and prints of his pictures, which were handed around for examination.

An interesting feature of the evening's programme was a paper on "Life and Art of Bach," which was read by Miss Dotcher. Prof. Milne, was to have been present to play a number of the compositions of Bach, but illness prevented. Consequently this part of the programme had to be deferred.

The two months' term of office having expired, the new election took place, with the following result:

President, Mrs.-Macfarlane Wilson.

Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Marion Rush.

Librarian, Miss Winnifred Dobbin.

These will hold office for two months.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, November 17.

Fall Session Of County Council

The County Council will hold its regular fall session this year on Thursday, November 23th. The business of the session will require only a short time, consequently it will not be necessary to meet early in the week.

It is hoped that the series of meetings in view for the coming winter will be the most successful in the history of the Association.

The dates of the supplementary meetings will be arranged later.

He leaves to mourn his loss, four brothers, Montgomery and Joseph, of Dundalk; Henry of Fraserville, and Alex. M., of Gayland, Mich., and two sisters, Mrs. R. M. Matchett, East City, and Mrs. John Bell, of Selwyn.

Nice New Use For Coin of the Realm

Lang & Maher have a beautiful trophy in the north window of their shop, George street, a collection of genuine coin silver scarf pins, watch fobs, sleeve links, etc. An ingenious New Yorker has invented a process of converting coin of the realm into beautiful and patriotic emblems. An ordinary coin by means of a die is so stamped that the face of the King is projected in high relief in the centre of the coin, surrounded by the inscription to be found on every piece. All pieces of Canadian currency from 50 cents to half a dollar are thus treated. It is a most ingenious process. The likeness of the King is perfect. Lang & Maher with their characteristic enterprise have imported the first of these beautiful and unique articles, which have come into Canada and they will have a great vogue. Their arrival is most opportune since the King's birthday falls on Nov. 9th. The trophy of converted coins into articles of beauty and utility in Lang & Maher's north show window is attracting great attention.

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST

is when you can purchase attractive property at attractive prices, and get your real estate "on time". The tendency of prices for Real Estate is upward and those persons who thought they could buy property at reduced prices in the fall have been very much mistaken. With the manifest growth of the City we fail to see any reason why the price of choice property should depreciate. At present we have some of the very best properties in the City for sale and these shall not be offered at sacrificed prices, but at prices in keeping with the value of the properties. The prices range from $ 900. to $ 8000. for choice sites and choice buildings. Also we have some very desirable homes from $ 1600. to $ 2500. Farms also we have for sale. Do not overlook the the fact that we buy and sell any listed stock on any Exchange and that our present Correspondents are J. R. REINTZ & CO. of Buffalo, N. Y. Established in 1879.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BUILDING IS APPROACHING COMPLETION

Handsome New Structure Will Be An Ornament To The City—Interior Is Now Being Rapidly Finished—Landscape Work Practically Completed---Mr. Argus Has Been Eminently Successful.

A glance in at the new Separate School building now in course of erection reveals a progress in the construction work which is most surprising. The work, both interior and exterior, has been pushed forward with energy, and with the new year separate school pupils will undoubtedly find a new home. The exterior is much struck by its architectural style. The doorway is a low arch, which is one of the features of the style in which the building is constructed. The interior is now being lathed. It is also subdivided into rooms, which are rapidly taking on the appearance of completion. The different classrooms which are six in number, are bright and airy. Each will have accommodation for fifty pupils. The library, situated upon the southern end, is 14x27 feet in size, with three large windows. Four of the classrooms are 27x33 feet in size.

What is undoubtedly one of the leading features of the building is the spacious assembly hall upon the third floor. The room with stage covers practically the entire upper storey of the building and will have a seating capacity for 650 people. The stage, which is thirty feet square, and dressing room, will be modern and up to date in every particular. The work upon the stage is now almost completed. The hall has two entrances, one leading directly up from a side doorway, which will be used as an emergency exit. The main entrance leads from the main corridor of the building.

The classrooms upon the second floor are particularly bright and cheery. The glass space alone in one thirty-three-foot room is twenty-seven feet, between the large windows being steel mullions. The basement is subdivided into a number of rooms. At the right, as one descends, is situated the boiler-room in which part of the heating equipment has already been installed. In the basement are also two recreation rooms, 27x53 feet each in size.

A feature of the building is the fact that in none of the three entrances are there any outside steps. The entire arrangement of the building with regard to stairways reflects great credit upon the architect, Mr. E. W. Argus. This evidences a careful and intelligent effort upon his part, and he appears to have succeeded in obtaining the best possible arrangement, embracing, as it does, many new and strikingly original features.

The interior of the building will be entirely of Georgia pine in natural finish. Wood fibre lathe will be used.

Exteriorally the building is most imposing in appearance. Its roof is of fire-proof creosote-dipped shingles of a light green colour. The main portion of the building is 55x90 feet in size, with a 14x32-foot projection.

The school will be ready for occupancy by January 1, and pupils and teachers alike will undoubtedly look forward eagerly to splendid facilities afforded by the fine new building.

Mr. Argus is certainly to be congratulated upon what will shortly be a lasting monument to his modern methods and painstaking efforts.

Policy-Holders Well Secured

It is something to know that, in all the hubbub about life insurance, nobody really doubts the efficiency of such control as is exercised by the Department of Ottawa. The insuring public may have their quarrels with insurance officials over salaries, expenses, and all that, and there may really be a question whether or not policy-holders get as much as they might out of "profits." That remains to be seen. But "profits" are only an incidental of life insurance. Security is the essential, and security, the ability of a company to meet its obligations, the existence of assets sufficient to meet all contracts entered into even if the company were to stop writing insurance, is what the Ottawa department looks out for. Mr. Fitzgerald, the Superintendent of Insurance, is an official of whom the insurance men stand in salutesome awe. They would not venture to play tricks with their securities, for they know he is apt to drop in any time and call for an accounting. Any little tendency to laxity he is certain to correct, and that not too gently. If, as is understood to be the case, Mr. Fielding has ordered special vigilance in view of the American revelations, those who are insured in Canadian companies can rest easy. Their families are secured. The rest they can fight out with the companies, as to which, of course, some are better managed than some others, as is the way of the world.—Montreal Herald.

What a Sunday-less World Would Be

A glimpse of what this world would be like were there no Day of Rest is given in a prize essay on the Sabbath written by a journeyman printer in Glasgow, Scotland. This is an extract:

"Yokefellows! Think how the abstraction of the Sabbath would hopelessly enslave the working classes with whom we are identified. Think of labour thus going on in one monotonous and continuous and eternal cycle—limbs forever on the rack, the finger forever playing, and brain forever straining, the brow forever sweating, the feet forever plodding and brain forever throbbing, the shoulder forever drooping, the loins forever aching and the restless mind forever scheming. Think of the beauty it would efface, of the merry-heartedness it would extinguish, of the giant strength it would tame, of the resources of nature that it would exhaust, of the aspirations it would crush, of sickness it would breed, of the projects it would wreck, of the groan it would extort, of the lives it would immolate."

Sir Conan Doyle, addressing the annual meeting of the Northern Tariff Reform Federation at Newcastle, declared that the adherence to free trade had ruined agriculture, and had done much towards national physical deterioration. He was perfectly sure that preferential tariffs and tariff reform would come to us, just as surely as to-morrow's sun would rise.

More Man Than Cabinet Minister

A touching incident of the farewell to the people of North York by Sir William Mulock, showing that the man's heart beat under the Minister's waistcoat, was told by Mr. T. H. Brunton, a stalwart Conservative, who, until last Dominion general elections, had always voted with his party. His son, who had gone to South Africa with the Canadian contingent, fell ill of a fever and lay in hospital at Bloemfontein. Mr. Brunton wrote to Sir William, whom he did not know personally, and the result was that he not only got things from his son, but also special attendance. Mr. Brunton told with tears in his eyes how he could not forget such kindness, and had written to Sir William to thank him and say that henceforth he would give him his vote and influence. What was the reply? "Don't do it, Tom; stay with your party; you cannot afford to cut adrift from your lifelong political ties." But Tom cut adrift and we are glad he did so, if for no other reason than that it has afforded him an opportunity of narrating an incident which is in the highest measure creditable to one of Canada's most prominent public men.

A Run-Down Woman Made Well by Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women

Miss Jennie Thomas, of Dixville, Que., was in a run-down condition — tired, and all dragged out. Thousands of women know just how she felt.

She was given a box of Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women by her family physician. She took them two weeks and then wrote us in these words:

"I have received such great benefit from taking your tablets, I desire to continue taking them two weeks longer. The benefit secured from the one box has been so great, and I feel so much better now, I am satisfied only one box more will be necessary to effect what you claim for your tablets, that is, make me again a healthy woman."

She was sent the second box. She took them and has since assured us of perfect restoration to health.

And they are doing this for women all the time. Every day we receive letters from grateful women, testifying to their gain in health since taking these tablets.

If you are in a run-down condition, or suffer from any weakness peculiar to your sex, they will restore you to perfect health. They make healthy women.

But you must do as Mrs. Thomas did—take the tablets. You will notice improvement the first week.

HUNTER STREET WEST

Suicide Before A Fifth Avenue Crowd

Carpenter, Travelling Salesman, Stood in View of Street as He Shot Himself in New York Yesterday.

Joseph R. Carpenter, a travelling salesman for the Stickley Furniture Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., shot himself yesterday afternoon in the office of the Rock Island Railroad, No. 373 Fifth avenue.

Only two employees were in the railway office at the time—J. J. Dunn, ticket agent, and Thomas H. Elliott, a coloured porter. Dunn was in the rear of the office and Carpenter was talking to the porter.

He first asked for a time-table of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and made some marks on it, which showed that he intended, apparently, to leave for Chicago last night. Elliott asked him if he wanted to purchase a ticket on the Rock Island, and Carpenter replied in the negative. He spoke to the porter of the crowded appearance of Fifth avenue and stood in the large plate-glass window watching the vehicles and the passers-by.

"I never tire of seeing this metropolitan crowd," he said.

Carpenter turned to Elliott and said:

"Well, I must be going away from here; good bye."

The porter supposed that Carpenter was about to leave the office; but the man drew a revolver from his hip pocket, pressed it against his right ear and pulled the trigger. Both men in the office rushed to his side and found him dead.

The show windows are low and the body lay in plain view of those from the sidewalk. There were many women who pressed through the crowds to peer into the office.

After taking the statements of Dunn and Elliott, Coroner Scholer gave a permit for the removal of the body and it was taken to the Stephen Merritt undertaking rooms.

In the dead man's coat pocket letters were found which identified him. There were also two slips of paper which read:

"In case of accident notify T. Mac. B. Nichols, No. 612 West One Hundred and Twelfth street," and "In case of accident notify (blur) No. 256 Columbus avenue, Boston."

Hugs Her Lifeless Babe Over 500-Mile Train Trip

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 28.—(Special)—Hugging the lifeless form of her babe all the way from Pittsburgh here, the mother of the dead infant, who, with her husband, landed at Castle Garden last Tuesday, to day saw the child consigned to the grave.

Just after the train pulled out of Pittsburgh the child was seized with convulsions and died. The mother dare not tell the conductor. She did not dare shed a tear. She rocked it in her arms and crooned the lullabies of the Fatherland for hour after hour as the train sped on. After a while she handed the dead child to its father while she took from their hand baggage a little white dress. Then she took the little form to the retiring room and decked it in its finery ready for burial. She determined to bring the child all the way to Kenosha, where she had friends, if she could, without telling anyone on the train that it was dead.

Returning to her seat, she began the long struggle to keep back her grief. She sang to the baby, talked to it in the "baby talk" that mothers love so well, and pretended to laugh at it as she held it, every once in a while smiling through her tears at her husband, who sat beside her and watched with dry eyes her efforts to keep back the pent-up grief which was nearly breaking her heart.

The conductor came through the train and he stopped to talk with the woman.

"That's the most quiet baby I ever saw," he said, and the mother with tears in her eyes, simply replied, "Yes, he always has been a good baby."

Even when the train finally reached Chicago she gave no sign, but went to the train which was to bring her to Kenosha. When she arrived there she said nothing to the friends who met her of the death of the child, but carried it more than a mile to the new home. Then she broke down.

The Cruelty Of His Stare

When Wife Cracked Jokes Got Her a Divorce.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 31.—Being beyond endurance because the husband, instead of appreciating her efforts of humour, gave her a cold stare whenever she cracked a joke, Mrs. Estelle Pohlman applied for a divorce from John Pohlman. It was granted.

"A judge would be hard hearted indeed who would not grant a divorce on such a petition as that," remarked a deputy clerk as the decree was filed.

Mrs. Pohlman prides herself on a ready humour, and is hurt when a well turned witticism goes unappreciated. Undue levity, however, her sympathizers in trouble say, is not one of her characteristics. She was hurt when, far from laughing at her pleasantries, her husband would greet her efforts with the remark, "What a set of knobs you are!"

In her petition, Mrs. Pohlman sets forth, among other things:

"That the defendant is one of the most obstinate, bestoring and inglorously spiteful of all the human beings with whom this plaintiff ever came into contact. For more than a quarter of a century has the life of the plaintiff been poisoned with the constant dripping from his spiteful tongue. He is both negatively and affirmatively a constant household irritant.

"Sometimes for hours, he is morose and sullen and silent, and occasionally by some physical movement indicating his ill nature; at other times he finds fault with different members of the family. He complains without cause of the food prepared for the table, or is unreasonably exacting in the demands he makes on the plaintiff, apparently doing all merely for the express purpose of making this plaintiff wretched."

FEED THE BRUTE.

What a lot of good cooks there would be if all the young ladies really believed in the old adage "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." But good things to eat are not monopolized by mere man by any means. Our sweethearts, wives and sisters have quite as much discrimination in what they eat as in what they wear. The up-to-date girl of to-day is an adept in the use of the chafing dish. It is not difficult to use and it is hard to find a more delightful way of entertaining.

To begin gracefully in the art of chafing dish cookery it is necessary to know how. Armour, Limited, Toronto, will send a little cook book free to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. This Cook Book tells how to use the chafing dish and a number of choice receipts that are quickly and easily made. It is really issued to shew a few of the many ways of using Armour's Extract of Beef. While Extract of Beef is not absolutely necessary for successful chafing dish cookery, it improves and makes delectable, every known chafing dish preparation. Try it the first time a few friends drop in for the evening.

Action Against The Executors

Mr. James Defoe of Peterborough, is of the opinion that he has received rather rough usage while acting as one of the executors of the estate of J. W. Defoe. Salena Hannah, the wife of the deceased, and who resides in the States, brough action against the executors to recover dower out of some land situated near Peterborough. Mr. Justice Teetzel at the trial granted her dower, and ordered the executors to personally pay the costs, amounting to, $270. Now, the only property which the executors have in Ontario consists of their interests as devisees in lands under will. John England, the widow's solicitor, is proceeding to sell these interests. The executor has obtained an injunction restraining the sale temporarily. — News.

Part of the north bound train broke loose and returned on the down grade to Port Hope at terrific speed, demolishing another engine at the up-town station.

St. Luke's Parish Magazine this month, has a number of references to matters of local interest:

Rev. William Burns has been appointed Incumbent of the Pariah of Hastings.

Rev. Dr. Symonds will preach at St. Luke's on Sunday morning, Nov. 19.

We would recommend to prospective brides and grooms the custom of the Church to read the bans previous to their marriage, instead of obtaining authority for marriage from an agent, who, as a political reward, can sell it for a price.

During the Advent season the rector will preach four special sermons on the subject of the Lord's Second Coming:

1—The World when the Church is Gone; Coming Troubles.

2—The Reign of Christ and His Church.

3—The Eternal Kingdom.

4—Watching and Waiting.

We would remind our people that His Lordship the Bishop, expects to be at St. Luke's and St. Mark's, on Sunday, November 19th, to administer the Holy Rite of Confirmation. The service will be at St. Mark's at 3 p.m., and at St. Luke's at 7 p.m. As this is the Bishop's first visit after his serious illness, and the occasion of his visit such an important and solemn one, we trust our people will look upon it as a matter of duty, to their church to be present in large numbers.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt attended last month the Alumni Meetings of his alma mater, Wycliffe College. During the 25 years of its existence 147 clergy have graduated. The buildings represent a capital of $115,000 free of debt, and the endowment fund $100,000. Besides this friends of the college have donated funds for 14 bursaries, at $120 each to aid poor students in their college course. The college depends upon the support of its friends, who have in the past so generously aided its work and finances, so that the present state of the college, financial and otherwise, is the result of earnest prayer and support of men and women who believe in the evangelical principles of the college. There are now 56 theological students in the college, preparing for the ministry of the Church, the largest number in the history of Wycliffe College.

The Man's Guild are preparing for an entertainment to be held in the Ashburnham town hall some time in December, with a humorous lecture by the rector, "The Rise and Fall of a Moustache."

The Cashier Suicides; Wrote His Farewell

Former Employee of Enterprise Bank Left Letter to Family Saying "Not My Fault; I Have Been Robbed"--Told Wife and Children to Keep the Insurance--Clark Also Left Confession for Receiver, Telling Details of Bank-Wrecking.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1.

"Dear Wife and Children."

"In ten hours or less I will be in the other world. You have been a dear good wife to me. Andrews has worked my ruin.

"Dear wife, keep all the insurance for yourself and babies. How hard it is to leave you all. I have made a desperate effort to keep things going until I could get the dead financed, but it has been too slow. The examiner is there and I am ruined. Do forgive me. It is not my fault. I have been shamefully robbed. The bank will get everything but the life insurance.

"Your husband LEE."

The foregoing letter was written by T. Lee Clark, cashier of the wrecked Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny, to his wife and children before he killed himself. It was made public to-night in spite of alleged heroic efforts on the part of those interested in the bank's affairs to keep it under cover.

And this is but one of the confessions left by Clark. A member of the Clark family made this public this evening and also announced that it was known Clark left another confession for Bank Examiner Cunningham, in which he went deeper into details on the matter of finance.

The fourteen-year-old daughter of Clark found this letter or confession a few hours after the father had killed himself. The girl had been called to the telephone by a playmate who asked her if it was true her father had killed himself, and she ran crying from the telephone to her father's former sleeping-room and hid herself. Later, rummaging around, she found this letter, and reading it, decided to hide it until after the funeral so that her mother might not suffer more. After the funeral she gave it to her mother.

Judge Kennedy to-day granted the injunction asked for by D. L. Patterson to restrain Lemart S. Cook, or the Guarantee Title and Trust Company, from disposing of collateral which Patterson placed in the defunct Enterprise Bank as security for a loan, and which was rehypothecated by Clark.

Notice of the Government's assessment of one hundred per cent. on the stockholders of the Enterprise Bank were mailed by Receiver Cunningham to-day.

Attorney W. B. Rogers announced that the directors would make a legal fight against payment of the individual securities that were given to fortify the State funds of $1,032,000 in the bank.

Receiver Cunningham secured a writ of foreign attachment on the property of W. H. Andrews, who was sued last Saturday by Receiver Cunningham to recover over $52,000 on Andrew's notes to the bank.

The National Transit Company is made the garnishee for the purpose of covering Mr. Andrew's oil production at Franklin, Pa.

LYING AS A POLICY.

The Hamilton Times makes the following excerpt from the Mail, and founds the succeeding comment upon its mendacious methods.

The Toronto Mail and Empire prints the following:

There was once a very close audit of the accounts. This protection to the treasury stopped a number of cleverly devised steals. Thereupon the Government evinced a dislike for the auditing system, and proceeded to reduce its efficiency, on the pretence that it is unconstitutional to proceed with grafting, if the grafters happen to have a majority in Parliament. At the present moment the Government is firmly opposed to the safeguard against swindling, which the Mackenzie Government provided.

What are the facts? They are these: The Audit Act which the Mackenzie Government passed, and which has at various times been denounced by the Mail, when it did not suit its purposes, remains in all its force and vigour, and it is because the Government adheres to it that the Mail makes its attack.

The Act is a good one. Under it the Auditor-General is independent and untrammelled, but it was never intended that he should do the work of the Cabinet or of Parliament. He audits; the Government through the treasury Board, may over-rule him, and Parliament must be left to judge. That has been the rule and practice under "Tory" Governments and "Grit" Governments. It is exactly what the Act contemplates, and provision is made therefor.

Now can any one tell why the Mail should make the arrant false statement above quoted? Is it so utterly without campaign material that it is forced to adopt downright lying as an editorial policy?

UNDIGNIFIED.

The relation of the city and county to the Isolation Hospital, and the House of Refuge matter, respectively, is anything but dignified. Both have placed themselves upon a level with the Czar of Russia, who refused, till his crown was tumbling from his head, and his throne tottering, to yield to the demands of the vox populi. Yielding under compulsion, to the discharge of a duty, specifically defined by the law, robs the action of all merit, and betrays a disposition of progress only effective under the impulse of a kick. If the motto, bis dat quo cito dat, has any significance, it certainly can be varied to apply to the action of the town council. They are compelled to build an Isolation Hospital, by law, and their action would have been more graceful in this direction if they had acted without threats or compulsion. The most undignified and humiliating part of the matter consists in the suggestion made at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council, that the city of Peterborough, rich and prosperous, with an assessed value of over seven million dollars, should go, cap in hand, to Toronto citizens, to solicit alms—beg for funds to build an Isolation Hospital, to cost five or six thousand dollars. On principle it would be just as consistent to beg for money to build pavements and crossings. The same policy of dawdling and delay, that seems to mark every civic enterprise, extends to the Isolation Hospital matter. There is no shirking the duty; the hospital must be built — not so much because the law demands it, but because it is a necessary and indispensable part of our equipment in dealing with contagious diseases, whose ravages, in case of an epidemic, are subject to effective control only by virtue of effective isolation, such as only a separate hospital building provides.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We do not notice the names of any of Peterborough's prominent educationists on the membership of the new Education Council, appointed by the Ontario Government. Was our local representative consulted?

The aldermen, of Port Arthur, Ont., are evidently not built after the same plans and specifications as the Peterborough article. Port Arthur owns its street railway, electric light and telephone systems, and yet the rate of taxation is only sixteen mills on the dollar.

The British National Liberal Federation is completing the details of its plans, and its platform in view of the coming election. Its campaign fund, started some time ago, already reaches $200,000, out of the $250,000 originally asked for, and this does not seem a very large sum for an organization which intends contesting over five hundred seats.

One guileless evening contemporary says that the Conservatives have nominated a strong candidate in North York to oppose Postmaster-General Aylesworth. Mr. McCallum is certainly a strong candidate—he stands six feet six in his stockings. If the electors of North York prefer to be represented by beef rather than brains they have little difficulty in making a choice.

The Examiner was misled by an incorrect report, in stating that the Ontario Government had refused incorporation to the Ottawa Elks, with the whisky selling attachment. The Ottawa Elks have got the incorporation, with power to keep, and sell, whisky, at any hour or any day of the week. The Chatham Elks, it seems were turned down. The Government seems very solicitous of the moral welfare of Chatham—it cut off a lot of "Grit" licenses, it is said.

The Toronto World has the courage of its convictions. It not only kicks against the big salary Parliament voted to Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition, but it insists through its proprietor, Mr. McLean, in preventing him earning it. Mr. McLean quietly pushes Mr. Borden aside, and, in the name of the Conservative party, nominates a candidate against Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, Postmaster-General, and has taken charge of the campaign. Possibly Mr. Borden may be allowed to throw up his hat if the news comes of the elections of Mr. McLean's candidate.

Mr. McCallum, the Conservative candidate in North York, in the very first proposition for legislative reform he advocates, betrays the superfluity of his candidature. The first item in his programme of reform is the nationalization of the telephone. Here he is bringing coals to Newcastle. Sir William Mulock put on foot the crusade for the nationalization of the telephone, and to his initiation will belong the credit for any practical results that will follow. It is not probable that if Sir William's mantle fell upon Mr. Aylesworth's shoulders, that he will radically depart from the policy which Sir William Mulock's work in office has so amply justified.

Conservative carpers may throw critical brickbats at Hon. Clifford Sifton, but Canada is under a very important debt of gratitude to him, for the thoroughness, intelligence and effectiveness, with which he has carried on the crusade of making Canada, and its possibilities, known to the world. Even a United States advertising journal commends the extensiveness of Canada's advertising, which has done so much to lessen the population of the United States. The advertising journal mentioned, says: — "The extensive Canadian advertising, and the heavy emigration to the country on the north, encouraged by the railways rolling in that direction, has stirred up the south-western lines. The Frisco System is putting out some good copy to agricultural papers. 'They grow thirty bushels of wheat to the acre in the South-west,' is the way one of them starts off. A very good headline by the way, as our Canadian friends have talked so much wheat to us in the Middle West, that we were all a little bit wheaty.

THE HAMILTON ASYLUM INVESTIGATION.

In another part of this paper, says the Hamilton, Herald, Independent, some interesting information is printed about the way in which the official investigation at the Hamilton asylum for the insane is being conducted. If the Herald's informant tells the truth, it would appear that Inspector Rogers is making a sort of star-chamber business of it, examining attendants and officials—perhaps even the unfortunate inmates—in secret, with a view of discovering something upon which to base charges against the superior officers, or to afford the government some colour of excuse for demanding their resignations.

If charges are to be made as the result of this secret procedure, and if the officials against whom charges may be made are to be granted the privilege of meeting the charges and defending themselves openly before action is taken, then there is not much to be said against Inspector Rogers' method of procedure. But if the report of the inspector, based upon the result of his recent investigations, is to be accepted by the government as sufficient ground for action, then the Herald protests in advance against such a shamefully unjust course, and we are certain that all fair-minded persons will endorse the protest.

Let it be remembered that an election will soon be held in Wentworth; that the "asylum vote" is a factor in Wentworth elections; and that Inspector Rogers was until recently one of the most active and ardent Conservative electioneering experts in the province. It is not at all improbable that the inspector (and possibly others higher up) think they see a chance of influencing the "asylum vote" by putting trustworthy Tories in the chief positions of responsibility in the institution.

If this is the game—if it has been decided that Dr. Russell and Mr. Way must be sacrificed to political expediency — the government will not be balked in its will, for it has the power to enforce its will. But it is to be hoped that neither of these gentlemen will accept an invitation to resign. If the government is determined to replace them, let the government dismiss them and incur the odium that will attach to that act of injustice.

Whatever may be the outcome of this asylum investigation, one thing at least is certain—that the dismissal of Dr. Russell and Mr. Way, or either of them, without just cause, and that cause made public, would work injury to the Conservative party in this district. Both of these gentlemen are so widely known and highly esteemed that their official decapitation to compass an immediate partisan advantage would be deeply resented by many Conservatives as well as Liberals.

The Profit Of Public Ownership

The successful application of the public ownership principle has been demonstrated by Port Arthur, that city having just struck the lowest rate of taxation in its history. A despatch says:

At last night's session the council set the rate of 16 mills on the dollar, 10.75 mills being general, and 5.25 mills for school purposes. The assessed value of the town, exclusive of exemptions and grants is $3,332,111. The total amount to be raised is $34,186.40, the balance of $23,145.90 being paid by the publicly owned and operated franchises. The net earnings of the various services follow: Electric railway, $5,599.10; electric light, $13,937.70; telephone, $3,617.10. These figures are net, as all operating and maintenance expenses, interest and sinking fund charges are deducted from the gross earnings before they are arrived at.

The lesson of these figures is sufficiently obvious, and will be appreciated by every taxpayer within the city limits. But the actual monetary relief, important though it is, is by no means the only advantage accruing to these fortunate citizens from their wise policy of public ownership. They are masters of their own destinies, independent of corporation control and all the sinister and demoralizing influences it carries in its train. Every dollar spent on public improvements is a dollar invested for the people, and careful administration, such as evidently has been practised there, brings its reward in the reduction of taxation. Port Arthur has set an example that larger cities would do well to imitate.—Winnipeg Telegram.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN.—For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the G'asses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

FARMERS' INSTITUTES AND HOW THEY CONFER BENEFIT TO FARMERS

The Men Who Are at the Head of the Institutes in This County--Messrs. T. M. Hunter and F. E. Birdsall, Practical Farmers of Years' Experience--The Work of the Institute in Educating the Farmers to Improved Methods of Agriculture.

The announcement of the dates for the winter meetings of the Farmers' Institute, in this county, and vicinity, gives occasion for a reference to the work of this excellent organization, which, in the past, has done so much to place farming upon a higher plane in this province. Unfortunately, however, the farmers of the county, thus far, have not fully appreciated the advantages of membership in the Institute, and the annual meetings have been perhaps half a dozen members present to transact the business, an evidence of the fact that the farmers, whom the Institutes were organized to help, fail to appreciate the benefit which they might derive from them.

MR. T. M. HUNTER,
President of The West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

This year a special effort is being made to stir up an increased interest in the work, and to this end the officers are exerting themselves to provide attractive programmes for the meetings.

One special feature will be the holding of a judges' class in Peterborough on the afternoon of one of the days, and this should prove of great interest, to the stock breeders, especially. Stock breeding has become such an important feature of farming to-day, that no farmer can possibly know too much about the animals which he is raising, and when it is remembered that it costs as much to raise and feed a poor animal as it does to raise a good one, the importance of being able to judge of the good points, will be readily recognized.

Institute Organized.

At the time of the Sir Oliver Mowat administration in Ontario, the first Farmers' Institute in this province was organized, and since that time, under the successive administrations, it has continued to increase in usefulness. Under Hon. John Dryden it reached its highest state of perfection. This capable Minister of Agriculture took a sympathetic interest in the work of the farmers, and the result of that interest is seen in the very much improved condition of the farmers of this province over that of years ago.

One of the effects of the work of the Farmers' Institutes, was the change from grain farming, which, under changing conditions, was becoming more and more unprofitable, to dairying and stock raising, and in this alone, if in nothing else, the Institutes have amply demonstrated their usefulness.

Take in the production of cheese alone, and in this one item the figures are striking. In ten years the production of cheese in Ontario has increased from about four to twenty-five million pounds, in 1903.

Ten years ago there was practically no market for the bacon hog, but largely by the work of the Institute the trade has grown from less than half a million dollars, ten years ago, to $11,000,000.

The financial condition of the farmers has greatly improved by the adoption of the results of experiments in the Ontario Agricultural College.

To become a member of the Institute it is only necessary to pay the small sum of 25 cents a year, which entitles the member to receive the numerous reports issued by the Agricultural Department of the Ontario Government, and from the Agricultural College. These reports alone are worth at least ten times the small membership fee charged.

Heads of the Institutes.

In this connection it may not be out of place to refer briefly to the men, who, in this county, are at the head of the Institute work, for to these men falls the hard work, work which is always hard and, in many instances, unappreciated. Mr. T. M. Hunter, is the president of the West Peterborough Institute, and Mr. F. E. Birdsall occupies the same position in the East. Both men are practical and successful farmers, Mr. Hunter conducting one of the largest dairies delivering milk to the city. Perhaps no one is better qualified to fill the duties falling to the president of a Farmers' Institute than Mr. Hunter by reason of his practical knowledge of the actual conditions under which the farmer works, and of his own successful prosecution of the business of farming. In addition to his work in connection with the Institute, Mr. Hunter has served the public for years in other ways, having been a member of the North Monaghan council for years, and reeve for some time. He also represented No. 2 Division in the County Council, and in 1904 was warden of the county, filling out the term of Mr. Peck. He will doubtless bring to his office in the Farmers' Institute those qualifications which have made him successful in his other positions of public trust.

Mr. F. E. Birdsall.

The East Peterborough Institute has been in existence for sixteen years, and it has been most successful. Mr. Birdsall was elected President at the time the Institute was organized and has held that office ever since, with credit to himself and with advantage to the society.

Mr. Birdsall is one of the most successful stock farmers in East Peterborough, dealing in short horn cattle and Oxford Down sheep. He works, with his son, Mr. R. E. Birdsall, 500 acres of land. Mr. Birdsall was born on the same farm on which he now lives, near Rice Lake, located by his father, the late Richard Birdsall, P.L.S., in the year 1819. Birdsall post office and station are named after Mr. Birdsall.

He was elected president of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society at the time of its institution, 27 years ago, and for the last 15 years has filled that office with credit. Last year meetings were held in East Peterborough in Norwood, Keene, Warsaw, Douro, Havelock and Westwood with a fair attendance at each meeting.

This institution is in a flourishing condition financially and otherwise and for some years has offered $25 in prizes for the best collection of weeds properly named, collected by the teachers and children of any school section in East Peterborough, and shown at the Norwood Fair.

A reference to the Farmers Institute would not be complete without allusion to the energetic secretary of the West Peterborough Institute, Mr. Wm. Collions. This gentleman has taken a deep interest in the work of the Institute for years, and probably no one has done more for their success than Mr. Collins. In his position as secretary he has worked energetically and faithfully, often in the face of discouragements, and that the Institute in West Peterborough is in existence to-day, and that it has accomplished the work it has, is largely due to the time and thought which Mr. Collins has given to it.

MR. F. E. BIRDSALL,
President of The East Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

Mr. Chas. O'Reilly, of Norwood, is the secretary of the East Peterborough Institute and he has filled that position for years most efficiently.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, was in the city to-day, and to-night read a paper before the Ottawa Medical and Chirurgical Society on "Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis." In conversation to-day, Dr. Hodgetts said there were too many cases of typhoid fever in the Province. "From the reports," he said, "the disease is more or less general, and there are hundreds of cases never reported at all. Of no other disease are the reports held back so persistently, and in consequence it is almost impossible for us to gauge the actual situation. Typhoid has appeared all over this Province, in cities, towns and villages. There can be no doubt as to its origin. It is a water disease, and nine cases out of ten, or even a greater percentage, can be traced to polluted water."

Wealthy Woman's Body Discovered On Track

A Mysterious Death in Philadelphia--Suspicion That She May Have Been Drugged--A Letter Which Enters Prominently Into the Case--Row Over Possession of Von Hoffman Apartments--Mrs. Todd's Lawyer Driven From House.

New York, Nov. 3.—The proposed autopsy upon the body of Mrs. Margaretta Todd, the rich woman who was found dead on a railroad track in Philadelphia after a mysterious trip from this city, was to have been held to-day, but was postponed until to-morrow. Dr. O'Hanlon, the coroner's physician, intends to have the contents of Mrs. Todd's stomach analyzed to ascertain whether or not she was drugged while being taken from the railroad station in Philadelphia by unknown persons, as alleged in a mysterious anonymous letter which the coroner has received. The writer of this letter declared that knockout drops were first administered to Mrs. Todd, after which she was thrown on the railroad tracks.

Coroner Dugan, of Philadelphia, today accepted an invitation from Coroner Schuler of this city to take part in the autopsy.

Further moves in the legal tangle attending the attempts by several persons to secure portions of the whole of Mrs. Todd's estate in this city were expected to-day. George G. Hastings, counsel for Mrs. Todd's daughter, Mrs. Frank Tousey, said to-day that a will prepared by Mrs. Todd and later than the one offered for probate was in existence, and in the hands of one of the parties interested in Mrs. Todd's affairs. Mrs. Hastings promised to present affidavits to the district attorney to-day to prove the existence of this later will and to institute legal proceedings to have it made public.

Ingersoll Lockwood took possession to-day of the Von Hoffman apartment house which Mrs. Todd owned and in which she made her home. Mr. Lockwood was Mrs. Todd's lawyer. He discharged the manager and employees of the Von Hoffman and put three private detectives in the building. A chain was placed on the front door. The detectives were instructed to admit no one except the tenants of the Von Hoffmans, and such other persons as the lawyer permitted to enter.

The Strange Letter.

The Times says that the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Margaret Todd, the wealthy woman whose mangled body was found on the railroad tracks in Philadelphia Friday, will be held to-morrow instead of to-day, as announced yesterday. It is proposed to determine whether the stomach contained poison. According to the Times, George Gordon Hastings, the attorney who drew the will which Mrs. Todd was to have signed last Monday, has in his possession a letter which he suspects is in the handwriting of a person known to him and who is interested in the case.

This letter is addressed to George W. Amory, manager of the Von Hoffman Apartments. In part it is as follows:

"July 6th.

"G. W. A.: Do not be afraid that I shall reveal any information you may give me. Have written her a very strong letter and she may get frightened. The fatis son of a gun may kiss and hug her, but there will be a fight when he tries to get money from her. Should she be taken suddenly ill send for Mrs. Dows, and if Mrs. Todd consents, send for Mrs. Paine.

"Can you get the key and have one made so that you can get into the room? Send for me if she becomes dangerously ill, and I will come at once.

"When anything happens kick the son of a gun into the middle of the street.

"Tear this up."

Ejected Lockwood.

New York, Nov. 3.—Relatives of Mrs. Frank Tousey, daughter and heir of Mrs. Margaretta Todd, who was found dead on a railroad track in Philadelphia, stormed the Von Hoffman apartments in West 58th street this afternoon, and ejected Ingersoll Lockwood, the lawyer, who claims a deed of trust of the dead woman's property. Lockwood had taken forcible possession of the apartments and had discharged the manager.

Lockwood had placed a chain on the door of the Todd apartments on the fifth floor. In another room a detective guarded the papers and belongings of the dead woman. In the hall below were three other detectives who guarded each entrance. In spite of all these precautions, Sinclair Tousey, brother-in-law of the heir, after being denied admittance, with six detectives broke in the front door and ejected Lockwood and all the private detectives Lockwood had engaged.

Mr. Lockwood relies on a lease and assignments said to have been executed by Mrs. Todd in the days before her death, for justification of his tenure of the premises. Frank Tousey claims ownership for his wife, who is the only daughter of Mrs. Todd.

OUR TOWER OF BABEL.

Thirty Languages Now Spoken on the Streets of Winnipeg—Work For Canada Bible Society.

Traveler over most of the civilized world, and a good deal of the uncivilized; conversant with Russians, Japanese, and Chinamen, Cyclonese, Kaffirs and Romans, and acquainted with the Empire; not following the flag or the dollar, but the Bible, Rev. R. E. Welsh is well fitted to be the secretary of the new Canada Bible Society. Mr. Welsh, who has recently been in Ontario, is now on his way to spend seven weeks, traversing the new polyglot empire from Rat Portage to Vancouver, and north as far as he may.

As will be remembered the Canada Bible Society was organized last year by a federation of all the Bible associations in Canada. This marked the transition from the old haphazard regime to the new organized system of grappling with the polyglot problem in Canada.

"We have the Bible, or parts of it, translated into 200 languages altogether," said Mr. Welsh. "Of these, nearly 40 are languages spoken in Canada and more than 30 west of Ontario. Two hundred and nineteen of them were first reduced to written or printed form by missionaries."

"In these Canadian dialects you include all Indian translations?"

"Yes. It might interest you to know that Archdeacon MacKay of Rupert's Land has been lately revising the Cree syllabic dialect in London. He has done it by means of a typewriter, in which instead of the Roman letters he had engraved the Cree syllabic marks invented by Mr. Evans.

"The Cree is still a vital language. One, however, of all our languages is dead. It is the Mohawk. We have a translation of it, but there is not a living soul to speak it."

"There is another thing," continued Mr. Welsh, "a letter which I got the other day from our correspondent in Alberta. As you know, we have John 3-16 translated into all our 200 languages. Our Alberta correspondent sends me a clipping from a foreign paper, published there in a dialect which he declares does not occur in any of our translations. He says it is the language of a tribe which was conquered by Hungary, part of which tribe has settled in the West, and have a paper in their own tongue, which is called The Mitwinian. However, I feel sure it must be a Hungarian dialect, which we already have. I shall look it up."

Mr. Welsh was through the Northwest three years ago, and is quite ready to believe that polyglot conditions there are even more complicated than they were then. He was quite sure that at least thirty languages are spoken on the streets of Winnipeg, and was not surprised to hear of one prairie teacher who has seven different kinds of speech in one school.

"And we are aiming now," he said, "to enrich these foreigners while they are new to the country, while their minds are open to impressions, before they become organized into a social system. We have great hopes of this work to cope with which the Canadian Bible Society was federated last year. We shall have five assistant secretaries of the society, one in the Maritime Provinces, one in Quebec, one in Ontario, one in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and one in Alberta and British Columbia. Later, we shall increase these in the West. That is our objective point. We have now but half a dozen colporteurs in all that country. We must increase these. The work must be vigorously pushed."

Reminded that the polyglot principle was opposed to the one-language system of Public Schools, Mr. Welsh said that it was absolutely essential; if the foreigners were to be reached, it must be through the medium of their own language—for the present, at least.

"Of course," he admitted, "we recognize that English is the great language of commerce and civilization, but the country must pass through the polyglot stage before that can be reached. The colporteur must work in the polyglot transition."

He recalled that it was once customary in the Saskatchewan for even English and French to learn Cree that they might converse with the natives.

"That, of course, was a phase of progress and a mark of the old regime," he said. "It must pass out. English will conquer—but through polyglot. The Indian work is not our chief work. It is the European and Asiatic foreigners who are coming into that country in such large numbers that we must work on. And that is a big work."

Birth Rate in French Canada.

The birth statistics of Montreal, which have just been published, should delight the heart of President Roosevelt. The mean birth rate for the seventeen years up to and including the year 1903 was 34.92 per 1,000 of the population. The French-Canadian birth rate was 40.08 per 1,000; that of the other Catholics, 24.87; that of the Protestants, 23.41. In one section of the population at least there is no race suicide. London, England, had in 1901 a ratio of 29.0 per 1,000; Glasgow, 31.7; New York, 22.7; Paris, 21.4; Berlin, 29.7; St. Petersburg, 25.5; Sydney, 25.8; Madrid, 29.3. The French-Canadians of Montreal lead the world in the matter of obeying the biblical command to "Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth."

Poison Fed to Horses.

Guelph, Nov. 4.—A case of poisoning horses occurred at the farm of John Grieves, fourth line, Nramosa, yesterday, and is being investigated by the authorities. It was the occasion of the annual Nramosa Township plowing match at Mr. Grieves' farm. Amongst them was a fine big team belonging to John Dickson. This team was placed in the stable until the match was called. When Mr. Dickson went to feed them he found both suffering from a malady suggesting poisoning. Upon investigation a quantity of paris green was found in the grain boxes at the animals' heads, and a portion of it had been taken. It was apparently a deliberate attempt to render Mr. Dickson's horses unfit for the match. One of the horses will die and the other has very little chance for recovery.

Let Off on Suspended Sentence.

Peterboro, Nov. 4.—Ed. Dewart and Stewart and Wm. Murphy the young men who were with Charles Gow on the night of the stabbing of Thomas Hall, were yesterday morning charged with disorderly conduct and let off on suspended sentence.

Gow's Sentence Commented On

In an editorial note in St. Luke's Parish Magazine, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the editor, says:—

The sentence passed by Justice Street upon Charles Gow, who was found guilty by a Jury, of manslaughter, was a gross miscarriage of justice. What arguments the Judge could have to sentence the man with three months in the common gaol is beyond the reason of fairminded men. A boy lost his life, and a girl was wounded, and the man who after a fair trial was found guilty of having done the deed, receives such a light sentence. One hardly knows what to think of the Judiciary and of justice.

To make matters worse some people from the neighbourhood of the convicted man, according to newspaper reports, contemplate having a public demonstration to welcome the questionable hero home after the expiration of his sentence. Probably, if this demonstration should come off, which, it is hoped, will not be, the Judge will be invited to be present.

Canada's Lobster Crop.

The lobster season in most of the fishing districts of the Maritime Provinces ended on Monday, 10th July. Reports from all districts are not yet available but along the north shore of Nova Scotia lobsters were very plentiful and most of the packers had secured the full output of their factories long before the legal period elapsed. It is expected that the catch in all the Gulf factories will be the largest in recent years. In P. E. I. the catch this season will be about an average one, last year it was above the average. This season, owing to bad weather, the fishermen were late in starting. The rather unusual fast of lobsters starting to shed their shells this month instead of in June as in previous years operated to the advantage of the fishermen. The price this season is about one dollar a case less than in 1904. The total catch is estimated at about 50,000, valued at $650,000. The hatchery has handled a considerable quantity of eggs and this policy of the Government of restocking the waters is meeting with hearty approval from packers and fishermen.

Canada Makes Progress Along Industrial Lines

Industrial Canada, in its last issue, has the following reference to the growth of Canadian industries. They are evidences of the general progress of Canada, along industrial lines.

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company has received an order from the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway for rails to the value of $4,000,000. They are to be manufactured at the Sydney plant and the time of delivery is to be extended over five years. The order will mean 150,000 tons of rails, or 600 tons a week, for the period of the contract.

The new industries to be located at Port Frances for utilizing the 15,000 horse power which will be available on the Canadian side of the river, include a 600-ton pulp mill, a large flour mill, a sash and door factory, a woodenware factory, a saw mill, besides a number of other establishments with which negotiations are now under way.

What is said to be the largest order for rolling stock ever issued by the C. P. R. was recently given to the Augus shops in Montreal. It represents in all about $3,000,000, and calls for 25 parlour, dining, and sleeping cars, 90 passenger coaches, and 3,000 freight cars. Thirty locomotives are also under way for the company in the same shops.

The Plymouth Cordage Company of Plymouth, Mass., turned the first sod for their Canadian branch factory at Welland recently. The main building will be 635 x 115 feet, principally two stories. They will engage in the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage of every description, and will furnish employment to about 400 men.

It is reported that the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company has in contemplation a shovel factory for North Sydney. An extensive market is to be had in the Maritime Provinces and in Newfoundland, and all the new material necessary is already manufactured by the company at Sydney Mines. In addition to shovels, picks and miners' tools would also be made.

Big Money in Cheese.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—The farmers of Ontario and Quebec are $30,000,000 richer as the result of the total sales of butter and cheese made to the Canadian butter and cheese men during the past season of navigation.

The Lovell-Christmas Co., Ltd., show that the total number of boxes of cheese taken from the farmers during the year was 2,684,767, at a price to the farmers of 10 cents a pound, or a total value of $21,077,680. The total number of packages of butter purchased was 761,808, at an average price of 21½c a pound, or $12 a package, making a total value of $3,412,009. There has never been a season in the history of the industry in which the farmers of Canada have been able to get such a high average price for the cheese and butter.

Edmond Rostand, the French playwright, who is shown in this picture wearing the uniform of a member of the French Academy, is in trouble again. The scandal caused by the charges of Mr. Gross, Chicago merchant, that Rostand's "Cyrano" was a plagiarism, has scarcely been forgotten, when Jacques Polti, a French writer, made a charge, that "Chanticleer," Rostand's latest play is a plagiarism.

CABINET MINISTERS' PENSIONS.

Provision of Statute is Very Distasteful to General Public.

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—(Globe Special.)—Modification or repeal of the provision for pensions to ex-Cabinet Ministers, is talked of, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier is in Montreal yesterday, and therefore could not be seen. It is believed, however, that the provision is very distasteful to the general public, and that at the next session of Parliament means will be taken to put an end to it.

Won't Even Look at Them.

Guelph, Nov. 4.—The railway and manufacturers committee of the City Council has decided not to accept the invitation of the G. T. R. to visit the freight terminals at Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto. The invitation was extended to show that a freight depot was not an injurious element to a business section of a city. The G. T. R. had asked for the fair grounds as a site for a terminal. The decision of the committee knocks the G. T. R. deal on the head.

Boston, Nov. 4.—Dr. Percy D. McLeod, a reputable physician of the Back Bay District, was arrested yesterday on the charge of performing an illegal operation on Susan Geary, the Cambridge chorus girl whose body was found in two suit cases in the waters of Boston harbor.

Nothing For Creditors.

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The assets of Andre Billani of Buckingham, who failed for $425,000, were sold by the sheriff yesterday morning and realised $325. Billani was in the lumber business, and tried also to establish a silk manufacturing industry.

British Printers as Strike-Breakers.

Quebec, Nov. 4.—Forty-eight British compositors arrived from various parts of England yesterday morning in charge of Charles Brimer, to take the place of printers on strike at Winnipeg, Man.

Yotter's Body Recovered.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a wife sits in the growing gloom of an evening, knowing what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But if healthy she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. She feels acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves. Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am pleased to inform you of the benefit I received from using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elizabeth A. Oswold, of 45 Brant Street, Windsor, Essex Co., Ontario, Canada. "Was quite discouraged when I wrote asking your advice, as the physicians here told me I could get no relief except by an operation. Suffered for four years from irregular and profuse menstruation, had sick and nervous headaches most of the time, and at times could hardly walk across the floor from weakness. Before I had taken the first bottle the headaches had left me and it was not long before regularity was established and still continues so. Have just finished house-cleaning which I never expected to be able to do again, and can truly say I never felt better than at present. Cheerfully recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all who suffer from female weakness. It has cured me and made me stronger in every way. Neither my husband nor myself can say enough in its praise."

The selfish seller who urges some substitute is thinking of the larger profit he'll make and not of your best good.

Cornwall, Nov. 4.—John McMillan, son of the late Donald McMillan of the Island of Martintown, was accidentally killed at Hurley, Wis., on Saturday. Mr. McMillan fell down the shaft of a mine, where he was employed, a distance of 100 feet, thence down another, 50 foot shaft. Death was instantaneous. He got up from his supper and walked into the kitchen, which was unlighted, to get a cough mixture. In the dark he got hold of the carbolic acid bottle, but was not long in discovering his mistake. "I'm poisoned," he cried, and in a few minutes he was dead. He was 36 years of age and unmarried.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—The desire of the Hon. J. S. Hendrie that the Hamilton Bridge Co., of which he is president, be permitted to withdraw its tenders for certain public works in Northern Ontario, has been granted by Hon. Dr. Reaume. THE QUEBEC BRIDGE.

To Be One of the Most Wonderful Structures in the World.

The new Quebec bridge which is to span the River St. Lawrence from the Chaudiere on the south side to Cap Rouge on the north side, seven miles west of Quebec, will, when completed, be one of the most wonderful structures in the world.

The weight of metal to be put in the structure will be 53,000 tons, and up to the present only 3,000 tons have been placed in position. The false work alone that had to be erected before anything could be done on the superstructure is a regular bridge in itself, and weighs five thousand tons, and when it has done duty on one side will be taken down and rebuilt on the other side of the river to promote the erection. The metal parts to be used in putting together the gigantic structure weigh from five to one hundred tons each, according to size and the importance of their relative positions. The Phoenixville Bridge Co. of Phoenixville, who have the contract, were obliged to construct new machinery and enlarge their mills to manufacture these parts, which are the largest used in bridge work the world over. Special cars had to be constructed to carry the metal from the mills to the Chaudiere, where electric traveling cranes were erected to handle the same.

The approach work from the Chaudiere or main line of the I. C. R. and G. T. R. is a big contract in itself, and, besides three miles of trestle work, rock cutting, and culverts, includes a steel bridge eight hundred feet in length across the Chaudiere River.

The main bridge is now well under way, and the contractors for the work feel confident that it will be completed by the fall of 1907, barring unforeseen accidents. The bridge runs out from the shore to the main pier. All the bottom chords, eleven in number, weighing from sixty to ninety tons each, are laid, and the floor system to the main pier is nearly completed. Two shoes weighing seventy-five tons each, are being placed at the main pier, and the pins to hold them, six feet ten inches long and twenty-four inches in diameter, weighing five tons each, are being hammered into position.

Difficult Trip to the Mackenzie.

An interesting peep into the difficulties attending a trip to the Mackenzie River district more than thirty years ago was given at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, recently by Bishop Reeve, the missionary in that faraway diocese. Thirty-six years ago, when he and his wife had first gone to Mackenzie, there was no communication between Eastern and Western Canada. They had to go to New York and travel from there to Minnesota. Then they went four days by wagon and four more down the Red River to Fort Garry. Thence they traveled nearly three months more in an open boat, manned by Indians and halfbreeds. Month after month they pushed along until Fort Simpson was reached, on the Mackenzie River. Three and a half months previously they had finished the railway part of the journey. To obtain supplies they had to write out a list two years before the goods reached them. Letters were received but twice a year, and the latest news was five months old. The nearest doctor was 2,000 miles away. To-day they received their letters four times a year, and the railway came to within 1,100 miles of them. Supplies were brought in once a year. He said that a new diocese of Athabaska was required.

Who Enjoys, Possesses.

On the water lies the mist,
Shrouds the shining sail afar;
Purple, green and amethyst
Glows the sea beyond the bar.

Lying on the gleaming sands,
Wooed by wind and lulled by wave,
Where the ripples touch my hand
As my feet the waters lave,

Care I naught for anything
Save the earth, the sea, the sky,
Save the song the wild winds sing
As they liltingly sweep by.

Just the earth is all I want,
Shining out in gold and green;
Just the sky, where white clouds flaunt,
Fairest banners ever seen.

Just the wide expanse of sea,
Where a million ripples run
Out in dimpling ecstasy,
There to meet the rising sun.

And I feel that these are mine
As I lie where soft winds blow,
Where the gleaming waters shine
And the ripples come and go.

The British birth rate has been steadily declining in recent years, and the latest report shows the lowest rate on record—27 per 1,000 for London and 29.2 per 1,000 for 75 large towns. This scarcely exceeds the death rate, which must become the greater within a few years. Sanitation has reduced the death rate, particularly among infants, and this alone has postponed the beginning of race decline beyond the present time. The falling off in the birth rate, due partly to selfishness and love of pleasure, and partly to our strenuous modern living, is most serious among the middle and upper classes.

CASUALTIES OF PEACE.

292 Industrial Accidents in Canada During Month of August.

That peace hath its victories more glorious than war is a truth more freely uttered than appreciated, and, while the casualty list in the struggle of sustenance may not be a measure of the glory of victory, it shows that the risks and the demands on courage increase as the struggle becomes more intense. During the month of August last, according to statistics published in The Labor Gazette, there were 292 industrial accidents in Canada, resulting in 78 deaths and many cases of serious injury. Agriculture, which feels the introduction of machinery in many ways, leads all the occupations with 46 accidents. Of these only 9 were fatal, as compared with 28 fatalities in July and 18 in August of the previous year. But of teh other accidents of August last 35 were classed as serious. While agriculture leads in the number of accidents, the railway service is responsible for 18 deaths—the greatest number of fatalities in any one industry. In addition to this death list 28 employes were severely injured. Railway fatalities have come to be regarded with equanimity, as they are the inevitable results of our economy of time and money, and our disregard of human life. While we are eager to make one track carry the traffic of two, while every minute of idleness in track, in rolling stock, or in employes is grudgingly counted, while the nerves of men in important positions are strained to the endurance point, there will be a continuous record of casualties. Of the fatal accidents two engineers and one fireman were killed in collisions, and three brakemen were killed by falling between cars.

In navigation there were eleven fatalities during August. Four men were drowned, four were killed by explosions on steamboats, and two were killed by falls into the holds of the vessels on which they were employed. Two disasters to fishing vessels resulted in the loss of five lives. The building trades made a record of 35 accidents, but of these only four resulted fatally. They were nearly all attributed to falls. A comparatively new source of danger is revealed by the list of accidents in metal-working trades. Three electrical workers were killed by coming in contact with live wires and one by the cave-in of a conduit. Mining claimed five victims, and there were in addition five cases of serious injury. The strict enforcement of the law requiring the reporting of all industrial accidents, and the monthly publication of totals as well as the investigation of all cases of suspected carelessness, have had a beneficial effect in impressing the need of care and watchfulness on the part of those responsible for the safety of workmen in dangerous occupations. There is no remedy for that disregard of human life so frequently manifested in the taking of unnecessary risks and the neglect of simple precautions. While needless risks are taken there will be needless accidents occasionally. But the record can be minimized by careful surveillance and the enforcement of all preventive measures that experience has shown to be necessary.

WHEN ALL HOPE WAS ABANDONED

Elzear Cote Found in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a Speedy and Permanent Cure for his Stomach Troubles.

"I have suffered for four years from stomach trouble. I consulted three doctors and they told me I had Dyspepsia, and no remedy would cure me." So says Elzear Cote of St. Hedwidge de Clifton, Quebec. But Mr. Cote found a remedy that the doctors did not know. It was Dodd's Dspepsia Tablets, and it cured him. He says:

"Then, I quit the doctors and began to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After the first box I had no more trouble. It is now two years since I took themand I am now well. I do all my own work. I am never tired. That's why I recommend all who have stomach troubles to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. This gives the overworked stomach a chance to rest and it naturally comes back to its normal healthy condition.

No Crime to Kiss in Quebec.

A singular case of litigation has just been settled in Montreal, in which Mr. Justice Davidson finds that it is not an actionable offence for a man to kiss a woman in the Province of Quebec during the New Year festival, provided the man and woman are acquainted with each other and on good terms. The case arose out of an action entered by P. Brien, a grocer, to recover $300 damages from a commercial traveler named Lajeunesse. In the statement of claim it was set forth that on January 4 last Mrs. Brien was serving in the store when in walked Lajeunesse, and without invitation or provocation immediately leaned over the counter and kissed the lady twice. Mrs. Brien was greatly shocked, and as a result was unable to serve in the store for some time, at great inconvenience to her husband. When the case came up for hearing the defendant claimed that the kissing had been done without violence or resistance on the part of the lady and at a time only four days after New Year's Day, when it is a French-Canadian custom for men and women acquainted to embrace if they feel so inclined. A local physician was examined in behalf of defendant, and he stated that at that season of the year a simple act of osculation would not cause so severe a shock as had been set forth in the claim unless there had been in connection therewith sufficient violence to leave blue marks on the shoulders. There has been no evidence of blue marks, and nothing to show that the woman's health had been affected. In dismissing the action without costs Mr. Justice Davidson held that the plaintiff had greatly exaggerated the incident; that the defendant had not intended to insult the lady, and that the only thing with which he could be approached, even according to the evidence of the plaintiff, was for pressing hard on the lips twice, instead of gently, and but once, according to custom.

A Serious Loss To The Cheese Patrons

The Destruction of the Cheese at Hoard's, in Northumberland, by Reason of the Outbreak of Small-pox--Dr. Bell Makes a Report on the Situation--The Canadian Dairyman Makes Investigation Into The Circumstance.

The patrons of the cheese factory at Hoard's Station, in Northumberland County, experienced considerable loss and inconvenience owing to the action of the local Board of Health in closing the factory for a month and compelling a quantity of cheese to be burned during the reported smallpox epidemic in that section a few weeks ago. Several papers have contained exaggerated reports about the outbreak, and the general effect has been to paralyze cheese making at that factory. This is a most unsatisfactory condition of affairs to the patrons and even more so to the shareholders and makers whose pastures are good and prime high.

An attempt has been made by The Canadian Dairyman to obtain a fair report of the case and to find out whether the action of the local Board of Health in closing the factory and burning a number of cheese was really warranted. The factory in under the syndicate of which Mr. J. H. Lowery, of Trenton is instructor. Recently the average of about eight cheese a day has been made in the factory, but the trouble began earlier in the season when the output was considerably larger.

The cheesemaker, Mr. W. A. Donald was taken very sick with some trouble resembling typhoid fever, and was in bed about two weeks, when a slight rash appeared. Before this the doctor in attendance had got control of the fever and Mr. Donald was on the way to recovery. When the rash appeared the officer of the local Board of Health was called, and he pronounced it smallpox. Then, notwithstanding the fact that the cheesemaker had been out of the factory over two weeks, he said the factory were immediately quarantined. The second case of sickness was that of a Mr. Frost, a patron of the factory. The rash had been noticeable for some time and his doctor had treated him for chickenpox. Mr. Frost was much improved when the health officer, hearing of his case, called, and after examining him declared that he, too, had smallpox. Nevertheless, when a member of the board was sent to quarantine him he was permitted to go to the most public place, the post office, and the doctor waited until his return. The third and last case was in the breaking-out stage when detected. But the authorities did not quarantine the patient or his family.

The directors of the factory had asked the board to allow them to call in other doctors to consult with the medical health officer but this was not granted. Three weeks after the factory had been quarantined the plague came, but seems unaccountable [illegible] Wednesday. The factory was at once notified but it was not replaced. Two visits were made by Dr. Bell, of the Provincial Board of Health. He claimed that Mr. Frost was the one who brought the malady into this neighborhood, and that he had caught it from friends in the township of Murray. The patients in Murray township were treated by Drs. Simmons, of Frankford, and Farquonhe, of Trenton, both of whom absolutely deny having treated a case of smallpox among those reported by Dr. Bell.

CHEESE DESTROYED.

The factory was closed about a month when the board sent one of its members to destroy the cheese in it, but he left for home long before his work was completed. Some 160 cheese, the value of which was $1,600 or $1,600, were destroyed.

The patrons had no serious loss through the factory being idle, as neighboring factories readily took them in, but most of them had some distance further to draw. The stockholders and cheesemaker, however, lost all profits during this period. The maker had two men engaged for the season. The position taken by the president and the maker of at least one of the factories was commendable. They insisted on all the patrons who had been drawing to them returning to their own factory as soon as it reopened.

As regards the loss to the factory, each patron will have to bear his share. The highest loss to any individual patron will be about $30, but the factory has suffered greatly in other ways. Patrons have gone to other factories and have not returned, thus decreasing the fall make. As competition is very keen in this section some of them may be induced to stay away. The false or much exaggerated reports have tended to cause uneasiness among the patrons as to the future success of the factory, but their confidence is now renewed.

The Boys' Dept. Selects Cabinet

New Departure in Y. M. C. A. Boys' Work.

An enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Y.M.C.A. boys' department was held yesterday afternoon, when reorganization was effected for the year. Instead of having president, vice-president, secretary, etc., as in preceding years, the cabinet system, now in use in so many boys' departments, has been introduced here.

Mr. Roper presided at the organization meeting, and, after briefly explaining the objects, called for nominations for the premiership.

Max Fife was almost unanimously elected. He then selected his cabinet as follows:

Premier—Max Fife, having charge of the religious work.

Secretary of State—Stanley Midill.

Minister of Finance—Edward Mann.

Minister of Public Works — Max Dobbin.

Minister of Foreign Affairs—Having charge of the missionary work—Herb. Johnston.

Minister of the Interior—Having charge of the membership—Mel. Turner.

Minister of Education — Having charge of the library, literary work, etc.—Ray Scott.

With such a strong cabinet, the best year's work is promised in the boy's department this year.

King Alfonso of Spain assisted in rescuing an aeronaut from a tree recently. A balloon ascension was part of the festivities in connection with President Loubet's visit to Madrid. The balloon descended in a pine wood, and the aeronaut was in a critical condition, when the king arrived in an auto and assisted him to get down.

Raised One Dollar Bills In Circulation

One Was Received Yesterday in Ontario Bank.

One Dollar Bill Raised to Four Dollars —A Good Imitation.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. John Crane, manager of the Ontario Bank, received a one dollar Dominion bill, raised to four. It came in the bank in the regular way, and was detected by the one to whom it was given.

The work of raising it was fairly cleverly done, and to the unlimitated it looked very much like a genuine $4 bill. Mr. Crane took possession of the bill, and is keeping it as a souvenir. The public is warned to be careful when they are accepting what looks like $4 bills, as there is a probability that there are other bills raised in the same way in circulation.

Sudden Death In Lindsay

Lindsay, Nov. 3.—Frederick C. Neale, aged 63, employed as hostler at the Pym House, Lindsay, died suddenly last night. The deceased had been in this country but fourteen months and had served in the British army thirteen years. He intended spending Christmas in the Old County, and had purchased tickets to sail per steamship Virginian next Wednesday.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I am informed that the choir of St. John's Church purposes imitating the George Street Methodist Church choir in investing the lady members of the choir with vestments and mortar boards. I hope the idea will be carried out. It will be much more seemly to see the chancel occupied by ladies in sober and uniform vestments and collegiate caps, instead of presenting the weird and bizarre appearance of a milliner's show window. Let us have the externals of religion consistent any way.

Yours, etc.,

PEW.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good, and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

In view of the controversy to which the employment of Chinese coolies in the Transvaal has given rise, special interest attaches to inquiries made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Burma in connection with the suggested importation of Chinamen for mining in Burma.

A Despicable Sneak's Work

Mr. Geo. N. Graham Loses Two Valuable Bull Terriers.

The dog poisoner is again performing his deadly work. Last night one of Mr. Geo. N. Graham's stablemen found three of his dogs suffering from the effects of that deadly drug, strychnine. They were valuable bull terriers and two of them, pups of six months of age, succumbed to the poison. The third, named "Hank" an elder dog, responded to an emetic, and while he is not yet out of danger, will probably recover.

Anybody who will sneakingly take the life of valuable canines in this dirty manner must surely be descended from the vicious ape. Bad cess to him.

Repairing Dam At Bobcaygeon

The repairs of the dam at Bobcaygeon are nearing completion, and the improvements will assist in holding the water, besides adding greatly to the permanency of the work. The timbers of the front panel of the piers were removed to the depth of two or three feet below water level, and replaced with concrete, the tops being also covered with concrete. The timber stringers between piers, carrying the platform, were removed, and replaced by stringer like of Douglas fir, brought from British Columbia. The running platform is now constructed so that it can be easily raised, when at some future time the rear part of the piers have to be concreted.

Mr. Hillhouse Brown Makes Shortage Good

Part of His Defalcations to the Bank of Hamilton.

C.P.R. STOCKS, GRAIN & PORK

Unfortunate Speculations and An Ill-Advised Liberality Caused the Downfall of the Hamilton Bank Manager —Estimate of $130,000 Defalcation Said to Be Grossly Exaggerated — His Successor.

Hamilton, Nov. 4.—The case of T. Hillhouse Brown, manager of the King street east branch of the Bank of Hamilton, who was arrested Thursday afternoon for embezzlement, was called at the Police Court yesterday morning. He was not brought up from the jail, however. T. H. Crerar represented his interests. Crown Attorney Washington was present on behalf of the Crown and William Lees for the bank. A remand was granted till next Thursday, though Mr. Crerar wanted it for the usual eight days. It is understood that J. W. Nesbitt, K. C., will act for Mr. Brown when he comes up for a preliminary hearing. They consulted with him in jail yesterday morning.

The Formal Charges.

There are three charges against Brown; falsifying the bank book for $5,100, stealing $853, forging the inspector's initials on an account as though it had been passed by the inspector.

The defalcation was said yesterday to amount to about $130,000. The bank is understood to be secured for $50,000. The accused is said to have defrauded the bank out of this large sum by working it between the general ledger and the savings bank ledger, changing from one account to the other, and fixing it so that the inspector could not detect the wrong without a very searching examination of the books, which is never done unless suspicion rests on a bank man.

The prisoner has turned over his life insurance policies amounting to $47,000, and some real estate in which he speculated with the bank's money. With the bonds under which the ex-manager worked, the insurance and other securities it is estimated that about $50,000 of the shortage will be covered.

Ill-Advised Liberality.

His friends claim that it was his liberality that was the principal cause of the trouble. He was somewhat of a mark for book agents, and anyone who was in trouble was usually able to "make a touch." Not long ago he was fleeced by a Toronto lawyer, for whom he cashed a cheque. It was the occasion of the lawyer's wedding to a Hamilton girl, and although he had a silk hat and clothes of the latest cut neither he nor the girl's family, so Brown complained to friends, ever settled with him. Brown had the reputation of being big-hearted and open-handed. The mechanics who repaired his boat and everybody else who rendered him a service were always sure of a liberal tip.

Grossly Exaggerated.

Mr. James Turnbull, general manager of the Bank of Hamilton, said yesterday that Mr. Brown had not refused to give the bank officials information about the shortage, but had assisted them. He said the reports that the shortage was $130,000 were grossly exaggerated.

Speculation in stocks, C. P. R., grain and pork is also blamed for the downfall.

B. O. Hooper, the bank's agent at Milton, has been transferred and has been appointed as manager of the east end branch.

Russians Plot To Massacre The Jews

Discovery of a Plot to This End at St. Petersburg--Fire Destroys Kishineff--Anti-Jewish Excesses Reported From Many Places in Russia--Awful Death List Which Still Continues to Mount--Jewish Quarter in Kieff Given Over to Plunder, Rapine and Murder.

London, Nov. 4.—All reports received here go to confirm the continued seriousness of the situation throughout Russia, especially the anti-Jewish excesses. The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent gives an unconfirmed report that Kishineff has been absolutely destroyed by fire, with its three suburbs, Persessyp, Zastava and Moldavanka. The Kieff correspondent of the same paper says that the British Consulate has been riddled with bullets. The British Consul was stopped by soldiers with levelled rifles.

Given Over to Murder.

The Kieff correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co., under the date of Nov. 3, says: The Jewish quarter has been given over to plunder, rapine and murder ever since the Emperor announced the granting of a constitution. Thousands of families have been ruined, and the theatre of anatomy is filled with corpses.

Many corporations have wired Count Witte begging protection, and he ordered that vigorous measures be taken but without effect. Yesterday the town was quieter and it is hoped that the reign of terror has ended, but the Jews still fear to return to their homes. Relief committees are being formed.

Plot to Massacre Jews.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, timed 9 a. m., yesterday reports the discovery of a plot to massacre the Jews of that city. It is semi-officially calculated, says the correspondent, that at least 1,000 persons have been killed and 10,000 in the fifty leading provincial towns of Russia in the last 24 hours, and the death roll is still mounting.

Guerrilla warfare is going on in the Caucasus, says the correspondent, and trains are held up at the stations, attacked and rifled. It is impossible to move troops into the mountain fastnesses, and wealthy passengers are offering from $5,000 to $50,000 ransom to their captors.

Quiet at St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—All is quiet here. There is no attempt at holding processions, and the Cossack patrols are everywhere. Shops have been barricaded and railway communication with the frontier has not yet been restored. The newspapers will appear today, and the electric lighting plant has again been put in operation.

Russ Warships Sail.

Reval, Russia, Nov. 4.—Warships have sailed from here for Helsingfors.

Mob Pillages Shops.

Odessa, Nov. 4.—On yesterday the fourth day of terror the peaceful population is practically under a state of siege. Even the markets and restaurants are closed and it is impossible to get bread or meat. The mob yesterday pillaged a number of Jewish shops in the main street. The rioters also burned three factories and killed a physician and two assistants who were dressing wounds.

Last evening the rioters pillaged the biggest drygoods store in the city. The loss in this case is estimated at $175,000. A hardware store was looted, involving a loss of $100,000. In addition twelve fur stores were sacked.

Ten Students Killed.

Moscow, Nov. 4.—A procession of students, returning yesterday with some of their comrades who had been released from prison, was set upon by a mob of workmen at the Triumphal Arch. Ten of the students were killed.

Relieved of His Post.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—The Grand Duke, Alexander Michaelovitch, brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas, has been released of the post of head of the Department of Mercantile Marine. The Department of Mercantile Marine is to be merged with the new Ministry of Commerce, which probably accounts for the Grand Duke's retirement.

Governor Flees.

Kosloff, Russia, Nov. 4.—The Vice-Governor of Kosloff has fled from the city. The citizens are preserving order. Great manifestations occurred here Thursday, the crowds demanding the release of the political prisoners.

Fraternize With Soldiers.

Warsaw, Nov. 4.—A remarkable feature of the demonstrations here was the fraternising of the people with the soldiers. The latter were carried about on the shoulders of the crowd and were furnished with champagne and cigarettes. All classes of the population participated in the demonstration. The greatest rage is felt against the Cossacks, in whose unprovoked attacks on the crowd before the City Hall many persons were killed or wounded.

The authorities have released 350 political offenders, who were imprisoned in the citadel. A regiment of Dragoons has arrived here to reinforce the garrison.

Massacre Continues.

Kieff, Russia, Nov. 4.—The retirement of Gen. Kleigels, the Governor-General of Kieff, who was removed Wednesday, and has been succeeded by Gen. Soukahomlinoff, has not served to restore order. The whole city is in a ferment. A report that the Jews had destroyed a Christian monastery was circulated among the mob and served to provoke a renewal of the attacks on the Jews. The massacre continues. Gen. Karass, the military commander, called out the Cossacks, who were met with bombs, whereupon they fired into the crowd, killing twelve persons and wounding forty-four.

All the stores and Jewish market have been plundered and destroyed.

Scene of Desolation.

Rostoff-on-Don, Nov. 4.—This city presents a scene of desolation, but the rioters are exhausted by Thursday night's excesses and the rioting was not resumed yesterday. In the Jewish quarter only smoking ruins remain. In other sections stores are still burning. The Jews are seeking refuge where they can. The mob outrages continued all night. Shots were constantly heard.

A Sad Affair Reported From Burk's Falls

First Accident of the Deer Season This Fall.

PANTON KILLED HIS CHUM

W. A. Clark of Toronto Killed Instantly by Editor Wm. Panton of Milton In Mistake Wilde—Deceased Was Mistaken For a Deer By his Friend Owing to Color of His Coat.

Dunchurch, Nov. 4.—W. A. Clark, manager of the Toronto Cream and Butter Co., was accidentally shot Thursday morning about 10 o'clock at Maple Island, a point near Drumquin, on the Pickerel River, Parry Sound district. Mr. Clark was wearing a fawn overcoat and was mistaken for a deer by William Panton, editor of The Milton Champion, a close friend of the dead man.

Both men belonged to the Milton Hunt Club, and were members of a shooting party composed of themselves, C. B. Lewis, Geo. Hewston and J. Peddie of Milton, G. E. Saunders, John Pirie and J. M. Bassell of Trafalgar and C. P. R. Conductor Harshaw of Toronto. Mr. Clark left Toronto on Wednesday, and could hardly have fired a shot before the fatal bullet struck him.

Killed Instantly.

He was shot at a distance of fifty yards the bullet passing through the lungs and killing him instantly. The corpse was taken on the first boat to Burke's Falls where it was prepared for burial and taken to Toronto on the midnight express.

Toronto Nov. 4.—A telegram was received by the Toronto Cream and Butter Co., of which Mr. Clark was manager and the officials notified Mrs. Clark at the family residence, 99 Maitland street. Mrs. Clark is completely prostrated. Some of the members of the club accompanied the body to Toronto. Deceased leaves a wife, and seven children, the oldest being 12 years of age and the youngest 7 months.

Mr. Panton, who fired the fatal shot, feels his position keenly. He is an experienced hunter and a good shot and his friends in Toronto are at a loss to understand how, he could have mistaken his friend for a deer.

The Bavarian Ashore.

Quebec, Nov. 4.—Word was received at a late hour last night that the Allan Line mail steamer Bavarian, which left port at 7 o'clock last evening for Liverpool, ran ashore at Wyerock, just off Grosse Isle quarantine. It is said that she has received some damage. Assistance will be sent immediately.

Powers Will Act Promptly.

Paris, Nov. 4.—The exchanges of communications going on between the powers have reached a stage where a joint naval demonstration against Turkey is practically assured, unless the Sultan promptly accepts the plan of the powers for financial reforms in Macedonia.

GRAND JURY RE. LLOYD.

It Is Not British Justice to Deny Prisoner Trial.

Belleville, Nov. 4.—The grand jury at the present Assizes, before whom the Crown Prosecuter refused to lay the Lloyd murder case, made the following reference to the matter when they brought in their presentment yesterday:

"We were instructed by your lordship that the Crown would bring before us for consideration an indictment against one Adam Lloyd, charged with the murder of his wife. No such bill has been offered before us, although we found the prisoner in jail ready for his trial, and from your lordship's charge to us we inferred that the Crown was ready to proceed. We cannot, therefore, understand why the case was not presented to us, and it does not appear to us to be in accordance with British principles of fairness that the prisoner should be denied his trial and kept in jail, whether guilty or not, and that the public interests should be left unsatisfied in such an important matter. We do not know where the blame lies, but we feel it our duty to bring the matter to the attention of the court."

Chief Justice Meredith made no reference to the grand jury's remarks about the Lloyd case.

Bids For Quebec Southern.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—Following are the bids made in the case of the Quebec Southern Railway in the Exchequer Court yesterday: P. H. Roy, representing the East Richelieu Valley Railway, tendered $105,000 for that road. E. A. D. Morgan, for himself, offered $503,000 for the South Shore Railway. G. G. Foster, representing the Rutland Railway, tendered $1,000,000 for the Quebec Southern System, comprising the South Shore, United Counties, and East Richelieu Valley roads. F. L. Beique, representing the Bank of Hochelaga, tendered $1,051,000 for the whole system, and $551,000 for the United Counties and East Richelieu roads.

Prince Louis At Washington.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg was received by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Prince was the bearer of a personal message of goodwill from King Edward to President Roosevelt, and was presented to the president by Sir Henry Mortimer Durand. The presentation was made the occasion for a brilliant reception. Last night the British Ambassador and Lady Durand gave a state dinner to their distinguished house guest, followed by a large reception and ball.

GEN. PIPON PASSES.

Father of C. A. Pipon of Toronto Dies In Isle of Jersey.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—A cable message was received yesterday by C. A. Pipon of this city announcing the death at St. Heber's, Isle of Jersey, of his father, Gen. Philip Gosset Pipon, C. B., Col., commandant of the Royal Artillery.

Gen. Pipon was born in 1824, was educated at the R. M. A., Woolwich, and entered the R. A. as second lieutenant in 1842. He saw no active service until the Crimean war of 1854-56, when he served throughout the whole campaign, being chief commissary of the siege of Sebastopol. For his services, he received the English medal with three clasps, the Turkish and Sardinian medals, and the fifth class of the Order of the Medjidie. He came to Canada in the autumn of 1863 and commanded the R. A. in Montreal from that time until the spring of 1868. During that period occurred here the Fenian troubles of 1866, when Gen. Pipon was again in the field. For that service the deceased received the Canadian General Service medal. Besides those services enumerated, Gen. Pipon served in Ceylon and Indian, being created C. B. in 1875.

CHATHAM MAN'S CRIME.

Slashes a Girl's Throat Three Times With a Sharp Knife.

Flint, Mich., Nov. 4.—With a knife ground to the keenness of a razor for the occasion, James Pritchard last evening attacked pretty 17-year-old Hazel Pettis in her home and gashed her throat three times. Then the girl's mother interfered and fought him off, while the girl fled out of the back door. Pritchard started in pursuit and as he went out the door cut a gash in his own throat. Neither his wounds nor the girl's are likely to prove fatal, as the knife did not reach a vital spot. Pritchard came here about six months ago from Chatham Ont., and worked in a local second-hand store, where Miss Pettis also was employed. He became very much smitten with her, but his attentions were distasteful and she finally told him a day or two ago that they must cease. In his cell last night Pritchard did not seem to be very sorry for what he had done, saying that the girl had jilted him and he wanted revenge.

To Test Tax Law.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—The first arrest in connection with the provincial tax of $300 on foreign business houses doing business in the Province of Quebec was made yesterday, N. P. Hamilton being the victim. The case will be made a test one.

Expert Tea Blending

HAVE you ever tried to blend colors to match the shade of the red rose?

Pretty difficult, yet an expert can do it easily.

Why? Because he can tell by looking at the rose what colors are required to produce that tint or shade. He can make that precise color every day in the week.

Just as the artist in colors blends the tints of the red rose, so my artists in tea blend the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea.

With expert knowledge and intuitive skill he selects the particular picking of rich, strong Indian tea and the precise grade of fragrant, delicate Ceylon, and by skilful blending produces the peerless flavor of Red Rose Tea—a tea which for delicacy and strength is matched by no brand of Ceylon alone.

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

CONSUMPTIVE PROBLEM

TERRIBLE CASE OF SUFFERING IN THIS CANADA OF OURS.

Hope Withdrawn From Lephard, But He Travels About From One Town to Another—Friends Fail Him and Hospital Doors Are Closed in His Face Because He Has Been Pronounced Incurable.

Widespread sympathy has been excited by the narration of the misfortunes that have dogged one Lephard, an incurable consumptive. The poor fellow has no home, and therefore no municipality is willing to burden itself with his care. From Galt he was sent to the Gravenhurst Sanitarium, but, being pronounced incurable, he was refused admission. He then went to Hamilton, but was soon sent back again, only to find that the Galt hotels would not give him accommodation. His friends failed him, and the hospital doors were closed in his face. At present he is in a tent. In all this country there seems to be no place where Lephard can lie down and rest a little while before starting on his long journey. If he were to commit a crime in order to get accommodation in a jail, no doubt the prisoners and guards would protest. The word "consumptive" is no less dreadful in its effect upon most people than the terrible word "leper."

The Hope Cure.

There are, probably, cases of consumption that might be called incurable, but most medical men would very much doubt this diagnosis of a patient who is able to travel about from one town to another. If Lephard were absolutely incurable, any undertaker might let him spend his remaining minutes in his shop. It is a pessimistic physician or one behind the times who returns a verdict of incurable in any case of tuberculosis nowadays. So many miraculous cures have been effected that hope lingers as long as the heart beats. It is a feature of the disease that the victims usually hope until the last; but pathetic though this may be, it is, nevertheless, vitally important, and is one of the most powerful aids in effecting a cure. The patient who believes he will recover is far more likely to do so than the unfortunate who has no such hope. The latter is doomed, because he has surrendered to the enemy. This is the reason why it is very unusual for a doctor to pronounce a patient hopelessly infected. The decision was obviously unwise in the case of Harry Lephard, who has had bronchial tuberculosis for only a few months.

The Home of the Last Hope.

The Gravenhurst institution may have been justified in its refusal to care for Lephard. It naturally desires to have as low a death rate as possible, and would thus decline to admit a patient whose chances of recovery are supposed to be worthless. The melancholy influence upon the other patients of a death in the sanitarium was also considered, no doubt, and perhaps from the Gravenhurst point of view the action that fell so harshly on Lephard was proper. If this is so, we can only say that the National Sanitarium Association does not quite solve the problem of the consumptive in Canada. Worthy though its aims are, there is room for a hospital that will not turn away a man like Lephard. Consumptives might be classified, and those who have failed to respond to the treatment given there might be drafted to a home where they could have a last chance, and a place to lie down and die when the time came. A farm would be better than a hospital for the carrying out of this idea, and the consumptive slowly failing before the assaults of phthisis would not have his last days embittered by the harshness of his fellows.

The Over-eating Cure.

Probably the latest phase of the war against consumption is the over-eating cure, a rough and ready description that is fairly accurate. In Cleveland this treatment has been very successfully adopted. In an interview in The Cleveland Plain-Dealer, a well-known doctor said: "It is no freakish treatment, no sensational or radical departure from what the medical world has long known about consumption. It is the only real way to combat the disease, and it has been worked out in detail. That is all that is new about it. Oils and fats have always been good in cases of consumption. The city has used cod liver oil, olive oil, and cocoa, and will continue doing so indefinitely. But we will overfeed in addition, and we will do it in the rational, sensible manner which the originator of the method devised. We use vegetable juices because they are very strengthening, very nutritious, and, especially, because they are easy to digest. Vegetables do not hurt the stomach in any way, and in the form of concentrated juices we get the maximum of virtue with a minimum of exertion to the patient's digestive apparatus. The idea is to feed the patient to such a degree and in such a manner that his system is constantly receiving the benefit of the best nutrition, and is getting it from fresh material. We could not simply gorge a man with over-eating. He would be stalled. He would founder himself. Therefore, part of the treatment is a good big dose of castor oil every day."

The Home Treatment.

The City of Cleveland, in its free treatment of consumptives, is following the lines advocated by the doctor quoted above. There is a daily clinic at the City Hall, morning and evening, where patients go to be treated, and return to their occupations. The theory that all sufferers should be isolated from the general public breaks down in practice, and now the gospel is "work and be cured at the same time." In England the patient does not go to the hospital; the hospital goes to him. The same principle has been adopted in Germany. When a case is reported, a doctor is despatched to the home of the victim. His first duty is to explain to the man the nature of the malady and to assure him that he can be cured. He then makes an examination of the premises, and suggests improvements from a sanitary point of view. He devises a suitable scheme for ventilation, recommends certain food and clothing, and leaves medicine. The members of the family are then given a little lecture, to the end that the unfortunate may be properly attended, and they themselves run no risk. Reports are sent to the local Board of Health, and if necessary the doctor pays many more visits. The principle, however, is that the patient is encouraged to fight the disease himself. The success of the movement has been most satisfactory.

What Ontario Needs

Tuberculosis is not the scourge and the terror it was ten years ago. It can be prevented and cured, and this fact should argue for action on the part of the Government. The City of Toronto, as best it can, looks after its own sick; but for the consumptives of the province at large little or no provision is made. It is to be hoped that the publicity given to the case of Lephard will lead to a removal of this reproach, along the lines suggested.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

HID IN ONTARIO WOODS.

Broker of Newark, N. J., Returns to Face His Creditors.

Edward F. Duffy, a broker of Newark, N. J., who has just returned to his home after having disappeared late in July, leaving obligations said to amount to about $100,000, and having now concluded, as he says, to "face the music," has invited his creditors to meet him. The conference will be to devise ways and means to straighten out his affairs.

"I lost every cent I had in cotton," he said. "I speculated in it with my own money and for some of my customers, and at the beginning made considerable money. Then I and they plunged as heavily as we could, in the hope of making a fortune. I was caught and so were they when the bottom fell out of the cotton boom. Then I realized that I had been entirely swept off my feet, and besides losing my own savings, which were more than $30,000, was piled up with debts that I could not meet. I lost my head and foolishly went away. I realise now that if I had conferred with my friends and customers I would have been helped into a position to go on without any exposure of my affairs.

"From New York I took a train for Toronto, and thence to Muskoka Lake, a great fishing and hunting resort. There I made friends with Indian guides, who posted me on the haunts of game, and I became a guide for wealthy men, who visited the lake and the neighboring forests. While the season was at its height I cleared as much as $40 a week.

"At the lake I met United States Judge McComas of Washington. He seemed to take a fancy to me, and, though I did not tell him the true story why I was thus engaged, he advanced to me some money. I heard indirectly from Newark that things looked black, so I returned to Toronto. There I made use of my union telegrapher's card, and the union of that city provided me with transportation to Mexico City, where I hoped to get into the brokerage and banking business. I soon learned that the field there was not a promising one, and, after hearing again from Newark, I decided to return and help to straighten out matters instead of trying to get on my feet elsewhere.

"I had only about $30 when I went away. I have no money, but I can explain several transactions which now seem greatly involved, and can greatly aid in settling matters. I have learned a lesson that I will never forget. All I want is a chance and a year's time, and I'll make good every dollar I owe. There are some accounts due to me, and as soon as they are collected and my personal property is turned into cash, I will have $15,000 or more with which to begin liquidation of the claims against me."

Duffy declined to discuss the suits against J. S. Bache and Co., of New York, whose Newark manager he was at the time of his disappearance, for the recovery of about $60,000, on the ground that those matters are now in the courts. He declared that his accounts with Bache and Co. were absolutely straight. In this he has been corroborated by representatives of the firm.

Duffy left Mexico on Sept. 9, and went to Buffalo. He became ill there, but recovered, and on Sept. 21 sent for his wife and returned to Newark with her.

Belleville, Nov. 3.—Albert Sharp of Frankford was brought to the hospital here Tuesday night, having had his leg smashed by a falling tree while working for the Rathbun Co. near Marlbank. The leg was amputated yesterday.

50c AND $1.00 A BOTTLE AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Invented by Dickens.

The fire alarm box with the glass front which may be quickly put into operation, but which may not be tampered with until the glass front is broken, was suggested by Charles Dickens though few have ever heard of him in this connection.

His own idea was not the application of a glass door to a fire alarm system, but was used by him in a cabinet for the keys to his office, so that they might be quickly secured in case of fire, though it was impossible to obtain the keys from the locked cabinet without leaving evidence in the shape of a broken glass.

The value of the idea was grasped by a more practical mind in search of an alarm which might be easily operated, and the glass fronted box, now used almost the world over, is the result of the great author's fear that a fire might threaten his manuscript at a time when he should be away from home.

TORTURING NEURALGIA

Suffered for Ten Years, Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Neuralgia is the king of torturers. A tingling of the tender skin, a sharp sudden stab from some angry nerve; them piercing paroxysms of pain—that's neuralgia. The cause of the trouble is disordered nerves due to thin watery blood. The cure is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which make new, rich red blood, and thus soothe and strengthen the disordered nerves and cure neuralgia. Among the thousands who have proven that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure neuralgia is Mrs. R. C. Johnson, of Simpson's Corner, N.S. Mrs. Johnson says:—"For upwards of ten years I was a sufferer from the awful pains of neuralgia. Over-exertion or the least exposure to a cold wave would set me nearly wild with torture. I doctored with two physicians, but they did not cure me. I then tried several advertised medicines, but found no benefit. The trouble continued at intervals that made life miserable, until six or eight months ago when a relation of mine brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and urged me to try them. I used this box and then got a half dozen more, and by the time I had used them all trace of the trouble had disappeared, and as I have not since had the slightest attack I feel safe in saying that the cure is permanent." Mrs. Johnston is one of the best known ladies in the section in which she resides, and is a prominent worker in the Congregational church. Naturally her family and friends are rejoicing over her cure, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many warm friends in that section as a result of their good work."

It is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, pure, warm blood that they have such great power to cure disease. They positively cure rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis, kidney and liver troubles, anaemia, and the ailments from which women alone suffer. The purchaser must be careful to see that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is printed on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Explained.

A cantankerous old gentleman not long ago advertised for a coachman, who was required, among other qualifications, to possess an intimate acquaintance with the neighborhood; but, to his surprise, he received not a single application for the post.

"I cannot understand it at all," he said, as during a chat one day with an ostler at the local livery stables he had mentioned the fact.

"Let me see," said the latter; "ye hadvertised, I believe, for one as 'must be well acquainted with the neighborhood,' didn't ye?"

"I did," replied the old gentleman shortly. "I want some one who knows his way about."

"Ah! that explains it," was the answer. "Ye see, them as knows the neighborhood 'ud know you too!"—Glasgow Times.

500,000,000 YEARS.

Age of the World as Stated by Prof. Darwin in the Heart of the Dark Continent.

Prof. George Howard Darwin, second son of the late Prof. Darwin and professor of Astronomy and Experimental Philosophy at Cambridge, England, addressed the British Association at the meeting recently held at Johannesburg, South Africa, on the subject of celestial evolution.

Prof. Darwin said the German astronomer Bode long ago propounded a simple empirical law concerning the distance at which the several planets move about the sun, and his formula embraced so large a number of cases with accuracy that they were compelled to believe it arose in some manner from the primitive conditions of the planetary system.

There were certain perpetual orbits in which a meteoric stone or minor planet might move forever without collision, but when such an immortal career had been discovered for our minor plant it still remained to discover whether the slightest possible departure from the prescribed orbit could become greater and greater and ultimately lead to a collision with the sun or Jupiter, or whether the body could travel so as to cross and recross the exact perpetual orbit, always remaining close to it.

If the slightest departure inevitably increased as time went on the orbit was unstable; if, on the other hand, it led to only a slight waviness in the path described it was stable. They thus arrived at another distinction. There were perpetual orbits, but some, and indeed most, were unstable, and these did not offer an immortal career for a meteoric stone; and there were other perpetual orbits which were stable or persistent.

If a complete solution for our solar system were attainable we should find, said the professor, that the orbits of the existing planets and satellities were numbered among the stable perpetual orbits.

After discussing in some detail the nebular hypothesis, Prof. Darwin sketched the evolution of a rotating liquid planet like the earth, which was the first stable species of our family, and dealt with the influences of tidal oscillations. In the retrospect both day and month were found continuously shortening. The system might be traced back to a time when the day and month were identical in length, and were both only about four or five of our present hours.

The identity of the day and month meant that the moon was always opposite to the same side of the earth; thus at the beginning the earth always presented the same face to the moon, just as the moon now always shows the same face to us.

Moreover, when the month was only some four or five of our present hours in length, the moon must have been only a few thousand miles from the earth's surface — a great contrast with the present distance of 240,000 miles.

Prof. Darwin said that if at every moment since the birth of the moon tidal friction had always been at work in such a way as to produce the greatest possible effect, we should find that sixty million years would be consumed in this portion of evolutionary history. The true period must be much greater, and it did not seem unreasonable to suppose that 500 to 1,000 million years might have elapsed since the birth of the moon.

Dealing with the different estimates of the physicists and the geologists, Prof. Darwin said that from a calculation of the sun's total output of heat it seemed to be imperatively necessary that the whole history of the solar system should be comprised within some twenty millions of years.

Now we know, he said, that the earth contains radioactive materials, and it was safe to assume that it forms in some degree a sample of the materials of the solar system; hence it was almost certain that the sun is radioactive also.

Names in Ireland.

The Cornish names in Ireland are few and far between, but evidence of an extensive Welsh immigration is forthcoming in the fact that at the present day the name Welsh — pronounced Welsh—is to be met with in nearly every county in Ireland. The curious settlement of Welsh colonists in the baronies of Forth and Bargy, in County Wexford, who maintained their ancient manners, customs and language for some 400 years, no longer deserves the title of a "peculiar people," given to them by S. C. Hall in 1841, the Forth dialect having practically died out, though many of the old family names—Codd, Sinott, Rossiter and Walsh—are still very common in the neighborhood.

The Huguenots were granted letters of naturalization in 1674 and founded colonies in Dublin Kilkenny, Portarlington, Waterford, Cork and Lisburn. Many prominent, distinguished Irishmen have borne and still bear Huguenot names, among whom mention may be made of the La Touches, Trenches, La Fevres, Lefroys and Lefanus, of the last of whom one may say, in the best sense, that they are Hibernis ipsis Hibernliores.—London Spectator.

His Fears Realized.

After acquiring a considerable amount of money in the United States a young Manchester man returned home and decided to give his old father a treat by taking him to London to see the sights. It was a great event for the father, who had never been in a train before, and he commenced the journey with trepidation and many outspoken anticipations of dire events to follow. All went well until the train suddenly dashed into a tunnel. Bang went the old man's fist on his son's nose as he cried: "I told you something would happen, you young villain! I'm struck blind!"—London Mail.

Three South African Heroes.

At a drum-head service in which Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, took part, Vancouver, B. C., has just seen the unveiling of a tablet to the Vancouver heroes who laid down their lives in the Boer war. The three South African campaigners whose memory is thus honored were Private W. Jackson, Private W. F. Whitely and Trooper F. C. Mackintosh. Jackson and Whitely served in the Second Royal Canadian Regiment, and Mackintosh in the Strathcona Horse. All belonged to the 6th Regiment, Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles, of Vancouver. Sir Frederick was especially moved by the service, for he lost his only son in South Africa. Jackson and Whitely were in the vanguard when Cronje was run to earth, while Mackintosh died of enteric fever at Bloemfontein.

To Home and Country shouts we raise!
For Home and Land to Heaven we cry!
In Home and Country let us live—
For Home and Land we stand to die!

This Land us bred; these Hills are ours;
These Mighty Floods that seaward roll—
We know no masters but ourselves—
We know no bounds this side the pole!

God gave to us these Reaching Woods;
The Spreading Lakes we sail upon;
We hold them for our children's right—
And who is he intrudes thereon?

And we shall till the Rolling Plains
That reach into the setting sun;
'Tis our Dominion to extend
To coasts that lave the Great Ocean.

To Home and Country shouts we raise!

RIFLE SHOTS AT BISLEY.

Men Who Are Shooting and What They Are Shooting For.

For the forty-sixth time the National Rifle Association is holding its annual meeting. Bisley is the camping place of the riflemen of many countries. On the 16th July they entered on the competitions. The meeting is again international in character by the inclusion of marksmen from the United States and several from the continent.

The Imperial contingents include New Zealand, under the captaincy of Major Hughes; Southern Rhodesia, under Capt. Hope Carson; Canada, under Lieut.-Col. Hesselin; Transvaal, under Lieut.-Col. Collard; and India, under Capt. Fergusson-Davie, the King's silver medallist of last year. The New Zealanders and some of the Indians are already practising at Bisley, and the competition for the Kolapore Cup, for which Empire teams compete, will be a specially keen one this year.

Col. Horace Ricardo, of the Guards, will be camp commandant, and the working parties and markers were furnished from the Eastern Command, chiefly by the Buffs.

The number of entries reaches about 45,000; 2,000 targets are used, and provision was made for the expenditure of half a million rounds of ammunition.

The new short rifle was introduced for the first time into the competitions, but only by those whose corps are equipped solely with the new arm. In any case there will be some comparisons provided in the relative shooting values of the present and the new rifles, and as these results will be made by individuals shooting for their own credit in serious competition, the figures will be very interesting. Most of the members of the Small Arms Committee will be on the ground.

The new competitions include "The Standard" Cup, the Bisley, Conan Doyle, Straker, Stickledown, and the sub-target gun contests. The features of these new events are as under:—

"Standard" Cup—Civilian rifle club teams, service rifle, vanishing target.

Bisley—Members of rifle clubs.

Conan Doyle—Members of rifle clubs.

Stickledown—All-comers, 1,000 yards.

Straker—Advancing revolver target.

Sub-target Gun—Special firing.

An important alteration will be the declaration of a champion of the meeting, apart from the King's Prize. Through the instrumentality of Mr. A. P. Humphrey, of the Small Arms Committee, there will this year be an all-ranges aggregate, which will embrace short and long range aggregates and that for rapid firing.

To win this championship the successful marksman must in the various events prove his skill at 200, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, and at disappearing targets and the running man. This will be a very severe test, in which the marksman who shoots well under all conditions of firing will come to the top.

For the King's Prize competitors have entered from India, South Africa, North America, British Isles, Channel Isles, Uganda, Australia, New Zealand, and the West Indies.

The Only Way.

How shall you win a woman's heart?
I'll tell you in a minute.
The learned doctors all agree
The way is just to win it.

To Get Misfits.

Private C. T. Mayne, who served through the Boer campaign with the Imperial Volunteers, has this to say of "Kelpion":

"The pot of Kelpion issued to our V. I. C. Kit was one of the few things we took from Cape Town to the front with us.

"It was very useful indeed; one of the finest and quickest remedies for cuts, sprains, skin diseases, wounds and bruises.

"I was Kelpion surprised every one who used it, for it cured foot sores, and is enough to commend a large sale in South Africa if advertised for that reason.

"I have heard praises from all C.I.V's and Regulars who used it, and I guarantee every C.I.V. will recommend it."

Five Thousand Persons Were Killed or Hurt

Barbarous Massacres in the Streets of Odessa.

TROOPS' AWFUL VENGEANCE

Jewish Women and Children Strangled and Hacked to Pieces—Fighting at Warsaw—A Terrible Picture of Russian Riots—Criticism of the Constitutional Decree Which Leaves Czar in Power.

London, Nov. 3.—A despatch to a news agent from Odessa says that martial law was declared there yesterday afternoon.

Casualties 5,000.

The casualties Wednesday, according to The Standard's correspondent, are believed to have amounted to 5,000 killed and wounded. In the Jewish quarters bodies still strew the streets and sidewalks. Jewish women and children are strangled and hacked to pieces in the streets where the mobs gained the upper hand.

The troops wrecked terrible vengeance on the residents of three houses from the balconies of which shots were fired by unknown persons upon the soldiers. They immediately stormed the houses and with unheard of barbarity massacred all the inhabitants.

The massacre of Jews continues.

Fighting in Warsaw.

Warsaw, Nov. 3.—It now appears that thirty persons were killed and over a hundred were wounded during conflicts here Wednesday night. There was fighting during the course of yesterday at several points, the infantry firing on the cavalry charging the crowds. Three persons were killed and forty-two wounded. Swords and the butts of rifles were freely employed in the dispersal of demonstrators.

CZAR FINAL AUTHORITY.

New Constitution Leaves the Emperor Still in Control.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3.—The Imperial decree creating the Cabinet Minister under the Imperial manifesto granting a constitution to Russia, was gazetted yesterday morning and has already aroused criticism as the machinery is extremely complicated and smacks of the old fashioned bureaucratic regime.

While the Cabinet has no authority to decide matters within the competency of the legislative bodies no measure of "general importance" can be introduced into the chambers without the sanction of the Cabinet. Another provision requires that when the Cabinet is unanimous the premier must go to the Emperor and receive instructions. This would seem to make the final authority go back to his Majesty. Moreover, all questions affecting the imperial court and domains, the army and navy and foreign affairs are specifically excluded from the competency of the Cabinet without direct imperial authority.

Premier Responsible.

Nothing is said in the decree about the Premier of Ministers being responsible to the national Assembly or responding to interpellations, but care is taken to consolidate the power in the hands of the Premier, or as is termed, president of the Cabinet, and especially to prevent an individual Minister from going to the Emperor with a report without previously submitting it to the Premier. Should the latter not approve of the report he has the privilege of being present when the Minister presents it to his Majesty and stating his objections. This provision is designed to put an end to the practice of one Minister undermining another, which has been one of the most vicious features of the old regime and the cause of untold confusion.

A Terrible Picture.

At Rostoff-on-Don, the whole town is in the hands of rioters who are plundering by wholesale. Firing is frequent in the streets. Fifteen persons have been killed and many injured. At Minsk, doctors of the Jewish Hospital worked all night on the wounded brought in from the railroad station, where the troops fired volleys at the demonstrators. Funerals are of half-hourly occurrence, the bodies being conveyed in wagons. Already fifty-four persons have been interred in the Jewish Cemetery. At Kieff, during the demonstrations within the municipality, five persons were killed and forty-five injured, six of them seriously. At Orel, anti-Jewish riots have broken out and many people killed or injured. At Tashkend, Russian Turkistan, peaceful celebrations of the issuing of the imperial manifesto granting Russia a constitution, were dispersed by troops yesterday. Cossacks and soldiers fired three volleys. At Radom, the anti-government demonstrations ended in widespread rioting. A mob burned Government property, barricaded the streets and threw bombs at the troops. There were many victims. At Sebastopol six persons were killed and sixty were wounded. The Black Sea squadron Vice-Admiral Birileff's pennant flying, arrived there from the Turkish coast.

Prospects Brighter.

The prospects of the country quieting down, for the present at least, are much brighter to-day. While the revolutionary spirit is abroad, the maddest of the reds seem to realize that they have reached the end of their tether, and they are afraid to push matters to the point of failure. The leaders of the railroad men have not yet formally surrendered, but trains are already running on the Moscow and other lines, and the backbone of the strike seems to be broken.

The council of the workmen's delegates decided to suspend the political strike at noon to-day, but on the condition that it be resumed if their demands were not granted.

The railroad-men's unions, however, have decided to continue the strike.

TARIFF REVISION.

Will Be Taken Up At Next Session of Parliament.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance stated last night that the report that a revision of the tariff would not take place at next session of Parliament was without the slightest formation. The Tariff Commission will hold sittings next in Montreal.

More Terrible Than War!

More terrible than war, famine or pestilence is that awful destroyer, that hydra-headed monster, Consumption, that annually sweeps away more of earth's inhabitants than any other single disease known to the human race.

"It is only a cold; a trifling cough," say the careless, as the irritation upon the delicate mucous membrane causes them to hack away with an irritable tickling of the throat. When the irritation settles on the mucous surface of the throat, a cough is the result. To prevent Bronchitis or Consumption of the Lungs, do not neglect a cough however slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages soon leads to fatal results. If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the life-giving properties of the pine trees of Norway, and for Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Throat and Lung affections it is a specific. Be sure when you ask for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to get it. Don't be humbugged into taking something else. Price 25 cts.

Miss Lena Johnston, Toledo, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for throat troubles after taking numerous other remedies, and I must say that nothing can take the place of it. I would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Toronto Jury Finds That De Marco Killed John Hoban.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—After deliberating for four hours, the jury in the Criminal Assizes last evening brought in a verdict, finding Charles De Marco guilty of murdering John Hoban. The affair occurred at Edward and Chestnut streets on Sept. 4, when Hoban was stabbed in the stomach. He died three days later.

The verdict caused some suprise, and J. M. Godfrey, prisoner's counsel, announced his intention of appealing the case on four different grounds. The main objection, which is one submitted by him at the conclusion of Crown Prosecutor DuVernet's case, is that there was not sufficient evidence for Justice MacMahon to allow the case to the jury.

The evidence is the same as presented at the coroner's investigation. The evidence was purely circumstantial.

Passing Raised Bills.

Kingston, Nov. 3.—Another case of passing raised money was reported yesterday. At Haffner's grocery, an Italian gave an American $2 note which had been raised to $10. He got away. Last week the same party worked off a similar bill in a second-hand store.

Fired Twice at Pullman Porter.

Brandon, Nov. 3.—W. Lapraik, a well-known bookmaker and follower of the western turf, had an altercation with the porter on a Pullman car at the C. P. R. depot, and suddenly drew a revolver. The porter closed with him and Lapraik fired twice at him, but without injuring him. The negro then overpowered him and took his weapon. The police interfered at this juncture and arrested Lapraik. It is believed he was irresponsible, owing to drink and domestic trouble.

Typhoid in the Water.

The recent investigation of Peterborough's drinking water by the health authorities of Toronto shows that we are not entirely free from the danger of Typhoid. To avoid all danger some good mineral water should be used, such as Sanitaria Water. The cost will be small and in addition to absolute protection from a disease of this kind, it is also beneficial to the general health.

In a sermon on "Tainters and Tainted Money," in Sinai Temple, Chicago, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch took the position that, while it is the duty of a multi-millionaire to endow churches, hospitals and schools, it is immoral to praise him for his gifts. Such gifts, said he, are acts of restitution.

Baron Rauschoishausen, a young German whose advances had been repelled by Gertie Millar, an actress of the Gaiety Theatre, forced an entrance int the flat in Russell Square, London, where Miss Millar and her husband, Lionel Monckton, live, and shot himself.

Help for the Kidneys Through Gin Pills.

A GUARANTEED CURE.

Read this letter. Read it twice. You have never heard such good news before—if your kidneys are sick. It tells how to be free of pain—how to have all your old-time health and vigor.

"I have been for years a sufferer with pain in the back and across the kidneys. There was scarcely a minute, day or night, that I was free of pain, and when I attempted to pass urine, the pain was almost unbearable. A friend of mine in Portage la Prairie, who was similarly afflicted, strongly advised me to try Gin Pills, as they had cured him. I bought a box of Gin Pills, and in less than a week, to my great delight, found myself without pain. I have had to go as often as every 20 minutes to urinate and several times during the night. Since taking Gin Pills, I sleep through the entire night and am not more than ordinarily inconvenienced during the day. I can earnestly recommend Gin Pills to anyone suffering from pain in the back, kidneys or bladder."

Mr. G. O. C. GOWLER, Portage la Prairie.

Your druggist has Gin Pills, or will get them for you. 50c box—6 for $2.50.

If you will send us your name and address and tell us the paper in which you have read this we send you a trial box of Gin Pills absolutely free. You will get such relief that you will gladly continue the treatment until cured. Do it to-day—now—and start to cure yourself.

OPENS CAMPAIGN.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth Would Amend Pension Grant and Follow Sir Wm. Mulock's Policy.

Newmarket, Nov. 3.—A promise to use his influence to secure an amendment to the clause of the indemnity bill granting pensions to ex-Ministers, and a general declaration that he would follow the policy laid down by Sir William Mulock, marked the great speech of Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, who yesterday opened his campaign in Newmarket.

The reception to the new Postmaster-General following in the footsteps of so distinguished a predecessor was most cordial, and the manner in which he met the people and made his answer to his swash-buckling critics was so gratifying as to win frequent cheers from a rural audience. His clear, logical utterances, flowing in simple eloquence in an uninterrupted stream, captured and held his hearers from the moment of his rising, and when the meeting closed there was a burst of cheers which showed how he had won their hearts.

Mr. Aylesworth's speech was one of unaffected, candid sincerity, and as he met the more malignant criticisms and one after another demolished them the sympathy of the audience warmed to him and he made friends of the scores who before had only known him by his national reputation. The campaign has now opened with every promise of success.

Mr. Aylesworth is in the riding to work to the end, and there is every outward indication of a large majority in his favor.

CHINA INFLUENCED BY JAPAN.

Seeks New Constitution to Include Best That Is.

New York, Nov. 3.—Yu Chuan Chang, a member of the Chinese commission which is to draft a constitution for the Chinese Empire, arrived here yesterday from Hamburg. He is a secretary of the branch of this commission, which will study the constitution of the United States. Other sections will investigate simultaneously the constitutions of foreign countries. Yu Chaun Chang said yesterday:

"When these special ambassadors have finished their work and submitted the draft of the constitution for China to the Emperor, China will step out of the ranks of absolute monarchies and enter that of constitutional empires.

"The Chinese constitution will embrace all of the best features of the constitutions of Great Britain, America, Japan, France, Germany and Austria. The travels of the special embassy will be ended in about eight months, after which the envoys will draw up a constitution."

Mr. Chang added that this departure from ancient usages was due to the gradual spread of Japanese influence over the Empire since the recent war. He said that Japan had urged China to modernise her laws and government, and thus form a strong alliance of the yellow races in the Far East.

It was evident death was caused by exposure and not drowning.

A PLEA FOR MONARCHY.

Proclamation Issued to Norwegians—In Their Best Interests.

Christiania, Nov. 3.—The Government yesterday issued a proclamation recommending the people to vote at the forthcoming referendum for a monarchial form of government, based on the British and Italian constitutions.

The proclamation further points out that the best friends of Norway in Europe declare that the country's relations with the foreign powers can be the better secured by the retention of the monarchy.

The Radicals and Socialists also issued a proclamation recommending a republic.

Another proclamation was issued by 150 prominent Liberals, asking the people under the circumstances to support the proposition of the Government.

OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD

"Royal Household" is in a class by itself.

Flour that gives half nourishment and double work to digest is not good flour.

Cheap and inferior flour gives the digestive organs double work and half pay—inferior flours contain indigestible waste—

—this waste must first be overcome by nature,—that means extra digestive work.

Indigestibles destroy the nutriment of flour, therefore poor flour gives more work and less nutriment to the system.

Royal Household Flour is in a class by itself—it is the only really pure flour—and it is pure because it is purified and sterilized by electricity. —it is the most easily digested and most nourishing because it is absolutely pure.

The moment a woman puts her hands into "Royal Household" she knows it is a finer flour than she ever used before.

RESCUED FROM THE DEADLY CLUTCHES

One More Cure of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Theodore Young, of Smith's Falls, was Beyond the Doctor's Aid—He's Well and Strong.

Smith's Falls, Ont., Nov. 3.—Special.—Mr. Theodore Young, a well known citizen of this place, is one of the many Canadians who have been rescued from the clutches of the much dreaded Bright's Disease, by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For two years," says Mr. Young, in relating his experience, "I was afflicted with Bright's Disease. The doctors told me I could get no relief. My urine was very dark and I lost considerable blood, making me so weak I could scarcely stand. I also used many medicines without getting relief.

"Hearing of the wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills led me to try them, and after using the first box I found great relief. After using four boxes I was able to go to work, which I had been unable to do for some time. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who are afflicted as I was."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Bright's Disease, the most advanced stage of Kidney Disease. How much more easily will they cure the earlier stages of Kidney Disease.

Young's Point, Nov. 1.—The hill known as Blewitt's Hill, in the suburbs of the Point, was graded last week. This was always a bad piece of road in the spring freshet, therefore required fixing.

Messrs. W. Young and Jas. Reid have opened up a butcher shop here, which is a great convenience to the villagers. They do the slaughtering at Mr. Young's farm and have a large refrigerator at Mr. Ed. Young's store.

Mr. A. Wilson, proprietor of the cheese factory is still making cheese, but expects to finish in the course of a week.

Quite a number of hunters passed through here on Monday, and as early as four a.m. one could hear the hounds giving tongue.

The tug "Lakefield", formerly the "Alert," was burned at Deer Bay on Sunday. The "Lakefield" was the property of Messrs. Grey & Morin, of Lakefield. The boat was anubbed to the shore and while the crew were taking a stroll through the woods, fire originated from the boiler.

Mrs. Ed. Young went to Toronto for Thanksgiving.

Miss Mary McCauley was in Toronto last week.

The largest library in the world is that of Paris. It contains upwards of 2,000,000 printed books and 160,000 manuscripts. The British Museum contains about 1,500,000 volumes, and the imperial library of St. Petersburg about the same number.

Latest Happenings in That Live Village.

Special to The Examiner.

Omemee, October 31.—Fall plowing is in progress; the root and fruit crops have been well attended to.

There has not been much grain delivered as yet.

Mr. Beatty, proprietor of the Commercial House, Dr. Cameron and Rev. Mr. Teeuey are off on a deer hunting expedition.

All kinds of game and fishing have been poor this season.

The Presbyterian re-opening and anniversary services on Sunday last were largely attended and were of an appropriate character. The sermons by Rev. R. P. MacKay, were excellent, as was also the music rendered by the choir — selections from Vogt — which was assisted by Mr. Flwheller, of Toronto, a leading tenor, and Mrs. Weir, soprano soloist. The collections were good.

The Monday evening pictures and picture gallery, by Rev. Dr. MacKay, was surely an evening with the great masters of art and, both in pictures and music.

Dr. Osler Says He Didn't Say It

Prof. Osler, the other day, gave his first lecture in a London hospital since his appointment as regius professor of medicine at Oxford. The address was to the Pupils' Physical Society of Guy's Hospital, upon the works of Sir Thomas Browne, the famous medical writer of the seventeenth century.

In "De Religo Medici," which Sir Thomas wrote before he was thirty, he held the view that the pace of life slackened after the age of thirty and that those who failed to reach that age should not complain of immaturity.

"Rather a harsh thought, added Dr. Osler, "to one who thinks that work should stop at ——"

The laughter of the students drowned the rest. They understood the reference.

Later, referring to the assertion attributed to him a year ago by the American press that men who had reached the age of sixty should be lurried to a painless end, the doctor smiled.

"I am too near that age myself to make any such statement."

Dr. Osler will be sixty in 1909.

Bolters and Chewers.

By dividing the world into "bolters" and "chewers," Professor Osler has, says the London Globe, certainly made a good deal clearer that distinction between "somophagists" and "poltophagists," which is exciting the dietetic philosophers so much just now. To transform the "bolter" into the "chewer" ought, according to many, to be the chief aim of medical science, and we are assured that if the world only all became "chewers," half the ills of humanity would vanish as if by magic. The enthusiasts have certainly some reason on their side when they quote the example of the late Mr. Gladstone, who himself believed that his own marvellous health was largely due to his practice of chewing each morsel of food at least thirty times.

Panful, Fatal Kdney Disease

CALLS FOR IMMEDIATE AND ACTIVE TREATMENT WITH

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Kidney disease — marked by backache, pains in the limbs, scanty, dark coloured urine, puffiness about the eyes, dropical swelling and gradual loss of flesh, is always to be dreaded both on account of the suffering it entails and because of its fatality.

The kidneys and liver share alike the responsibility of filtering poisons from the blood and it is therefore necessary to regulate both these organs in order to effect a cure of kidney disease.

This fact accounts for the extraordinary success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which is the only treatment obtainable having a direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys.

For years evidence has been piling up which goes to prove that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have positively cured obstinate and complicated cases of kidney disease which defied physicians and ordinary kidney medicines.

Nor is this to be wondered at when it is remembered that Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are the result of the long and varied experience of the great American physician and author, Dr. A. W. Chase.

Mr. W. Shilson, cooper, with the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states: "I have been cured of backache and kidney disease by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In my occupation there is a great deal of leaning over, and this must have strained my back and kidneys. "I always keep some of these Pills in the house and use them whenever feeling out of sorts. I do not have any more trouble with my back or kidneys, and give all credit for the change to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Kidney Disease is not to be neglected. It is far too serious to be allowed to develop. You can profit by the experience of thousands of your fellow citizens, and obtain prompt relief as well as thorough and lasting cure by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Was a Great University Reformer

AS SUCH DR. GOLDWIN SMITH WON SPURS 55 YEARS AGO.

Distinguished Member of the Ontario Royal Commission on the Provincial University Management Was a Member of the British Royal Commission Which Did Much For Oxford University and Its Colleges.

In 1850 Mr. Heywood, the Radical member for North Lancashire, introduced into the House of Commons a resolution calling for a Royal Commission to enquire into the discipline, state, and revenues of Oxford University and its colleges, and to report whether any action by the Crown or Parliament would further promote the interests of religion and learning in the colleges. Lord John Russell, the Prime Minister, did not support the resolution, but shortly afterwards surprised the House by announcing that such a Royal Commission would be issued. Mr. Gladstone, yet Conservative as a politician and a churchman, rose in his place and denounced the proposal, maintaining that the commission would probably be against the law and that it certainly would be odious in the eyes of the Constitution. By the heads of colleges the idea of a commission was condemned in intemperate language, and it was opposed by many distinguished graduates, who, while admitting reform to be necessary, held that it should come from within. Among the most prominent of those holding to that view was Mr. Roundell Palmer, the late Lord Selborne, whose son and successor is now High Commissioner in South Africa. Opposition headed by men like Gladstone and Palmer seemed to daunt Lord John Russell. At all events, he hesitated to have the commission issued. At this critical moment there appeared in The London Times a series of brilliant letters signed "Oxoniensis." They put the case very strongly for a commission, and, in the opinion of the biographers of Archbishop Tait, their influence did much to end the Premier's wavering. The writer of the letters was Mr. Goldwin Smith.

A University Reformer.

The commission was issued, the following being appointed to it: Dr. Hinds, Bishop of Norwich; Dean Tait, of Carlisle, afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury; Dr. Jeune, master of Pembroke; Rev. H. G. Liddell, head master of Westminster; Prof. Baden-Powell, John S. Dampier, Rev. G. W. S. Johnson, afterwards Dean of Wells; Rev. Arthur P. Stanley, afterwards Dean of Westminster, and Goldwin Smith. The two last named were the secretaries of the commission. In his "Memorials" Lord Selborne names Tait, Jeune, Johnson, Liddell, Stanley and Goldwin Smith as the ablest members of it, and remarks that the commissioners "were singularly happy in their secretaries." Mr. Goldwin Smith's friends knew his views on the subject before he stated them in his letters to The Times. Writing to Roundell Palmer in September, 1848, he asked: "Do not facts show you are rather sanguine in your expectation of internal reform? * * You see I am rather rouge, as I always have been, about reform at Oxford. But I am not likely to have anything to do with the matter, and if I have, I shall be discreet." In another letter to the same correspondent he said in 1850: "As to the clerical order, to hate them would be to hate men whom I regard as the guides of my life. But their exclusive ascendency here is, and is felt by some of the best of themselves to be, an evil both to the university and to themselves."

The Report.

The first meeting of the commissioners was held in the house of the Prime Minister in Downing Street on October 19, 1850, almost exactly 55 years ago. The defeat of Lord John Russell's Government in 1852 and the accession of Lord Derby to office were expected to be followed by the withdrawal of the commission. To Dr. Hinds is given the credit of saving the situation. "Without the Bishop's skilful diplomacy," wrote Dr. Tait, "I doubt whether Lord Derby would not have put us off, and then, in the interval, have been got hold of by the Oxford people and persuaded to refuse." The report was concluded and published in 1852. In their "Life of Archbishop Tait" Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson, now Archbishop of Canterbury, and Dr. William Benham tell us that "the interest aroused by its publication was immense, and voluminous as it was, the first edition was sold out in a few days." They pronounce it as "perhaps from a literary point of view the most remarkable document of our time." Its literary form and much of its substance are the work of the two accomplished men who acted as secretaries. Embedded in the report is an elaborate paper by Mr. Goldwin Smith on "The History of the Colleges and Halls of Oxford."

Oxford and Her Colleges.

In the preparation of that paper its author no doubt collected much of the material used more than forty years afterwards in his charming and instructive little book, "Oxford and Her Colleges." In that volume he makes the following reference to the work of the commission:

"The really academical element in the university invoked the aid of the national Government and Legislature. A Royal Commission of Enquiry into the state of the university and colleges was appointed, and though some colleges closed their muniment rooms, and enquiry was obstructed, enough was revealed in the report to justify legislative reform and emancipation. An Act of Parliament was passed which set free the university and colleges alike from their mediaeval statutes, restored the university professoriate, opened the fellowships to merit, and relaxed the religious tests. The curriculum, the examination system, and the honor list were liberalized, and once more, as in early times, all the great departments of knowledge were recognised and domiciled in the university. Science, long an exile, was welcomed back to her home at the moment when a great extension of the Empire was at hand. Strictly professional studies, such as practical law and medicine, could not be recalled from their professional seats. Elections to fellowships by merit replaced election by local or school preferences, by kinship, or by the still more objectionable influences which at one time had not been unfelt. Colleges which had declined the duty of education, which had been dedicated to sinecurism and indolence, and whose quadrangles had stood empty, were filled with students, and once more presented a spectacle which would have gladdened the heart of the founder."

Reception.

Mr. Gladstone, who in Opposition had looked upon the commission as odious and probably unconstitutional in 1850, seemed to have become reconciled to it when in office in 1853. He was then Chancellor of the Exchequer, but as member for Oxford the duty of framing the bill founded on the recommendations of the commissioners fell to him. That measure left little further to be done in the work of modernising, liberalising and popularising Oxford. In the shaping of this legislation help was given by Dr. Jowett, Prof. Jowett, and Mr. Goldwin Smith, and Mr. Gladstone made due acknowledgments of his obligations to these men. He pronounced the report one of the ablest performances of a Royal Commission of which he had any recollection. In the "Life of Gladstone" Mr. John Morley calls it "one of the high landmarks in the history of our modern English life and growth."

Of the great men who took part in this work 55 years ago Mr. Goldwin Smith is the only one now alive, and it is the good fortune of Ontario to have him on the Royal Commission which is to enquire into and report upon the affairs of the Provincial University.

HELP AND HELPERS

There is one class of help, so called, which is really a hinderance. This unsatisfactory assistance may be incompetent, tardy, unwilling, slothful, unpatriotic, arrogant, extravagant, or be guilty of one or more of those offenses which render service disagreeable. Have you tried the help furnished through The Examiner's classified advertisements? You will find the people who answer The Examiner's advertisements competent, punctual, willing, active, patriotic, modest, economical and well-equipped to render the service required. Try an Examiner classified advertisement if you are dissatisfied in any way with your help.

Reverie of a Mosquito.

"It's a hard row I have to hoe," said the mosquito, "and for growling, this human race is the wonder of the universe! I've got to live, as well as the rest of 'em; but if I approach a victim, and sing ere I sting, he growls, and swears he wouldn't mind it so much if I didn't sing; then, if I steal upon him silently, he complains that he was hit without warning! And then, when the doctors can't discover a fever germ, they swear I'm at the bottom of the whole business, and have my picture taken, and write books about me, and make national reputations at my expense! But it's all right, I guess; and I reckon I'll pull through; I'm really an aristocrat in disguise, and good blood flows in my veins—in fact, the best in the country!"

Stealing Labor.

There is a good deal of common-sense in the suggestion of the Crown Attorney of Toronto, that employers who accept the labor of employes and then neglect or refuse to pay are really guilty of theft, says The Brockville Recorder. If an individual takes another's money or goods, he is a thief, and goes to prison. The toiler's labor is his capital, and he or she who takes that and then refuses to pay for it, is guilty of the theft of the only marketable commodity the toiler has—his labor.

Bass at Long Point.

The Ontario Government is carrying on experiments at Long Point Bay, South Norfolk, to secure parent bass for restocking purposes. Mr. A. C. Pratt, M. P. P. for South Norfolk, had a conference with the Premier the other day about the matter, and stated that the experiments were proving successful. A special kind of bait is used, which prevents any injury to the bass when taken. It is said that the waters in this region are simply swarming with bass, ranging in length up to 22 inches. The Government will likely commence fishing operations on a large scale, as numerous waters, formerly famous for bass fishing, are becoming depleted.

PAPA GAVE IT UP.

A "Home Work" Problem That Completely Floored Paterfamilias.

The fireside of a well-known citizen was thrown into an intellectual commotion the other evening, and the cause of it all was the perplexity into which a young miss of the household was plunged while preparing her home work for the next day at school, where, by the way, home work and every other kind of lesson work, should be attended to, says The St. Catharines Star. The girl gave it up, and finally appealed to papa, who has been muttering to himself ever since in an effort to settle the problem that was the cause of all the trouble.

The question was this: "From which quarter does the wind blow the strongest when the skies are the bluest?" Doubting that any such fool question would be given to a pupil of a ward school to solve, papa asked his little girl to have the question written out by the teacher, and it came back again in the shape of the same startling interrogation: "From which quarter does the wind blow the strongest when the skies are the bluest?" There was no mistake.

Meanwhile papa had been haunted at the office and during his perigrinations about town, and had got the thing hopelessly mixed. He was trying to figure out which skies would blow a quarter the bluest when the wind was the strongest, or from which wind a quarter blew when the skies were the strongest; then he blew himself and tried to guess in what quarter the wind was when he was the bluest, or if a quarter was the strongest when the blues were the skiest.

Meeting with a Zetetic exponent of cosmogony he fired the proposition at him this way: "Say, Jack, which skies are the strongest when the bluest quarter is the flattest? No; I mean from which quarter does the sky blow when the blue is the strongest? That's not it, either; what I want to know is, from which skies does a quarter blow when the wind is the bluest? Hold on, I have it now; from which blue does the sky blow when a quarter is"—but the Zetetic had fled, and the last seen of papa he was trying to persuade the new postmaster to mail the question to Senator Robinson to be placed in the same pigeon-hole with another burning question: "Do the French or the Scotch have the pull, or have I lost my grip?"

HON. MR. HENDRIE'S IDEA.

Would Keep Niagara Camp Grounds as a Park For the People.

Hon. J. S. Hendrie of Hamilton, Minister without portfolio in the Whitney Government, has suggested to the Niagara Falls Park Commission and the historical societies of the Niagara district that they take steps to get the Dominion Government to vest the military camp grounds at Niagara-on-the-Lake in the commission. He quite agrees with the agitation against the proposal to sell the grounds, which have so many historical associations, and hopes that his project is reasonably certain of attainment. If carried out this would mean that Niagara-on-the-Lake would have as park property the grounds mentioned with a frontage on Lake Ontario and the Niagara River connected by the strip of land along the river now vested in the commission with the Niagara Falls Park, which now extends to Lake Erie. The present, Mr. Hendrie thinks, would be an excellent opportunity to secure and retain for the people of Canada such an addition to their park lands as his project would give.

THE BLESSED PHYSICIAN.

The men who have had the opportunity of reading the post-mortem epitaphs of their neighbors are rare. We do not tell people the good we see in them while they still live and are able to feel that in the estimation of their contemporaries they have not lived in vain. We wait at the bedside of the true nobility of the earth, dumb and soundless, until assured that the angel of death has touched him, and then we break into eulogies that can reach his ear no longer.

Perhaps it is better so, for there are cases where eulogy would be a jarring note—where the pure unselfishness of good deeds might be sullied by the seeming reward. Perhaps least of all do we think of contemporary praise of the good physician, that greatest blessing that a community can have, says The Toronto Globe. Ian Maclaren has given up a picture of the good physician in that Dr. Maclure, whose funeral on the wild winter's day was the memory of the glen, and happy are those who have had a Dr. Maclure come like a household benediction into their own lives.

Toronto may have more than one such blessed doctor, but one at least the east end of the city has known for many years. A man of strong athletic build, could have been seen at any time during the past two decades threading its streets on bicycle or street car, making his way to humble homes, where his cheery, brother-like greetings were more medicinal than all the drugs of the pharmacopeia. The poorer and the more hopeless the home the more need in this physician's estimation, of the rarest skill and watchful attention, so that one of the afflictions of poverty might at least be stayed or removed. And if there were two calls on his attention the cottage got his first ministrations. The patient in the well-to-do home would have no difficulty in getting another physician, while the same could not be said of the little cabin where there was positively no hope of fees or other reward than the fervent "God bless you" of the sorrowing and stricken. That class of cases our Toronto Maclure conceived to be his special field. But, whether impoverished or otherwise, all were treated alike so far as fees were concerned. No bills went out to anybody. The doctor was too busy curing people to have time to be keeping tab on the number of places where he scattered sunshine and healing. If anyone felt that they owed the doctor anything and had a little loose change that they had no other use for they could send it on—they knew his address. Thus he went about doing good, as if his profession were a consecrated one and available for all, like that of the priest. And with it all there was none of the affectation of goodness—no cant, no snivelling, but bluffness, heartiness, and jollity, with an occasional expletive that denoted kinship with ordinary sinners rather than with cloistered saints.

In the midst of these activities, which made twenty-four hours all too short for a day's calls, fate spoke. And its sentence was what is generally considered the most cruel that can be pronounced. The word cancer has such significance of slow and malignant corruption that the very naming of it freezes the blood. This was the word applied to the symptoms which for some time had made themselves apparent in his constitution, and for the first time in his life he who had sat like the genius of healing at a thousand bedsides was himself stricken beyond all hope of cure. No names are mentioned, because it is not good form to pour out the ointment of appreciation aforehand. And he has not worked for the reward of eulogy any more than for the reward of lucre.

Flowers of the Yukon.

The still lingering impression of the Yukon as a region of perpetual ice was agreeably modified by the collection of wild flowers in the natural history department of the recent Canada National Exhibition at Toronto. This interesting collection was made by Elgin Schoff, Esq., during his leisure moments when practicing his profession at Dawson, and comprises some 225 species. The time at Mr. Schoff's disposal was necessarily limited, yet he has succeeded in making a collection thoroughly representative of the flora of the Yukon Valley. Many of the specimens exhibited are familiar to all lovers of flowers in Ontario, but a large number and some of the most attractive and interesting are peculiar to this remote part of the continent. There are six members of the orchid family, and these include the yellow and pink moccasin flowers, familiar and admired in many parts of this province.

The specimens are pressed and mounted, and about 50 are labelled with their botanical names. Mr. Schoff was unexpectedly called away before the work of labelling was completed. Such work as Mr. Schoff has accomplished will help to correct some popular misconceptions regarding the Yukon Territory, and may help to reassure many who have been discouraged by contemplating an imaginary barren waste of rock and ground locked in the perpetual frost of the glacial age.

DEEP SEA ROMANCE.

Strange Escapade of Capt. McLean and the Schooner Carmencita in the Behring Sea.

Collector Newbury of Victoria, B. C., on September 14, seized all papers on board the schooner Carmencita, and held an investigation into the alleged irregularity of Capt. McLean, who is accused of shipping guns in California for the purpose of a raid on the seal rookeries. McLean claims Mexican register and is flying the Mexican flag. The result was that Canada would not turn McLean over to the United States.

In an age when romance is passing even from deep sea navigation, there remains, to those who revel in tales of adventure, much to stimulate the fancy in the doings of the opium smuggler, and the seal poacher. Both of these enterprising free lances of commerce are found in Victoria, which has long been a base of operations along both lines. Some of the brawling seal hunters who "whoop it up" in Wharf street saloons after the season's cruise could, if they would, unfold tales which would make the creations of the writers of fiction seem tame by comparison.

The opium trade has by reason of a decline in the value of the contraband, as much as through the vigilance of customs officials fallen off greatly, although there are still dun-colored sloops frequenting the little bays near Victoria, whose business seems to take them to sea only at night. Taking on their cargoes under cover of darkness from a cache known only to their confederates and themselves, these little craft creep in the darkness past the wooded shores of the innumerable islets which dot the straits and Sound between Victoria and Seattle. Hiding by day, traveling by night, careful not of time, but only of secrecy, a few of these daring navigators still make a good living in a traffic which the law declares to be illegal.

The same is true to a great extent of the sealing trade. Here great secrecy must be observed if a rookery is raided, for confiscation of the boat and imprisonment of the crew and hunters would follow detection. Still, for the gain to be obtained, there are still those who will take the chances. Indeed, some of the skippers who pilot the schooners out of that port have reputations for dare devil recklessness in breaking the law and evading the consequences. Of that number is Capt. Alex. McLean, skipper of the schooner Carmencita, now on the Pacific coast, but wanted by the authorities on general principles.

The Carmencita, because of the reputation of her skipper, as well as owing to the record of the ship, and her peculiar movements, was an object of concern by the officials from the time she came north to Victoria last March to outfit ostensibly for the Mexican trade. It was under the Mexican flag that she obtained register, and she cleared from Victoria for Acapulco. She had then on board about a dozen hunters, but practically no crew. The hunters were compelled to navigate the ship until Drake's Bay, about thirty miles from San Francisco, was reached. Here about thirty men, most of them of an unprepossessing appearance, were taken on, and before the authorities could get into touch with the mysterious craft, she had cleared and stood out to sea.

From this point her voyage proceeded, not south to Mexico, but to the north, and a few days later she was reported from the west coast of Vancouver Island, into which she had put for repairs and water. From this point again she continued north, spent some time in Behring Sea, from which point strange tales of her escapades reached the outside, and a day or two ago arrived back again on the west coast after evading the gunboats sent out by the United States Government to apprehend her.

The stories told by the hunters who have reached here, indicate that McLean was evidently bent on mischief, but the hunters becoming suspicious of him notified him that they would not hunt, and he was compelled to return. Provisions ran short, and one of the ship's officers, Capt. Thomas, died. But the crew made no raid, and had no conflict with the guards, as reported on the coast. In fact, McLean seems to have spent most of his time keeping out of the way of passing steamers.

On his arrival on the coast the Collector of Customs summoned him to appear before him to explain his erratic actions, while United States warships have been despatched to pick up the vessel as soon as she comes out of Clayoquot.

Growth of Winnipeg.

The building record in Winnipeg is greater than ever. Compared with the total figures for previous years it shows a marvellous increase. In last year's record several millions were represented by the new C. P. R. terminals, the Eaton block, the gas works improvements and other large structures. There are over 1,200 more buildings this year to date than last year, but the majority of these are residences. The report, which speaks for itself, is as follows:—

1904—Permits, 1,768; buildings, 2,268; cost, $9,651,750.

1905—Permits, 2,761; buildings, 3,539; cost, $9,627,850.

Railway Commission Deprecates Hasty Action Takes Time to Investigate.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Railway Commission issued an order yesterday in regard to the complaint of the Millers' Association and other persons and bodies, upon the subjects of the shortage and distribution of railway cars and rolling stock.

The board is of the opinion that the questions involve so many interests that they cannot be determined satisfactorily by the board merely upon a hearing. The board has desired it traffice officer to furnish as quickly as possible, from time to time, without waiting to exhaust all the subjects of enquiry, such facts as will enable the board to act speedily. The traffic officer will be glad to get all the information he can from the Dominion Millers' Association, or any other parties interested.

The board thinks it extremely probable that great injury and inconvenience are being caused to many interests by want of a sufficient supply of cars, but there is great danger in causing injury in the other direction by hasty action.

Prince Louis and Mayor of Halifax Pass Compliments.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31.—Ships of cruiser squadron remaining in Halifax sailed yesterday morning for the place of rendezvous south of Cape Sable, where they will meet the Cornwall and Berwick and sail for Annapolis.

Mayor Mellreith yesterday morning received the following wireless message from Prince Louis of Battenberg: "From second cruiser squadron to citizens of Halifax, Good-bye. Don't forget us until next merry meeting." Louis Battenberg.

The mayor replied: "Pleasant voyage, speedy return, forget—we would not, if we could."

Indian Youths Good Farmers.

"One great difficulty we meet in our work among the Indians of the West is in keeping the boys and girls who attend our Indian schools from falling back into Indian modes of living, when they leave school," said Rev. Dr. R. P. Mackay, Secretary of the Foreign Mission Department of the Presbyterian Church, who returned to Toronto the other day from an extended trip through the West, inspecting the Indian and Chinese Mission work.

"In British Columbia this is specially hard to prevent, for there is little land for them to settle on, and scarcely any course open but to go back to the fishing village where the surrounding influences tend to undo all our work," he continued. "In the prairie country there is more hope, because of the possibility of getting the young Indians to settle on land away from the village immunity, and to apply themselves to careful and intelligent farming.

"Lately the plan has been adopted of cutting up the reserves into 80-acre farms, and assigning them to those who wish to become independent farmers, and some of the Indians are very successful.

"I saw one reserve where they had good farms and good crops. One young Indian who had been four years in his place will have 2,000 bushels of wheat and the ploughing and the care of the teams was as good as on the average Western farm."

This was an exceptional case, but only because there was an exceptional Indian Government Agent at that place. The curse of the Indian work had been the politically appointed agents, who were as a rule either incapable or indifferent to the real duties of the position.

Should It Ripens Into Love.

The practice of putting little bottles containing messages into cheeses in Canadian cheese factories is getting quite common, says The Brockville Times. One of these fine days some Englishman will be operated on for appendicitis and find in his midst an invitation to correspond with some Canadian lassie. Just fancy! How romantic if the acquaintance thus begun should ripen into love!

Wanted Popular Music.

Walter W. Hedgecock has been appointed musical director of the Crystal Palace, in place of the late Sir Augustus Manns. He has been the organist at that place for years, and many queer experiences have served to give a touch of humor to his work. At one of his concerts a small boy climbed to the organ loft, with the request that he might have his program to include "Just a Little Bit Off the Top," and at another time an admirer of his powers begged his company in a glass of beer, and was much surprised when the performer declined to interrupt the concert for the sake of the drink.

Signs of the Times.

During one's walks abroad the eye is frequently attracted by something out of the ordinary in the way of advertisements. For instance, in the windows of a shop on Yonge street this legend attracts and holds the eye: "Men's Shirts" (on one window), and "Women's Skirts" (on the other window). To the old-fashioned woman this announcement is startling, and she wonders if in this age of competition between the sexes her up-to-date sister has appropriated man's hitherto exclusive possession—his "boiled shirt" along with the long list of other minor articles of wearing apparel which by use to have become identified with her own as "vests," "pajamas," etc. If this sort of thing keeps up we will look to see the sign in the tailor shops, "Men's trousurings" and "Women's trousering" confront us in the near future.—Rambler in Toronto Telegram.

Getting Even.

"Does your daughter enjoy practicing on the piano?"

"Yes," answered Mr Cumrex. "The neighbors have made some remarks about her that she didn't like."

EDUCATIONAL POLICY.

Consultative Council to Be Appointed to Advise the Minister.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The Ontario Government has decided to appoint a consultative council to advise the Minister of Education. The announcement was made yesterday morning by Premier Whitney. It will consist of representatives of the various teaching bodies, including that of Toronto University, high school and collegiate institute teachers, public and separate school teachers. Their intimate knowledge of the daily workings of the educational system is expected to greatly assist the Minister. The Premier was not prepared to say whether or not the present educational council would be displaced. There will still be the necessity for a Deputy Minister of Education. Mr. Whitney could not say when that office would be filled, remarking that the fitness of certain applicants would depend upon proposed amendments to the educational system.

Provincial Secretary Hanna was urged yesterday by an influential deputation to make an investigation into the advantages of a probation system for first offenders and inebriates. It was suggested that he or his inspector of prisons and asylums should visit Massachusetts and other states where the system is in vogue. The system applies to children, youths, adult first offenders, convicts for light offences and to inebriates, and is said to be very successful where tried. Consideration was promised.

BABY'S AWAKENING.

It ought to be a pleasure to look forward to baby's awakening. He should awaken bright, smiling and full of fun, refreshed by sleep and ready for a good time. How many parents dread their child's voice, because they know when he awakes he will cry and fret and keep everyone on the move until he falls asleep again from sheer exhaustion. These crying fits made the life of the inexperienced mother a torment. And yet baby is not crying for the fun of the thing—there is something very wrong, though the mother may not see anything ails the child. Try Baby's Own Tablets in cases of this kind, and we venture to say baby will wake up smiling and happy—an altogether different child. Here is proof from Mrs. John S. Sutherland, Blissfield, N. S., who says: "My baby was terribly cross and often kept me awake half the night before I got Baby's Own Tablets for her. Since I began giving her the Tablets she is perfectly well, sleeps soundly all night, and wakens up bright and fresh in the morning." Baby's Own Tablets are a safe medicine for the children of all ages. They cannot do anything but good. You can get them from your druggist or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Brockville, Nov. 1.—The will of the late Senator Fulford was entered here yesterday for probate. It is dated Feb. 12, 1902, and has two codicils, Nov. 15, 1902, and Oct. 13, 1905, the latter at Newton, Mass.

The estate is valued at $4,820,010.74, of which $74,610 is in real estate in Brockville, the balance being bonds and debentures, $1,907,578; stock, $2,633,737; mortgages, $26,820; insurance, $100,100; promissory notes, $15,000; household furniture and other personal effects, $56,500.

The bulk of the estate is bequeathed to the widow of the late senator and two daughters and one son.

The executors, the Toronto General Trust Corporation, are given full power to manage and control the whole estate. They are authorized to keep the investments as they stand at the time of taking them over, and have full power to reinvest the same from time to time.

The directors are directed to continue the business of Fulford & Co., as a joint stock company.

A period of accumulation of ten years is provided for, at which time 10 per cent. of the total amount of the estate, so long as the 10 per cent. does not exceed $400,000, shall be set aside to be paid the Brockville General Hospital to establish a home for Protestant old women, provision being made for the board of the inmates by an endowment fund.

Fulford Place, on the death of the mother, reverts to George Taylor Fulford, Jr., together with $10,000 per annum for its maintenance in perpetuity, so far as the law allows, and in case he shall die without issue, then the property goes to the daughters in succession of age. As each child attains the age of 25 years, he or she is to receive one-third of 90 per cent. of the income from the business, and at the end of ten years one-third of the income of the estate after all annuities are paid.

The following annuities and bequests are made:

To Mrs. C. McNish and Mrs. E. L. Hitchcock, sisters, $50 per month.

To John H. Fulford, $100 per month.

To H. B. Fulford, Wallace McNish, Charles McNish, G. P. McNish, nephews; Harris Scherer, cousin, and George Fulford Hannon of Schenectady, sums from one to five thousand dollars.

On the death of any of the children without leaving issue, their share shall revert to the estate; should any child leave children, such children will be entitled to his or her share in the capital of the estate.

J. Mallette, an old servant, is given $50 per month during his life.

All payments to testator's children are to be without power of anticipation.

In the codicil made Oct. 15 last, Newton, annuity of $10,000 per annum was made to the widow for the maintenance of Senator Fulford's yacht, which annuity shall also be paid to the son should he desire to keep her in commission in later years.

It is directed that A. C. Hardy, a son-in-law, shall receive an amount up to $50,000 as a loan should he desire to go into business, and the same amount is to be loaned to George A. Sherrell in case he should desire to go into business.

Mrs. A. C. Hardy, a daughter, is left, Thornton Cliff, the property adjoining Fulford Place.

The executors have filed with the Succession Duties Department a bond for $600,000 to cover the amount of the duties.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache. A woman's back wasn't made to ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to help her bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Hours of misery at leisure or at work. If women only knew the cause. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause in the world.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it's not to be wondered that they get out of order. Backache is simply their cry for help.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

will help you. They're helping sick, overworked kidneys—all over the world—making them strong, healthy and vigorous. Mrs. P. Ryan, Douglas, Ont., writes: "For over five months I was troubled with lame back and was unable to move without help. I tried all kinds of plasters and liniments but they were no use. At last I heard tell of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three-quarters of the box my back was as strong and well as ever."

Swedish Ensign of Ante-Norway Days Floated Once More.

Stockholm, Nov. 2.—The old union flag was struck throughout Sweden yesterday, and the new Swedish ensign was hoisted to the accompaniment of salutes, the ringing of church bells and parades of troops.

In Stockholm the whole garrison paraded, and most of the population thronged the streets. At 9 o'clock the flag flown by Sweden before the union with Norway nearly a century ago was again broken out over the palace, from church steeples, public and private buildings and steamers and sailing vessels.

King Oscar witnessed the ceremony from the roof of the palace, and tens of thousands of citizens gathered in the vicinity and demonstratively greeted him. Similar ceremonies occurred in all the cities.

The Common Soldier.

In the long run, if the men who do the fighting do not like their part of the bargain, they will find a way to get it broken. Modern war is not likely to afford much amusement to the rank-and-file, nor, indeed, to the junior officers. Trench-digging, hiding from a shower of bullets which come from an unseen enemy, lying out in the open for days suffering from wounds and fever because no one dare go to you through the zone of fire, always fighting in the dark, seldom seeing the foe: these are not the circumstances of glorious war. The common soldier will tire of this very soon; and when he is really tired and then is given the ballot war governments will hear from him.—Montreal Star.

FORESTRY IN CANADA.

Important Convention Under Auspices of Dominion and Provincial Governments to Be Held in Ottawa.

The announcement of a Canadian Forestry Convention having the support of the Dominion and Provincial Governments to be held in Ottawa on the 10th, 11th and 12th January, 1906, is an important one for the Dominion, for the forests are one of her best assets and anything that will preserve them and increase their value is deserving of every consideration.

Finding the trees growing in maturity on the forest lands little attention was given to the fact that they are living entities and grow according to laws, which may be ascertained and by the control of which their development may be regulated. Forests have been classed with minerals. The more that was taken away, the less, it was considered, would or could be left. The fact that where trees grew and flourished they could grow again was not thought of. As a result the forests were cut or burnt from good and poor land alike and there are throughout Canada large tracts of land producing nothing, which might have been producing valuable forests and which may still be if only proper means are taken to that end.

The value of forest products for 1901, according to the last census, was $51,000,000 and Provincial Governments which control their own lands derive large revenues from their forests. Strike out the item of forest revenues from the provincial budgets and the large amounts thus raised must be provided by direct taxation in some other form. The public interest in the question of forest preservation is therefore great.

It may be interesting to sketch the history of the forestry movement which is thus reaching such an important stage in its development. The question was agitated for many years by Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, Mr. William Little and others, and in 1882 a Forest Congress was convened in Montreal, representing the United States and Canada, to consider the subject and devise means of dealing with it. There was a large attendance of leading men from the United States and Canada and during the two or three days' deliberations a number of valuable papers were read and in the discussions a great deal of interesting and useful information was brought out. The results were somewhat ephemeral, however, as, although the proceedings were well reported in the newspapers and considerable public interest was aroused, the pressure of necessity was not felt in the same way as it is at the present time and no sustained effort was made to keep the matter before the public. At this convention, however, the American Forest Congress was organised which body met later in the City of Quebec in 1892.

The most far-reaching result of this convention was the adoption of the fire-ranging system which has done so much to preserve the forests of Canada and which was undoubtedly an almost direct result of the stimulus given to the interest in the subject. This system was first adopted in Ontario in 1885 and the other provinces have been one after another following this example. The convention was therefore far from fruitless and if the saving of timber from fire which the fire-rangers have accomplished can be credited in any way to that convention it certainly has more than justified to the people of Canada the calling of it together.

The different Governments continued to work out their forest administration on individual lines, but in only one province, Ontario, was there a special officer appointed to make the investigations of this question his particular sphere of work. This branch has done splendid work under the charge of Mr. Southworth. In 1899 a Superintendent of Forestry for the Dominion was appointed and shortly afterwards Mr. Stewart, the superintendent, called a meeting at Ottawa to consider the organisation of a Canadian Forestry Association. This association has held meetings each year and has published a great many valuable reports and papers. It has been steadily keeping the question of the forests before the public and that it has done so in a wise and practical way is evidenced by the fact that it has the support of those whose interest in the forest is personal as well as of a large number who are interested from the public standpoint. Among its supporters are such leading lumbermen as J. R. Booth, Hon. W. C. Edwards, Hiram Robinson, H. M. Price; leading business men like D. McNicoll, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway; B. E. Walker, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, and many others; leading educators like the Principal of the University of Toronto and of Queen's University.

The persevering work of the association has brought the subject to the point where the Federal Government have thought it a wise policy to call together a Dominion convention to consider the subject. Representatives will be called from the Provincial Governments, the lumbermen's associations, Boards of Trade, universities and agricultural colleges, farmers' institutes and other organizations.

The main divisions in which the subject will be considered will include the National Interest in the Forest, the Relations of the Forest and the Lumber, Pulp and Other Industries of the Country, Forestry in Relation to Agriculture, the Influence of the Forests on Water Powers and Irrigation, Reproduction of the Forest. All these are vital questions. They are among the most important that are before the public for solution to-day. Forestry experts in Europe are looking to Canada as one of the world's great standbys for the lumber supply of the future; the United States is feeling the pinch of decreasing supplies and is already drawing largely on Canada to make up the deficit; the lumbermen realize the increasing value of their holdings; the Governments appreciate the significance of the large forest budget in their revenues; the agriculturists see more clearly the protective and direct value of forests and woodlots; and the railways and other industries feel the increasing difficulty of obtaining the supplies they require.

At the Forest Congress held in Washington in January last it was made clear that the United States consider the situation a grave one in so far as their country is concerned. President Roosevelt, who addressed the congress, made the following statement:

"If the present rate of forest destruction is allowed to continue, with nothing to offset it, a timber famine in the future is inevitable. Fire, wasteful and destructive forms of lumbering, and the legitimate use, taken together, are destroying our forest resources far more rapidly than they are being replaced. It is only as the producing and commercial interests of the country come to realise that they need to have trees growing up in the forest no less than they need the product of the trees cut down, that we may hope to see the permanent prosperity of both safely secured."

Forestry is therefore a subject that should be given careful consideration in the Dominion in order that we may if possible hold our commanding position. The forestry convention is therefore a timely move and that it is so appreciated is shown by the fact that it has the support of His Excellency the Governor-General and that not only the Premier of the Dominion but Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, are taking an active interest in its success. A great deal of practical good may be expected from the deliberations of the convention.

A Modern Amusement.

Hanging the aldermen has become the favorite amusement in many of the cities of the land. When by reason of a frenzied imagination or because the facts in the case look auspicious the citizens have an idea that the aldermen are about to steal the city hall, the waterworks or the public library and sell them to a junk man, dignified business men come around and talk of hanging and hint at ropes that are concealed where it will be easy to have them make connection with a lamp post.

You have heard lots of talk of this kind, but did you ever hear of a single hanging? Western men who string up a horse thief first and try him afterward would have to invent new words to express their opinion of the proceedings.

Once the aldermen might have been scared out of their boots, but they have learned from experience that there is nothing so conducive to longevity as to have their constituents threaten to string them up.

Sunday Sickness; Its Cause And Cure

Morbus Sabbaticus, or Sunday sickness, a disease peculiar to church members. The attack comes on suddenly every Sunday; no symptoms are felt on Saturday night, the patient sleep well and wakes feeling well; eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning. Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon he feels much better, and is able to take a walk, talk about politics and read the Sunday papers; he eats a hearty supper, but about church time he has another attack and stays at home. He retires early, sleeps well and wakes up on Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work, and does not have any symptoms of the disease until the following Sunday. The peculiar features are as follows:

1. It always attacks members of the church.
2. It never makes its appearance except on the Sabbath day.
3. The symptoms vary, but it never interferes with the sleeper's appetite;
4. It never last more than twenty-four hours.
5. It generally attacks the head of the family.
6. No physician is ever called.
7. It always proves fatal in the end—to the soul.
8. No remedy for it is known except prayer.
9. Religion is the only antidote.
10. It is becoming fearfully prevalent and is sweeping thousands every year prematurely to destruction.

Goldwin Smith Thinks Capitalists Not All Bad

There is no need of swelling the note of alarm called forth by the disclosures of the Equitable, not unnaturally echoed in our own country. A shocking part of the matter is the social standing of some of those concerned. Who would have believed that a leading member of American society would be caught drawing a large sum for a series of years on false pretences from a public institution? A crusade against capitalists in general will ensue and gladden the heart of the Socialist. But all capitalists are not of the same kind. There is the capitalist who undertakes great works, railroads, steamships, telegraphs, without whom as the world is, great works could not be executed, or advances made in material civilisation. The gains of capitalists of this class may sometimes be inordinately large, and in that respect noxious to society. But they are not dishonest or made without benefit to the community. On the other hand there is the financial buccaneer, whose gains are made totally without benefit to the community, and with the reverse of benefit to many of its members, by crafty speculation, by getting control of money power, by cornering, sometimes even by wrecking. This class is an unmitigated evil. In England a member of it sometimes gets into the dock; but he never does here, and till he does here we shall no the safe

MYSTIC DRUID RITES.

Pilgrimage of 537 of the Quarter of a Million Brethren Visit Historic Pillars of Stonehenge.

Brothers of the Oak, known to the unenlightened outside world as the Ancient Order of Druids, made a pilgrimage recently to the Mecca of Druidism, and beneath the gaunt, historic pillars of Stonehenge, on Salisbury Plain, high Druidic revelry was held, and mystic rites were performed with song and fire, says The London Express.

The Ancient Order of Druids claims some remote connection with the warlike priests of the ancient Britons, who in the day of Boadicea and her predecessors offered up the living sacrifice in their massive temple on Salisbury Plain. Why the Brothers of the Oak should seek to perpetuate the memory of these leaders of a savage faith is not particularly clear, even to the brethren themselves. It is nevertheless a fact that the modern order has a membership of over a quarter of a million, with branches in South Africa and other colonies.

A special train from London brought the greatest of the Druids, with many hundreds of their lesser brethren. They came from all directions, and concentrated at Stonehenge, where 537 were gathered to do honor to the first occasion on which an organized pilgrimage had been made to the temple that stands for everything in Druidism.

One of the chief objects of the pilgrimage was the formal initiation by bell, book and candle of 25 new brethers, one of them being Sir Edmund Antrobus, the owner of Stonehenge.

The ceremony was begun soon after luncheon and the speeches. The uninitiated were obliged to stand back by the boundary fence, out of earshot, and any one who did not wear a buttonhole of oak leaves and acorns, or some other sign of brotherhood, was challenged, and if he failed to give the mystic sign was ignominiously banished.

The altar (a wooden one, painted to represent marble) was erected in front of the greatest trilithon, not far from the "slaughter stone," where, before the Roman invasion,

"Druid priests, sprinkled with human gore, Taught mid thy massy maze their mystic lore."

The brethren formed themselves in an oval round the altar. About a hundred, forming the inner line, wore the white gown and cowl of bards, and were disguised with flowing white false beards that streamed below their waists. Others, consisting of most noble arches, past noble arches, past arches, grand arches and vice-arches wore gowns of red, blue and gold, with golden beards, gold lace collars, and a profusion of medals, mystic symbols and orders.

All carried brass sickles on the end of long staves or brass spears. When all was ready the bards formed an arch with their sickles, and the most noble grand arch, G. A. Larnder, the head of the order, emerged from the tent, and, accompanied by other great Druids, marched slowly and solemnly beneath the sickles to the strains of the "War March of the Priests," played by a Druidic band.

The most noble grand arch took his place at the altar, and the 25 initiates were led from the tent, with Sir Edmund Antrobus at the head. They were blindfolded, and walked in Indian file, each man with his hands on the shoulders of the man in front of him. The curious procession excited the merriment of the distant crowd, who roared with laughter and shouted satirical advice.

As they approached the bards and brethren burst into the song of welcome, and as the altar was being prepared the following verse was sung:

Now, now, your rites prepare,
With secrecy and care.
When the flames arise,
Unbind their eyes,
Our mysteries let them share.

The initiates, still blindfolded, then took the obligation, and, directly they had done so, the sacred fire at the altar was kindled, while the brethren sang:

See, see the flames arise!
Brothers now your songs prepare,
And ere their vigor droops and dies
Our mysteries let them share.

With evergreen their brows entwine,
And hail them with your songs divine.
And let them know the mistletoe,
And Togo Dubiline.

The gentleman with the familiar name was born in Druidic times, in a hollow oak tree. He is stated to be no relation to the Japanese admiral of that name.

The initiates were then sworn by the solemn oaths which bind all Druids to eternal secrecy, and after more singing and other rites, which were carefully shielded from the eyes of the prying public and the still more prying camera, the most noble grand arch descended from the altar and whispered into the ear of each man.

This was the most secret part of the ceremony. It consisted of placing the new brothers in possession of all the mystic signs, countersigns, inner and outer passwords, and counter-passwords, and the methods which enabled one brother to recognise another if he meets him in the Arabian desert—but of these a Druid may not speak even to the wife of his bosom.

"All Round the Oak" was then sung to the tune of the National Anthem, and the final chorus, which closed the lodge. The sacred fire of salt and methylated spirit was then put out, the wooden altar removed, and the bards and grand officers, having abandoned their beards and gowns, drank many cups of tea and discussed the lore of the ancients.

By 8 o'clock they were gone—Druids, sickles, holiday-makers and all—and there was a blood-red sunset on the western edge of Salisbury Plain that threw up the pillars of Stonehenge against a background of fire.

Such a "sea connection" no other nation in the world possesses.

First Day Of Week Not The Lord's Day

This is the Opinion of a Correspondent--"The Seventh Day is the Sabbath of the Lord Thy God"--"The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath Day"--A Reply to Pastor of Bethany Tabernacle.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

It is with no desire to prolong a discussion that the following rejoinder is offered to the article which appeared in the columns of your valuable paper last Saturday week, but it is offered in the interests of truth and intellectual honesty and for the purpose of settling at the truth of a great religious question, which is agitating, and is destined to agitate, the world more than any other religious question or discussion has done since the beginning of the Christian era.

The question simply stated is this:

1.—Is the Law of God as contained in the Ten Commandments, abrogated by anything that has occurred since it was given?

2.—Is the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, the Lord's day?

These two questions cover the whole discussion. Your correspondent affirms both, and I deny both. The Bible to be the sole authority by which to decide the questions.

In my article of two weeks ago, I quoted from the Methodist Discipline and from the Presbyterian Confession of Faith to show that these two great bodies of Protestant Christians hold that the Ten Commandments constitute the Law of God, and that they are binding upon all. Similarly, it may be shown that all other bodies of Protestant Christians, with possibly one or two exceptions, together with the Catholic Church, hold the same opinion with reference to the Ten Commandments.

This statement is not made as proof that the Ten Commandments are binding, for the Bible must be our authority; but it is given for the purpose of showing that your correspondent has arrayed himself against the belief of the whole Christian world, and not against a few sabbatarians. If these great bodies of Christian worshippers do not practice what they preach, it is no inconsistency on my part to call attention to their preaching, whatever may be said about their practice. Consistency is indeed a jewel.

But what saith the Scripture? "Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid! Yea, we establish the law!"—Rom. 3:31.

Paul had been making a strong argument on justification by faith, and he concludes with the 26th verse, like this: "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law."

Then fearing that some would draw from this conclusion, as your correspondent has done, that the law is abrogated by faith, he adds the caution of the thirty-first verse, quoted above.

Again I quote: "For what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh, God, sending His own son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh, that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit."—Rom. 8: 3, 4.

Now, what is it that the "law could not do?"—simply this, it could not justify a sinner. It could not say to him, "You are righteous."

And why not?—simply because it already condemns the sinner. The law already says to him, you are unrighteous. The law can not justify a sinner and condemn him at the same time.

What then shall be done with the law? Shall we cast it aside as worthless because it cannot justify the sinner? as your correspondent has done. No, never! Read the passage again: "For what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh, God" can do. And how?—Read on. "God sending His own son," (sending, mark you, not sent merely 1900 years ago, but now) in the likeness of sinful flesh." (Our flesh and ours), and what for? Read again: "That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us."

Notice, the righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us, not by us. Christ fulfills the law in us and thus thought explains how Christ came not to destroy the law. But to fulfil it. Matt. 5: 17. He fulfills it in us; and in order that this may be done perfectly, he adds, "For verily I say unto you, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law till all be fulfilled."—Verse 18.

Your correspondent is not satisfied with abrogating a jot or title simply, but he is teaching men that the whole Ten Commandments are abrogated. Listen to the next verse:

"Whosoever, therefore, shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the Kingdom of Heaven." But whoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the Kingdom of Heaven."—Verse 19.

Our Saviour left us an example that we should follow in his steps; and his instruction to the young man who asked Him what he should do that he might have eternal life, was: "If thou will enter into life, keep the commandments."—Matt. 19: 16-22. It would be well if the young men of the present day would follow this instruction.

In the great judgment day the rule of judgment will be the laws of God. Proof: "For as many as have sinned without law, shall also perish without law, and as many as have sinned in the law, shall be judged by the law."—Rom. 2: 12. And again, "Whosoever, therefore, shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all, for he that said do not kill, said also do not commit adultery. Yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law. So speak ye and so do as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty."—James 2: 10-12.

Naturally men cannot keep the law of God: "Because the carnal mind is at enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God. The inward man says, "For I delight in the law of God after the inward man."—Rom. 7: 22.

Of the character of the law of God we read: "Wherefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just, and good."—Rom. 7: 12. And again, "For we know that the law is spiritual."—Verse 14.

Paul recognized that a law which is holy and spiritual and good, ought to be kept, but he had no power to do it; for he found another law, the law of sin, working in him and preventing him from keeping the law of God, and causing him to transgress it—to do what he would not; and so he says: "If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law that it is good."—Verse 16. "But how to perform that which is good I find not."—Verse 18. He sees the necessity of keeping the law, which by his transgression of he unknowledges to be good, but in his distress at his inability to keep it, he cries out: "O, wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?"—Verse 24. Then he sees his only hope of keeping it is by faith in Christ, and he exclaims: "I thank God through Jesus Christ, our Lord."—Verse 25.

The simple statement of the case is this: By sin man has kept himself in a condition where he cannot keep the law of God. But he must keep the commandments to have eternal life, for the Saviour said so. (Matt. 19: 17), quoted above. Then, the Saviour will come into the sinner's heart and keep the commandments in him. "God sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh.....that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us."—Rom. 8; 3, 4, quoted above.

Why, the new covenant is, "I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts."—Jer. 31: 33. And the law which is thus written upon their hearts is the very same law that was written upon the tables of stone, viz., the Ten Commandments; for we read again: "Forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ, ministered by us, written, not with ink, but with the spirit of the living God; not on tables of stone, but fleshy tables of the heart."—2 Cor. 3: 3.

What kind of Christianity is it that teaches us that we should not follow Christ's example? It is admitted that Christ kept his father's commandments, but because he gave them a new commandment, it is argued that the law of God is thereby abrogated.

That is on a par with the argument that all the laws on the statute books of a state are abrogated every time a new one is enacted. In the study of logic at the universities, the following important principle is made prominent in every young man's course of study. "When a law is once enacted by the proper authority, it must remain in force until the same authority repeals it; and the repeal must be as plainly stated as the original enactment."—Tappan's Logic.

Now, Mr. Editor, I appeal to your readers to get the numbers of your paper containing any references to passages of Scripture which show that the Ten Commandments have been abrogated. No such references have been given, and from the references given above to show that the Ten Commandments are still in force, I conclude that no Scripture, fairly interpreted, can be given to show that they have been abrogated.

To confirm the correctness of his original propositions, your correspondent has a three column article, subdivided into seven parts, which we will notice in order. He says:

1.—"My opponent thinks we should keep the seventh day (Saturday) as a memorial of creation, So we should, but not of the old creation, but of the new."

Well, well, and well! That statement admits all we claim, and so needs no further attention. I will simply add one passage of Scripture, which has a bearing on what he has said about the new earth, and which will add much to the force of the Scriptures which were quoted upon that subject, and especially to the Sabbath question. It is this:

"For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name remain. And it shall come to pass, that from one new moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.—Isa. 66: 22, 23.

2.—It is claimed that the Sabbath is a type. This we have shown cannot be true; for, first, the Sabbath was given before sin came into the world, which made types necessary. Secondly, there is no passage of Scripture which says that the weekly Sabbath is a type. Col. 2: 16, 17 refers to the annual Sabbaths of Lev. 23, as we showed in our former article, and they are plainly distinguished from the weekly Sabbath in Lev. 23: 37, 38.

There is no stronger passage in the Bible to prove the binding obligation of the seventh day Sabbath than Hebrews, fourth chapter. Read the verse which has been referred to to show that the Sabbath is a type: "There remaineth therefore a keeping of a Sabbath to the people of God." Whatever else may have been destroyed by sin, there is one thing that has not been destroyed, and that is the keeping of the Sabbath. That remains to the people of God. Why then do not the professed people of God keep that which remains for them instead of trying to substitute another institution for it, and giving another name to it.

3 and 4—We have already noticed.

5.—The points under this number were touched so tenderly by your correspondent that it left the impression, "The less said on this point the better."

6.—My statement is objected to that nothing was ever said about the first day of the week, nor was anything ever done upon that day be either Christ or his disciples to indicate in any way that they considered the day as being sacred, or that they ever intended that anyone else should consider it as being sacred.

Well, has any Scripture been quoted in refutation of the statement? Get last Saturday's Examiner and read carefully under 6 in the article and see for yourself.

This is what was done. Certain events are said to have occurred on Sunday, and then the question is asked if these things are not of sufficient importance to warrant the observance of the day.

Begging the question in that way may be considered satisfactory evidence, but, nevertheless, it lacks the one essential element of evidence, viz: proof.

Again your correspondent says: "To say that not once was ever a religious meeting held on the first day of the week in the day time, and only once in the night, is perfectly absurd." And it is further declared to be false and recklessly made.

To this charge, Mr. Editor, we again appeal to your readers to procure a copy of last Saturday's Examiner, and see if any Scripture has been quoted which refutes my statement. A more assertion that a statement is false, absurd and reckless, is a kind of reasoning that has long since ceased to be considered conclusive, especially when used by those who propose to be teachers of Christian ethics.

"Sabbatarians try to make out," says your correspondent, "that Paul met with the disciples on Saturday evening, and on the morrow went on his journey, thus making him violate the first day of the week."

In reply to this permit me to say that Sabbatarians do not try to "make out" that this meeting was held on Saturday night, but that candid historians and Bible writers, everyone of whom observe the first day of the week, have honestly admitted the fact, simply because it is a fact, and Sabbatarians have repeated what these men have said about it. I will quote from one or two.

Prof. H. B. Hackett, D.D., Professor of Biblical Literature in Newton Theological Institution, on Act 20: 7, says "The Jews reckoned the day from evening to morning, and on that principle the evening of the first day of the week would be on Saturday evening. If Luke reckoned so here, as many commentators suppose, the apostle then waited for the expiration of the Jewish Sabbath and held his last religious service with the brethren at Troas at the beginning of the Christian Sabbath, i. e., on Saturday evening, and consequently resumed his journey on Sunday morning."—Commentary on Acts, p. p. 429, 430.

Conybeare and Howson, in their Life of Paul, p. 330, have this to say as to the time when this meeting occurred: "It was the evening which succeeded the Jewish Sabbath. On the Sunday morning the vessel was about to sail."

See also Dr. John Kitto in Cyclopedia of Biblical Literature, article, Lord's Day; Dr. Prynne in Dissertation on Lord's Day Sabbath, p.p. 35-43, and many others.

7.—In conclusion your correspondent makes a laboured attempt to show that the Lord's Day of Rev. 1: 10, is the first day of the week. But it has been shown from the Scripture, and logically shown, that the Lord's day is the day of which he declares himself to be the Lord, and he says that he is Lord of the Sabbath day. Inasmuch as the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord, we are led to the conclusion that the Sabbath, the seventh day, is the Lord's day.

Your correspondent mentions certain events as having occurred on the first day of the week, from which he concludes that the day ought to be considered the greatest in history, and observed as the Lord's day.

Now, as a matter of fact, one, at least, of the events mentioned never occurred at all on the first day of the week, others have been unduly magnified and not one of them pas any bearing whatever upon the Sabbath question, even though everyone of them had occurred upon the first day of the week.

Now, Mr. Editor, let me say in conclusion, that I am prepared to defend every one of these statements in any way that may be most agreeable to your correspondent. If the public is interested to hear further upon this subject, and the columns of your paper are open for further discussion of the question, as they have been so generously open in the past; it will afford me pleasure to furnish whatever copy may be desired.

Thanking you for the generous space already granted for this discussion, I remain

Respectfully yours,
EUGENE LELAND.

A SERIOUS DEFECT HAS

BEEN DETECTED IN THE

PETERBOROUGH LIFT LOCK

Statement Made That a Dangerous Leak Has Developed in the Upper Reach of the Lock—Cost to Repair It Will Be In The Neighbourhood of $20,000---An Investigation Into The Cause Should Be Instituted---Has There Been Proper Supervision of the Construction?---Lift Lock Cost From $5,000 to $6,000 in Repairs Last Year--A Matter For The Minister of Railways and Canals to Deal With.

Some time ago the Examiner pointed out the great leakage through the lift lock at Kirkfield, and the statements then made were practically correct, and examination will prove that the leakages in the canal at that lift lock are still so great as to necessitate a large additional expenditure to place the lock in a satisfactory condition, in spite of the assurances of the engineer in charge that the leakage had been repaired at a trifling expense of $200. Fifty times the amount would be nearer the estimated cost of placing in the lock a surface facing that should have been supplied had the lock been properly constructed, and supervision of its construction properly made.

If the contractor is to blame, then it is the duty of the Government to see that he is brought to account. If there are others to blame, then it is high time in connection with this expensive structure, that some steps were taken to see whether the original construction plans are properly prepared and carried out.

Defects in Local Locks.

These remarks lead up to a new revelation of defective construction or engineering, or both, in connection with the local lift lock. A representative of the Examiner on Saturday visited the Peterborough hydraulic lift lock, which has just been closed for the season. To his surprise, and that of everybody who has seen the conditions, there is to be seen on the west bank of the upper reach an immense hole in the beautiful terrace by reason of water percolating through the bank of the canal. The threatening rush of water through the bank, which can be plainly heard above, clearly indicates that in a short time the entire western bank will be worn away, and that navigation through the lift lock next season will certainly be retarded in order to make costly and extensive repairs. And this can hardly be avoided, as the necessary work in making such repairs is difficult to do during extreme winter weather.

Heavy Repair Bill.

There have been expended during the past season on repairs at the Peterborough lift lock between five and six thousand dollars, and it is stated that $25,000 would not pay for the repairs that have taken place during the period of years covering its construction. These costly and extensive breaks in the retaining walls of the upper reaches in this section of the canal surely indicate the necessity of the Minister of Railways and Canals taking the matter up and making full investigation as to whether the statements being made are correct or incorrect. The Examiner is informed that they are substantially correct, but it must be said that this journal is not an engineer and can only judge by results. If these breaks are going to occur from year to year, they should be inquired into and a thorough examination of the construction made, with a view of making the repairs of a permanent character.

An Investigation Demanded.

This lift lock cost over a million dollars, and the Department of Railways and Canals will be held responsible for the undertaking, and the manner in which the work has been done. The public are certainly entitled to a thorough investigation to see whether the statements that are being made are justified, or whether they are misleading. The public hardly expected that a lock costing a million dollars would have such a large expenditure annually for repairs, representing almost double interest on the original cost of the lock. The Examiner is informed that it will take $30,000 to permanently repair and place the embankments in the condition they should have been placed in during construction. What the Examiner would like is to see these rumors and statements cleared up, and no one will be better pleased than the Examiner if they prove to be unfounded.

Clear the Matter Up.

The Minister of Railways and Canals owes it to himself, as well as to the country, to clear up these statements that are continually being made as to the defective construction of the lock. There is one thing certain, that it does not require a microscope to see that the west bank is gradually giving way, and it does not require much engineering or constructive skill to know that water pouring through the bank will surely destroy the embankment, and thereby the usefulness of the canal.

Memorial Tablet Was Dedicated

Yesterday at St. Luke's Church to Memory of Miss Calcutt.

Ceremony Took Place During the Morning Service—Appropriate Office Was Read.

"In loving memory of Adelaine Balfour Calcutt, who died May 27th, 1905. Erected by a few intimate friends."

Such was the inscription upon a handsome brass tablet dedicated, during the morning service at St. Luke's Church to the memory of one who, during her lifetime, was a faithful and energetic worker in behalf of the church.

The dedication ceremony, by the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, took place at the conclusion of the singing of the Te Deum. A portion of the office for the burial of the dead was then recited by the rector, after which the appropriate hymn "For the Saints Who From Their Labour Rest" was sung.

The loving memory in which the late Miss Calcutt is held by her former associates in church and social life renderes the dedication ceremony of deep interest to the congregation.

A Fatal Drowning Accident Yesterday

Special to The Examiner.

Belleville, Nov. 6.—A double drowning accident occurred about 10 o'clock last night near Nigger Island, in the Bay of Quinte, about seven miles from this city. Four men were out in a rowboat, namely, Frank Ondercook, William Urquhart, of Albery, Prince Edward County; and James and John Garbutt, of Thurlow, when, in some manner, the boat upset. Help was at hand, and the four men were got ashore alive, but Ondercook and Urquhart died before medical aid could reach them. Both the dead men were married and had families. They were highly respected in the community.

And the House Will be Completed This Week.

The Fire Escapes Will be Erected To-morrow—A Great Opening Bill.

To-day the seats for the new opera house arrived from Preston, where they were manufactured by the School Furniture Company. They are now being placed in position. The fire escapes also arrived this morning, and to-morrow morning they will be erected.

Mr. Bradburn now states that he now expects the house to be completed by the end of this week.

To-morrow the bills announcing "The Yankee Consul" will be put on the boards. Some idea of the quantity of paper which will be posted may be gained from the statement that 724 sheets will be used, and nothing to equal it in greatness has ever been seen in Peterborough.

Later information in relation to the opening play has been received. The stars in the great comic opera, which will be put on for the opening are Reuben Fax and Vera Michelena. There will be a chorus of 50, and about 65 people comprise the company, which played nine months in New York, three months in Chicago and three months in Boston and one month in Philadelphia.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE 300 YEARS AGO GUNPOWDER PLOT

In Two Peterborough Churches Yesterday Splendid Sermons Were Preached in Commemoration of the Discovery of the Plot--Members of Local Orange Lodges Attended Divine Service Yesterday--Rev. A. H. Brace Preached in the Afternoon--Rev. Dr. Crothers in the Evening--History of the Plot.

The ter-centenary of Gunpowder Plot was celebrated in Peterborough yesterday in a fitting manner by the local Orange lodges. In the afternoon three of the lodges of that fraternity attended divine service in a body at the Park street Baptist church, where a forceful sermon was preached by Rev. A. H. Brace, a recently installed member of Diamond L. O. L.

About 150 members of the Order assembled at their hall, Simcoe street, and at 3 o'clock paraded in the following order to the church:

Black Knights.
Diamond Lodge, No. 80.
(George Bartley, Master.)
'Prentice Boys.
(F. Reynolds, Master.)

Quite a number of members of Cole Saunderson and Nassau Lodges were also in attendance.

As a preface to his remarks, Rev. Mr. Brace extended, in the name of the church, a hearty welcome to the visiting brethren. The text chosen was Philippians iii., 16 "This one thing I do."

The very essence of the text was, said the speaker in his opening remarks, singleness of purpose: In connection with the text, another had arisen in his mind—"Earnestly contend for the faith once delivered unto the saints."

Under the impulse of a holy purpose, life is a magnificent success. Emmerson has said, "If you want a companion, tie your life to a worthy motive." The holy purpose which throbs in the hearts of members of the Orange Order is similar to that of our sovereign, King Edward VII., that of "defenders of the faith." (Following this, and most appropriately so, "God Save the King," was sung with heartiness and spirt by the congregation.)

Three hundred years ago, the present November, continued the preacher, King James VI. of Scotland was crowned as James I. of England. Those were troublous days in the land across the sea. His accession to the throne was followed by the emigration of the Puritans, first to Amsterdam, and, at a later date, to America, in the famous voyage of the Mayflower. The Roman Catholics also chafed much under the legislative action of the day. The preacher followed with a graphic description of the infamous plot of Guy Fawkes and his companions, which was frustrated in such a dramatic manner by the miscarriage of the plans of the conspirators.

Similar instances, in which famous epochs in history had eventuated through the medium of the most trivial incidents, were quoted. Esther and the Jewish nation had been saved from annihilation because a king could not sleep, and William of Orange had landed at Torbay merely through the shifting of the wind. At this anniversary there is welling up in our hearts gratitude to God, and a holy purpose for which we will contend earnestly.

Let it be understood, said the preacher, that there is a feeling of goodwill by Orangemen toward Roman Catholic citizens, to whom help, if it is needed, would be given. If hungry, they would be fed, and if in want, assistance rendered. There was no feeling against followers of the church, but against their system. They were worthy of a better system. This was classed by the speaker as a huge political machine, scheming and plotting to get its hands on the governments of the present day, as well as upon the editorial and reportorial staffs of our daily papers. The voting power of the Roman Catholic church is upon the increase. This is the purpose in view. Senator Choquette recently said that "we cannot afford to fail to recognize that the Roman Catholic vote is a power in every struggle. The striking contrast in the birth rate in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario was commented upon. Race suicide was scathingly denounced. Many English people, the speaker remarked, look upon a birth with abhorrance. If present conditions continue for twenty years we will be outnumbered. If the English decreased, and the French increase at the present rate, how are we to meet them at the polls? Rome is stretching out and pulling every string to accomplish its purpose. 7,000 clergy of the English church are now advocating lights upon the altar, the burning of incense, prayers for the dead, and the confessional. The heroes of the hour in England and Wales are Dr. Clifford and Lloyd George, M.P., who are going through the country contending for the faith.

A life is barren without a noble motive. History is full of examples of failure for want of purpose. Two roads confront every man in the journey of life—one, the smooth and easy path of connivance; the other, the air-line of duty. There are likewise two kinds of Christians—the faltering, and the one who comes out on the side of God and the side of right.

The pure, truth-born purpose fits us for life's best work.

Charles I. tried to force his Roman notions upon Scotland, but the people arose in their might and signed the famous Covenant of Grey Friars' Churchyard. Many were so fired against the Roman Catholics that they signed the covenant with their own blood in a holy purpose to do God's will. This clear-cut purpose in life infuses enthusiasm. The work of men of historic achievements has been accomplished by enthusiasm combined with such a purpose. "Some trust in horses, and some in chariots," concluded the speaker, "but we will remember the name of the Lord our God, and in His name will we set up our banners."

AT GEORGE STREET CHURCH

In the George street church last night the pastor, Rev. Dr. Crothers, dealt in a sermon with the ter-centenary of the Gunpowder Plot, his text being Psalm, 44; 1: "We have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us, what work Thou didst in their days, in the times of old." After referring to the number of centenary celebrations which had taken place within the last year, the speaker remarked that that which was being celebrated yesterday was one specially worthy of being remembered. He stated that he was not there for the purpose of offending the Roman Catholic citizens. It should, he said, be the aim of every Canadian to develop the interests of the country in every possible way. We are side by side with the people of another faith, 41 per sent. of the population of Canada being Catholics and fifty-nine Protestants, and he supposed there would be some people who would say that it was out of place for him to refer to these matters of which he intended to speak. If the papers of this city, he remarked, referred to the service at all, he supposed at least one of them would say that it was out of place to recall something which took place 300 years ago.

A reference was made by the reverend gentleman to the title which might well be applied to King Edward, that of the Imperial peacemaker.

If Protestants go to the Roman Catholic church they must expect to hear some very plain things said, and on the other hand if the Roman Catholics go to Protestant churches they will likely hear statements which will not be pleasing to them, but he reserved to himself the right to speak of these things.

The relation of the human soul to its God should be one of the most delicate, he believed, but unfortunately there is no question upon which there has been so much controversy, or over which there has been such suffering and such shedding of blood. The history of this controversy is a long story and takes one back to apostolic days. The speaker then reviewed the events which led up to the time when in the 11th century Gregory VII, aiming at Imperial sway, overcame Henry, of Germany.

There had constantly, he said, been a struggle going on in Great Britain, and, the Spaniards, thinking to strike a decisive blow organized and sent forth the great Armada, which, fortunately was scattered and the country saved, not one of the men accompanying that great fleet of ships reaching the shores of Britain, except it was as a prisoner. The speaker remarked that there were people who would have us forget all about the Spanish Armada, and who say that it was but a political question, and not one in which the church was interested.

The reverend gentleman related his experience in standing on the spot, marked by a cross where Ridley and Latimer were burned to death, by the order of the church. Let those deny it who can, said he.

The ascension of James to the throne of England brought hope, to the Catholics that they would receive better treatment than they had under Elizabeth, but the Protestants could not but remember what they had suffered under Mary, and there was no relief afforded the Catholics after James was made King. He knew, he said, that the Roman Catholic church would say that the church was not responsible for the action of those men who organized the Gunpowder Plot, but that it was the work of misguided men, but there was no doubt that Garnet the Superior of the Jesuit Order had a guilty knowledge of the affair because he was executed with the other ten men.

The speaker thought there was no doubt that the Catholics had to suffer under the reign of James, which was a regrettable fact, as it is always regrettable when any one is persecuted.

The story of the plot and its discovery was told by the speaker, who said that when we look at what might have been had the plot been successful we could not be other than thankful that by the intervention of Providence the act planned was averted.

The condition of the countries of South America, Mexico and Spain were contrasted with that of the countries in which Protestantism is allowed to flourish, and the speaker held that when the persecution of the Protestants in Mexico was remembered it should be a cause for thankfulness that Protestantism has triumphed in Britain.

There should be, he said no controversy with the Roman Catholics as far as their method of worshipping God is concerned. They have a right to do it as they please, and though they may be mistaken, Protestants are, from their standpoint also mistaken, but in any case this should not be the cause of a controversy. The speaker would, he affirmed be the first to head a crowd to protect a Chinaman in his loss house if it were necessary.

The motto of the Roman Catholic church, however, is always the same, and it is that of steady intolerance, and she asserts her superiority to the civil powers. The speaker remarked that he must be accurate in his statements as to this, or he would be corrected to-morrow. As evidence of the truth of this statement the reference to thee conditidn of the Philipine Islands, Spain and Mexico, and quoted President Diaz, of the latter Republic as having said that what Mexico needed was Protestantism.

Some of the things which Protestants had to be thankful for were the right of private judgment, and the free possession of God's word. He did not wish to say that Roman Catholics were deprived of God's word, because if he did say that he knew he would be corrected to-morrow, but he would say that it has to be interpreted according to the teaching of the church.

Speaking of the dangers which threatened Protestants he said that the first was from within, and it was found in the division of the Protestant churches, and these divisions were not pleasant, but if he were asked to what church he belonged he would say, "to the church of Christ." Another danger was that of political influence. Roman Catholic politicians were neither Conservative nor Reformers, evidence of which was given at the last session of Parliament. When it comes to a question of the church it always has the precedence.

There are politicians, he said, in both parties who will do almost anything to get votes, and after they have been elected they will do almost anything to remain in.

In conclusion the speaker advised all classes to live peaceably to-gether, but urged Protestants to stand up for their rights.

Snowballs Are Going At $12 Per Dozen

That's the Rate of Assessment Fixed by the Magistrate This Morning,

The Window Breakers Had Better Call at the Police Station.

The habit of throwing snowballs is not only annoying, but very dangerous as well. His Worship, Police Magistrate Dumble thought so, and in accordance with his opinion, fined a boy, guilty of throwing a snowball at a team, one dollar without costs. The Chief happened to be on hand at the time and caught the culprit in the act. It may seem simply innocent amusement on the part of young boys to hurl snowballs at an unoffending bystander, and "pluck" him on the ear or knock his hat off, but the victim always has totally different views on the subject. Not long ago a boy threw a missile, half of snow and ice, at a carter who was standing on his dray—and hit him right on the side of the head. The man chased his assailant down the lane behind China Hall, and over the Market Square. But it was like deer and dog and trying to catch a deer, and the boy made good his escape. The spectators had a good laugh, but what about the carter? and serious damage to property is done as the following paragraph will show:

On Friday night, November 3, a couple of windows were broken in a residence on the corner of Wolfe and Rubidge streets, and snowballs were thrown by parties known to the police, were responsible for the damage. It will be in the interests of the offenders to call at the police station and pay for the damage done, for if they don't the case may be rather expensive. A stone was thrown through a window near the corner of Charlotte and George street son the same night.

An Epworth League Rally

To-night the Epworth League of Charlotte street Methodist church will hold a special session. For some months during the time that the schoolroom has been undergoing repairs, the league has met under difficulties, and now that the schoolroom is again ready for occupancy, it has been decided to hold a rally. This will take place to-night, when all the members of the league are expected to be present, and a social evening will be spent. Refreshments will be served, and a good programme will be rendered.

PAINFUL PERIODS

Suggestions How to Find Relief from Such Suffering.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. If it is painful or irregular something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

More than fifty thousand women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes painful and irregular menstruation.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Matilda Richardson of 177 Wellington Street, Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Some four years ago my usually good health began to fail. I had severe pains in my back, my head ached, I would have dizzy spells, and during my monthly periods I would suffer intense pain. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad that I did, for it brought new life and health to me. My monthly periods were natural and painless, and my general health improved. I have not had an ache or a pain since, and I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what your medicine has done for me."

Mme. Louise McKenzie of Mount Carmel, Montreal, Canada, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had heard so much good about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I started to take it for painful menstruation so that when it cured me I was not surprised. I had suffered with blinding headaches and pain until it seemed that I must scream. These pains lasted from five to ten days every month, and you can understand how glad I was to get relief. I am in the best of health, and am pleased to give you this testimonial for what your medicine has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rests upon the well-earned gratitude of Canadian women.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

USED UP AND TIRED OUT

MEN AT THE OFFICE
WOMEN IN THE HOME
CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Kaldon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, had the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.

"Messenger" Gives Story Of The Plot

The "Home Messenger" This Month Has an Article in Which the Gunpowder Plot is Dealt With—The Church Was, It is There Shown, Not Responsible for the Action of the Daring Spirits Who Originated the Plot.

The Examiner has been requested to publish the following article from the Home Messenger, on the subject of the Gunpowder Plot.

It is customary in all Catholic publications to call attention to the chief religious feasts that occur during the year, in order that the faithful may celebrate them with becoming pomp. The month of November has its share of important days which we must not fail to remember. All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day usher in the month, and the feast of St. Andrew brings it to a close, while the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin, and the virtues of the philosopher St. Catharine, are proposed to the faithful for commemoration on intervening days.

But there is one other day which must not pass unnoticed, although most Catholics do not attach to it any special religious significance. It is, however, a day which is never forgotten by certain fanatical opponents of our religion, who annually give vent to fervent thanksgivings, and celebrate by speech and song and the participation of good cheer, the happy deliverance of their ancestors from what they term a cruel disaster, which threatened to swallow them up in early death. The day referred to is the ever memorable one to which history has given the name of Guy Fawkes' Day. Trafalgar and Waterloo, the signing of Magna Charta and the Declaration of Rights are not more loudly commemorated than is the fifth of November, the day on which was frustrated a rash plot gotten up a few unrepresentatives, who acted in direct opposition to the voice of their ecclesiastical superiors. "Guy Fawkes" has furnished yearly themes for fierce invective against the Catholic Church. Even in our own young city, we are informed, a celebration will take place, at which, of course, the memory of "Guy" will be execrated, and the whole odium of the plot laid at the door of the Catholic Church. The poor Jesuits, invested with a character of baseness and intrigue, will also come in for their share of denunciation. A few members of Parliament, not local ones, we are pleased to state, and a few Protestant ministers, not the best or most enlightened amongst them, we are also pleased to assert, will grace the gathering with their presence.

November 5th is thus considered by certain enemies of our religion as a day for special rejoicing; but, without doubt, when true history is examined, every unbiased mind will be forced to admit that the glory of the Catholic Church, and her loyal members, is not in the least lessened by the events connected with that day. Let us look at the story of the plot, and the truth of this statement will be at once perceived.

For some years previous to the accession of James I., A. D., 1603, the Catholics of England suffered all kinds of torture. The executive authority of the country carried out with the greatest rigour the most barbarous penal code hitherto known in history. With dynasty, the hopes of the down-trodden Catholics began to rise, for now they acknowledged as their king, James VI. of Scotland, son of the martyred queen, Mary Stuart. They might, therefore, look forward with confidence to better times; at least they could expect that the fairness and humane treatment accorded to brave hearts would not be denied to them. Their hopes for a time were realized. The penal laws were not enforced, although they still remained unrepealed. But such a state of things did not last long. Scenes similar to those witnessed in Poland after the proclamation of the recent ukase, displeased the dominant element in the realm. The numerous conversions to the Catholic Church set up, once more, the cry of "Down with the Papists." The Puritans, in whose religion James had been educated, accused him of unduly favouring the Catholics, and, without any words in defence of his attitude, or on behalf of the members of the persecuted Church, he acquiesced in the charge, and then set about the task of reinforcing the penal laws with increased severity.

The history of the sad days that followed tells us that not fewer than 6,000 Catholics suffered the severest penalties of the penal code. Hundreds were reduced to beggary, and were thrusted in such a way as to drive them to desperation. Under such circumstances, and with such provocation, it is little wonder that some Catholics committed deeds of violence by way of retaliation. Furthermore, it must be admitted that the Catholic clergy of England deserve great credit for the way they held the Catholic population in check, and for the successful manner in which they induced all the oppressed to refrain from any opposition. But flesh and blood will sometimes assert themselves in spite of the best of monitors. They will sometimes revolt against the higher promptings of the soul, when called upon to witness and to suffer atrocities that are worse than brutal. So it was with the originators of the Gunpowder plot. Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the Catholic bishops and priests, notwithstanding the threats of excommunication which they held out against those Catholics who would offer any resistance, a few daring spirits broke away from all restraint. Robert Catesby took the lead. He was, we are told by a recent historian, "a rich gentleman, of an ancient and honourable family, brave, accomplished, honest of purpose, exceedingly zealous for his religion, in his dealings with others, a born leader among men." To a man endowed with such characteristics, unjust persecution, such as that which he and his co-religionists had been called upon to endure, must have been truly unbearable. He induced Guy Fawkes and a few others to engage in the rash and evil deed of blowing up the King, the Lords, and the Commons, in Parliament assembled.

Robert Cecil, the King's secretary, was made acquainted with the plot long before it was ripe, but he quietly bided his time, and used the most unscrupulous means to make it appear that the Jesuits were the prime movers in the dastardly deed. Father Garnet, the Provincial of the English Jesuits, was accused of being the author of the plot, and was called upon to establish his innocence in fourteen treasonable acts charged against him. On none of these charges could anything be proved against Father Garnet. But during the trial evidence was given which went to show that Father Garnet had known of the plot for some time before the day set for its execution. However, his information had been received through the confessional, and consequently his lips were closed by the sacramental seal. He had, we learn from the trial, condemned and disapproved of the plot, but his disapproval was not efficacious in putting a stop to its progress. These facts, regarding his knowledge of the scheme of Catesby, were revealed by spies whom Cecil had ordered to overhear a confession made to Father Garnet.

In spite of the fact that nothing was proved against Father Garnet, he was condemned to death. The real plotters suffered the same penalty.

On Catholic principles we condemn the action of Catesby and his followers, and we say that they deserved punishment for their rash and inconsiderate scheme. But those who applaud the atrocities which caused that plot cannot consistently blame them. During the few years of persecution which preceded the Gunpowder Plot, thousands of Catholics were murdered, numbers were maimed and mangled, and hundreds of families were reduced to beggary. If this treatment of innocent, law-abiding persons is approved of, how can the Gunpowder Plot cause any shock? Yet, strange to say, the very same men, who rejoice at the treatment accorded Catholics are the very persons who assume hypocritical faces when they hear of Guy Fawkes, and exclaim with great expression: "Isn't it awful! awful!" Father Garnet comes in for his share of condemnation. But those who know anything about history admit that he was perfectly innocent. He did his utmost to prevent the plotters from carrying out their deadly schemes, but all to no avail. He did not, it is true, reveal what he had heard in confession. As a true priest, he could not. He preferred to die a victim to the seal of confession rather than betray the trust reposed in him.

Father Garnet was not the only innocent victim of the fury of the English Protestants. The whole Catholic body of clergy and laity, had to suffer for the rashness of disobedient members. Seventy new articles were added to the penal code, and these old ones were re-inforced with increased barbarity. These laws are still unrepealed, and though they are not now enforced, they still stand on the statute books of England as silent but strong witnesses to the barbarity exercised towards Catholics, a barbarity sufficient to set on foot a hundred plotters, to rouse a hundred seditions. But these days are gone, never to return we hope. When true history is examined, the enemies of our religion have no cause for rejoicing. Catholics on the contrary, may well rejoice, for their ancestors bore the sufferings of these days nobly for God's sake, and for the cause of our holy religion. It is really a matter of surprise, as we have already stated, that they endured persecution so heroically and that history has not had to record more than one Gunpowder Plot.

Let us therefore honour the memory of these heroic souls, and, when the events connected with the Gunpowder Plot are recounted to us, let us recall in loving remembrance the name of Father Garnet, who, although innocent, was sacrificed to satisfy the thirst of the English people for blood. P.J.G.

Yesterday At Y. W. C. A.

Rev. W. M. Mackay Addressed the Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Rev. Mr. MacKay spoke at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday. His remarks were based on "Looking unto Jesus, who is the author and finisher of our faith." He said that our best moments are our vision moments — we live most when we are our best. To reverence our vision moments is to reverence God's law. If we could only always live as we feel we must at such times, how our lives would be spent! It is true that God comes into our hearts. The Christian life is the procession between our ideal hours and the attainment of our ideals. The object of the Christian life is to attain to this ideal life, presented to us in our vision hours. It is Christ that gives us our ideals, and we should reverence ourselves—we should be "living epistles." It is by reverencing that which is God-like within us that we live the Christian life. Woman should recognize that the attitude of any community depends on their ideals.

"I'm Well Because of Liquozone," is a Tale Told Everywhere.

In almost every hamlet—every neighborhood—there are living examples of what Liquozone can do. Wherever you are, you need not go far to find some one who has been helped by it.

Talk to some of those cured ones; perhaps your own friends are among them. Ask if they advise you to try Liquozone. Or let us buy you a bottle, and learn its virtue for yourself. If you need help, please don't wait longer; don't stay sick. Let us show to you—as we have to millions—what Liquozone can do.

What Liquozone Is.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ. Besides germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Liquozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, scientists traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Liquozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Liquozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

QUEER CASE OF DISQUALIFICATION.

(Hamilton Herald.)

Harford Ashley was, some twenty years ago or more, an active Liberal worker in East Hastings, and was an unsuccessful candidate for the Legislature in the Liberal interests. For some years he has been a Division Court clerk in Belleville. Last July Mr. Ashley received the following remarkable communication:

Department of Attorney-General, Ontario.
Toronto, 5th July, 1905.

Dear Sir, — It is stated that you have taken a very active part in elections during the past few years; in fact, that you were the Liberal candidate in East Hastings some years ago, and that you have always worked hard for your party.

If these charges are true, will you kindly send in your resignation as Division Court clerk.

Yours truly,
(Signed) M. Cunrey,
Private Secretary.

Hartford Ashley, Esq., Division Court, clerk, Belleville, Ont.

Up to the present time Mr. Ashley has declined to accept this official invitation to resign. He admits that he was somewhat of a partizan before his appointment, even to the extent of having accepted a Liberal nomination, but he says that when he was appointed to office he dropped politics. He knows no good reason why he should resign, and virtually tells the government if it is bound to have his head, it must do the decapitation act itself.

We admire Mr. Ashley's spirit, and we think he is quite right in holding that the fact that once upon a time he was a candidate for the Legislature should not disqualify him as a Division Court clerk. Can it be possible that the Attorney-General holds that candidature for the Legislature is sufficient disqualification for public office? If so, what defence can be make for the appointment of Mr. Clancy as provincial auditor? And if the queer principle laid down in this letter is to be recognized as just and righteous, think of all the judges, the crown attornys, the customs and inland revenue collectors and inspectors, and postmasters and registrars, and sheriffs who are holding positions wrongfully!

Probably Attorney-General Foy's private secretary didn't submit that letter to his chief before it was mailed.

Canada Has Prize Farmers

Canada has the advantage of having her wheat fields cultivated almost exclusively by experienced farmers, while the early settlers upon the wheat lands of the United States were a heterogeneous mass from all the corners of Christendom, often ignorant of the proper methods of farming, often ill supplied with tools and implements, and frequently lacking the proper kind of seed. Canada, on the other hand, has been able to profit by the experience of forty years of wheat farming upon the Northwestern prairies of the United States. Seventy-five per cent. of the immigrants who are taking up land here are up to date, well to do, educated farmers, familiar with the chemistry of the soil, and the most profitable methods of cultivation. They are not wearing out their lands by planting every year, but are preserving their fertility by summer-fallowing, rotation of crops, and by observing other principles of the agricultural science. This means a great deal. It will count several bushels to the acre for several years.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Free Lecture.

Do not fail to hear Judge Septimus J. Hanna, C. S. B., of Colorado Springs, Col., lecture on "Christian Science, the Religion of the Bible," in Bradburn's opera house, Friday, evening, November 10th, at eight o'clock. Admission free. Bring your friends. 1w3d

Dedication Festival Of St. John's Church

Commemoration a Double Anniversary—The Opening of the Church in 1835 and the Restoration in 1882--Three Largely Attended Services Yesterday--Two Splendid Services Sermons by Rev. T. W. Powell, M.A.--Festival Services to be Continued.

The Dedication Festival of St. John's, so auspiciously inaugurated yesterday, has a triple significance. It commemorates the seventieth anniversary of the opening of St. John's church, the oldest church structure in the city, and the most beautifully situated—a beacon on a headland—and also the restoration anniversary—All Saints', 1882. It also signalizes in its character the starting point of a new crusade of all church activities. The programme, so to speak of the festival events is more elaborate than usual, in keeping with the latter object. In addition to the special services on All Saints' Day, and the three services yesterday, there will be a parochial reunion and conference of church workers in the Guild Hall, tonight; and on Sunday next, Nov. 12th, there will be in the morning a sermon by Rev. C. E. Ryerson, M.A., of Tokyo, Japan, and at 7 p.m., Evensong with special musical service, to be followed on Sunday, Nov. 19th, by two services at both of which Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, will be the preacher. On Monday evening, Nov. 20th, the Dedication Festival will conclude with a lecture by Dr. Symonds on "Leading Ideas in the Life of Lord Beaconsfield."

The character of the initial services of the important series were from the human point of view, most encouragingly successful, large congregations being present at all the services which seemed to be marked by solemnly devotional as well as gladsome character. At the 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock celebrations, ministered by the Rector, Rev. E. V. Stevenson and Rev. T. W. Powell, there were 230 communicants out of the some 375 in the congregation.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the day's services were the very excellent sermons preached at eleven and seven by Rev. T. W. Powell, M.A., Eglinton, Toronto, marked by simple and appealing eloquence, direct, devotional and breathing the sincere spirit of the Gospel and full of subdued earnestness. The morning sermon was pronounced by some long-time parishioners to be one of the best sermons ever delivered in St. John's. His text was "Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them." This was characterized as an appeal to the faith of the congregation, which if it would realise, the presence of God in the church according to his promise, would revolutionize the city morally and religiously. God's presence in St. John's for the past seventy years had laid the congregation under deep obligation for the blessings that presence represented, both actively and potentially. The congregation were urged to remember that God who had special places for his presence as shown in the Scriptures, was present in his house and to regulate the attitude of reverence and devotion accordingly. This would lead to reverence and a deeply devotional service and the results would be to make St. John's, as it might become, a great regenerating influence in the community. The duty was insisted upon of the congregation to uphold and back their pastor, who, the preacher said, could be made whatever influence for good they choose to make him.

Evening Service.

In the evening another large congregation filled the church. This service was taken by the rector and the hymns and prayers were special to occasion. The preacher took for his text: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, etc." The preacher deduced three facts in connection with the three acts of prayer, fasting and almsgiving, we owed a duty to God, to ourselves and to our neighbours, and proceeded to elaborate these three ideas in a most telling manner, showing how we could lay up treasures in Heaven through these media. Religion was a serious matter, something not to be trifled with. Speaking of almsgiving we might not all have silver and gold, but we had service which we could use to benefit our fellow men—we could give sympathy, kindness and love, in human measure, like unto that of our blessed Lord, and we could give ourselves and all that we have and are to the Lord. Prayer was one of the first duties we owed to God and we only prayed truly when we saw, heard and felt God by the eye, ear and hand of faith. The hearers was urged as business men never to take up any business upon which he could not consult God in prayer. By prayer we stored up treasures in Heaven. Fasting was a necessity to physical well being, but fasting was not a mere abstinence from foods that we had grown tired of, and in fuller enjoyment of others, but it was a bringing of the body into subjection—gaining the greatest victories, the mastery over self in the battle with sin. Fasting developed strength of Christian character and that was the greatest ideal—Jesus Christ descended, served and obeyed, showing an example of the greatest and goodliest humility of character. Sin destroyed character and though we might sin and be forgiven, yet sin left its mark on character. A sound board might be driven full of nails and the nails removed; the board remained but its strength was impaired as the strength of our character was impaired by repeated sin; even if forgiven the marks of guilt would remain upon our Christian characters. By so living as to reach the ideal indicated we should lay up treasures in Heaven, and live in close communion with God. The speaker closed a most effective sermon by repeating Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

At the offertory a quartette—"Now the Day is Over"—was sung by Misses Pedlar and Jackson and Messrs. Morphet and Sawers. Miss Pedlar took the soprano solos in a very creditable manner, and Mr. Morphet, the tenor solos, in his usual excellent style.

Rev. Mr. Powell addressed the Sunday School in the afternoon in a most interesting manner and the deep impression he made in St. John's was evidenced by the fact that after the evening service fully twenty-five men of the congregation waited upon him in the vestry, urging him to preach the annual sermon to the St. Andrew's Brotherhood. Unfortunately Mr. Powell's engagement prevented his entertaining the request, so pressingly and appreciatively made.

A Defence Of The Bakers Of Peterborough

Mr. F. W. Bates Says Price Is Not Too High.

For Months Past Bread Has Been Sold Without Profit.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The bakers of this city have been subjected to some rather severe criticism lately regarding the price of bread, and I have been asked to make this explanation on behalf of the bakers. It has been said that as flour has dropped in price that, therefore, bread should be cheaper. Now, under ordinary conditions this would be quite proper and reasonable, providing the drop in flour was sufficient to warrant it. The fact of the matter is that the price of bread has been too low in Peterborough, according to the price of flour. During last winter and the first part of this summer flour reached an almost unprecedented high price, and the bakers of this city sold bread at a price at which there was absolutely no profit for themselves. The bakers would have been perfectly justified at that time in raising prices to 5 1-2 or 6 cents per 1 1-2 pound loaf, as they did in may other towns and cities, but they did not do so here. Had they done so they could now lower the price down to 5 cents again, and everybody would be satisfied. I believe the statement can safely be made that bread is supplied to consumers in Peterborough is of better quality and on an average cheaper than any other city or town in Ontario.

Thanking you, on behalf of the bakers, for space to make this explanation I am sir,

Yours truly,
F. W. BATES.

To-night At St. John's

A most important meeting of the members of the congregation of St. John's will be held to-night in the school house. This meeting, which will take the form of a conference, is of the most vital importance in connection with the forward movement, of which the Dedication Festival is a starting point. In spite of the unfavourable weather it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Headaches Cured

One cause of headache and nervous diseases very often is Hyperopia, or far-sightedness. If your eye is normal you require no muscular effort to see distinct objects. Some eyes are so formed that they require a muscular effort to see clearly far objects. Such eyes are DOUBLY strained when used for near vision. This EXERTION CONSTITUTES EYE STRAIN.

75 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain and can only be cured by removing the the cause. That is what our glasses do.

THE TATE OPTICAL CO.:

GENTLEMEN,—For nearly two years I have been troubled with headaches from which I could GET NO RELIEF. Was advised to consult you. I have been wearing the G asses you fitted for me for some time. My HEADACHES have ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and I attribute to the use of your glasses. Yours truly,

Lamented Death Of Mrs. Blackwell

Passed Away Yesterday at Her Home in Douro.

Mrs. James Blackwell, an old resident of the Township of Douro, passed away on Sunday. She was a daughter of the late Robert Reid, Esq., who settled in Douro in the year 1822. Of a large family, only one sister, Mrs. Rolleston, of Lakefield, is left. Other members of the family well known in past years were Mrs. Strickland, of Lakefield; Mrs. Dr. McNab; Mrs. Ivan O'Beirne, Mr. John Reid, surveyor, and Mr. James Reid, of Peterborough.

The deceased was eighty-seven years of age, and for the last three years had been in failing health. Her kind, gentle disposition, and truly Christian character made her a dutiful, devoted wife, and loving mother. She leaves to mourn her a husband and four sons. The funeral will take place Tuesday next at two o'clock from the family residence, Douro, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Man Had A "Hold-Up" Vision

Laid Weird and Improbable Complaint With Local Police.

Complaint was laid to the local police on Saturday morning by a citizen that he had been held up and robbed of a sum of money, a valise and an umbrella on Aylmer street, upon the evening previous, after his return from a visit to Toronto.

The story as told by the man has a strongly improbable aspect, in view of the fact that the valise which he alleged was taken, was found later at the C.P.R. station, where he had deposited it a short time before.

It has subsequently transpired that the man, who was in a drunken condition, spent the night in a field on Aylmer street, and while wooing the gentle Morpheus, probably had visions of the "hold-up," which he alleged took place.

Mr. H. M. Field and The Conservatory

Evidences of Prosperity and Deepening Sense of Aspiration.

The public will be pleased to learn that the Peterborough Conservatory of Music is meeting with much success in the development of musical taste and talent and musical ambition in Peterborough. This is shown in the one case by the fact that the large quarters now occupied are becoming insufficient to meet the demands made upon them. The presence of such an artist as Mr. H. M. Field, the distinguished piano virtuoso, upon the faculty is a proof that the musical aspirations of Peterborough citizens are of an encouraging character. Mr. Field has a class of very respectable proportions, some coming from Cobourg and Tweed. He is greatly pleased with the prospects as far as he is concerned, and on Saturday remained in the city to spend the evening and Sunday. On Saturday evening he was the guest at a little informal supper of Miss Alice M. Roger at Ordach. About twenty of our musical citizens were present to meet Mr. Field and enjoy the magnificent music provided. Mr. Field is among the first of pianists on this continent and is as personally pleasant and unaffected as he is gifted in his art. He puts on no superior airs—except musically—and is so apris of his art that he never tires of performing. On Saturday evening he gave a long and delightful list of selections of varied type, and his splendid playing, his superb tone and wonderful technical ability were as conspicuously shown in a stormy rhapsody as in the delicate and infinitely graceful presentation of a Chopin berceuse. Mr. Field, an artist of the first rank, tersely expresses his relation to the pianoforte, and fortunate are the pupils that enjoy the educative advantages of his instruction.

Presentation Of Address To Mr. Robinson

Retiring Superintendent of George Street Sunday School Remembered.

An Address Expressing Appreciation of His Years of Service Presented Yesterday.

At the session of George Street Methodist Sunday School yesterday afternoon an interesting feature was the presentation of an address to Mr. T. W. Robinson, who, after holding the position of superintendent for eight years and was associated with the school of over forty years in different capacities, has resigned. It was felt by the teachers and officers that his long association with the school should be recognized in some appropriate manner, and it was decided by the committee in whose hands the matter was placed, that an address should be prepared, suitably engrossed and framed, and presented to Mr. Robinson.

After the opening of school Mr. Robinson was called to the platform on which were Messrs. J. Jeffries and D. W. Dumble, ex-superintendents; Mr. A. W. Cressman, superintendent of the Home Department and the pastor.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong briefly referred to the occasion and the following address, which had been prepared by Mr. W. Pringle, was read by Mr. J. S. Knapman, secretary of the school:

T. W. Robinson, Esq.,

Dear Sir,—

The School Management Committee of the George Street Methodist Church have learned with regret of your decision to resign the position of superintendent of the school and desire to assure you of their appreciation of your long and valued services. For over eight years you have filled that arduous position, a position which we know makes a large demand upon your time and labour, and you have given both faithfully and generously. Your best efforts have always been made in the interest of the welfare and prosperity of the school, and we have admired the zeal with which you have performed the duties of the office and entered into any special undertaking proposed for the benefit of the school. You have won for yourself an enduring place in the affection and esteem of the officers and teachers, who have been your co-workers and of the hundreds of pupils who have been brought under your influence during your long term of office.

While you have declined our request that you continue in the position of superintendent, we hope that you will still remain on the staff of the school with which you have been connected for nearly forty years and give your assistance in the great work of the Master for which it is maintained.

Signed on behalf of the School Management.

W. J. CROTHERS, Pastor.
J. S. KNAPMAN, Asst Supt.
A. E. DIXON, Secretary.

Peterborough, Nov. 4th, 1905.

Mr. Robinson, in acknowledging the gift said that feeling he could not trust himself to make suitable recognition offhand, he had put in writing that which he wished to say to the school. He referred to the importance of the work, to his long term in its service as teacher and officer, and to the growth and progress of the school from year to year. This work was in the hands of the teachers, acting under direction of the superintendent. While it was maintained by many that so good results could not be gained by the service of young men and women as by that of teachers of mature age, he felt that the work of the young and vigorous, of those who were hopeful and alert, was that which would control, lead and bring the most positive results.

Speaking of his connection with the school, he said he had been within its walls nearly all his life. He had grown up with the love for the school and his connection was ever a pleasant duty. He congratulated the school on securing the services of Mr. Armstrong. He urged a loyal support for the superintendent. He thanked the school for the expressions of love, confidence and appreciation contained in the address, and as long as he lived he would remember with gratitude and pride his associations with the school and the kindly feelings towards himself that were reflected in the words of the address.

"It Was a Famous Victory;"

BROCKVILLE OVERWHELMED

By a Superior Team

The Visitors Didn't Have a Chance at Any Stage of the Game —Every Man on the Peterborough Line-Up Played Well— Magnificent Work of Local Back Division—Brockville Wings Completely Outclassed—Peterborough Sure Winners of the Round.

A Brockville wing man caught the ball
When it was on the bound,
And came to ask what he had found,
That was so large and smooth and round,
We've things like these," said Hurtubise,
"At all our famous victories."

Peterborough, 37.
Brockville, 0.

No, it wasn't the Victories of Toronto and the Tigers of Hamilton, but simply Peterborough and the twelve from the banks of the St. Lawrence. While the Island City bunch were badly beaten at all stages of the game, it is only doing them justice to state that their clever centre half and Captain "Bobby" Grey was not on the gridiron to do battle for Xthe east last Saturday. They also claim that a couple of other good men were absentees. Snap back Doran told the Examiner that with all the regular team playing next Saturday he thinks the Peterboroughs will be defeated, and that while he realizes the young end will at all chances for the championship are lost, he is not at all doubtful as to the outcome of the return game in Brockville. The referee, Hugh Hayes, said that in his opinion the home team's chances for winning Xthe championship are bright; and he should know a thing or two about Xit. Umpire Robbins also said that he thought Peterborough would be on the top of the heap at the end of the season.

The crowd on Saturday was a record-breaking one, and the gate amounted to about sixty dollars. Sixty dollars! Just think of it Why that's pretty nearly as much as they'd take in at a curling match in Minto. But it's the most money that has been collected at a rugby match this fall, and the team won, so everybody will have to be satisfied.

The match was easily the most interesting seen here this year, and the homesters played with a vim that astonished their most optimistic backers. The work of Shaw at centre was splendid, and while he has showed a little better form in previous games, he had any member of the Brockville division easily beaten. Crowley tore off some runs that would have "busted" a kinetoscph, and Mulhern made some good dodging sprints. Ford played the game of his life at full back. He followed up with the fleetness of a deer, and his tackling was superb. In the second half particularly he was a source of great trouble to the Brockville backs. Hurtubise used his strength and weight to splendid advantage and played a rattling good game. He is just the man needed when it comes to close work, and in the mass plays he was the backbone of the team. Creegh and Gilbert, the outside wings, are probably the fastest pair in the intermediate O. R. F. U. At less, anything that ever came here couldn't hold them. It is sufficient to say that their work was beyond criticism. Regan and Craig, at inside, were altogether too much for their men, and McDonald and Meagher are a very fast pair of middle "pinmons." Kenny, the Brockville quarter, did most of the punting for the losers. He played a good game and worked very hard throughout. White, at full back, did some good work, but Ford, Gilbert and Crough had him married too closely for him to execute any spectacular plays. Doran, at centre, dug in with a vengeance and played ball all the time. Easton put up a star game on the half line and figured in some brilliant dashes. In the first half he made a beautiful run of about fifty yards and was vociferously applauded by the spectators. Manager Fournier requested the Examiner man to state that he appreciated very much the fair manner in which the people on the bleachers recognized merit on the part of the visiting aggregations. Kenney, the quarter, did splendid work and was the best punter the visitors had. The decisions of referee questioned, and they are undoubtedly as competent a pair of officials as ever blew a whistle on a Peterborough gridiron. There was very little wind during the afternoon and outside of the grounds being slippery, the conditions were favorable for fast rugby. Old Sol's annoying rays were obstructed by an accommodating cloud for the greater part of the afternoon. Just before the game began a few drops of rain spattered the field, but the shower was only a "false alarm," and for the rest of the game the weather was very obliging.

About three o'clock the teams were ready for work, with the following line up:

Peterborough		Brockville
Ford	Full Backs.	White
Mulhern	Half Backs.	Chapman
Shaw		Easton
Crowley	Quarter Backs.	Fairbourne
Gillespie	Snap.	Kenney
Hurtubise	Inside.	Doran
Craig		McRobie
Regan	Middle	Price
Meagher		Dickey
McDonald	Outside	Taylor
Gilbert		Wringer
Crough		Cashally

The Game.

Shaw kicked from centre and Brockville caught the ball and returned at once. Crough received but was tackled before he made much ground. After considerable kicking back and forth Easton made a nice catch. Brockville was offside after the scrimmage, and Peterborough had the ball. Gilbert obtained it after the throw-out and romped towards the Brockville line for a good gain. White caught the pigskin on a kick from Shaw, and was downed near the Brockville line. Kenney, Brockville's quarter, kicked after the scrimmage and Shaw returned. Crowley made a good sprint. Regan brought down Chapman on a good tackle, and shortly after Peterborough rouged.

Score, 1—0.

Shaw made a try for the leather on the kick off, but it bounded off him and Doran embraced the opportunity and the ball as well. Chapman endeavored to make a gain, but Gillespie floored him before he made much headway. The ball was passed out to Kenney, who punted a good one to "Bill" Meagher. Meagher made little ground before he was downed. At this juncture Hurtubise was hurt, not actually hurt, and the game was delayed for a couple of minutes. Shaw kicked and Brockville returned. Crowley made a sensational run that brought forth a volley of applause from the grandstand. Gillespie made a short dash and Brockville shortly afterwards had a down near the line. Things were getting interesting. After an exchange of punts Hurtubise fondled the elusive leather and was shoved over the line for five points. My whay a sigh of relief! Shaw converted on a pretty kick.

Peterborough 7, Brock's town zero.

Brockville lamentated the leather from centre and Fournier yelled, "Steady, boys, steady!" Gilbert made a short run and Mulhern sprinted for about thirty yards. Shaw made a nice punt and Kinney returned. Brockville was playing better at this stage of the game than at any other. Crowley booted it for another big gain and soon after Easton made one of the most beautiful runs of the day. Peterborough scored again, before half-time.

Half time score, 8—0.

Second Half.

Brockville kicked and Gilbert picked up the ball, Shaw punted to Easton, who made his mark. Crowley and Ford figured in a pretty combination play and the former carried it out of touch. Easton grabbed the leather and was tackled. Kenney kicked and Shaw returned, Brockville fumbled, Ford fell on the ball. Craig tackled well. Mulhern caught the ball but was too slow in returning. Hurtubise "bear hugged" White. Crough blocked White's kick and pinned the leather to the ground. It was one of the nicest plays of the day.

Peterborough 13, Idaho City 0.

Shaw failed to convert.

From this on Peterborough carried the ball over the line with a facility of a Hallowe'en boy breaking windows in the front of a house.

Chapman was forced to rouge 14—0. Hurtubise was whoved over in a mass play and Shaw converted 20—0. Shaw drove it over the line and White had to rouge 21—0. Mulhern carried it over for 5 points, 26—0. Shaw didn't convert. Fairbourne tried to retire as he was suffering from water on the knee. Before leaving Brockville, and received further injuries during the game. Gillespie went off to even up. Ford bowled Chapman for a rouge. 27—0. Gilbert forced White to rouge 28—0. The next touch down was made on one of the prettiest trick plays seen here in a long time. Ford, Hurtubise and Shaw being the principals. Brockville thought Hurtubise had the ball but Shaw was the man and he dashed over the line with it and nobody interfered with him. 33—0. Everybody laughed. Shaw didn't convert. Shaw dropped a nice one over the bar for two, 35—0. Ford and Gilbert cornered White and he had to rouge 36—0. White had to rouge once more before time was called—37—0.

The final score was 37—0.

Pigskinnettes.

News!

It is said that Brockville, but it was just like a locomotive "butting" into an impossible snowdrift.

"Attention boys, everybody listen," said Doran at the National on Saturday night. When all eyes were fastened on the speaker, and all ears pricked up for news he read:

"Don't be discouraged, boys. Bigger losers than have been overcome."
—Hon. George P. Graham.

The Brockville players are a gentlemanly bunch and are good losers or winners. No truer sportsmen ever chased the pigskin on the local gridiron. They came here with a crippled team and with their strongest line up they expect to turn the tables at home.

It's rumored that Crowley can't go to Brockville. If he doesn't that puts Brockville stock up a few points. But he probably will. There are always some unconfirmed rumors in the air.

"Who's that man that plays right half?" said Wringer, of the Brockville team.

"Why, that's Bill Crowley," said a local enthusiast, apparently much surprised that everybody didn't know Crowley.

"Gee, he's a peach," was the reply.

Hurtubise took in Great Falls. His work was of the warhorse variety.

Ford played the best game he ever played. Now don't say he played better at some other time. Last Saturday was his best showing and that's beyond denial.

Gilbert and Ford ran together for the whole game. Gilbert is always in the game and last Saturday he had the Brockville back division worried all the time.

Mulhern, Crowley and Shaw made a back division that's pretty near good enough for senior company.

A steadier man than Meagher never donned a laced vest.

Before Fairbairn was injured Gillespie was doing the best he ever did. He seemed rather an unfortunate choice to remove him to cool up.

Regan is the right man for inside. It was like a hockey match in the old rink.

A Brockville man rang up the Examiner.

"Hello, what was the score?"

"Peterborough 37, Brockville 0."

"x x x x x — — —!!"

The reply was lost in the rainstorm.

Craig is a fierce tackler.

McDonald is one of the busiest wings Peterborough has ever had.

HOCKEY

By latest accounts it looks as if there would not be a strong hockey team got together in Fenelon Falls this winter. Gould and Boyce, two of the star seven, have left the town, the former to attend the Toronto Medical School and the latter for Lindsay where he has obtained employment. Among the other players enthusiasm seems to be lacking and the outlook for good games this season is not promising. Lindsay should put up a strong team this season if Boyce plays with them, as he no doubt will, being an expert in the game.

Skin Troubles Of Children

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is so clean and pure, so fine and creamy, so delightfully soothing and healing, that it is especially useful in the nursery for the skin troubles of childhood.

For sunburn, prickly heat and chafing it brings quick relief, and by affording a cure for the simpler irritation of the skin, it positively prevents eczema and scald head, the itching of which means keen torture for the unfortunate victim.

Every mother should know about Dr. Chase's Ointment, for by its use she can save her children much suffering and discomfort.

Mosquito bites, hives and insect bites, poison ivy and every form of skin irritation and eruption, yield readily to the healing, soothing influence of this great ointment, and you can use it with positive assurance that it will not injure the most delicate skin or hurt the growth of the hair.

Unlike the pore-clogging and unsanitary powders, Dr. Chase's Ointment beautifies and benefits the skin by making it soft and velvety.

Mr. C. Wiley, who is employed as a cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., says: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for eczema on my little girl some years ago, and soon brought about a thorough and permanent cure. She suffered for considerable time, and though we tried a great many remedies, Dr. Chase's Ointment was the only preparation to prove effective. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Ointment as it certainly effected a prompt and permanent cure in this case."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous recipe book author, are on every box of the remedies.

A firm of Baltimore architects has drawn plans for a building without any wood in its construction. It will be six stories in height, the entire structure to be of re-inforced concrete and steel. Even the doors, window sashes and door jambs will be of metal.

Does Your FOOD Digest Well?

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body (all the purpose of eating is defeated) no matter how good the food or how carefully compiled to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come dullness, lost appetite, depression and langour. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz.: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, belching, gas in the stomach, etc.

The great point is to cure it, so get back bounding health and vigor.

is wonderfully effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.

Mr. R. G. Harvey, Amelisburg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."

Do not accept a substitute for B.B.B. There is nothing "just as good."

Locust Hill Refuses To Meet Bowmanville

In the Final Games for the Championship of the Midland Football League--Trouble Likely to Develop in the League Over Their Refusal--Matter Will be Dealt With,

There is trouble brewing in the Midland Football League. It will be remembered that in the spring series of games, Bowmanville and Locust Hill were the two teams left in the finals, and since the season was late before they could play off their games, and the Ontario Association ordered the games for the Ontario Intermediate championship to be played, it was arranged that Locust Hill should go ahead and play off with the champions of the Eastern League for the championship of Ontario, the understanding being that Bowmanville should have the privilege of playing their games with Locust Hill in the fall.

Bowmanville is ready to play now, but the Hillers cannot see it, and refuse to meet the Bowmanville team.

The matter is one which the executive will have to deal with, and it is probable that there will be some trouble before the question has been satisfactorily settled.

The Locust Hill team holds the Hamilton Cup, emblematic of the Midland League championship, having won it in, 1904, and they claim to have won it by default this year from Bowmanville.

It is said that there was an agreement made by which the final games were to be played off this fall, it would seem that the Hillers will have to play or give up the cup.

Sailors' Mission Work Dealt With In Sermon

Rev. Jas. Potter, of Kingston, Preached Twice Yesterday.

The Good Work of the Upper Canada Tract Society—Three Missionaries Engaged in Work.

A most interesting review of the work of the Upper Canada Bible Society was given yesterday by Rev. James Potter, of Kingston, the head of the Sailors' Mission, upon Lake Ontario and the River St. Lawrence, under the direction of the Society named above.

It developed in the course of the sermon preached by this gentleman in the Murray street church yesterday morning, in which this work was dealt with, that 12,000 sailors come directly under the work of the society, carried on by Mr. Huntsman, with headquarters at Owen Sound, and with his field of labour on the Georgian Bay, Lake Huron and Lake Superior; and Rev. Mr. Potter, whose scene of operations is from Montreal to Toronto.

To the prosecution of this work, Peterborough last year contributed $113, and it is in its interests that Mr. Potter preached in Murray street and St. Andrew's churches yesterday. Some decidedly interesting information was given by this veteran Sailors' Missionary in reference to the method employed in reaching the sailors and the results of those ministrations.

In Kingston, where Mr. Potter makes his headquarters, there was recently built a Sailors' Snug Harbour, in which services are held on Sunday, and on Tuesday nights, and on Thursday a social evening is held, and this is proving to be a mighty factor in the work. It was erected last year at a cost of $3000, and with the cost of equipment the indebtedness was increased to $3400, but the friends of the society have been generous, and already $1700 has been paid off the principal of the debt, in addition to the interest and the cost of maintenance.

The subject of the sermon preached by Mr. Potter yesterday morning, was that of the prodigal son, his text being St. Luke xv, 17: "And when he came to himself." The story of the young man, who, taking his portion from his father, went into a far country, where his substance was wasted, was told in an interesting manner, leading up to the point in his experience, when he decided that he would go home, after "coming to himself." The speaker applied the story, of which his text formed a part, to the life of the men with whom he worked, and he said that while he had spoken on this subject in Peterborough some three ago, there were always men among the sailors who were coming to themselves, and who were determined to come home, and he might have something new to tell the congregation about the great work of the society with which he was identified.

There was, he said, among the sailors, men who feared neither God nor man, consequently to a young man who was thrown into their association, there was danger. The Upper Canada Tract Society, which he represented, was a growing organization, and was now recognized as one of the two agencies which might be called the arms of the church.

Some facts in connection with the work of the society were given, showing the extent of the operations, both in Canada and in China, where there were, according to the last reports, 86 colporteurs at work, distributing tracts and copies of the Bible. Mr. Potter read extracts from a letter received from Dr. Johns, of Hunan, China, who is at the head of the foreign work, and stated that last year no less than 550,000 copies of Christian publications were distributed through the agency of the society.

In Canada there were 17 men engaged in the work of carrying the Bible and good literature to the sparsely settled portions of the country. There was not a prison, penitentiary of hospital in the country, as far as he knew, in which the society had not placed literature.

Special attention, however, was directed by Mr. Potter, to the sailors' work, which was an important feature of the society's operations. There are three men engaged in this branch, Mr. Huntsman, who works in the Georgian Bay district; Mr. Bone, whose field is in the neighbourhood of the Welland Canal, and who, after having spent thirty-two years in the service of the society, is now eighty-four years of age; and Mr. Potter, with headquarters at Kingston.

The speaker told of a number of instances in his work, in which he had been able to help men, and gave details of the method of carrying on the work in the Sailors' Snug Harbour, at Kingston. The loan libraries, of which there were at the present time, 125, were explained, and he stated that for $5 one of these libraries could be set in circulation. The books are placed in a box and put on board one of the boats plying the lakes, and after remaining there a month, are exchanged for another box.

An appeal was made to the friends of the cause for assistance for the prosecution of this most important work. In the evening Rev. Mr. Potter addressed the congregation of St. Andrew's on the same subject.

$1000 REWARD

Is offered as a guarantee that neither Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription nor Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. Any one publishing false statements concerning their ingredients will be prosecuted. Doctor Pierce's Family Remedies are compounds of medicinal principles, scientifically extracted from native roots that cure the diseases for which they are recommended. They are medicines which have enjoyed the public confidence for over a third of a century. They are medicines not beverages, made to satisfy a craving for "booze."

"Golden Medical Discovery" regulates and invigorates stomach, liver and bowels, and cures dyspepsia, purifies the blood and tones up the system generally.

"Favorite Prescription" cures female weakness, irregularities, exhausting drains, painful periods and kindred ailments peculiar to women. Accept no substitute for these medicines, each of which has a record of marvelous cures. Substitution means selfishness on the part of the dealer who is looking for the greater profit on an inferior article.

"Our daughter who was attending college became very nervous and we were advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. E. C. Fox, of W. R. Leonard, St., Grand Rapids, Mich. "We did so and then you advised us to get the 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took four bottles of the 'Prescription,' and three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and you never saw such a change in a person. She said she did not feel like the same person. She was about seventeen years old at the time. I will gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to every one, advising parents who have young daughters who suffer from nervous troubles to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at once. I am sure it will help them."

REGINALD M'MICHAEL SUICIDES.

Shot Himself in Toronto Hotel Because of Ill-Health.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—With a revolver clutched in his right hand, and a bullet wound in the right temple, indicating clearly the cause of death, Reginald McMichael was found yesterday afternoon in his room at the Walker House. The body reclined upon the left side, and was in sleeping attire, but it was evident that the bed had not been slept in, as the covers were in no way disarranged. From the revolver there still depended the price ticket, which would seem to show that the weapon—38 calibre—was purchased with suicidal intent.

The chief coroner, who was at once called, and who promptly responded, decided that an inquest would not be necessary, as letters contained in the dead man's clothing made it clear that he had been receiving treatment for a mental ailment, and had been in Buffalo last week for that purpose. It is believed that McMichael became despondent through brooding over ill-health.

The young man, who was only 29 years of age, was a son of W. McMichael of 101 St. George street, chief inspector of customs here. Deceased was employed in the local inspection branch.

UNVEIL MOWAT STATUE.

Lt.-Gov. Clark, Ex-Premier Ross and Premier Whitney Speak.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—To one of the greatest of her statesmen, Ontario paid tribute Saturday, when the splendid statue of Sir Oliver Mowat was unveiled in Queen's Park by Lieutenant-Governor Clark, in the presence of many citizens and friends. Tributes were paid by his honor, Hon. G. W. Ross and Premier Whitney, who were the only ones on the platform. The oration of the day by Hon. G. W. Ross was a splendid effort, and Mr. Whitney touched a tender chord when he referred to the lingering of the Union Jack upon the statue. The members of the Mowat family present were his son, Sheriff Mowat, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Langton, Mrs. Dr. Primrose, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Mowat.

The statue is situated on the west front of the Parliament Buildings, and is of bronze, the figure standing nine feet high upon a splendid pedestal of Canadian grey granite, with bronze panels. It was the work of Sculptor Walter S. Allward of Toronto, who was highly complimented upon his work by the three speakers of the day. The total cost of the statue was $10,000.

Sunday Five O'clock Teas Are Condemned

By the Rector of St. Luke's Church in Sermon.

Series of Sermons on the Church and Modern Society.

Last night in St. Luke's church, the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, preached the fourth of his series of sermons, on the Church and Modern Society, his subject last night being "Modern Society, and the Christian Sunday," and the text, Rev. 1, 10: "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day."

In part, the speaker said, in dealing with the question of the observance of the Lord's Day:

The increasing secularization of Sunday is one of the signs of a tendency among men and women of the present day to do without religion. The evil is a very great one, and a very crying one, for which modern society will have to give an account. The weekly commemoration of our Saviour's resurrection seems to be an appropriate occasion on which to appeal to Christian men and women to be very firm and loyal in their observance of the Lord's Day.

Our Lord Jesus Christ has made the first day of the week His own day, first, by rising on that day from the dead, and, secondly, by making the first day of His ten post-resurrection upon it. It was also on the first day of the week — seven weeks later — that He sent down the Holy Ghost from Heaven, to create the Holy Catholic Church, by coming into it, and giving it life and cohesion, just as He had, at the creation, evolved order out of chaos. From that day onward we learn alike from sacred history, and profane, that the early Christians observed the first day of the week as a weekly commemoration of the resurrection of their Lord, that great event which has altered the course of human history, and revolutionized society, and on which rest all our hopes for time and for eternity. Sunday, therefore ought to mean a great deal to Christian people, more, perhaps, than to many it actually does.

The first principle involved in the observance of Sunday, is definite consecration of a certain portion of our time to God. To "keep holy," involves the separation of the thing consecrated from others, making it different; it implies also giving it a certain quality or character of holiness. With many so-called Christians there is nowadays no difference between Sunday and any other day, and with many more the only difference is that they come to church occasionally on a Sunday morning, and then go off in their best clothes to do for the rest of the day whatever pleases the world.

Now, I am not by any means a Sabbatarian, in the unpleasant sense of the word, that is, in the sense in which the old Puritans used to think it sinful to laugh, and almost, to smile, on Sunday. But of this I am convinced that our English-Canadian Sunday, whatever may be said about mistakes in the details of its observance, has been a great national blessing, which religious foreigners have regarded with feelings of envy. It cannot be too often repeated that the neglect of Sunday is a sign of decadence in a nation, and the British Nation will not continue what it has been, if the increasing desecration of Sunday is not checked. That the worldly society with its Sunday festivities of visiting friends, its 5 o'clock tea parties, its attempted excursions in some parts of our country, is in a great degree responsible for this sad state of things cannot be denied. It is the society with the big "S" which sets the fashion in these things, and in this respect there can be no gainsaying that the fashion is utterly and absolutely bad.

The second principle involved in the observance of Sunday is the suspension of human labour. Man cannot work on continuously without rest. Cessation from work on Sundays is far from being general. Might not much be done to diminish the amount of work that we expect in our households, so as to let the servants enjoy their God-given day of rest? In the rush for amusements and making money, worldly society steals the Lord's Day from the working classes.

The third principle of Sunday observance is that of worship. The Lord's Day is a day on which Jesus Christ has the first claim on our time. According to primitive precedent, the first duty of the Christian on Sunday is to seek Communion with his Lord. In the early days of Christianity no Sunday would have been considered properly spent which did not include reception of Holy Communion, and it was the object of the Reformers of our branch of the Holy Catholic Church to restore frequency of Communion to its original place in the Christian life. We have in these days fallen short of that ideal. Once a month—with many far less often—is considered an adequate fulfilment of the command: "This do in remembrance of Me." Thus a Sunday without Holy Communion with the minimum of worship, and with the maximum of amusement is the Sunday of Modern Society. We must give as much time as we can, and not as little as we dare, to the public worship of the church. Then we shall experience the truth of the old adage: A Sunday well spent brings a week of content.

How Women Do Drinking

The sanitarium was for women only—women dipsomaniacs. A luxurious place; the rate was $125 a week.

"This," said the superintendant to a writer for the Philadelphia Bulletin, "is our museum. Odd, grotesque, eh?"

The museum was a collection of instruments for secret drinking that had been taken from female dipsomaniacs.

Here was a carriage clock with a false back that would hold a half-pint of whiskey.

Here was muff with a receptacle of India rubber in its hollow inside. A mouthpiece like that on a baby's bottle was hidden under a rosette. The owner of thie muff would press it to her face—a natural and common movement—and at the same time take a stiff drink.

Here were a dozen sorts of bonbons, candies of all shape and hues, each containing two or three fingers of brandy.

A fan—it would not open — had room for a half-pint in it.

A number of purses were nothing but whiskey flasks covered with beadwork or leather or silver or gold.

There was even a prayer-book with a flask inside.—Chicago Journal.

Tired all the Time

Mrs. George Beattie, Carr's Brook, Colchester County, N. S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time, and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good, and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends."

Meeting Of Ministerial Association

Vote of Thanks Was Tendered the Y. M. C. A.

Thoughtful Paper by Rev. Dr. Torrance, Followed by General Discussion.

A meeting of the Ministerial Association was held this morning at which the following members were in attendance:—Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. F. J. Scott, Rev. W. M. MacKay, Rev. Dr. Crothers, Rev. J. G. Lewis, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, resident ministers, and Rev. E. W. Pickford, of Norwood, and Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, visitors.

Acting upon the suggestion from the Ministerial Association of St. Catharines, a proposal was made to arrange for a representative general meeting of all the Associations of Ontario, in Toronto.

A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. Dr. Crothers, seconded by Rev. Dr. Torrance, was tendered the authorities of the Y.M.C.A. for the use of the parlour for meetings of the Association through the year.

Rev. Dr. Torrance read a thoughtful paper on the "Conditions of Proper Participation in the Lord's Supper." The conclusion arrived at was that only those who are in the faith and by faith united to Christ and whose life accords with his profession, should participate.

A general and profitable discussion followed.

The Catchecoma Hunting Club Has Good Luck

Mr. Robt. Stuart Shot the Largest Deer Ever Taken Out.

Ald. Hicks is the Latest Addition to the Party.

Ald. Hicks left Saturday for the Catchecoma Lake Hunt Club camp, and Mr. W. Menzies, jr., who drove him out, returned this morning. He reports that the members of the club have met with good luck, nine fine deer having been shot. Mr. Stuart had the honour of killin gthe largest deer, and it is stated that the buck which he shot is the largest that has ever been taken out of the Catchecoma Lake hunting grounds. The members of the party are well, and are enjoying their outing, their success having put them in excellent spirits. They welcomed Ald. Hicks warmly as one from the centre of civilization, and the news from the city was eagerly listened to.

Educational Services

Special Sermons in Two Methodist Churches Next Sunday.

Next Sunday will be Educational Day in the Methodist churches of this city, and the special preachers for the day will be Rev. Dr. John Potts and Rev. Dr. John Burwash, both of Toronto; the former the secretary of the Educational Society, and the latter a professor in Victoria University.

In the morning Dr. Potts will preach in Charlotte street church, and Dr. Burwash in George street church, alternating for the evening service.

The educational work of the Methodist church is an important feature, and the fact that the educational institutions of the church are in such a satisfactory condition is due to the fact that the members and adherents of the church appreciate the important part which education plays in the training of the young men for the ministry.

Council Meeting Held To-night

To-night the regular monthly meeting of the City Council will be held, when a number of matters of importance will be taken up. Among them the question of the fixed assessment for the Central Milling Company, which, while it passed the committee last week, has still to run the gauntlet of the Council, and since it had passed through the committee stage at a former meeting, and was defeated in the Council, the fate of the proposed by-law is still in doubt.

The notice of motion fathered by Ald. Bagley to prevent dogs running on the streets will be made to-night, and subjected to the consideration of the Council.
